z Some think it should be accomplished, as was promised, Gen 49.10. z Though the Iewes and Ammonites would not beleue that thou, to wit, the sword should come vpon them, and said, that the Prophets which threatened, spake lies, yet thou shalt as surely come, as though thou werst already vpon their neckes.

C H A P. XXII.

1 Jerusalem is reproued for cruelty. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priests, and of their insatiable covetousness. 27 The tyrannic of rulers. 29 The wickedness of the people.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou ^a iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloodie citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus sayth the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her b time may come, and maketh idoles ^c against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shedde, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, & art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in name, and sore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the middes of thee ^c haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that chary tales to shedde blood: in thee ^{are they} that catevpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 In thee haue they discovered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one ^a hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, ^{even} his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore I haue ^f smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnes, that thou hast vsied, and vpon the blood which hath been in the mids of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will catter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will caue thy ^h filthinesse to cawe from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine ⁱ inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ^q And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as ^k drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, and lead in the mids of the furnace: they are ^{even} the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because yee are all as drosse, behold, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and lead, and tinne into the mids of the furnace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there ^l and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall be melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the midst of the furnace, so shalt yee be melted in the mids thereof, and yee shall know that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vnclane, ^m and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There ⁿ is a conspiracie of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured louies: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

26 Her Priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betwene the holy and prophane, neither discerned betwene the vnclane and the cleane, and haue hid their ^o eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in ^p the mids thereof are like wolues, rauening the pray, to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her ^p prophets haue daubed them with vntempered mortar, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoiling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I fought for a man among them, that should ^q make vp the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

31 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendered vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

Of the idolatries of samaria and ierusalem, and the names of Aholab and Aholah.

The word of this Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one ^a mother.

3 And they committed fornication ^b in Egypt: they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teats of their virginite.

4 And the names of ^c them were Aholah the elder, & Aholbah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria ^d Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot: when ^d she was mine, and she was set on fire with her louers, so wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blew silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horfies.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiel wife being ad.

Gain in the tenth year, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the king of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and allopoure water into it.

4 Gather the peeces thereof into it, even every good peece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and burne also the bones vnder it, and make it boile well, and seethe the bones of it therein.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Wo to the bloody city, even to the pot, whose scum is therein, and whose scum is not gone out of it: bring it out peece by peece: let no lot fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the mids of her: she set it vpon an high rocke, and powred it vnto the ground to cover it with dust.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: even I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be covered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, * Wo to the bloodie citie, for I will make it the burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: * kindle the fire; consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it empty vpon the coales thereof, what the brasie of it may be hote and may burne; and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the scumme of it may be consumed.

12 Shee hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great scumme went not out of her: therefore her scumme shall be consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse and wickednesse: because I would * haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shall they iudge thee, sayth the Lord God.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, behold, I take away from thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague, yett shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shalt thy teares runne downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shoes vpon thy feet, and conquer not thy lips, and eat not the bread of men.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in the morning as I was commanded.

19 And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs that thou doest to?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I will pollute my Sanctuary, even the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword, 22 And yee shall doe as I haue done: yee shall not cover your lips, neither shall ye eat the bread of men.

23 And your tire shall be vpon your heads, and your shoes vpon your feet: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that hee hath done, ye shall doe: and when this cometh, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honor, the pleasure of their eyes, & the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, 26 That hee that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which hee hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, & thou shalt speake, and be no more dumbe, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioiced at the fall of Ierusalem, 8 Against Moab and Seir, Iudaea and the Philistines.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophetic against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saidst, Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the bren of the East for a possession, and they shall feed their palaces in thee, & make their dwellings in thee: they shall eat thy fruit, and they shall drinke thy milke:

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheeppcoat, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feet

b That is to the Babylonians. c They shall chase thee away, and take thy gorgeous houses to dwell in. d Called also Philadelphis, which was the chiefe city of the Ammonites, & full of conduits. e Sam. 1. 27.

and reioyce in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel, 7 Behold therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will root thee out from the people, and I will caue thee to be destroyed out of the countries, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore beholde, I will open the side of Moab, even of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriaihaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute iudgments vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offences, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, & destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, & they shall do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselves with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the ¶ Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them, with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

1. He prophesies that tyrus shall be ouerthrowne because of pride, as at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The mourning and afflictions of the merchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

And in the eleuenth yee in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Ah, the ¶ gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be replenished:

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vpon many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waves.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her: and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoile to the nations.

6 And her ¶ daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

7 For thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, a king of kings from the North, with horses and with charrets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, & lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy wals shall shake at the noyse of the horsemen, & of the wheelles, and of the charrets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entry of a city that is broken downe.

11 With the hooues of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streets: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the ¶ pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 ¶ Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the ioud of thine harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shalt not the yles tremble at the found of thy fall? and at the cry of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murdered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the ¶ sea shall come downe fro their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broied garments, and shall clothe themselves with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground & be astonished at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vpon lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited ¶ of the sea men, the renowned city which was strong in the sea, both thee and her inhabitants, which caue their feare to be on all that haunt therein.

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate cⁱe, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee, 20 when I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people of old time, and shall set thee in the lowe parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew thy glory in the land of the ¶ living.

21 I will ¶ bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be fought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

^c Thus he speaketh by detinition for Daniel had declared notable signea of his wisdom in Babylon, when Ezekiel wrote this.

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, even the terrible nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightnesse.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the p^re, and thou shalt die the death of them that are slaine in the mids of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say then before him that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man and no god in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the *c*ircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the king of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of wisdom, and perfit in beautie.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze, and the i^diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, *le*meraude, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship o^r thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the appointed Cherub that couereth, and I haue set thee in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God, thou hast walked in the mids of the stones of fire.

15 Thou shalt perfit in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they haue filled the middes of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub, from the mids of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp, because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the middes of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people shall be astonied at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it, 22 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be glorified in the middes of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and she shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, & blood into her streets, and the slaine shall fall in the mids of her: the enemy shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of all that are round about them, & despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel fro the people where they are scattered, and shall be sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land that I haue giuen to my seruant Iacob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, & shall build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely when I haue executed iudgments vpon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

C H A P. XXIX.

See prophesie against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promisseth that hee will restore Egypt after foure yeeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of king Nebuchad nezzar for the sake, wherewith hee took against Tyrus.

In the tenth yeere, and in the tenth month, in the twelfth day of the month, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lieth in the mids of his riuers, which hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put hooks in thy iawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will draw thee out of the midst of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sucke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the fouler of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they haue bin a staffe of reed to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou didst break and rental their shoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakst and madest all their loines to stand upright.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall be desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because hee hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it.

10 Behold therefore, I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, & I will make the land of Egypt vterly waste and desolate from the towre of Scueneh, euen vnto the borders of the blacke Moores.

11 No foot of man shall passe by it, nor foot of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourie yeeres.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the midst of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate for fortie yeeres: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, At the end of fortie yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people where they were scattered.

14 And I will bring againe the captivity of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there as a small kingdome.

a Heweth for whereaule God will afflicke his Church, and prefigure his destruction his enemies: to wit, that they should praise him, & give thanks for his great mercies.

b He compareth Pharaoh to a dragon, which hideth himselfe in the riuer Nilus, as Ista. 51. 9.

Or, shake. c When they felt their hurt, they would say no more vpon thee, but stood vpon their feet, and put their trust in others.

d Thus God cannot suffer that man should arrogate any thing to himselfe, or por his trust in any thing save in him alone, Ista. 46. 10, or 46. 11.

e Meaning, that they should not have full dominion, but be vnder the Pe fians, Greeks, & Romans, and the cause, that the Israelites should no more put their trust in them, but leane to depend on God.

m That is, Nebuchad nezzar.

15 It shall be the smallest of the kingdoms, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more above the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they know that I am the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the seventh and twentieth yeere also in the first month, and in the first day of the month, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Some of man, Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel caused his army to erie a great seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made bald, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had hee no wages, I nor his army for Tyrus, for the seruice that hee serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel, and hee shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages of his army.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that hee serued against it, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the horne of the house of Israel to growe, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the mides of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt and the capture thereof.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howe and cry, for so vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere; and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and shee shall be in Lihopon, when the slain shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe.

5 Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintain Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towne of Seueneth shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shall be desolate in the mides of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the mides of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord when I haue fed a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers go forth from me in ships, to make the careless Moores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, when the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the rivers dry, and sell the land into the hands of the wicked, & I will make the land waste, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: for the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idols to cease out of Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

15 And I will poure my wrath vpon the land of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of No.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorrow, and No shall be destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorowes daily.

17 The yong men of Auen, and of Phibeseth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall goe into captiuitie.

18 At Tehaphnehes the day shall restraine his light, when I shall breake there the barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloud shall cower her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first month, and in the tenth day of the month, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Some of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and loe, it shall not be bound vnto bee healed, neither shall they put a roue to bind it, nor make it strong to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will breake his arme that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them thorow the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, & put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and hee shall cast out fightings, as the fightings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countreys, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

A comparison of the prosperity of Pharaoh with the prosperity of the Assyrians. To his prophesie shall be like destruction to them both.

And in the eleuenth yere, in the third month, and in the first day of the month, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whome art thou like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Alsur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and thot vp very hie, and his top was among the thicke boughes.

exalted him on his with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her little riuers vnto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which she deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the field bring forth their yong, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mighty nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches: and the cheffennut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beauty.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden that were in the garden of God enuied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, 11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the mightiest among the heathen: hee shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beasts of the field shall be vpon his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall be exalted by their height, neither shall shoot vp their top among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that go downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I covered the deepe for him, and I did restraîne the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayd: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and at the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hel with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwell vnder his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom I art thou thus like in glory & in greatnes among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in ymids of the vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

C H A P. XXXII.

a The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh king of Egypt, as if he prophesied his destruction shal come vnto Egypt shew to the king of Babilon.

And in the twelfth yeere, in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and lay vnto him, Thou art like a bllon of the nations, and art as a dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers, and troubledest the waters with thy feete, and stampedst in their riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I wil cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all the beasts of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleys with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou swimdest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: I will couer the sunne with a cloud, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lightings of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring darkness vpon thy land, sayth the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreys which thou hast not known.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shall be astonied with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swords of the mighty wil I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall bee terrible nations, and they shall destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I wil destroy also all the beasts therofrom the great water sides, neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beast trouble them.

14 Then will I make i their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to run like oyle, sayeth the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be layd waste: when I shall finite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and hee shall bee comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, sayth the Lord God.

C H A P. XXXIII.

A The first of the gouernours and ministers, 13. He strengtheneth them that despise, and holdeth fast with the promise of mercy, 30-7 he is a ora of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

A Gaine, the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man from among them, and make him their watchman,

3 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the found of the trumpet, and wil not be warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the found of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiveth warning shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way to turne from it, if he do not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquity, but thou shalt deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saie ye saie say, if our transgressions and our sinnes be vpon vs, and wee are confounded because of them, how should wee then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you; turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man say vnto the children of thy people, The righteousnes of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednes, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if the trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall be no more remembered, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Again when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sin, and doe that which is lawfull and bright, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue and not die.

16 None of his finnes that he hath committed shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that.

1 Of, of their euill. 2 He sheweth that the people ought to haue continual gouernours and teachers which may haue care ouer them, and to warn them euery of the dangers which ate at hand.

b Signifying, that the wicked shall not escape punishment, though the watchmen be negligent: but if the watchman blow the trumpet, and then he will not obey, he shall deserve double punishment.

c Chap. 3. 17.

d Which teacheth that he receiveth not his charge at the Lords mouth, is a spie, and not a true watchman.

e The watchman must answer for the blood of all that perish through his negligence.

f Thus the wicked when they beare Gods iudgements for their finnes, dispaire of his mercies and minime.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of our captiue, in the tenth month, and in the fifth day of the month, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The Cities are smitten.

22 Now the hand of the Lord had bene vpon mee in the euening afore hee that had escaped came, and had opened my mouth: vntill hee came to me in the morning: and when hee had opened my mouth, I was no more dumme.

23 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, and said,

24 Some of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, My Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shalbe giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye eate with the blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shed blood: should ye then possess the land?

26 Ye lean vpon your o words: ye worke abomination, and ye desire euery one his neighbours way: should ye then possess the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be in the forts and in the cates, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the * pompe of her strength shall cease: and the mountaines of Israel shalbe desolate, and none shall passe through.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue layd the land desolate and waste because of all their abominations; that they haue committed.

30 Also thou son of man, the children of thy people that I talke of thee by the wals and in the doores of houses, & speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come I pray thee, and heare what is * word that cometh from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people w^{sh} to come: and my people be before thee, and heare thy words, but they will not doe them: for with their mouths they make * ieaftes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

32 And lo, thou art vnto them, as a licting song of one that hath a pleasing voice, & can sing well: for they heare thy words, but they doe them not.

33 And when this cometh to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

¶ Against the shepherds that despise the flocke of Christ, and seeke their ouercharge. The Lord saith thus he will visite his diuine flocke, and assemeble them together. 23. He will raise the true shepheard Christ, and will him peace.

¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

02 Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepherds of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God vnto the shepherds, * Woe bee vnto these shepherds of Israel, that feede themselves: should not the shepherds feed the flockes?

3 Ye eate the fat, and ye clothe you with the wooll: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe.

4 Thereweake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driven away, neither haue ye sought that which was lost, but with cruelty, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: and when they were disperfed, they were deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered thorow all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea my flocke was scattered thorow all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepherds, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I liue, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the felde hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepherds seeke my sheepe, but the shepherds fedde themselves, and fed not my sheepe, 9 Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord O ye shepherds.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepherds, and will require my sheepe at their hand, y and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepherds feed themselves any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouths, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bin among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe & will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in the cloudie and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreys, & will bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driven away, and will bind vp that which was broken, & will strengthen the weak, but I will destroy the fat, and the strong, and I will feede them with * iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, thus saith the Lord God, behold I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betwene the rammes and the goats.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good pasture, but ye must tread downe with your feet the residue of your pasture, ¶ Jer. 13. 1. By the shepherds he meant the King, the Magistrates, Priests, and Prophets.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Beholde, I, euē I will iudge betwene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because yee have thrust wide and with shoulder, and pusht all the weake with your hornes, till yee haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoiled, & I will iudge betwene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shall feed them, euē my seruāt c David, he shall feed them, and he shall be their shepheard.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruāt David shall be the prince among them, I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the land, and they shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will fet them, a a blessing, e euē round about my mountaine and I will cause raine to come downe in due season: and there shall bee raine of blessing.

27 And the m tree of the fildes shall yeelde her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the coards of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the handes of those that serued themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more bee spoiled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a n plant of renowne, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euē the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

a The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

M Oreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquitie had an end.

6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou c hate blood, e euē blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate, and waste, & cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men in thine hils, and in thy valleyes, and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities shall not d returne, and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, c These two nations and these two countreyes shall be mine, and we will possesse them (seeing the Lord was there)

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will *e*uē doe according to thy s wrath, and according to thine indignation, which thou hast vied in thine hatred against them: & I will make my selfe knowne among b them when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt knowe, that I the Lord haue heard all thy bla phemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie wast, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against mee, and haue multiplied your wordes against me: I haue heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce, when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

8 He promisseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefits giuen vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercies of God, and not vnto their deserving. 26 God reuerceth our hearts: so that we may walke in his commandments.

A L^o thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the a mountaines of Israel, and say, Yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, because the 2 enemy hath said against you, Aha, *e*uē the b his places of the world are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophesie and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, & swallowed you vp on euery side, that yee might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the *l*ps and c tongues of men and vnto the reproch of the people,

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, yee shall growe forth your branches, & bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For beholde, I come vnto you, and I will come vnto you, and ye shall till the land and sow, and I will multiply the men vpon you, and all the house of Israel wholly, & the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase, and bring forth fruit, and I will cause you to dwell in the land of your inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth deprime them of me.

12 And I will cause men to walke vpon you, and they shall possess you, and ye shall no more henceforth deprime them of me.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou shalt deuoure vp men, and hast beene a waiter of thy people, 15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed thorow the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 And when they entred into the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holy Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you have polluted it: and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I power cleane water vpon you, and ye shall be cleane: yea, from all your filthines, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your body, and I will give you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and yee shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And yee shall dwell in the land that I gaue to your fathers, and yee shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for you to come, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiply the fruit of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your own wicked wayes, and your deeds that were not good, & shall iudge yourselves worthy to haue bin destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it known vnto you that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel be ashamed and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall be tilled, whereas it lay wast in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they said, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste land, and desolate, and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen, that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He prophesied the bringing againe of the people, being in captivity. 2 He sheweth the vision of the carcase with the bone.

The hand of the Lord was vpon me, & carried mee out in the spirit of the Lord, and set mee downe in the mids of the field, which was full of bones.

2 And he led mee round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very dry.

3 And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Again he said vnto mee, Prophesie vpon these bones, and say vnto them, O yee drie bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh grow vpon you, and couer you with skinned, and put breath in you, that yee may liue, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophesied, as I was commanded: and as I prophesied, there was a noyse, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I behelde, loe, the sinewes, and the flesh grew vpon them, and above, the skinned, couered them, but there was no breath in them.

to the children of Israel his companions: then take d another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions.

17 And thou shalt ioine them one to another into one tree, and they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answer them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree of Ioseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellows, and will put them with him, as with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be in mine hand.

20 And the pieces of wood which thou writ-est, shall be in thine hand, in their sight.

21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they bee gone, and will gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, vpon the mountaines of Israel, * and one king shall beking to them all, and they shall be no more two peoples, neither bee diuided any more henceforth into two kingdoms.

23 Neither shall they bee polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And Dauid my * seruant shall be King ouer them, and they all shall haue one shepherd: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.

25 And they shall dwell in the f land, that I haue giuen vnto Iakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, euen they, and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid shall bee their Prince for euer.

them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will let my Sanctuary among them for euermore.

I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall knowe, that I the Lord doe sanctifie them when my Sanctuary shall be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

2 The prophesie that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

1 Sonne of man, set thy face against * Gog, and against the land of Magog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesie against him,

2 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold,
I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

3 And I will destroy thee, and put hookes in thy iawes, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine hoste, both hories, and horsemen, all clothed with all sorts of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers and shields, all b handling swords.

4 They of e Paras, of Cush, and Phit with them, euen all they that beere shield and helmet.

5 Gomer and all his bands, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bands, and much people with thee.

6 Prepare thy selfe and make thee readie, both thou, and all thy multitude that are assemtled vnto thee, and be thou their safegard.

7 After many dayes thou shalt be visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land that hath bene destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountains of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yett they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

8 Thou shalt ascend and come vp like a tempest, and shalt bee like a cloud to couer the land, both thou and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke e cuill thoughts.

10 And thou shalt say, I will goe vp to the land that hath no walled towers: I will goe to them that are at rest and dwell in safetie, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates.

11 I will take the pray, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the desolate places that are new inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattell and goods, and dwell in the mids of the land.

12 Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarshish with all the Lyons the east shall say vnto thee, Art thou come to spoile the pray? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a bootie? to cary away siluer and gold, to take away goods, and to spoile a great pray?

13 Therefore, sonne of man, prophesie, and 17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in olde time, by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation, and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the field, and all that mooue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountains shall be overthrowen, and the staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him: throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his hands, and vpon the great people that are with him, a fore raine, and hailestones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be e magnified, and sanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Heerewith the vision of Gog and Magog. 15 The graues of Gog and his hoste. 17 They shall be deuoured of birds and beasts. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel in captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

Therefore thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee, and I leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel.

3 And I will limite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands, and the people that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds and to euery feathered foule and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the cyles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name known in the mids of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the Holy one of Israel.

8 Behold, it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel shall goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shields, and bucklers, vpon the bowes and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the stauers in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seven yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoiled them, sayeth the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shall call e them that passe by, to stop their noses, and there shall they burie Gog with all his multitude, and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-Gog.

12 And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall burie them, and they shall haue a name, when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to goe continually thorow the land with them that trauaile, to burie those that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanse it, they shall search to the end of seuen moneths.

15 And the traualers that passe thorow the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall be Hamanah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble your elues, and come: I gather your felues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that yee may eat flesh, and drinke blood.

18 Yee shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, men of all fat beasts of Bathan.

19 And ye shall eat fat till yee be full, and drinke blood till yee be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus yee shall bee filled at my table with horses and chariots with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layd vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shall know, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, & gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

d There is this plague in toly deuoured in many counsell, and cannot be changed. e After this destruction the Church shall haue great peace and tranquillitie, and burne all their weapons, because they shall no more feare the enimies: and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christs kingdom, when by their head Christ, all enemies shall be overcome. f Which declarer that the enemies shall haue an horrible fall. g For the sinke of the exiles. h Or of the multitude of Gog. i Meaning, a long time.

i Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies.

k Or, multitude.

k Whereby hee signifieth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.

l The heathen shall know that they ouercame not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weakness of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples sakes.

k Meaning in the last age, and from the coming of Christ vnto the end of the world. l Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintaining his Church, and destroying his enemies, as Chap. 36.23, and 37.28.

m Hereby he declarer that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not bee advertised aforetime, to teach them to endure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath bin ordained.

n All menues whereby man should thinke to save himselfe, shall faile, the affliction in those dayes shall be so great, and the enemies destruction shall be so terrible.

o Against the people of Gog and Magog.

p Chap. 36.23, and 37.28.

a Or destroy thee with fixe plaques, as Chap. 38.22.

b Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods word, the enemies shall be destroyed wherefore he assaileth his Church.

c That is, among all Nations where the enemies of my people dwell, because they neuer so farre separate 25 There ore thus saith the Lord God, Now will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iacob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against mee, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many Nations,

28 Then shall they know that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the Citie and the Temple.

IN the five and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth yeere after that the Citie was smitten, in the selfsame day, the hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought me thither,

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by a diuine vision, and set me vpon a high mountain, whereupon was as the building of a Citie, toward the South.

3 And he brought mee thither, and behold, there was a man, whose similitude was to look to, like brasse, with a linnen threed in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man said vnto mee, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon al that I shal shew thee, for to the intent that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare al that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reed to measure with, of fixe cubits long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so hee measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reed.

6 Then came he vnto the gate which looked toward the East, and went vp the stairs thereof, and measured the poste of the gate, which was one reed broad, and by the other poste of the gate, which was one reed broad.

7 And every chanel was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betweene the chaneliers were fixe cubits: and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reed.

8 Hee measured also the porch of the gate within with one reed.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubits, and the posts thereof, of two cubits, and the porch of the gate was inward.

b Which was an Angel in forme of a man, that came to measure out this building.

Verse 24. The inner court gate. I. An hundred cubits. Which was the length of a court in this chamber.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And hee measured the breadth of the entry of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirtee cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were five cubits on this side, and five cubits on that side.

13 Hee measured then the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was five and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 Hee made also postes of threecore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate, had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within, were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, & in the postes within the gate round about, and I knewe to the arches: and the windowes went round about with in: and vpon the postes were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about, and thirtee chambers were vpon the pavement.

18 And the pavement was by the side of the gates over against the length of the gates, and the pavement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubits Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured hee after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were after this measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looked toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seven steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood over against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that, hee brought mee toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the postes thereof and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seven steps to goe vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them, and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the postes thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and hee measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubits.

28 And he brought mee into the inner court by the South gate, and hee measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was five cubites long, and five and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about were five and twentie cubites long, and five cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the vnter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Again hee brought mee into the inner court toward the East, and hee measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fiftie cubites long, and five and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vnter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After hee brought mee to the North gate, and measured it according to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the vnter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And every chamber, and the entry thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side by the side of the gate, even eight tables, whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the four tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and a halfe broad, and one cubite high: whereupon also they layd the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering, and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the fingers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North,

Verse 28. The inner court G the eight steps are hid with the buildings, but they are like them of the East gate Q, for all the courts were of one measure, quantitie and fashion.

Verse 31. The inner court on the East side N. And so in all he maketh five courts, two on the East side v. o. on the North, and two of the South side, looken in the great figure.

Verse 38. The place of five chambers, which were in the porch of the inner court on the North side I. The entrie of the chambers, that is, the doores were vnder the upper posts or postes, which hanged over the chambers, as also did over the gate. Look in the great figure.

Verse 39. In the porch of the inner court were four tables K, and as many in the outward court S. a cubite long, and a halfe broad, and one cubite high.

Verse 44. The chambers in the inner porch on the North side for the fingers L. but the perspective hindereth the sight, therefore behold them which are in the East court, for they are all alike: likewise on the South side. The Prophet was now in the East court, where he saw the Altar measured, and described one row of chambers, which was for the Priests.

THE FIGURE OF THE TEMPLE.

Vers. 45 He measured the two rows of chambers, which were in the inner court N, whereof they on the North side were for the Priests that sacrificed O, and they on the South side for them that kept the Temple N, which chambers were East and by South as the other O, were East & by North. These must be seen in the great figure, Vers. 47 The Altarp.

Vers. 48 He entered by the gate to come into the porch of the Temple R. The which Temple is here described more at large, because the things here mentioned, might the better be understood. Vers. 48 By the poles of the porch hee measured the wall which was five cubits thick on either side of the altar or porch 1, 2. The two little gates in the side of the porch 4, 4, which were to goe to the Priests chambers that were by the Temple A B. Vers. 49 The length of the porch 20. cubits c. 6. And the breadth eleven 7, 8. The steps whereby the Prophet came into the porch of the Temple. 9, 7. The two pillars 10.

45 And he said vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, u for the Priestes that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, u for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the Altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Levi, which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad, even four square: likewise the Altar that was before the house.

48 And hee brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, five cubites on this side, and five cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleuen cubits, and he brought mee by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

50 And hee brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes, five cubites broad on the one side, and five cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

51 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and he measured the length thereof forty cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites.

52 Then went hee in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie fixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seven cubites.

53 So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites before the Temple, and he said vnto me, This is the most holy place.

54 After, hee measured the wall of the house, fixe cubites, and the breadth of every chamber foure cubites round about the house, on every side.

55 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for 5 chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastened therein, and not bee fastened in the wall of the house.

56 And it was large, and went round mounting vpward to the chambers: for the flaire of the house was mounting vpward, round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the mids.

57 And it was large, and went round mounting vpward to the chambers: for the flaire of the house was mounting vpward, round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the mids.

58 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for 5 chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastened therein, and not bee fastened in the wall of the house.

CHAP. XLII.
1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things therein belonging.

2 Peetward, hee brought mee to the Temple, and measured the postes, fixe cubites broad on the one side, and fixe cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

Ver. 8. The foundations of five cubits, measuring the hie, humber was so, and e neither frontance seemed folke-wise by a perpendicular line of plummet BZ.

Ver. 9. The chamber without was the chief chamber, and fift that chamber the wall was but five cubits thicke, BXY for downward it was five, Q. 6.

Ver. 10. The chambers on the one side were distant from them on the other side twenty cubits, which was the breadth of the Temple.

Ver. 11. The doors of the chambers on the North side, opened toward the North V, and they on the South side, toward the South H, for there was an alley of five cubits round about the Temple VZ, and was so closed with a wall R.

Ver. 12. The building, or the great place compassed with a wall of five cubits, and was further off the Temple than the alley, or separate place, and thus more plainly set forth in the great figure.

Ver. 16. He declared that whatsoever was of stone work from the bottom to the top, was covered with wood on the East, South, and North side.

Ver. 22. The altar V which was three cubites high YX, and was long YZ.

I saw also the house high round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of five great cubits.

The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was five cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

And betwene the chambers was the wide-nesse of twenty cubits round about the House on every side.

And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubits round about.

Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was twenty cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubites thicke round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

So he measured the house an hundred cubits long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundred cubits long.

Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East was an hundred cubites.

And hee measured the length of the building, over against the separate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides over against the postes, filled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

And from above the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betwene a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about.

From the ground vnto above the doore were Cherubims, y and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

The polts of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude, and forme of the Sanctuary.

The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said vnto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

The doores had two wickets, then two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without.

And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke planks.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

Then brought he mee into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and hee brought mee into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

Before the length of an hundred cubits, was the North doore, and it was fifty cubits broad.

Over against the twenty cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pavement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

Now the chambers above were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp theie, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, even from the ground.

And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fifty cubits long.

For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fifty cubites, and loe, before the Temple were an hundred cubites.

And vnder theie chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court toward the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they and as broad as they: and all their entrie were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

And according to the doores of the chambers, that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entree.

Then said he vnto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priests, that approach vnto the Lord, shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things and the meate offerings, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

When the Priests enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things which are for the people.

Now when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, he brought mee forth toward the gate, whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

Hee measured the East side with the measuring roide, five hundred reedes, even with the measuring reede round about.

Hee measured also the North side, five hundred 18 And he measured the South side five hundred reeds with the measuring reed.

19 Hee turned about also to the West side, and measured five hundred reeds with the measuring reede.

20 Hee measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, five hundred reeds long, & five hundred broad to make a separation betwene the Sanctuary, and the prophane place.

C H A P. XLIII.

2 Hee seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 Hee meeteth with the idolatry of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 Hee in commandeth to call them againe to repentance.

Afterward he brought me to the gate, even the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel, came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the vision which I saw was like the vision, even as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar, and I fell upon my face.

4 And the glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which said vnto me, Son of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for ever, and the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy Name, neither they nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeles of their kings in their hie places.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their posts by my posts (for there was but a wall betwene mee and them) yet have they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeles of their kings far from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the pattern.

11 And if they be ashamed of al that they have done, shew them the forme of the House, and the pattern thereof, & the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, & the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof & do them.

12 This is the description of the house, it shall be upon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the House.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord and the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto the Lord.

25 Seven dayes shalt thou prepare every day an hee goat for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish.

26 Thus shalt they seven dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, & consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day & so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reprooueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh, y^e which are to be admitted to the service of the Temple, and must be reformed.

Then hee brought mee toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the east, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate shall be a shut, and shall not be opened, & no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entered by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the Prince himselfe shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought hee me toward the North gate before the Houe: & when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

5 And the Lord said vnto me, Sonne of man, I marke wel & behold wth thine eyes, & heare with thine eares all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, & all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entering in of the house with every going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, eue^r to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue ynough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing that yee haue brought into my Sanctuary strangers vncircumcised in heart, & vncircumcised in flesh to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, ye eat fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations,

8 For ye haue not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your clothes haue let out to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 Neither yet the Leuites that are gone back from me when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idols, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the house, & minister in the Houe: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idoles, and caused y^e house of Israel to fall into iniquitie, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, sayth the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.

13 And they shall not come neere vnto me to doe the office of the Priest vnto mee, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the Houe, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer mee the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, & no wool shall come vpon them while they are in the gates of the inner court, & within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonnets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loyns: they shall not gird themselves in the sweating places.

19 But when they goe forth into the vtter court, even to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments.

20 They shall not also shawe their heads nor suffer their locks to grow long but round their heads.

21 * Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither shall they take for their * wiues a widow, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference between the holy & prophane, and cause them to discern between the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements, and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

25 * And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselves, except at their father or mother, or sonne, or daughter, brother or sister that hath had yett none husband: in the le may they be defiled.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shall reckon vnto him seven dayes.

27 And when he goeth into the Sanctuary, vnto the inner court, to minister in the Sanctuary, he shall offer his sinne offering saith the Lord God.

Minheritor, when ye shall diuide the land for the Lord an holy portion of the land, five and twentie thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad, this shalbe holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shalbe for the Sanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twentie thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall bee the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall bee the Priests, which minister in the Sanctuary, which come neere to serue the Lord: and it shall bee a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the five and twentie thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Levites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.

6 Also ye shal appoint the possession of the citie, five thousand broad, & five and twenty thousand long over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall bee for the prince of the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, even before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shalbe by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shalbe his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppress my people and the rest of the land shal they give to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, sayth the Lord God.

10 Yee shall haue iust balances, and a true Epha, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall bee equal: a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitye thereof shalbe after the Homer.

12 * And the Shekel shall bee twentie Gerahs,

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, even of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths are an Homer for ten Baths fill an Homer)

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering, and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, iayeth the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall give this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shalbe the princes part to give burnt offerings, and meat offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts, and in the new moones and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feasts of the house of Israel: he shal prepare the sinne offering and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, In the first month, in the first day of the month, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and cleinte the Sanctuary.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sin offering, and put it vpon the posts of the house, and vpon the foure corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the posts of the gate of the inner court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seventh day of the month, for every one that hath erred, and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.

21 * In the first month in the fourteenth day of the month, yee shall haue the Passouer, a feast of seven daies, and ye shall eate vleauened bread.

22 And vpon that day, shal the prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offering.

23 And in the seven daies of the feast he shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, even of seven bullockes, and seven rammes without blemish daily for seven daies, and an hee goate daily for a sinne offering.

24 And he shal prepare a meate offering of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere, without blemish: thou shalt doe it every morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for every morning, the first part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering, and the oyle every morning, or a continuall burnt offering.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters that came vnto me of the Temple. 2 The compass of the land of promise another vision thereof by spirit.

Afterward he brought mee vnto the doore of the house: and behold, a waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward for the forefront of the house, flood toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, & brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, & brought me through: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a river, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a river that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and cau'd me to returne to the brinke of the river.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the river were very many trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then sayd he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into the sea, they shall runne into another sea, and the waters shall be wholesome.

9 And every thing that lieth, which moeth, where the river's shall come shall liue, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because the waters shall come thither: for they shall be wholesome, and every thing shall liue whether the river cometh.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side and on that side shall grow all fruitfull trees, whose lease shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters run out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shalbe meate, and the lease thereof shall bee for medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shalbe the border, whereby ye shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes of I.rael: Ioseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherite it, one as well as another: * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shal fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shalbe the border* of the land toward the Northside, from the maine sea toward Hethlon, as men goe to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berotah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shalbe Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shalbe the North part.

18 But the East side shall yee measure from Hauran and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of I.rael by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shalbe the East part.

19 And the South side shalbe toward Teman, from Tamar to the waters of Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shalbe the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part.

21 So shal ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of I.rael.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you as borne in the country among the children of I.rael, they shal part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of I.rael.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, sayeth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Levites, of the cite, and of the Prince are reuelled.

NOW these are the names of the 2 tribes. From the Northside, to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shalbe a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the Westside, a portion for Aser.

3 And by the border of Aser from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manassih.

5 And by the border of Manassih, from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part shalbe the offering which they shall offer of five and twenty thousand reeds broad, & of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuary shalbe in the mids of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lord, shalbe of five and twenty thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, min for the Priests shall bee this holy oblation, toward the North five and twenty thousand long, and toward the West, ten thousand broad, & toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South five & twenty thousand long, and the Sanctuary of the Lord shall be in the mids thereof.

11 It shalbe for the Priests that are sanctified of the sons of Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not asray when the children of I.rael went asray as the Levites went asray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests, the Levites shal haue five and twenty thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shal be five and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the five and twentie thousand, shalbe a prophane place for the city, for housing, and for suburbs, and the cite shall be in the mids thereof.

16 And these shalbe the measures thereof, the North part five hundred and foure thousand, and the South part five hundred and foure thousand, and the East part five hundred and foure thousand, and the West part five hundred and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the city shalbe toward the North two hundred and fifty, and toward the South two hundred and fifty, and toward the East two hundred and fiftie, and toward the West two hundred and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shalbe ten thousand Eastward, & ten thousand Westward: and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shalbe for food vnto them that serue in the cite.

19 And they that serue in the city shalbe of all the tribes of I.rael that shall serue therein.

b That is, the portion of the ground which they shall separate & appoint to the Lord, which shalbe diuided into three parts, for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the cite.

29 This is the land, which yee shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the bounds of the citie, on the Northside five hundred, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side five hundred and foure thousand, and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, five hundred and foure thousand measures, and three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side, five hundred and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe great providence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church, are most lively here set forth, who neuer leaueh his destitute, but now in their greatest tribulations and afflictions great them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he aduised with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel alone altho other had most special revelations of such things as should come to the Church, even from the time that they were in captiuitie to the last end of the world, and to the general resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certaine number of the times when vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof : moreover he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, as to da bring everlasting life. And as from the beginning God ever exercised his people vnder vice ass, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue them exercise to his Church vntill the dead arise againe, and Christ gather him into his kingdome vnto the beatitudes.

e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shew himselfe victorious, and also by their good intray & learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him than the Iewes, and to be able to serue him as gouernours in their land : moreover by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection & leaue otherwise to procure hurt to these noble men.

N the third yere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchad nezzar king of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim King of Iudah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which bee caried into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasury.

3 And the king spake vnto A shpenaz the master of his Eunuches, that he should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the kings seed, and of the princes :

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well fauoured, and instructed in all wisdom, and well scene in knowledge, and able to vter knowledge, & such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whome they might teach the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them poulion euenry day a portion of the kingsmeate, and of the wine which hee dranke, so nourishing them three yeres, that at the end thereof, they might stand before the king.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Michael and Azariah.

praise that hee esteemed learning, and knewe that it was a necessary meane to gouernment by. g That they might forget their owne religion, & of countrey fashions, to serue him the better to his purpose : yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did leaue any knowledge that was not godly in all points he refused the abuse of things and superstition, in so much that hee would not eate the meate which the king appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things, h That by their good entertainment they might learne to forget the mediocrity of their owne people. I To the intent that in this time they might both learne the manners of the Chaldeans, and also their tongue. k As well to serue at the table as in other offices.

red three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be witty and learned, and should be able to stand strong and comely night, that they might do him better service than he did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praise his liberalitie : yet in this he is worthy

1 That they might aloege their forget their religion. For the lewes gaue their children names, which might ener put them in remembrance of some point of religion, therefore this was a great temptation and a figure wher by they were not able to resist.

m Not that hee thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke, (for afterward he did eat) but because the king should not entice him by this sweet poysion to forget his religion and accuse of idolatrie, and that in his meate and drinke he might daily remember of what people he was and Daniel being thus instructed to know how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, &c: length called him to be a Prophet.

n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore hee might represented them, which are of no religion, for neither he would condemne theirs, nor maintaine his owne.

o Meaning that within this space hee might haue gheerall, and that no man should be able to discern it:
and thus he spake, being moued by the Spirit of God.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eat dainty meates, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did but

7 Vnto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Misael, Mefhach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not^m defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile him selfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fa-uour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eu-nuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayde vnto Daniel, ¶ I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: there ore if he see your faces worse l king then the other children, which are of your fort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the king.

11 Then said Daniel vnto Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hana-niah, Misael, and Azariah,

12 Proue thy seruants, I beseech thee, ¶ ten dayes, and let them giue vs p^ulse to eat, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances bee looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy ser-uants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proved them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes, their 9 countenances appeared fayer, and in f^r better liking then all the children which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, & the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them p^ulse.

17 As for these four children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning and wisdom: also he gaue Daniel vnderstand-ing of all visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time t^e was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hana-niah, Misael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisdom, and vnder-standing that the king enquired of them, hee found them tenne times better then all the enchanter, and astrologians that were in all his realme.

¶ And in the 2 second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed 6 dreames wherwith his spirit was troubled, and his sleep was vpon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the enchanters, and the astrologians, and the sojourners, and the 6 Caldeans for to shewe the king his dreames: so they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king said vnto them, ¶ I haue dreamed a dream, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the king in the Aramites Language, O king, lue for euer: shew thy earnest thy dreame, and we shall shew the interpretation.

5 And the king answered, and said to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from mee. If yee will not make mee vnderstand the dreames, with the interpretation thereof, yee shall bee drawen in peeces, and your houses shall bee made a take.

6 But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, yee shall receive of me gifts and rewards, and great honor: therefore shewe me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and said, Let the king shew his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the king answered, and saide, I know certainly that yee would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from mee.

9 But if yee will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for yee haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tel me the dreame, that I may know, if yee can declare me
the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the king, and said, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor Prince nor lord that asked such things at any inchanter, or Astrologian, or Cal-dean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angry and in great fury, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wife men were slaine: and they fought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisdom to Arioch the kings chief steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, hee answered and sayde vnto Arioch the kings captain, Why is the sentence so hastic from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would giue him leaue, and that hee would shew the king the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house, and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions.

18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret revealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, * The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisdom and strength are his.

21 And he changed the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisdom vnto the wise, & vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 He discouereth the deepe and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkenes, & the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisdom and strength, and hast shewed mee now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the king had ordained to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and saide thus vnto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring mee before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and saide vnto Daniel, whose name was Belshazzar, Art thou able to shew mee the dreame, which I haue scene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in heauen that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the king Nebuchadnezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast scene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reuealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As for mee, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisdom that I haue more then any other liuing, but onely to shew the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughtes of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and beheld, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine gold, his breast, and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighes of brasse.

33 His legs of yron, and his feet were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it til a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feet, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the gold broken altogether, and became like the chaffe of the summer floures, and the wind carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare, before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O king, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art * this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdom * inferior to thee, of siluer, and another * thirde kingdom shall be of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron brueth all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and bruise all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdom shall bee diuided, but there shall bee in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdom be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not ioine one with another, as yron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdom: which shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdom shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy all these kingdoms, & it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest, that the stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer, and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the King, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell vpon his face, and bowed himself vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat of frings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the king answered vnto Daniel, and ¶ Daniel leauech out the kingdom of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, for because it was not a monarchie, and general empire, and also because he would declare the things that were to come, to the coming of Christ for the comfort of the elect among these wonderful alterations: and he calleth the Babylonian kingdom the golden head, because it exceeded of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked and cruell.

¶ Meaning * Persia which were not inferior in dignitie, power, and riches, but were void of ruling ambition, circule and all kinde of vice, shewing that the world should grow worse and worse, till it was restored by Christ.

¶ That is, of the Macedonians shall be of brasse, not alluding to the hardness of the stone, but to the violence in respect of siluer.

¶ That is, the Roman empire shall subdue all these things aforementioned, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

¶ They shall haue civil wars, & continual discords among themselves.

¶ They shall by marriages and affinities thinke to make themselves strong: yet shall they neuer be ioyned in hearts.

¶ His purpose is to shew, that all the kingdoms of the world are transitory, and that the kingdom of Christ shall onely remaine for euer.

¶ A Meaning Christ, who was sent

God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdom at the beginning should be small and without heaue to mans indigement, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he called a great mountaine, as verse 35. And this kingdom, which is not only referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof, shall be able all for the spirit that is in them. It is eternal, Rom. 8. 16. b. Though this humbling of the king seemed to deserve commendation yet because he sought Gods honor with the Prophets. It is to be reproved and Daniel therein erred if he suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

sayd,

* Psa. 113. 1. and 115. 18.

k. He sheweth that man hath neither wisdom nor knowledge, but very darke blindness, and ignorance of himselfe: for it cometh onely of God that man vnderstandeth any thing.

l. To whom thou maldest thy promise, and who liued in thy reare: whereby he excluded all other gods meaning power to interpret it.

m. Whereby appeared that many were false sycophants, and the tell of Daniels offer were preferred on condition, not that Daniel favoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to requite because the King proceeded according to his wicked affection, & not considering if their service were lawful or no.

n. He affirmed that man by reason and art is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding onely thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth y king with a certaine feare & reverence of God that hee might be the more apt to receive the high mysteries, that should be revealed.

p. Because he had said, that God onely must reueale the hidden things of this dreame, the king might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it, and therefore he sheweth that hee was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory.

q. By gold, siluer, brasse and yron, are meant the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian and Roman kingdoms, which should successively rule all the world till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Jewes that their affliction should not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the coming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth Monarchie.

e This con'elion was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exo. 7. 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared some after ward.

f Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this means he might relieve his poore brethren which were grievously oppressed in this their captivitie, and also he received them, lest he should offend for their private profit, or might have been a judge, or the Kings presence said, I know of a trueth, that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of Kings, and the revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the King made Daniel a great man, and gave him many and great gifts. Hee made him gouernour of the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboute all the wife men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel made request to the King, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the gate of the King.

50 And hee receiued them, lest he should offend for their private profit, or might have been a judge, or the Kings presence

CHAP. III.

1 The King setteth vp a golden image. 2 Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commandement, and are put into a burning oven. 3 By his life in God they are deliuered from the fire. 4 Nebuchadneggers confession of the power of God, after the sight of his miracle.

Nebuchad-nezzar the King made a image of gold, whose height was threecore cubits, and the bredth thereof sixe cubits: hee set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King let forth to gather together the nobles, the princes, and the dukes, the iudges, the receiueis, the counsellours, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image which Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes, & dukes, the iudges, the receiueis, the counsellours, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp, and they stood before the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, See it knowne to you, O people, & nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the middes of an hote fierie fornae.

7 Therefore, asloone as all the people heard the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musick, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp.

8 By reason whereof that same time came men of the Chaldeans, and grievously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and said to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer.

10 Thon, O King, hast made a decree, that every man that shall heare the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulci-aproue their religion, if the Kings authoritie were alleged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the mean season what Gods word did permit. d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Saia vnto in light againe the children of God, the comfort of the multitude, and the crucitie of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude, which consorted to the wickedness, did mislead them: and hence the King required not an inward content but an outward shew, that the Iewes might by little and little, learne to forget their true religion.

mer, and all instruments of Musick, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the middes of an hote fierie fornae.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, so these men were brought before the King.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 ¶ Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the found of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick to fall downe and worship the image which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediately into the middes of an hote fierie fornae: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, wee are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom wee serue is able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornae, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King.

18 But if not, be it knowne to thee, O King, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heate the fornae at once leuen times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the molt valiant men of warre that were in his army, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie fornae.

21 So the men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clothes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fierie fornae.

22 Therefore, because the Kings commandement was straite, that the fornae should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie fornae.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was affrighted, and rose vp in haste, and spake, and said vnto his counsellours, Did not we cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? who answered, and said vnto the King, It is true, O King.

25 And he answered and said, Loe, I see foure men loose walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornae, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego, e It seemeth that they name not Daniel, because he was greatly in the Kings fauour, thinking if these three had bin deliuered, they might haue had better profit, as the accursed Daniel, and this publick erecting this image was intended by the malicious flatterers which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

f Signifying that he would receive them to grace if they would now at the length forsake his decree.

g For they should haue done iniury to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are reled to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points, first, on the power and promise of God ouer them, and secondly, on their cause which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and to make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatry.

i This declareth that the more these tyrants are, and the more wittie they shew them, selfe in inuenting strange and cruel punishments, the more is God glorified by his servants, to whom hee giueth patience and constance to abide his cruelty against their punishment, for either he deliuereth them from death, or else forth his life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellencie, therefore the King called this Angel whom God sent to comfort him in his great torments, the Son of God.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but that he was either stinking, or filthy, and so fouled mans company, or was cast out for his tyranny and for his wantonness among the beasts, and ate herbes and grasse.

n Daniel heareth the cause, why God thus punished him.

o Caste from pronouncing God to anger any longer by thy finnes, that thee may mitigate his punishment, it thou show by thine upright life that thou hast true faith and repentance.

p Suffice the errors or thy former life to be reuelled.

q After that Daniel had declared this vision, and this his pride declared that it is not in man to consent to God, except his Spirit move him: seeing that these terrible threatnings could not move him to repent.

r When the terme of these seuen yeeres was accomplished.

s Chap. 7. 4. Luke 1. 35. He conceived Gods will to be the rule of all iustice, and a most perfect law where by he gouerneth both man and Angels and deuils, so that none ought to inuention or aske a reason of his doings, but only to stand content therewith, and give him the glory.

t By whom it seemed that he had been put from his kingdom before. u He doth not only praise God in his deliuerance, but also confesseth his fault, that God may only haue the glory, and man the blame, and that he may be exalted and man cast downe.

22 That they shall drue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou know, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomsoever he will.

23 Whereas they sayde, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdom shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and o breake off thy finnes by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: loe, let there bee an healing of thine error.

25 All these things shall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue monethes, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king spake, and sayd, Is not this great Babel that I haue built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the word was in the kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee bee it spoken, Thy kingdom is departed from thee.

29 And they shall drue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoever he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driuen from men, and did eat grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his haire was grown as egles feathers, and his nailes like birds claws.

31 And at the end of the seuen daies, I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I praised and honoured him, that lieth for euer, whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will hee worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdom: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto mee, and my counsellers and my princes fought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdom, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar praise, and extoll and magnifie the King of heauen, whose works are all true, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, hee is able to abate.

King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar while hee tasted the wine commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the king and his princes, his wines, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the king and his princes, his wines and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine, and praised the gods of gold and of siluer, of bras, of yron, of wood, and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote out against the candlesticke vpon the plaster of the wall of the kings palace, and the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his knees more one against the other.

7 Wherefore the king cried lowde, that they should bring the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the king spake, and saide to the wife men of Babel, Whoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of gold about his necke, and shall bee the third ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the king the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were affoined.

10 ¶ Now the Queen by reason of the talke of the king and his princes, came into the banquet house, and the Queen spake, and sayde, O King liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whom the king Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the king, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians Caldeans, and soothsayers.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare heard sentences, and dissolved doubts) were found in him, even in Daniel, whom the King named Belshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake and said vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the king brought out of Iewrie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vn-a Daniel receth this history of King Belshazzar Eusebius ad iohannem, to show Gods iudgements against the wicked, and the distance of his Church and how the prophesie of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliued after seuen years.

b The Kings of the Babel partes been vnto sit alone commonly, and disdained that any should sit in their company, and to show his power, and how little he set by his enemies, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemn banquet, and vied exerce in their company, which is meant hereby drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute and negligent, when their destruction is at hand.

c For, overcome with wine.

d Meaning his grandfather.

e In contempt of the true God, they praised their idols, not that they thought that the gods of siluer were gods, but that there was a certain vertue, and power in them to do them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters.

f That it might the better be seene.

g So he that before contemned God, was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements.

h Thus the wicked in their owne blindness see many means, who draw them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the only comfort in all afflictions.

i To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for better was not before him at the feast, but came thither when the heard of these strange newes.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth a hand writing on the wall. 6 The soothsayers call of the King, cannot expound his writing. 7 Daniel readeth it, and interprets it aright. 30 The King is found. 31 Darus enioyneth the kingdom.

i Reade Chas. 4. and this declareth, that both his name was odious vnto him, and also that hee did not vnderstand the vile practices, because he was not among them when all were called. k For the idolaters thought that the Angels had power to God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophesie and vnderstanding came of them.

15 Now therefore, wise men and Astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they should reade th writing, and shew mee the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, and disolue doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and said before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet will I reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: hee finote whom he would: whom he would hee set vp, and whom he would hee put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was depofed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the heauen, till he knew that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whom ouer he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, 23 But hast lift vp thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and gold, of brasie, yron, wood and stone, which ne ther see, neither heare nor vnderstand: and the Lord in whose hande thy breath is, and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbered thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found tooo light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, & put a chaine of gold about his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldians slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being three score and two yeere old.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel made ruler ouer the gouernours. 2 An Angel against Daniel. 3 Hee is deliuered by Iasith in God. 4 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lions. 5 Darius by a decree magnifieth the Gods Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome an hundredth and twentie gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome,

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the king should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole Realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then said these men, Wee shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and said thus vnto him King Darius lue thee euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King, and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O King, hee shall be cast into the denne of Lions.

8 Now, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the Law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel vnderstood that hee had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and praised his God, as hee did aforetime.

11 Then the men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came and spake vnto the king, concerning the kings decree, Haft thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any god or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of Lions? The king answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and saide vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, he was sore displeased with him selfe, and set his heart on Daniel to deliuer him: and he laboured till the Sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then the men assembled vnto the king, and said vnto the king, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, a Reade, Euer, Chap. 1.

b Or, not be troubled.

c This heathen King prele red Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others. d Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedie then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue good conscience.

d Herein is commended the wisdom of the King, who would be let vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes hee appointed for the maintenance of the same.

e Because hee would not by his silence shew that hee consented to this wicked decree, hee let open his window toward Ierusalem, when he prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promise to his people, when they should pray toward the Temple, and also that other might see, that hee would not consent in heart nor deede for these few dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

1 Before hee reade the writing, hee declared to the King his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moved to giue him the glory, considering his wonderfull worke toward his grands father, and so sheweth that hee doth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

m After that God had long time deferred his anger and patiently waited for thine amendment, n This word is written twice, for the certaintie of the thing: shewing that God had most gruely commended, signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miracle end shall come on all that asle themselves against him. o Or, wanting. p Cyrus his sonne in law giue him this title of honour, although Cyrus infected had the dominion.

f Thus the wicked maintainc euill lawes by constancy, and authority, which is oftentimes either lightnesse, or flatteries, when as the innocents thereby perishe, and therefore gouernours acither ought to feare, nor be ashamed to breake such.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

h He is left cause & wrought to in this thing where is charged is approved of God.

i For he did disobey the kings wicked commandment to obey God, and so did no injury to the king, who ought to command nothing whereby God should be dishonoured.

k Because he himself wholly vnto God wholly quicke he did defend, he was assured that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Heb. et. 23.

16 ¶ Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruett, euē he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, & laide vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained sitting, neither were the instruments of musick brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in al haile vnto the den of lions.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cryed with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and the king spake, and said to Daniel, O Daniel, thy seruant of the Luung God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruett) g able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lions mouths, that they haue not hurt mee: for h my iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no manner of hurt was found vpon him, because h he beleued in his God.

24 And by the commandment of the King, these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the den of lions, euē they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake al their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

25 ¶ Afterward King Darius wrote, Vnto al people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdom, men tremble and feare o before the God of Daniel: for he is the h Luung God, & remaineth for euer: and his kingdom shall not perish, and his dominion h shall euerlast.

27 He rescueth and deliuereth, and he worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the raigne of Cyrus of Persia.

29 ¶ Then he would have destroyed all superstition and idolatry, & not only giuen God the chief place, but also haue let him vp, and caused him to be honored according to his word: but this was a certain confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle. n Which hath not only life in himselfe, but is the only fountain of life, and quicketh all things, to that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of four beasts: 1 shewed vnto Daniel, 8 The same hornes of the fourth beast, 27 Of the euerglasting kingdome of Christ.

IN the first year of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bedde: at then he wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

1. Daniels spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and beheld, the four winds of the heauen stroue vpon h the great sea:

3 And four great beasts came vp from the sea, one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a h lion, & had egles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were plucked off, & it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon h his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a h beare, & stood vpon the one side: and he had three ribs in his h mouth between his teeth, & they said thus vnto him, Arise, and denoure much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a h leopard, which had vpon his backe h four wings of a fowle: the beast had also four heads, and h dominion was giuen him.

7 After this, I saw in the visions by night, and beheld, the h fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had h great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces, and stamped h the residue vnder his feete: and it was h vnlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had h tenne hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, behold, there came vp among them another little h horne, before whom there were h three of the first hornes plucked away: and behold, in his hornes were h eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld till the h hornes were set vp, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels, as burning fire.

10 A fiery streame issued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministred vnto him, and tenne thousand h thousand stood before him: the iudgement was h there, and the h bookes opened.

Which had the empire among them after his death, Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonos the lesse, Cassander and altes him Antipater was king of Macedonia, & Ptolemeeus had Egypt. k It was not of him else nor of his owne power that he got al these countries: for his army contained but thirty thousand men, as hee euer came in one battell Darius, which had ten hundred thousand, when he was so leauey with sleepe, that his eyes were forced open, as the floure report: therefore this power was giuen him of God. l That is, the Romaine Empire which was a monster & could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. m Signifying the tyranny and greedie desire of the Romaines. n That which the Romaines could not quietly enjoy in other countries, they would giue it to other kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberality is here called the flapping of the rest vnder the feet. o That is, sundry and diuers princes which were governed by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King. p Which is meant of Iulius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horse. q For Mithras came out of the Romaine Empire, and the Pope hath no vacation of gouernement: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them, & also in this prophesie the Prophet purpose to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. r Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist.

g Meaning a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was plucked away. For Augustus took from the Senate the liberty of electing the deputies sent into the provinces, and tooke the gouernment of certaine countreys to himselfe. s The Romaine Emperours at the first vied a certain humaneitie and gentleness, and were contented with others, as the Consuls. & Senate should beare the names of dignity, to that they might haue the profit, & therefore in elections and comets would be haue themselves according as did other Senators: yet against their enemies and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruel, which is here meant by the proud mouth. f Meaning the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies when iudgement could begin at the first coming of Christ. t That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as man, yet is able to comprehend some portion of his glorie. This is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandment. u This is meant of the first coming of Christ, who was the will of God was plainly revealed by his Golfe.

b Which signified that the beast had horrible troubles and afflictions in the world, in all corners of the world, and at sundry times.

c Meaning the Assyrian and Chaldean empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most numerous to their authority, as though they had had wings to rise: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feet, & were made like other men which is here meant by mans heart.

d Meaning the Persians which were barbarous and cruel.

e They were small in the beginning and were slayd in their mountains and had no breith. f That is, destroyed many kingdoms, and was insatiable.

g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandment which by his meane punished the ingratitude of the world, h Meaning Alexander: the King of Macedonia.

i That is, his forcechie captaiues.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continual quietnesse after their scarcitye as Jeremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliniance from all troubles but a beginning, and the force encouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction: the Messiah be desired and reuered, by whom they should haue a fauourable deliuerance and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Baby Ionick Kingdome.

² As the three former Monarchies had an end at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth last, and that they patiently abide Gods appointed punishment, shall enjoy the promises.

³ A Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken upon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of David according to the flesh, as he was afterwards but appeared then in figure, and that in the clouds: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his divinity.

⁵ This is meant of the beginning of Christ's Kingdom when God the father gave unto him all dominion, as to the Mediator, to the intent that he should govern here his Chosen in earth continually till the time that he brought them to eternal life.

⁶ Through the strangeness of the vision.

⁷ Meaning of the Angels, as verse 10.

¹¹ Then I beheld because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I beheld, even till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and given to the burning fire.

¹² As concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their lives were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

¹⁵ I Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the hemides of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

¹⁶ Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so he told me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.

¹⁷ These great beasts which are four, are four kings which shall arise out of the earth.

¹⁸ And they shall take the kingdom of the most High, which shall possess the kingdom for euer, euen for euer and euer.

²⁰ Also to know of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, & of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose look was more stout then his fellows.

²¹ I beheld: and the same horne made battell against the Saints, yea, & prevailed against them.

²³ Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdom in the earth, which shall be unlike to all the kingdoms, and shall devour the whole earth, and shall tread it downe and break it in pieces.

²⁴ And the ten hornes out of this kingdom are ten kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shall be unlike to the first, and he shall subdue three kings.

²⁵ And shall speake words against the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that he may change times and lawes, and they shall be given into his hand vntill a time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

²⁶ But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

²⁸ Euen this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

Untill length he will affuage these troubles, and shorten the times for his elect sake, Math. 24. 22. which is here meant by the diuiding of time. God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne, that it shall neuer rise againe. I. Be he which wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might have rest and quietness, which though they do not fully enjoy here, yet they have it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospel enjoy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words: vnder the heauen: and therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christ's kingdom in his world, which kingdom the faithful haue by the participation that they haue in it. That is, some of euery sort that beare rule, and motions in his heart, which moued him to and fro to seeke out by yet he was content with that which God revealed, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the wile of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betwene a ramme and a goat 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

² And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the province of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuier of Vla.

³ Then I looked vp and saw, and behold, there stood before the riuier a ramme which had two hornes, and these two hornes were hie: but one was higher then another, and the highest came vp last.

⁶ And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuier, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

⁷ And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

⁸ Therefore the goat waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horn was broken: & for it came vp foure that horne. h Alexander came Darius in two sundry battels, kingdoms of the Medes and Persians. i Alexander great power was broken: for when he had overcome all the East, he thought to returne to due them that there had rebelled, and so dyed by the way.

These Emperours shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were of order of nature, as appeareth by Octauian, Tiberius, Caligula &c. Domitianus &c.

g God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time & times, for his elect sake, for God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne, that it shall neuer rise againe. f Be he which wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might have rest and quietness, which though they do not fully enjoy here, yet they have it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospel enjoy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words: vnder the heauen: and therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christ's kingdom in his world, which kingdom the faithful haue by the participation that they haue in it. That is, some of euery sort that beare rule, and motions in his heart, which moued him to and fro to seeke out by yet he was content with that which God revealed, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the wile of the Church.

A After the general vision he cometh to certain particular visions as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians, and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof. b That is of Persia.

c Which represented the kingdom of the Persians and Medes, which were joynt together.

d Meaning Cyrus, which after hee had gotten in power then Darius his sonne and father in law.

e That is, no kings or nations.

f Meaning, Alexander that came from Grecia with great speed and expedition.

g Though he came in the name of all Grecia: yet he bare the title and dignitie of the general captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this.

h And so had the two k That is, which were famous for almost in the space of fifteen years there were fifteen diuers successions before this monarchie was diuided to these four, whereof Caligula had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antiochus Asia the lesse, and Ptolemie Egypt. l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a feruile and flattering nature, and allu there were other becomen him and the kingdom, and therefore is here called the little horn, because neither pactly condicions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should outshine this kingdom.

m That is, toward Egypt.

n Whereby he meant Ptolemie.

o That is, India.

p Antiochus ragged against the elect of God, and trode his precious statutes vnder feet, which are so called, because they are separated from the world.

q That is, God who guerneth and maintaineth his Church.

r He laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple which God had chosen as his little corner from all the rest of the world to haue his Name there truly set up.

s He sheweth that his finnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: & yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, when he wd not refuse vnto to abolish his religion.

appeared toward the four winds of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth a little horne, which waxed very great toward the south, and toward the east, and toward the pleasant land.

10 Yeai grew vp vnto the hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the statutes to the ground, and trode vpon them.

11 And extolled himselfe against the Prince of the hoste, from whom the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast downe.

12 And a time shall be given him ouer the daily sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall cast downe the truth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the desolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the yarmie vnder foot?

14 And he answered me, Vnto the evening and the morning, two thousand and three hundred: then shall the Sanctuary be cleansed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and fought for the meaning, behold, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the banks of Vlai, which called, and said, Gabriel, make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell vpon my face: but he said vnto mee, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for in the last time shall be the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being asleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.

19 And he said, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the goat is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first King.

22 And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdoms, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength.

23 And in the end of their kingdom, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a king of a ferce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.

24 And his power shalbe mighty, but not in his strength, and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the mighty, and the holy people.

25 And through his police also he shall craue to proper in his hand, and hee shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand vp against the Prince of princes, but he shall be broken downe with our hand.

26 And the vision of the evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall bee after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was stricken and sicke 40 daies: but when I rose vp, I did the Kings businesse, and I was astonied at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performe of God, which hee had promised concerning the reuenge of the propheet from the banishment in Babylon. 4 A true confession. 5 Daniels prayer heard. 6 Gabriel the Angel expounding vnto him the vision of the twentie secker. 7 The anoynting of Christ. 8 The building againe of Ierusalem. 9 The death of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Darius the sonne of a Achaemenus, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the realme of the Caldeans, 2 Even in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremias the Prophet, that he would accomplish fiftie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and fought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, O Lord God, which art great and fearefull, and keepest covenante and mercie towarde them which loue thee, and toward them that keepe thy Commandments,

5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For wee would not obey thy seruantes the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, righteousnes belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs open shame, as appeareth this day vnto every man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farr off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs apperresth open shame, to our Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiveness be in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.

10 For we haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his Lawes, which hee had layd before vs by the ministration of his seruantes the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Law, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the oath that is written in the Law of Moses a Who was also called Aftages. b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about warren in other countries, and therefore Darius had the title of the kingdom, though Cyrus was king in deed.

c For though he was an excellent Propheet, yet hee daily increased in knowledge by the Scriptures of the Scriptures. d Hee speaketh not of that ordinary prayer, which hee used thence a day, but of a rare & vehement prayer, lest their finnes should cause God to delay the time of their deliuerance prophesied by Ieremias.

the seruant of God, because wee haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his words, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that I Iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs: as it is written in the law of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities, and vnderstand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord ¹ made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doth: for we would not heare his voice.

15 * And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renowne, as ^{appeareth} this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy ¹ righteousnesse, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from the cite of Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our finnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and can'st thou face to ¹ shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lyeth waste for the ^m Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and behold our defolations, and the cite whereupon thy Name is called: for wee doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne ¹ righteousness, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord heare, O Lord forgive, O Lord consider, and doe it: to differ not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy city, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And while I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God, 21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel, whom I had scene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the cuning of lation.

22 And he informed mee, and talked with mee, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge ^e and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandment came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter, and consider the vision.

24 Seuentie ⁷ weekes are determined vpon ¹ thy people, and vpon thine holy cite, to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the ¹ finnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerslasting righteousness, and to seale vp the vision and prophesie, and to anoint the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from the going forth of the commandment to bring againe the people, and to build Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the Prince, shall bee seuen ¹ weekes and ³ thre score and two weekes, and the streete shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a ¹ troublous time.

26 And after thre score and two ³ weekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall ⁷ haue nothing, and the people of the ² prince that shall come, shall destroy the cite and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be by a flood: and vnto the end of the battell it shall be destroyed by defolations.

26 And he ² shall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the mids of the weeke hee shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to be cease, ^e and for the overpreparing of the abominations hee shall make it desolate, euen vntill the conuimention determined shall bee powred vpon the desolate.

out all hope of recovery. ^a By the preaching of the Gospel, fultill to the Iewes, and after to the Gentles. ^b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection. ^c Meaning that Ierusalem & the Sanctuary should be utterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolatry: on as some readeth, that the plagues shall be so great, that they shall be all sinned against them.

CHAP. X.

There appeared vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, at which time he saw visions before him.

IN the ¹ third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was ¹ long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in heauenes for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, til three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the fore and twentieth day of the ¹ first moneth, as I ¹ was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man ¹ clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of ¹ Ephraim.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with mee, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for ¹ my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I slept on my face, and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands.

11 And he said vnto mee, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when hee had said this word vnto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto mee, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

² Which is to declare that the godly should not be too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promise.

⁷ The word also signifies comeliness, or beauty, so that for feare he was like a dead man for desolation.

⁸ Which declareth that when we are stricken downe with the maiestie of God, we cannot lift vs up with the alio, which is his power.

make 23. yeeres, which comprehend the time from the building of the Temple vnto the baptisme of Christ.

h Meaning, Cambyſes who reigned in his Fathers abſence, and did not only for this ſpace himſelfe building of the Temple, but would haue ſeether raged, if God had not ſent me to reſtit him, and therefore I have ſtayed for the preſent of the Church.

i Though God could by one Angel deſtroy all the world, yet to ſecure his children of his love, he lendeth fourth double power, even Michael, that is, Chriſt Ieſus the head of Angels.

k For though the Prophet Daniel ſhould end and ceaſe, yet his doctrine ſhould continue till the coming of Chriſt, for the comfort of his Church.

l This waſte the ſame Angel that ſpoke with him before in the ſumme of a man.

m I was overcome with feare and ſorrow, when I ſaw the viſion.

n He declarth hereby that God would be mercifull to the people of Iſrael.

o Which declarth that when God ſmiteth downe his children, hee doth not immediately liſt them up at one (for now the Angel had touched him twice) but by little and little.

p Meaning that hee would not only himſelfe bridle the rage of Cambyſes, but alſo the other kings of Perſia by Alexander the king of Macedonia.

q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Chriſt, who is the head thereof.

C H A P. X I.

A prophesie of the Kingdomes, which ſhould bee enemies to the Church of God, vnder Perſia, 3 of Greece, 5 of Egypt, 28 of Syria, 30 under the Romanes.

Alſo I in the fiſt yere of Darius of the Medes ſaw him ſtood to encourage and to ſtrengthen him.

Behold there will I ſhew thee the truth. Behold there ſhall ſtand vpon thee three kings of Perſia, and the fourth ſhall be far richer then they all: and by his ſtrength, and by his riches hee ſhall ſtirre vp all againſt the realme of Grecia.

But a mighty King ſhall ſtand vp, that ſhall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleaſure.

And when he ſhall ſtand vp, his kingdomes ſhall be broken, and ſhall be diuided toward the foure winds of heauen: and not to his poſteritie, nor according to his dominion, which hee ruled: for his kingdomes ſhall be pluckt vp euen to befor others beſides him.

And when he ſhall ſtand vp, his kingdomes ſhall be broken, and ſhall be diuided toward the foure winds of heauen: and not to his poſteritie, nor according to his dominion, which hee ruled: for his kingdomes ſhall be pluckt vp euen to befor others beſides him.

And when he ſhall ſtand vp, his kingdomes ſhall be broken, and ſhall be diuided toward the foure winds of heauen: and not to his poſteritie, nor according to his dominion, which hee ruled: for his kingdomes ſhall be pluckt vp euen to befor others beſides him.

And when he ſhall ſtand vp, his kingdomes ſhall be broken, and ſhall be diuided toward the foure winds of heauen: and not to his poſteritie, nor according to his dominion, which hee ruled: for his kingdomes ſhall be pluckt vp euen to befor others beſides him.

And the king of the South ſhall be mighty, and one of his princes, ſhall preuaile againſt him, and he ſhall rule: his dominion ſhall be a great dominion.

And in the end of yeres they ſhall be ioyned together: for the kings daughter of the South ſhall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but ſhe ſhall not retain the power of the arme, neither ſhall he continue, nor his arme: but ſhe ſhall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he that begot her, and he that comforted her in theſe time.

But out of the bud of her ſtootes ſhall one ſtand vp in his ſtead, which ſhall come with an arme, and ſhall enter into the ſortreſſe of the King of the North, and doe with them as hee liſt, and ſhall preuaile.

And ſhall alſo carry captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious veſſels of ſilver and of gold, and ſhall continue more yeres then the king of the North.

So the king of the South ſhall come into his kingdomes, and ſhall returne into his owne land.

Wherefore his ſonnes ſhall be ſtirred vp, and ſhall aſſemble a mighty great arme: and one ſhall come, and ouerflow, and paſſe through: then ſhall he returne, and be ſtirred vp at his ſortreſſe.

And the King of the South ſhall be angry, and ſhall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the king of the North: for he ſhall ſet forth a great multitude, and the multitude ſhall be giuen into his hand.

Then the multitude ſhall be prent, and their heart ſhall be liſted vp, for hee ſhall caſt downe thouſands: but hee ſhall not ſtill preuaile.

For the king of the North ſhall preuaile, and ſhall ſet forth a greater multitude then afore, and ſhall come forth (after certaine yeres) with a mighty arme, and great riches.

And at the ſame time there ſhall many ſtand vp againſt the king of the South: ſo the rebellious children of thy people ſhall exalt themſelves to eſtabliſh the viſion, but they ſhall fall.

So the King of the North ſhall come, and caſt vp a mount, and take the ſtrong citie: and the armes of the South ſhall not reſiſt, neither his choſen people, neither ſhall there be any ſtrength to withſtand.

But he that ſhall come, ſhall doe vnto him as hee liſt, and none ſhall ſtand againſt him: and he ſhall ſtand in the pleaſant land, which by his hand ſhall be consumed.

Again he ſhall ſet his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdomes, and his confederates with him: this ſhall hee do, and he ſhall giue him the daughter of women, to deſtroy her: but

Again he ſhall ſet his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdomes, and his confederates with him: this ſhall hee do, and he ſhall giue him the daughter of women, to deſtroy her: but

k Shee shall not agree to his wicked counsel, but shall loue her husband as her dutie requireth, and not seeke his destruction. l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the fœderall Mediterranean ſea. m For the Iewes called all countreyes yles which were diuided from them by ſea. n For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romanes, he putteth an affiduratoe to ſhame in alourate Attilius the conſul or Lucius Scipio pnt him to fight, and cauſed his ſhame to tace on his owne head. o By which he ſheweth the obeying of fooliſh counſell. p For feare of the Romanes he ſhall ſit to his holdes. p For when as vnder the preſence of pouerty, he would haue rubb'd the Temple of Jupiter Dodoneus, the countrey men ſlew him. q That is, Seleucus ſhall ſucceede his father Antiochus. r Not by fortren enemies, or battell but in treaſon. f Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occaſion of Seleucus his brothers death and was of a vile cruell and flatterring nature, and defaunded his b others ſonne of the kingdom. g Others ſonne of the kingdom, and whoſe the kingdom without the conſent of the people. h Hee ſheweth that great foraine powers ſhall come to helpe the young ſonne of Seleucus againſt hiſ vncle Antiochus: and yet ſhall be ouerthrowen. a Meaning Ptolemies Philometor Philopators ſonne, who was this childes conſin germaine, and is here called the prince of the covenant, becauſe he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduſt. x For alter the battell Philometor and hiſ vncle Antiochus made a league. y For hee came vpon him at vauarces and when hee firſt ſpake hiſ vncle Antiochus nothing. z Meaning, in Egypt. a He will conſent himſelfe with the ſhall holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to ſtaine to the chiefe. b Hee ſhall overcome with treaſon. c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him. d Declaring that his ſouldiers ſhall braue out and venture their life to ſlay and be ſlaine for the ſafegard of their prince. e The vncle and the nephew ſhall take uſe, and baſket together, yet in their hearts they ſhall imagine much enuie againſt the other. f Signifying that it ſhall not be in the counſell of men to bring things to paſſe, but in the prouidence of God, who ruleth the kings by a ſecret bridle, that they cannot do what they liſt themſelues. g Which he ſhall take of the Iewes in ſpoyleing Ieruſalem and the Temple, and this is tolde before to moue them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods prouidence. h That is, the Romaine power ſhall come againſt him. i For P. Porpillus the Ambaſſador appointed him to depart in the Romaine name, to which thing he obeyed although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage hee came againſt the people of God the ſecond time. k With the Iewes which ſhall forſake the covenant of the Lord: for ſitt hee was called againſt the Iewes by Iſaiah high Prieſt and this ſecond time by Menelaus

31 And armes k ſhall ſtand on his part, and they ſhall pollute the Sanctuary l of ſtrength, and ſhall take away the dayly ſacrifice, and they ſhall ſet vp the abominable deſolation. 32 And ſuch as wickedly m breake the covenant, ſhall hee cauſe to ſinne by flattery: but the people that doe know their God, ſhall preuaile and proſper. 33 And they that vnderſtand among theſe people, ſhall inſtruct many: o yet they ſhall fly by ſword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by ſpoyle many dayes. 34 Now when they ſhall fall, they ſhall be holpen with a little helpe: but many ſhall cleaue vnto them q ſainely. 35 And ſome of them of vnderſtanding ſhall fall to try them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed. 36 And the King ſhall doe what him liſt: he ſhall exalt himſelfe, and magnifie himſelfe againſt all, that is God, and ſhall ſpeake maruolous things againſt the God of gods, and ſhall proſper, till the wrath be accompliſhed: for the determination is made. 37 Neither ſhall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the deſires of women, nor care for any God: for he ſhall magnifie himſelfe alone all. 38 But in his place ſhall hee honour the god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knewe not ſhall hee honour with z golde and with ſilver, and with precious ſtones, and pleaſant things. 39 Thus ſhall hee doe in a the holdes of Mauzzim with a ſtrange god whom he ſhall acknowledge: hee ſhall increaſe his glorie, and ſhall cauſe them to rule ouer many, and ſhall diuide the land for gaie. 40 And at the end of time ſhall the King of the South puſh at him, & the King of the North ſhall come againſt him like a whirlewinde with charrets, and with horſemen, and with many ſhips, and he ſhall enter into the countreyes, and ſhall ouerflow and paſſe through. 41 He ſhall enter allo into the pleaſant land, and many countreyes ſhall be ouerthrowen; but theſe ſhall eſcape out of his hand, euen Edom & Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon. 42 He ſhall ſtretch forth his hands alſo vpon the countreyes, and the land of Egypt ſhall not eſcape. 43 But he ſhall haue power ouer the treaſures of golde and ſilver, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the blacke Mores where he ſhall paſſe.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes ſhall hold with Antiochus. l Se called becauſe the power of God was nothing diminiſhed, although this tyrant ſet vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympian, and lo began to corrupt the pure ſervice of God. m Meaning ſuch as bare the name of Iewes, but indeed were nothing Iſſe for they ſould their ſoules and betrayd their brethren for gaine. n They that remaine conſtant among the people ſhall exhort others by their example and edifie many in the true religion. o Whereby he exhorted y godly to conſtancy, although they ſhould periſh a thouſand times, and thought theſe miſeries endurer ſould. p As God will not leaue his Church deſtitute, yet will hee not deliuer it all at once, but ſo helpe, as they may liſt themſelues to fight vnder the croſſe, as hee did in the time of the Maccabees whereof hee here prophetiſeth. q That is, there ſhall be ſuch of theſe ſhall number many by poſterites. r To wit, of them that feare God and will loſe their life for the defence of true religion. Signifying alſo that the Church muſt continually be tryed and purged, and ought to looke for one perſeuerant ſupporter another: for God hath appointed the time thereof. 44 But

f The Romans add to ſea, and in Iudæa:

44 But the tidings out of the Eaſt & the North ſhall trouble him: therefore hee ſhall go forth with great wrath to deſtroy & roote out many.
45 And he ſhall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the ſeas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he ſhall come to his end, and none ſhall helpe him.
46 Jerchis reigned quietly throughout all countreys, and from ſea to ſea, and in Iudæa: but at length for their cruelty God ſhall deſtroy them.

CHAP. XII.

a Of the deliverance of the Church by Chriſt a The Angel here noteth two things:

fiſt that Church ſhalbe in great afſtiction & trouble at Chriſts coming, and next, that God will ſend his Angel to deliver it, whom hee here calleth
Michael, meaning Chriſt, which is published by the preaching of the Goſpel.
b Meaning, all ſhall riſe at the general reſurrection, which thing he here nameth becauſe the faithfull ſhall have overcome their effects: that is, for in the earth there ſhall be no ſtrife, and no ſtrife in the heavenly I which in-cludeth the whole Church.
c Though the moſt part diſſiſt this prophecie, yet keepe thou it ſure and cleeme
it as a treaſure.
d Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reſurrection of theſe things: and then many ſhall run down to ſearch the knowledge of theſe myſteries, which they obtaine now by the light of the Goſpel.

And at that time ſhall Michael ſtand vp, the great prince, which ſtandeth for the children of thy people, and there ſhalbe a time of trouble, ſuch as neuer was ſince there began to be a nation vnto that time: and at that time thy people ſhall be deliuered, every one that ſhall be found written in the booke.
2 And many b of them that ſleepe in the duſt of the earth, ſhall awake ſome to euerlaſting life, and ſome to ſhame and perpetual contempt.
3 And they that be c wiſe, ſhall thinke, as the brightnes of the firmament: and they that turne many to righteouſneſſe, ſhall ſonne as the ſtars, for euer and euer.
4 But thou, O Daniel, ſhut vp the words, and ſeale the booke: till the end of the time: many ſhall run to and fro, and knowledge ſhall be increaſed.
5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and beheld, there before me ſtood one c who had kept the true ſeere of Gods word, and chiefly meant the miniſters of Gods word, and next all theſe that be ignorant, and bring them to the true knowledge of God.
6 And he ſaid vnto me, ſeeke thou to know theſe things: for thou art ſure and cleeme it as a treaſure.
7 Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reſurrection of theſe things: and then many ſhall run down to ſearch the knowledge of theſe myſteries, which they obtaine now by the light of the Goſpel.

ſtood other two, the one on this ſide of the brinke of the riuer, and the other on that ſide of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And one ſaid vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When ſhalbe the end of theſe wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his right hand, & his left hand vnto heauen, and ſware by him that liueth for euer, that ſhall tarſe for a time, two times and an halfe: and when he ſhall haue accompliſhed to ſcatter the power of the holy people, all theſe things ſhall be finiſhed.

8 ¶ Then I heard it, but I vnderſtood it not: ſaid I, O my Lord, what ſhalbe the end of theſe things?

9 And he ſaid, Go thy way Daniel: for thy words are cloſed vp, and ſealed till the end of the time.

10 Many ſhalbe purified, made white, & tried: but the wicked ſhall dee wickedly, and none of the wicked ſhall haue vnderſtanding: but the wiſe ſhall vnderſtand.

11 And from the time that the dayly ſacrifice ſhalbe taken away, and the abominable deſolation ſet vp, there ſhall bee a thouſand two hundred and ninety dayes.

12 Bleſſed is he that waiteth & cometh to the ſecond day, three hundredth & ſixty & thirty dayes.

13 But goe: thou thy way till the end bee: for thou ſhalt reſt and ſtand vp in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

is not in man to appoint the time of Chriſts coming, but that they are bleſſed that patiently abide his appearing. o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, ſignifying that he ſhould depart this life, and riſe againe with the elect, when God had ſufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

g Which was tyger.
h Which was as it were a double eate and did the more conſume the thing.
i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a ſhort time, ſignifying that their troubles ſhould haue an end.
k When the Church ſhall be ſcattered & diminiſhed in ſuch ſort as it ſhall ſeem to haue no power.
l From the time that Chriſt by his ſacrifice ſhall take away the ſacrifice and ceremonies of the Law.
m Signifying that the time ſhall bee long of Chriſts ſecond coming, and yet the children of God ought not to be diſcouraged though it be decreed.
n In this number he addeth a mo-neth & an halfe to the former number, ſignifying that it ſhall bee a long time.

H O S E A.
THE ARGUMENT.

A Fear that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked & ſubtil counſell of Ieroboam the ſonne of Nebat: & in ſtead of his true ſeruiſe commanded by his word, worſhipped him according to their owne fantaſies and traditions of men, giuing themſelves to moſt vndeſiderate and ſuperſtitious, the Lord from time to time ſent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew ever worſe and worſe, and ſill abſurd Gods benefiſts. Therefore now when their proſperitie was at the height vnder Ieroboam the ſonne of Ioſh, God ſent Hoſea & Amos to the Iſraelites (as hee did at the ſame time Iſaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their iniquitie: and whereas they thought themſelves to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them baſtards and children borne in adultery: and therefore ſheweth that God would take away their kingdom, and giue them to the Aſſyrians to bee led away captiues. Thus Hoſea faithfully executed his office for the ſpace of ſeventy yeres, though they remained ſill in their vices & wickedneſſe, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And becauſe they ſhould neither bee diſcouraged with threatnings, only, nor yet flatter themſelves by the ſweetneſſe of Gods promiſes, he ſetteth before them the two principall parts of the Law, which are the promiſe of ſaluation, and the doctrine of life: for the firſt part he diſſecteth the faithfull to Meſiah, by whom only they ſhould haue true deliverance: and for the ſecond, hee ſetteth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices. And this is the chief ſcope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promiſes to allure them to bee goodly, or by threatnings of his iudgements to ſcare them from vice: and albeſt that the whole Law containe theſe two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hoſea propheth. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 3 To calling off the Gentiles. 4 Chriſt is the head of all people.

He word of the Lord that came vnto Hoſea the ſonne of Beeri, in the dayes of a Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the ſonne of Ioſh king of Iſrael.

2 At the beginning the Lord ſpake by Hoſea, and the Lord ſayde vnto Hoſea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife c of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

3 Called alſo Aza-riah, who being a leper was deſpoſed from his kingdom.
b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of theſe four kings, that he preached about threeſcore yeres.
c That is, one that of long time hath accuſtomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he ſaw this in a viſion, or elſe was commanded by God to ſet forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagoga, and of the people his children.

3 So he went, and tooke d Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a ſonne.

4 And the Lord ſaid vnto him, Call his name e Izreel: for yet a little, and I will viſit the blood of Izreel vpon the houſe of Iſrahel, and will cauſe to ceaſe the kingdom of the houſe of Iſrahel.

5 And at that day will I alſo breake the bow of Iſrahel in the valley of Izreel.

name they beſtood becauſe Iſrahel did preſume with God: but that they were 20 baſtards, & therefore ſhould be called Izreelites, that is, ſcattered people, although Iſrahel, which was the chief citie of the tribes vnder Abrah where Iſrahel died to much blood. a King 18, 13. f I will be reueged vpon Iſrahel for the blood that he ſhed in Izreel: for albeſt God ſtriketh him to execute his iudgements, yet hee did them for his own ambition, & not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for he built vnto idolatrie which hee had deſtroyed. g When the meaſure of their iniquitie is full and I ſhall take vengeance and deſtroy all their policie and force.

b That is, not obtaining mercie: whereby he signifieth that God's favour was departed from them. c For the Egyptians neuer returned after they were take captiues by the Assyrians. d For after they were take captiues he reuolued by means of Cyrus, Ezra, &c. e That is, not my people. m Because they thought that God could not have been true in his promise except he had preferred them to the Gentiles: that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the inner of the promise, should be without number, which stood both of the Iewes and the Gentiles. Rom. 9.26. n To wit, alter the captivity of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles. o The calamity and destruction of Israel shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

6 She conceived yet againe, & bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name^h Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pity vpon the house of Israel, but I will utterly take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and I will ^g save them by the Lord their God, and will not smite them by bowe, nor by sword, nor by barreil, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Now when shee had waied Lo-ruhamah, she conceived, and bare a sonne.

9 Then said God, Call his nameⁱ Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people, therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the ^m children of Israel shall bee as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor told: and in the place where it was sayd vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be sayd vnto them, ^{Te} are the sonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be ^g gathered together, and appoint them selfe one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great ^u is the ^v day of Iezrael.

12 And I will giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me^l (Thi), and shalt call me no more Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembered by their ⁿ names.

18 And in that day I will make a couenant for them with the ^x wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sword and the battell out of the earth: and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto me in righteousnes, and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion.

20 I will euen marrie thee vnto me in y. faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare ^z the heauens, and they shall heare the earth.

22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Iezrael.

23 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

25 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

26 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

27 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

28 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

29 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

30 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

31 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

32 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

33 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

34 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

35 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

36 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

37 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

38 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease: her feast dayes, her new moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her iolenne feasts.

12 And I will destroy her vines and her fig-trees, whereof shee hath sayd, These are my reward that my louers haue giuen mee: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beastes shall eate them.

13 And I will visit vpon her the dayes of ^a Balaam, wherein he burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her ^v eare rings and her iowels, and she followed her louers, and forgate mee, sayth the Lord.

14 Therefore behold, I will pallure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I will giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me^l (Thi), and shalt call me no more Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembered by their ⁿ names.

18 And in that day I will make a couenant for them with the ^x wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sword and the battell out of the earth: and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto me in righteousnes, and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion.

20 I will euen marrie thee vnto me in y. faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare ^z the heauens, and they shall heare the earth.

22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Iezrael.

23 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

24 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

25 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

26 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

27 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

28 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

29 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

30 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

31 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

32 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

33 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

34 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

35 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

36 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

37 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

38 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

39 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, ^a Thou art my people. And they shall say, ^b Thou art my God.

n I will punish her for her idolatrie. o By flowing how barlots trim themselves to please others, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion, in decking themselves on their holy dayes. p By my benefits in offering her grace & mercy, euery one shall see where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort. q Which was a plentiful valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderness, as Ioh. 7. 36. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing fro death and an entrie into life. r Shee shall then praise God, as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt. s That is, mine heart, knowing that I am inuolued to thee by an inuoluable couenant. t That is, my mother: which name was applied to their idoles. u No idolatrie shall once come into their mouth, but they shall see me purely according to my word. x Meaning that, with a conscience for the earth. y. 1.

CHAP. II.

x The people is called to repentance. y He sheweth their idolatry and threatens them with the punishment.

Say vnto your ^b brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,

2 Plead with your ^b mother: plead with her for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband, but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, & her adulteries from between her breasts,

3 d Left I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was borne, and make her as a wilderness, and leaue her like a dry land, and slay her for thirst.

4 And I will haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the ^z children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: she that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my glouers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll, and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore behold, I will stoppe ^h thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that she shall not find her pathes.

7 Though she follow after her louers, yet shall she not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall she say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now shee did not knowe that I ^k gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her silver and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, and take away ^m my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe ^u lent, to couer her shame.

10 And now will I discover her ^v lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I will punish thee, thou most vncircumcised, which thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton. i This he speaketh of the churche, which are truly converted, and also sheweth the vice and profit of Gods rods. k This declareth that idolaters defraude God of his honour, when they attribute his benefits to other idoles. l Signifying, that God will take away his blessing when man by his ingratitude doth abuse him. m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies and inuocations whereby he worshipped her idoles.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes shall be cast out for their idolatrie. 5 Afterwards they shall returne to the Lord.

Then said the Lord to me, ^a Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and ^b loued the wine bottles.

2 So ^c I bought her to mee for fifteen pieces of silver, and for an homer of barley and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I sayd vnto her, Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shall remaine and payed a small portion for her, lest they perceiving the good will haue abused me, and not beneuerd duties for fifteen pieces of silver were but halfe the price of a slave, Exod. 21. 32. d I will trie thee a long time as in the wilderness whether thou wilt be mine or no. e Meaning, not only all the time of their captivity, but also vnto Christ.

a Herein the Prophet representeth the Church which loved her husband before shee called her, and did not withdraw the same while shee gave her selfe to idoles. b That is, gone themselves wholly to pleasures, and could outtake vs, as they that are giuen to drunkenness. c Yet I loved her for her holinesse. d Meaning, not only all the time of their captivity, but also vnto Christ.

1 That is, they should have policy nor religion, and their idols also where in they put their confidence, should be destroyed, 2 This is meant of Gods kings dom, many dayes without a king & without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel consent and seeke the Lord their God, and David the king, and shall feare the Lord and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

which was promised vnto David to be eternall. Psal. 71. 17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people and the priests of Israel.

HEare the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourn, and every one that dwelleth therein shall be cut off, with the beasts of the felde, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shall be taken away.

4 Yet let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the 4 day: and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 They ate vp the finnes of my people, and lift vp their minds in their iniquity.

9 And there shall be like people like a priest: for I will visit their wayes vpon them, and reward their deeds.

10 For they shall eat, & not haue enough: they shall commit adultery, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine take away their heart.

12 My people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the tops of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hills vnder the oaks, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall bee p harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not visit their daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses, when they are whores: for they themselves are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not vnderstand, shall fall.

1 Shewing that their wickednes shall be punished on all sorts: for though they thinke by the multitude of wines to haue many children, yet they shall be deceiued at their hope. m In giuing themselves to pleasures, they become like brut beasts n Thus he speaketh by definition in calling them his people which now for their finnes they were not: for they sought hipe of Rockes and flickes. o They are carried away with a rage. p Because they take away Gods honours, and giue it to idoles: therefore he will giue them vp to their liults, that they shall dishonour their owne bodies. Rom. 1. 28. q I will not correct you vnto me to bring you to amendment, but let your true headlong to your owne damnation.

15 Though thou Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Iudah sinne: come not yee vnto Gilegal, neither goe yee vp to Beth-aten, nor sweare, The Lord lieth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as a vnruely heifer. Now the Lord will feed them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioynted to idols let him alone.

18 Their drunkennes stinketh: they have committed whoredome: their rulers loue to fy with flame, & bring ye.

19 The wine hath bound them vp in her wings, and they shall be ashamed of their sacrifices, 1 That is, the house of God, Beth-nen, that is, the house of inquiry, because of their iniquities, because they there signify that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped. n God will to dispense them, yet they shall not remain in any certain place. x They are found in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them. y To carry them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 23 The helpe of man is in vain.

O Priests, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue yee care, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because ye haue bin a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabot.

2 Yet they were profound to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They wil not giue their minds to turn vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in my mids of them, and they haue not known the Lord.

5 And the pride of Israel doeth refuse to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquity: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes, to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for hee hath withdrawn himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children, now shall he a month deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blowe yee the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shaine in Ramah: crie out at Beth-aen, after thee, O Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke among the tribes of Israel: haue I caused to know the truth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that remoue the bound: therefore wil I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed and broken in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the commandment.

12 Therefore wil I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim had his sickness, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto Asshur, and sent vnto king Nimri, yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lions whelp to the house of Iudah: I will spoile and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, til they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

and did not rather follow God. m In stead of seeking for remedy at Gods hand. n Whose king of the Assyrians.

CHAP. VI.

1 Afflictions subvert a man to turne to God. 2 The wickednesse of the Priests.

Come, and let vs returne to the Lord: for hee hath piyoyled, and he will heale vs: hee hath wounded vs, and he will bind vs vp.

2 After two dayes will ^b hee reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shal we haue knowledge, & in deuour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, & he shal come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I treat thee? for ^c your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I ^d cut downe by the Prophets: I haue flaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired ^e mercy, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings.

7 But they s like men haue transgredged the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 ^h Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theesue waite for a man: so the company of Priests murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief.

10 I haue fene villeny in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim, Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a ⁱ plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

g That is, like light and weake persons. h Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, and which should haue beene destituted in my word. i That is, doth imitate thine idolatry, and hath taken graces of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

a Of the voices and mansions of his people. 2 Of their punishment.

When I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquity of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt fally: and the chiefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, ^{that} I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the ^b king glad with their wickednes, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very ^c ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, and from kneading the dough vntill it bee leaueued.

5 ^{this} is the ^d day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: hee stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepe all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hore as an ouen, and haue ^e deuoured their Iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath ^f mixt himselfe among the people: Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth, not turned.

g That is, he counteracted the religion of the Gentils, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other, that is, neither thorough heate, nor thorough cold, but partly a lew, and partly a Gentile.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, ^g gray hares are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testified to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a dowe deceived without heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Ashtar.

12 ^{But} when they shall go, I will spread my net vpon them, and drawe them downe as the fowles of the heauen. I will chastise them as their ⁱ Congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fledde away from mee: destruction shalbe vnto them, because they haue transgredged against me: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against mee.

14 And they haue not cryed vnto mee with their hearts, ⁱ when they howled vpon their beds: they assemble themselves for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound and strengthened their arme, yet do they imagine mischief against mee.

16 They returne, but not to the most Hie: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage ^o of their tongues: this shal be their derision in the land of Egypt.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatry.

Set the trumpet to thy ^a mouth, he shall come as an Eagle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgredged my couenant, and trespassed against my law.

2 Israel shal cry vnto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

4 They haue ser^uped a king, but not by mee: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their filther and their gold haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without ^d innocency!

6 ^e For it came euen from Israel, the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they haue ^f sowne the winde, and they shall reape the whirlwind: it hath no talke: the bud shal bring forth no meale: if so be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein ^g no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Ashtar: they are as a gilldaffe alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hid redlions.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shal sorow a little, for the ^h burden of the king and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shal be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Lawe: but they were counted as a ⁱ strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offrings, and eat it: but the ^k Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquity, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

g Which is a token of his mans field afflictions. h That is, without all iudgement, as they cannot tell whether it be better to cleane only to God, or to seeke the helpe of man. i According to the curses made to the whole Congregation of Israel.

k That is, diuers times redeemed. them, & deliuered them from death. l When they were in affliction, & cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe. m They only seek their owne commodity & wealth, & passe not for me their God. n Becasethey boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they please against mee and my seruants. Plal. 73. 9.

a God encourageth the Prophet to signifye the speedy coming of the enemy against Israel, which was once the people of God. b They shall ery like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare. c That is, Ierobam by whom they sought their owne liberty, and not to obey my will. d That is, upright iudgement and godly life. e Meaning the calfe was invented by themselves, and not from the faith of the fathers in the wickednesse. f Showing that their religion hath but a shew, and is idle as but vanity. g They neuer cease, but rune and stro to seeke helpe. h That is, for the tribute which the king and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meaneth the Lord vnto bringing the to repentance. i That is, the idolaters count y of God as a strange in respect of their owne inuentions. k Saying that they offer it to the

Leed, but he accepteth no seruice, which hee himselfe hath not appoynted, 14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

C H A P. IX.

Of the buzzer, and captiuitie of Israel.

a For though all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

b Thou hast committed idolatry in hope of reward and to haue thy barnes filled, Iere. 44. 17 as an harlot that had rather liue by playing the whore, then to be entertained of her owne husband.

c Their outward things that thou seekest, shalt be taken from thee.

d All their doings both touching policie and religion, shall be reiect as things polluted.

e The meat offering which they offered for themselves.

f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seuing him, which shall be the most grievous point of your captiuitie, when ye shall see your felues cut off from God.

g Though they think to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet they shall be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.

h Then they shall know that they were deluded by them who challenged to them selves to be their prophets and spiritual men.

i The Prophets duty is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.

k This people is so rooted in their wickednesse, that Gibeah which was like to Sodom, was neuer more corrupt, Iud. 19. 23.

l Meaning, that he so delighted them and delighted in them.

m They were as abominable vnto me as their loners the idoles.

n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these fondly means, and so consume them by the sword.

o As they kept reder plants in their howles in Tyrus, preuening them from the cold aire of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now I will giue him to the slaughter.

p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God rather to make them barren, then that this great slaughter should come vpon their children.

q The chief cause of their destruction is, that they commit idolatry, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

r They were as abominable vnto me as their loners the idoles.

Against Israel and her idols. 14 His destruction for the same.

Israel is an empty vine, yet hath it brought forth fruite vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof hee hath increased the altars: according to the goodness of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is diuided: now shall they be found faulty: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, We haue no King, because we feared not the Lord: and what should a king doe vnto vs?

4 They haue spoken words, swearing falsely in making a cōuent: thus iudgement groweth as worme wood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall feare because of the calf of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the Chemarims thereof, that reioyce on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall bee also brought to Ashtur, for a present vnto king Iareb: Ephraim shall receive shame, and Israel shall bee ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the fume vpon the water.

8 The high places also of Auen shall bee destroyed, as the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, Couer vs, and to the hills, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not touch them.

10 It is my desire that I should chastise them, and the people shall bee gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vfed to delight in threshing: but I will passe by her faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iakob shall breake his colts.

12 Sow to your selues in righteousness, and reape after the measure of mercie: breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till hee come and raine righteousness vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednes: yee haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruit of lies because thou didst trust in thine owne ways, and in the multitude of thy strong men.

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall bee destroyed, as if Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day cutting Gods iudgements, seeing thine owne deedes were wicked, as theirs: 1 To wit, to fight, or the like: it remained in that stubbornness from that time. 2 The like cities were not moued by their example to cease from their sinnes. 3 Because they are so depaured, I will delight to destroy them. 4 That is, plowing is labour and paine. 5 I will lay my yoke vpon her fence, 6 Reade Jeremy 4. 4. 7 That is, Shalmanazar in the destruction of that cite spared neither kinde nor age,

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefite of see Loras toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

When Israel was a child then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they went thus from them : they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords of a man, with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh out the yoke from their iawes, and layed the meate vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Ashur shall be his King, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though they called them to the most high, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee Israel? how shall I make thee, as Admah? or shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within mee: my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not enter into the city.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: he shall roare like a lion: when he shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 They shall feare as a sparow out of Egypt, and as a dove out of the land of Asthur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth mee about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet reluch with I God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

13 To consume thee but will cause thee to yeeld and to receive thee to mercie: and this is the meane of the small number who shall walke after the Lord. k The Egyptians and the Assyrians shall be asid when the Lord maintaineth his people. l Gouerneth their

CHAP. XII.

1 Hee admonisheth by Iakobs example to staid in God, and not in man.

Ephraim is fed with the sword, and followeth after the East wind: hee increaseth daily lies and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Asthur, and boyle is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with Iudah, and will visit Iakob, according to his wayes according to his workes, will hee reconcile him.

3 Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength he had power with God.

4 And had power over the Angel, and prevailed: he wept and prayed vnto him: he found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

5 Hee made Iacob to sleep in Beth-el, Gen. 28. 11. and to spake with him there, that the fruit of that speech appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

5 Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercie and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 Hee is as Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.

8 And Ephraim said, Norwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall find none iniquity in me, that were wickednesse.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in the dayes of the folsome feast.

10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue mult pl ed visions, and vied similitudes by the ministry of the Prophets.

11 Is there iniquity in Gilead? surely they are vanity: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, & their altars are as heaps in the furrowes of the field.

12 And Iakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept Iespe.

13 And by a Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was hee reserved.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with high places: therefore shall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord reward him.

15 That all their religion was but vanity. I If you boast of your riches and not of bilitie, ye cleme to reproch your father, who was a pure legitime and seruant. m Meaning Moyses, whereby appeareth, that whatsoeuer they haue, it cometh of Gods free goodnesse.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The a'omisation of Israel, 9 and cause of their destruction.

When Ephraim spake, there was a trembling: hee exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, and is dead.

2 And now they finne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their filter, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftsmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a man, Let them kisse the calves.

3 Therefore they shall bee as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlwinde out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but mee: for there is no Sauour beside me.

5 I did know thee in the wilderness, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will be vnto them as a very lion, and as a leopard in the way of Asthur.

8 I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of their whelps, and I will breake the caule of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lion: the wilde beaft shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but in me thine helpe.

10 Is I am: where is thy king that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy Iudges, of whom thou saydest, Give me a king and princes?

11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

g As for Ephraim he is more like the wicked Canaanite, then godly Abraham or Iakob.

h Thus the wicked measure Gods favour by outward prosperity, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reprove their doings.

i Seeing then wilt not acknowledge my benefites, I will bring thee againe to dwell in tents as in the feast of the Tabernacles.

THE ARGVMENT.

The Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly he threatneth greater plagues, because they grew daily to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earlie, and proceed from the heart, because they had gruously offended God. And so doing, hee promitteth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his Couenant, as hee made with their fathers, but will send his CHRIST, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

4 Yea, and what haue you to do with me, O
Tyrrus and Zidon, and all the coasts of Palestina? will yee render mee a recompense? and yee recompense mee, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompense vpon your head:

5 For he haue taken my siluer and my golde, and haue caried into your Temples my goodly and pleasant things.

6 The children also of Iudah, & the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

7 Behold, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head,

8 And I will fel your fannes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they shall tell them to the Sabaeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mighty men: let all the men of warre draw neere, and come vp.

10 Breake your plowshares into swords, and your fithes into speares: let the weak say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all ye heathen & gather your selues together round about:
there shall the Lord cast downe thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen bee wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

f For afterward
God sold them by Nebuchad-nezzar and Alexander the Great, for the loue he bare to his people, and sheweth they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs.
g When I shall execute my iudge-ments against mine enemies, I will cause euery
one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to destroy one another, for my Churches sake.

13 Put in your fishes, for the harvest is ripe:
come get you downe, for the winnepsse is still:
yea, the winnepses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The Sunne and Moone shall bee darkened, and the starres shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God, dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine:
then shall Ierusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers goe thorow her any more.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines drop downe wine, and the hilles shall flowe with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall run with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Sittim.

19 Egypt shall be waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for ever, and Ieru-salem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanse their blood, that I haue not cleansed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

h Thus he shallencourage y^e enemies when their wickednes is full ripe to destroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.
i God shalbe his against all trouble that when he de-stroyeth his enemies, his childre shalbe deliuered.
k The strangers shall no more destroy his Church which if they doe, it is the people, which by their finnes make the breach for the enemie.

l He promiseth to his Church abundance of graces, reade Ezek. 47. 1.
which shalbe water & comfort for the most barren places, Amos 9. 13.

m The malicious enemies shall haue no part of this grace.
n He had suffered his Church to be to lie in their filthines, but now he promiseth to cleanse them and to make them pure vnto him.

A M O S.

THE ARGUMENT.

Among many other Prophets that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednesse and idolatry, hee stirred vp Amos, who was an herdman or shepheard of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and confidence to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in tyme repent: shewing them, that if God spare the other nations about them, who had lived as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their finnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vniuersed repentance. And finally hee comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfect deliue-rance and saluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord against Damascus, 6 The Philistines, Tyrrus, Iadon and Aza-mon.

He words of Amos, who was among the herdmen at ^a Tecoa, which he saue vpon Israel, in the dayes of Vziah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of ^b Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel two yere before the earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and vter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepheards shall perishe, and the top of Carmel shall wither.

3 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ben-hadad.

5 I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-aue: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-edon, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they carried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thercof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ah-dod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perishe, saith the Lord God.

9 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it,

e He sheweth first that all the people round about should be destroyed for their manifold finnes: which are meant by three and foure which make foure, because the Israelites should the more deeply consider Gods iudgements toward them. i If the Syrians shall not be spared for committing this cruelty against one citie, it is not possible that Israel should escape punishment which hath committed so many and grieuous sinnes against God and man, h For Elau (of whom came the Edomites) and Isakob were brethren: therefore they ought haue admonished them of their brotherly friendship, and not to haue provoked them to hatred.

 i He was a concionall enemy vnto him.

m Henoteth the great cruelty of the Ammonites that spared not the women, but most tyrannously tormented them and yet the Ammonites came of Lor, who was of the household of Abraham.

a For the Moabites were so cruel against the king of Edom that they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselves of the dead.
 b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.
 c If he spare not his promises were made, much more he will not spare his degenere kingdome.
 d They esteemed moab ville briber mens liues.
 e When they haue spoiled him and thrown him on the ground, they gape for his life.
 f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being neere mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickednesse.

g They spyle others: and so offend vnto God, thinking that hee will dispense with them, when hee is made partaker of their iniquities.
 h The delatation of their enemies, and his mercie toward them, should haue calmed their hearts to make farre loe toward him.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the wallles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because hee did pursue his brother with the sword, and [†] did cast off all pittie, and his anger spoiled him euermore, and his wrath watched him alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they ^m haue ript vp the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 There ore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind.

15 And their king shall goe into captiuitie, he and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah and Israel.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I wil cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will flay all the princes thereof with him saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, ^b I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Law of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandements, and their lies, can'd them to create after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 There ore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of ^c Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they fold the righteous for siluer and the poore for ^d shoes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a make to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes laide to pledge: by euery altar: and they ^e drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the ^h Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Alſo I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres thorow the wilderness to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and ⁱ of your yong men for Nazarites, Is it not euen thus, O yee children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But yee gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commaunded the Prophets, saying, Prophesie not.

13 Behold, I am ^k pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of heaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty saue his life.

15 Nor hee that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and hee that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall hee that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And he that is of a mightie courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

Heerprophet the house of Israel of Ierusalem, 11 For the which God will punish them.

Heare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euery against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You ^o onely haue I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they bee agreed?

4 Will a ^e lion roare in the forest, when hee hath no pray? or will a lions whelpie crie out of his den, if he haue taken nothing?

5 Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fowler is? or will he take vp the ^e snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or shall a trumpet be blown in the citie, and the people be not afraid? or shall there ^e be euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he ^h reueileth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lion hath roared: who will not bee afraid? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but ⁱ prophesie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at ^k Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, & say, Asemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so beheld the great tumults in the middes thereof, and the oppressed in the middes thereof.

10 For they know not to doe right, saith the Lord: they steepe vp violence, and robbie in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduerſarie shall come euery round about the countrey, & shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoiled.

12 Thus saith the Lorde, As the shepheard taketh ^m out of the mouth of the Lyon two legges, or a peece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bedde: and in ⁿ Damascus as in a couch.

13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Iakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hostes.

Strangers, as the Philistims and Egyptians to bee witnesses of Gods iudgements: against the Israelites for their cruelty and oppression. 1 The fluite of their cruelty and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses.
 m When the Lyon hath satiate his hunger, the shepheard findeth a legge, or a tippie of an eare, to shew that the shepheard been worried.
 n Where they thought to haue had a sure hold, and to haue bene in safety.

i Ye contemned my benefits, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophets.
 k You haue wearied me with your sinnes life.
 l None shall be deliuered by any means.

a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people and yet you haue forsaken me.
 b Herely the Prophet signifieth that he speake h not of himselfe, but as God guideth and moueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.
 c Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?
 d Can any thing come without Gods providence? Shall his threatnings be in vaine?
 e Shall the prophet threaten Gods iudgements and the people not be afraid?
 f Doth any aduerſity come without Gods appointment?
 g Doth any aduerſity come without Gods appointment?
 h Shall I find fault with the Israelites, as he doth with other people: for hee eneuerneth them before of his playages by his Prophets.
 i Because the people euery murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirit moued them to speake as they did.

k He calleth the Gods iudgements as the fluite of their cruelty, as he doth with other people: for hee eneuerneth them before of his playages by his Prophets.
 l Because the people euery murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirit moued them to speake as they did.
 m He calleth the Gods iudgements as the fluite of their cruelty, as he doth with other people: for hee eneuerneth them before of his playages by his Prophets.

1 That idole which you esteeme as your king and caried about as you did Chio, in which images you thought that there was a certaine diuinity.

2 The Prophet threateth the wealthy, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

3 These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing before time they did nothing auaile them that were there borne, why should you looke that they should save you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions.

4 If God had destroyed their excellent cities in three diuers kindes as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistines and had brought their wilde borders into a greater straightnes, then you yet are thynke you are better, or to escape?

5 Yechar continue still in your wickednesse, and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand, but giue your eyes to all idollenes, without regard, as hee caused diuers kinds of instruments to be made to ierre Gods glorie, he thefe did contend to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lusts.

6 They pitied not their brethren, wherof now many were slaine, and caried away captiue.

7 Some read the say of them that stretcheth himselfe, shall depart.

8 Reade Ierem. vi. 14. i That is, the riches and pompe. k The destruction shall be so great, that none shall remaine left to bury the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to carie out to the burnt aches with more ease. l That is, to some neighbour, that dwelleth round about. m They shall be so alienated at this destruction that they shall haue no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall be damned when they heare Gods Name, and abhor it as they that are desperate or reprobate. n Hee comprehend them to barren rockes, wherupon it is in vaine to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benefites can haue no place among them. o Reade Chap. 5. 7. p That is, power and glory. q From some corner of the country to another.

26 But you haue borne in Siccuth, your King, and Chium your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues.

27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captivity beyond Damafcus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Iffrahim in pleasure.

Woe to a them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistines: be they better then these kindomes, or the border of their land better then your border?

3 Ye that put far away the euill day, and approach to the eat of inequities?

4 They lye vpon beds, and see: and stretch themselves vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viole: they inuent to themselves instruments of musike like e Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and annoint themselves with the chiefe ointments, but no man is forrie for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they come captiue with the first that go captiue, and the sorow of them that stretched themselves, is at hand.

8 The Lord God hath sworn by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre the excellency of Iakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the cite with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vnkle shall take him vp & burne him to cary out the bones out of the house, and shall lay vnto him, that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And hee shall say, None. Then shall he say, Hold thy tongue: for wee may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses rumie vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite of righteousness into wormewood.

13 Yee reioyce in a thing of nought: ye say, Haue not wee gotten vs p hornes by our owne strength?

14 But behold, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God of hostes: and they shall afflict you from the entering in of Hamath vnto the riuier of the wilderness.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine vision, whereby he will breake the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah.

10 His crafty counsell.

Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, & behold he formed grasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter growth: and loe, it was in the latter growth after the Kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the grasse of the land, then I said, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iakob? for he is small.

3 & the Lord e repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

4 Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, & and it denoured the great detpe, and did eate vp a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this, This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stood vpon a wall made by line with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said vnto me, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the mids of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the high places of Iffrah shall be desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth el sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also Amaziah said vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eat thy bread, and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth el: for it is the kings chappell, and it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an herdman, and a gatherer of wilde figs.

15 And the Lord tooke mee as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Go, prophesie, vnto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophesie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Iffrah.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Thy wife shall be an harlot in the cite, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be diuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captivity forth of his land.

18 As this day he doeth against them that persecute the ministers

Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, a basket of summer fruit.

2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A basket of summer fruit. Then said the Lord vnto me, The end is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead

1 To denounce the land: and he alledgeth to the inuading of y enemies, b After the publicke commandement for mowing was giuen: or as some read, when the kings sheepe were shorne. c That is, flayed this pugnacious prayer.

2 Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stubbornnesse of this people.

3 Signifying, that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would decrease his iudgement no longer.

4 That is, when Amos had prophesied that the king should be destroyed: for this wicked Priest Ieroboam had decreed to beare the Prophet, then for loue toward the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemne him, whereto none other could take place.

5 When this instrument of Satan was neare to compass his purpose by the king, he assayed to moue their practice, was to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reprove their idolatry there openly, and to hinder his profit.

6 Thus he sheweth by his extraordinary vocation, that God had giuen him a charge, which he must needs execute.

7 Thus God yd to approue the authoritie of his Prophets by his plagues & iudgements against them, which were malicious enemies, Ier. 18. 18. and 29. 12. of his Gospel.

8 Which signified the ripenes of their sinne, and the readiness of Gods iudgements.

b There shall be more left to moune for them.
c By laying the sale of food, and necessary things which you haue gotten into your owne hands, and so cause the poore to spend quickly that little that they haue, and at length for necessity to become your slaves.

d When the death was once come, they were so greedy of gain, that they thought the holy day to be an hindrance vnto them.

e That is, the measure small, and the price great.

f That is, the inhabitants of the land shall be drowned, as Nilus drowned many when it ouerfloweth.

g In the middle of their prosperity I will send great affliction.

h Whereby he sheweth that they shall not only perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word which is the food thereof.

i For the idolaters did vie to swear by their idols, which here he calleth their sinne, as the Papists yet doe by theirs.

k That is, the common manner of worshipping, and the seruice of religion there vied bodies shall be in every place: they shall cast them forth with silence.

4 Hearce this, O yee that swallow vp the poore, that ye may make the neede of the land to faile.

5 Saying, When will the new moneth bee gone, that we may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that we may sell forth wheate, and make the Ephraim, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for filner, and the neede for shooes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate.

7 The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Iakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall bee cast out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, saith the Lord God, I will euen cause the Sonne to goe downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring fackelchoke vpon all loynes, and baldnesse vpon every head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they run to and fro to seeke the word of the Lord, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the faire virgins and the young men perish for thirst.

14 They that swear by the signe of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, lieth, and the manner of Beerseba lieth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

and neuer rise vp againe.

CHAP. IX.

x The trainings against the Temple, & Against Israel. 11 The restoring of the Church.

I Saw the Lord standing vpon the Altar, and he said, Smite the lintell of the doore, that the posts may shake: and cut them in pieces, even the heads of them all, and I will flay the laist of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they dig into the hell, thence shall mine hand take them: though they climbe vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottom of the sea, thence will I command the serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I command the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his spheres in the heauen, and hath laid the foundation of the globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians vnto me, O children of Israel, saith the Lord? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheless I will not utterly destroy the house of Iakob, saith the Lord.

9 For loe, I will command and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the least stone fall vpon the earth.

OBADIAH.

ARGUMENT.

The Edumians, which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundry kindes of crueltie, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God asked by his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, for as much as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so fore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

He vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, ^aWe have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent among the heathen: arise, and ^blet vs rise vp against her to battell.

² Echold, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despided.

⁴ Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

⁵ Came theeues to thee or robbers by night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stollen til they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue some grapes?

⁶ How are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?

⁸ Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wife men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

⁹ And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because eury one of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

¹⁰ For thy ciuilitie against thy brother Iakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

¹¹ When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entered into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

¹² But thou shouldst not haue beholde the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a stranger, neither shouldst thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldst not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

¹³ Thou shouldst not haue entred into the gate of any people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldst thou once haue looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layd hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

¹⁴ Neither shouldst thou haue stood in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldst thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

¹⁵ For the day of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

¹⁷ But vpon mount Zion shall be deliuerance, and it shall be holy, and the house of Iakob shall possesse their possessions.

¹⁸ And the house of Iakob shall be a fire and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau a stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

²¹ And they that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shall be the Lords.

In the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and Head of this kingdome.

¹ When the Lord deprived them of their former dignitie, and gaue them to be caried into captiuitie. ^k When he will summon all the heathen, and send them to deliuy that.

^l That is, reioyced and triumphed. ^m The Edonites shall be vtterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will restore my Church and restore it.

ⁿ God attributeth this power to consume his enemies to his Church, which power is ouerly power to himselfe, as Isa 10. 17. d. cut 4. 24. heb. 12. 29.

^o He describeth how the Church shall be enlarged & haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished vnder

Christ when as the faithful are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head.

^p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad, Spaine.

^q Meaning, that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and Head of this kingdome.

THE ARGVMENT.

When Ionah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little prested, God gaue him expresse charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe cite of the Assyrians, because hee had appeined, that they which were of the heathen, should conuerse by the mighty power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had provoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuersted to the Lord for so many Prophets, and so diligen preaching. Hee prophesied vnder Ioth, and Ieroboam, as 2. Kings. 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

³ Ionah fled when he was sent to preach. ⁴ A tempest arises, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

He word of the Lord came also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

² Arise, and goe to Nineueh, that is great cite, and crie against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before mee.

³ But Ionah rose vp to flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord.

⁴ But the Lord sent out a great winde into it: for their wickednesse is come vp before mee.

³ But Ionah rose vp to flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to Iapho: and he found a ship going to Tarshish: so he payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might goe with them vnto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord.

⁴ But the Lord sent out a great winde into hee should nothing at all profit there, seeing hee had done so much for his owne people, Chap. 4. 2. ^e Which was the haven, and perts take shipping thither, called also Iope. ^f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and whereto he would haue assisted him.

^d Whereby he declared his wickednesse, that would not presently follow the Lords calling, but gaue place to his owne reason, which perfwaded him that hee should nothing at all profit there, seeing hee had done so much for his owne people, Chap. 4. 2. ^e Which was the haven, and perts take shipping thither, called also Iope. ^f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and whereto he would haue assisted him.

^a God hath certainly reuealed to his Prophets, that he will raise vp the heathen to deliue the Edomites, whereof the remour is now published, Iere. 49. 14.

^b Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.

^c Which despideth others in respect of his selfe, and yet is not but an handfull to comparison of others, and art that vp among the hills as separate from the rest of the world.

^d God will destroy them that he will leaue none, though theenes come, take but till they haue enough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behinde them, Iere. 49. 9.

^e They in whom thou diddest trust for to saue helpe and friendship of them, shall be thine enemies, and destroy thee.

^f That is, thy familiar friends and guests haue by secret practices destroyed thee.

^g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sorely punished, to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom he now comforteth by punishing their enemies. ^h When Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioynedst with him and hadst part in the spoile, and to didst reioyce when my people, that is, thy brether, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldst haue pitied and kolpen thy brother.

^a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel after that for a time he had prophesied in Iuda, he had visions in Babylon, Ezek. 1. 1. ^b For feeling the great obligation of the Israelites, he lent his Prophet to the Gentiles, that they might prooue them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: For Nineneh was the chiefe cite of the Assyrians. ^c For a authors write, it contained in circuit about eight and foure mile, and had a thousand and five hundred towers, and at that time there were an hundred and twenty thousand children therein, Chap. 4. 11.

the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cryed every man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them: but Iona was gone downe ^g into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the shipmaist came to him, and sayd vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy God, if so be that God wil thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they sayde every one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs call vnto the Lord, that we may know for whose cause this euill ^h vpon vs, So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Iona.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill ⁱ vpon vs? What is thine occupation? and whence comest thou, which is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Hebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and sayd vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that he fledde from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them.)

11 Then sayd they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought, and was troublous.)

12 And he sayd vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuer thelesse the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and sayd, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Iona, and cast him into the sea, and the sea calmed from her raging.

16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Iona: and Iona was in the belly of the fish three dayes and three nights.

whereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was enioyned him.

CHAP. II.

^a Iona in the fishes belly, ^b His prayer, ^c He is deliuered.

Then Iona prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly,

2 And sayd, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly ^d of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou hast cast me into the bottome in the midst of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy furges, and all thy waves passed ouer me.

4 Then I sayde, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet wilt I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed mee about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weeds were wrapt about mine head, and of his vocation, and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet the victory, 6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my ^e life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembered the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying ^f vanities, forsake their owne mercie.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thanksgiving, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation ^g is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Iona vpon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

^a Iona's seru against Nineueh, ^b The repentance of the King of Nin.

And the word of the Lord came vnto ^a Iona the second time, saying,

2 Arise, go vnto Nineueh that great city, and preach vnto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Iona arose, and went to Nineueh, according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a great and excellent citie of three dayes journey.

4 And Iona began to enter into the citie a dayes ^b iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet forty dayes, and Nineueh shall be overthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh beleened God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the king of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed and sayd thorow Nineueh, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man nor beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and crying mightily vnto God: yea, let every man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 Who can tell if God will turne and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their ^c workes that they turned from their euill wayes: and God repented of the euill that he had said that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

^a The great goodness of God toward his creatures.

Therefore it displeased Iona exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he praied vnto the Lord, and said I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? therefore I prevented it to flee vnto ^b Tarshish: for I knew, that thou art a gracious God and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from mee: for it is better for mee to die then to liue.

MICAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah ſeene in the worke of the Lord concerning Iudah and Iſrael at the leaſt thirty yeeres: at what time Iſaiah prophesied. He declarer the deſtruction firſt of the one kingdome, and then of the other, becauſe of their manifold wickedneſſe, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this end hee noteth the wickedneſſe of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permiſſion of the falſe prophets, and the delighting in them. Then hee ſtretcheth forth the coming of Chriſt, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah which reſſeſſed Ahab and all his falſe prophets, as 1. King, 22, 8. but another of the ſame name.

CHAP. I.

1 The deſtruction of Iudah and Iſrael, becauſe of their idolatrie.

He word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the ^a Morathiſite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, which he ſaw concerning Samaria, and Ieruſalem.

2 Heare ^e all ye people: hearken thou, O earth and all that therein is, and let the Lord God bee wittneſſe againſt you, ^{euen} the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come ^e downe, and tread vpon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines ſhall melt ^{vnder} him, (ſo ſhall the valleyes cleaue) as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downward.

5 For the wickedneſſe of Iakob ^u all this, and for the finnes of the houſe of Iſrael: what is the wickedneſſe of Iakob? Is not ^d Samaria? and which are the high ^e places of Iudah? Is not Ieruſalem.

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cauſe the ſtones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will diſcouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof ſhall be broken, and all the ^f giffes thereof ſhall be burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I deſtroy: for ſhee gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they ſhall returne ^g to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the offſprings.

9 The gaine that came by their idoles ſhall be conſumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, ſo are they vilely and ſpeedily ſpent.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah the enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ieruſalem.

10 Declare yee it not at ^h Gath, neither weepe yee: for the houſe of ⁱ Aſhath roule thy ſelfe in 11 Thou that dwelleſt at ^k Shaphir, goe together naked with ſhame: ſhee that dwelleth at Za-anan, ſhall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: ^{the enemy} ſhall I receiue of you for his ſtanding.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but eull came from the Lord vnto the gate of Ieruſalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachiſh, bind the cha-ret to the ^l beaſts: of price: ^{the o} is the beginning of the ſin to the daughter of Zion: for the tranſ-greſſions of Iſrael were found in thee.

14 Therefore ſhalt thou giue preſents to Moreſeth ^g Gath: the houſes of Achiz ^{ſhalbe} as a life to the kings of Iſrael.

15 Yet will I bring an ^q reire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareſhah, he ſhall come vnto Adul-lam, ^r the glory of Iſrael.

16 Make thee bald, and ſhaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnes as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

n To flee away: for Saneher layd ſiege firſt to that citie, and remained therein

Mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O towre of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen to the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why doest thou cry out with lamentation? ^a Is there no king in thee? is thy counsell perished? for sorrow hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorrow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile for now shall thou go forth of the city, and dwell in the field, and shalt go into Babel, ^b but there shalt thou be deliuered; there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they know not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsel, for he shall gather them as the sheaves in the barn.

13 Arise and thresh, ^a O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues braffe, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

14 With his Church this victory, so oft as he ouercometh the enemies: but the second fulfillment thereof shall be at the last coming of Christ.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-leem.

Now assemble thy garisons, O daughter ^a of garisons: he hath laid siege against vs: they shall imite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art ^b little to bee among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall he come forth vnto me, that shalt bee the ruler in Israel, whose goings forth have bene from the beginning and from euerlasting.

3 Therefore wil he giue them vs, vntill the time that ^d he which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And he shall stand, & feede in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, & they shall dwell safely: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our land: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seven shepherds, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy ^a Asshur with the sword, & the land of Nimrod with their swords: this shall he deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee cometh into our land, and when he shall tread within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Iacob shall be among many people, as a dew from the Lord, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iacob shall be among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the Lion among the beastes of the forest, and as the Lions whelp among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall liue vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut off thine horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charres.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrow all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath & indignation vpon the heathen, which they haue not heard.

k I will destroy all things wherein thou putteth thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatry, and so will helpe thee.

It shall be terrible, that the like hath nor bene heard of.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumb creatures to beare the iudgement against Israel being vniuersall. 6 What manner of sacrifices doe please God.

Hearken ye now what the Lord saith, Arise thou, and contend before the mountains, and let the hills heare thy voice.

2 Heare ye, O mountains, the Lords quarrell, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrell against his people, and hee will pleade with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieved thee? testifie against mee.

4 Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had desired, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may know the righteousnesse of the Lord.

6 Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow my selfe before the high God? Shall I come before him, with burnt offerings, and with calves of a yeere old?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my first borne for my transgression, euen the fruit of my body, for the sinne of my soule?

8 He hath shewd thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercy, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voice crieth vnto the city, and the man of wisdom shall see thy name. Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

11 The Prophet in few words telleth them to the obseruation of the second Table, to know if they obey God aright or no, saying, that God hath pcribed them to do this. h Meaning that when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the golly will acknowledge his maiestie, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth their meaning, but God that speaketh it.

h He telleth the high mountains and hard rocks to witnesse against the obstinacie of his people.

i I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefits vpon thee.

l Which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

k Thou shalt be confuted with inward griefe and enits.

16 For the statutes of Omri are kept, and all the manner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproch of my people.

I haue heerd you great sauiour, and taken you for my people, as accordingly, Luke 12. 47.

C H A P. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickedness of the times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

WOe is me, for I am as the Summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eat: my soule desired the lust ripe fruites.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: they all lie in wait for blood: every man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euill of their handes, the prince asked, & the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man he speaketh out the corruption of his loue: so they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is as a briar, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation cometh: then shall be their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counsellor: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the son reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother, the daughter in law against her mother in lawe, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore g I will looke vnto the Lord: I a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruites are gone, & none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to cruelty and deceit, for that none spareth his owne brother.

b He sheweth that the prince, the iudge and the rich man are linked togeather like do-cuill, and to doke the doings one of another.

c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, absteineeth from no wickedness nor injury.

d These men agree among themselves and conspire with one consent to do euill. e They that are of most estimation & are counted most honest among them are but thorns and briars to pricke. f Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours. g The Prophet sheweth that the only remedy for the godly in desperate euill will wait for God my Saviour: my God wil heare mee.

8 Reioyce not against mee, h O mine enemy: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkness, the Lord shall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill hee pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring mee forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousness.

10 Then the that is mine enemy shal look vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which sayd vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her: now shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streets.

11 Thou u shalt the day that thy wals shall be built: this day shall drue furre away k the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Assur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuier, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of their inventions.

14 Feed thy people with thy rod, the flock of thine heritage (which dwel solitary in the wood) as in the midst of Carmel. let them feed in Bashan and Gilead, as in old time.

15 According to the dayes of thy coming out of the land of Egypt, will I shew vnto him maruelous things.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall lay their hand vpon their mouth: their eares shall be deafe.

17 They shall like the dust I ke a serpent: they shall moue out of their holes like wormes: they shall be afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! Hee retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleafeth him.

19 Hee will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: hee will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their sinnes into the bottome of the Sea.

fraild to heare men speake, lest they should heare of their destruction on the ground and forsaie. f As though hee would not see it, but wink at it. g Meaning of his elect. h The Church is assured that God will declare in effect the truth of his mercifull promise, which he had made of old to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calls the malignant Church her enemy.

m Afore this grace appeare, hee sheweth how grievously the hypocrites that profess themselves shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which cannot sinne, shall be made waste because of their wickednesse.

THE ARGUMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselves prompt and ready to receiue the word of God, at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time, rather giuing themselves to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begunne, they cast off the care of Religion, and so returned to their vomite, and provoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their ciue Nineueh was destroyed, and Merodach-baladan king of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath continuall care of his Church, hee bristh up his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophesied about the time of Hexekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

C H A P. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliverance of Israel.

He burden of Nineveh: ^b The booke of the vision of Nahum the Elkeshite.

² God ^a is jealous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reuengeth wrath for his enemies.

⁴ Hee rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, and he drieth vp all the riuers: Bathan is wasted and Carmel, and the flower of Lebanon is wasted.

⁵ The mountains tremble for him, and the hills melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

⁷ The Lord is good ^h and as a strong hold in their day of trouble, and hee knoweth them that trust in him.

⁸ But passing ouer as with a flood, he will vterly destroy the place thereof, and darkenes shall pursue his enemies.

⁹ What do ye ^k imagine against the Lord? he will make an vter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

¹⁰ For hee shall come as vnto ^l thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shall be denoued as stubble fully dried.

¹¹ There ^m commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellor.

¹² Thus saith the Lord, Though they be ⁿ quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when hee shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

¹³ For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

¹⁵ Behold vpon the mountains the feet of him that declareth and publisheth ^p peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feasts performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe through thee: he is vterly cut off.

C H A P. II.

Hee describeth the villasies of the Chaldeans against the Assyrians.

The destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightly.

² For the Lord hath burned away the glory of Iakob, as the glory of Israel: for the empires haue empied them out, and ^c matted their vine branches.

⁴ The charres shall rage in the stretes: they shall runne to and fro in the high wayes: they shall seme like lampes: they shall shoot like the lightning.

⁶ The gates of the river shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

⁷ And Huzzab the Queene shall be led away captiue, and her maides shall leade her as with the voyce of doues imiting vpon their breasts.

⁸ But Nineveh is ^e of old like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand shall they cry: but none shall looke backe.

⁹ Spoyle ye the silver, spoyle the golde: for there is none end of the store and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

¹⁰ She is empty and voyd and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorrow is in all loynes, and the faces of them all gather blacknesse.

¹² The lion did teare in peices ynough for his whelps, and worried for his lyonnesse, and filled his holes with pray, and his dens with spoile.

¹³ Behold, I come vnto thee, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will burne her charers in the smoke, and the sword shall decoure thy yong lions, and I will cut off thy spoile from the earth, & the voyce of thy messengers shall no more be heard.

C H A P. III.

Of the fall of Nineveh. ⁸ No power can escape the hande of God.

O bloody citie, it is all full of lyes and robbery: the pray departeth not:

² The noyse of a whip, and the noyse of the moouing of the wheelles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charres.

⁴ Becau' of the multitude of the fornications of the harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistress of witchcraft, & selleth the people thorow her beauty and subtilty enuiceth young men, and bringeth them her

^a That is, Nebuchadnezzar is a readinesse to destroy the Assyrians, and the Prophet denoteth the scriptures of the Assyrians, which prepared to tornt him.

^g The Assyrians will scatter them selves, and Iudah, the Ninewites are as quiet that it can neuer perill, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the banks cannot touch: but they shall be cutted, and shall not look back though men would call them.

her whoredome, and the Nations through her witchcrafts.

5 Behold, I come vpon thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and I wil diſcouer thy ſkirts vpon thy face, and will ſhew the Nations thy filthines, and the Kingdomes thy ſhame.

6 And I will caſt filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and will ſet thee as a galing ſtocke.

7 And it ſhal come to paſſe, that all they that looke vpon thee ſhall ſee from thee, and ſay, Nineveh is deſtroyed, who wil haue piete vpon her? where ſhall I ſeeke comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better then ^dNo, which was full of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whoſe ditch was the ſea, and her wall was from the ſea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her ſtrength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were || her helpers.

10 Yet was ſhee caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children alſo were daſhed in pieces at the head of all the ſtreets: and they caſt lots for her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chaines.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God conſidering the great ſilence of the wicked, and the miſerable oppreſſion of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can ſee none ende. Therefore hee had this reuelation ſhewed him of God, that the Caldeans ſhould come and take them away captiues, ſo that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, becauſe of their ſtubbornneſſe, and rebellion againſt the Lord. And leſt the godly ſhould diſpaire, ſeeing this horrible conſuſion, hee comforteth them by this that God would puniſh the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie ſhall bee at height: wherefore he exhorteth the ſaiſtfull to patience by his owne example, and ſheweth them a ſourne of prayer, where with they ſhould comfort themſelves.

CHAP. I.

^a A complaint againſt the wicked that perſeute the iuſt.

He burden which Habakkuk the Prophet did ſee.

2 O Lord, how long ſhall I cry, and thou wilt not heare (enough cry out vnto thee for violence, & thou wilt not helpe)

3 Why doſt thou ſhew me iniquity, & cauſe me to behold forrow? for ſpoiling & violence are before me: and there are that raiſe vp ſtrife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is diſſolued, and iudgement doth neuer go forth: for the wicked doeth ^b compaſſe about the righteous, therefore ^c wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Behold among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and maruaile for I will worke a work in your dayes: ^d ye will not beleue it, though it be told you.

6 For loe, I raiſe vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which ſhall goe vpon the bredth of the land to poſſeſſe the dwelling places that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and fearefull: their iudgement, ment, & their dignity ſhall proceed of themſelves.

8 Their horſes alſo are ſwifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the evening: and their horſemen are many: and their horſemen ſhal come from far: they ſhall ſiege as the eagle haſting to meat.

9 They come all to ſpoyle: before their faces ſhall be ^e Eaſt wind, and they ſhal gather the captiuitie ^g as the ſtand.

10 And they ſhal mocke the Kings, and the princes ſhall be a ſcorne vnto them: they ſhall deſtroy every ſtrong hold: for they ſhal gather ^h duſt, and take it.

11 Then ſhall they take a courage, & tranſgreſſe & do wickedly, ⁱ imputing their power vnto their god.

12 Art not thou ſo old, O Lord my God, mine holy One? we ſhall ^k not die: O Lord thou haſt ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou haſt eſtabliſhed them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canſt not ſee euill: thou canſt not behold wickednes: wherefore doſt thou look vpon the tranſgreſſors, and holdeſt thy tongue, when the wicked deuoureth the man, that is more righteous then he?

14 And makeſt men as the ^l fiſhes of the ſea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler o^g Zeph. 3. 3.

^h For the lewes moſt feared this wind, becauſe it deſtroyed their cruities.

ⁱ They ſhall be as many in number.

^j They ſhall caſt vp moones againſt it.

^k The Prophet comforteth the faithfull that God will alſo deſtroy the Babyloſians, becauſe they ſhall abate this victory, and become proud and inſolent: as in bringing theſe people herenot their idoles.

^l He aſſureth the godly of Gods protection, ſhewing that the enemy can doe no more then God hath appointed, and alſo that their finnes required, and the Caldeans

^d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with many Nations, and yet was now deſtroyed.

^e Or ſouth.

^a The Prophet complaineth vnto God, and bewaileth that among the lewes is leſt none equity: not brotherly love: but in ſtead hereof reigneth crueltie, theft, contention and ſtrife.

^b To ſuppreſſe him, if any ſhould ſhew himſelfe zealous of Gods cauſe.

^c Becauſe the iudges which ſhould redreſſe this exceſſe, are as euill as the reſt.

^d As in times paſt you would not beleue Gods word, ſo ſhall ye not now beleue the ſtrange plagues which are at hand.

^e They themſelves ſhall bee your iudges in this cauſe, and none ſhall haue authority ouer them to controul them.

ſuch a ſhorpe end.

^l So that the great deuoureth the ſmall, deſtroyeth all the world.

15 They take vp all with the angle, they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their ^mnet, and burne incense vnto their yarne, becau^e by them their portion ⁿis fat, & their meat plenteous.

17 Shal they therefore stretch out the net, and not spare continually to ⁿslay the Nations?

CHAP. II.

2 Against pride, conceitnes, drunkennes, and idollatry.

I will stand vpon my ^awatch, and let mee vpon the towre, ^bwill looke and see what he would say vnto me, and what I shall answer to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne ^bthat readeth it.

3 For the vision ⁿis yet for an appointed time, but at the ^elast it shall speake, and not lie: though it tar ^ewaite: for it shall surely come, and shall not fail.

4 Behold, ^dhee that listeth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith.

5 Yea, neede the proud man ^{is} as ^ehee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall hee not endure, becau^e hee hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all Nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shal not all these take vp a parable against him, and a taunting prouerbe against him, say, Ho, hee that increaseth ^{that which is} not his? ^fHow long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shal they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall strike thee? and thou shalt be their prey?

8 Becau^e thou hast spoyled many Nations, all the remnant of the people shall ^{spoil} thee, becau^e of mens blood, and for the wrong ^{done} in the land, in the Citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, hee that conceiaeth an euill conetousnesse to his house, that hee may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of euill.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ^aignorances.

2 ^bO Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraid: ^cO Lord reuine thy ^ework in the mids of the people, in the middes of the yeeres make it knowne: in wrath remember mercy.

3 God cometh from ^dTeman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glory couereth the heauens, & the earth is full of his praise.

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: ^ehee had hornes ^{omitted} out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pefulence, and burning coles went forth before his feete.

6 He stood and measured the earth: hee beheld & dissolved the nations, and the euertasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hills did bow: his ^ewaies are euertasting.

7 ^fFor his iniquity I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtains of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the ^hriuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride ⁱvp on thine horses? thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy ^kbow was manifestly reuealed, and the lothes of the tribes were a fire word, Selah, thou ^mdiddest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines saw thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water ⁿpaffed by the deepe made a noise, and lift vp his hand on high.

11 The ^osunne and moone stood still in their habitation: ^pat the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God which was at hand, shewing that their cuntry should be utterly destroyed, and they carried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yes for the comfort of the faithful he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continual care o-uer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercy by reason of the promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should bee gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

Threatning against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatry.

He word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of * Tofiah, the sonne of * Amon king of Iudah.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, sayth the Lord.

3 * I wil destroy man and beast: I wil destroy the a foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shall be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, sayth the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the b Chemarims with the Priests,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, & sweare by Malcham.

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor enquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his guests.

8 And it shall be in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the kings children, & all such as are clothed with strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by cruelty and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noyse, and cry from the a fifth-gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

11 Howle yee inhabitants of g the low place: for the company of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with b lights, and visite the men that are froisen in their dregs, and say in their hearts, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shall be spoiled, and their houses waste: * they shall also build houses, but not inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord u is neere, and hasteth greatly, uen the voice of the day of the Lord: k the strong man shall cry there bitterly.

15 * That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of clouds and blacknesse.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towres.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be poured out as dust, and their flesh as the dounge.

18 * Neither their siluer nor their gold shall be able to deliuer them in the day of the Lordes wrath, but the * whole land shall be decouered by the fire of his ielousie: for hee shall make euen a speedie riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and becom the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lord all the mecke of the earth, which haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousness, seeke lowliness, if so bee that yee may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

4 For Azzah shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall drie out Ahdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall be rooted vp.

5 Wo vnto the inhabitants of the sea coast: the nation of the Cherethims, the word of the Lord against you O Canaan, the land of the Philistims, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the sea coast shall be dwellings & cottages for shepherds, and shepolds.

7 And that coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Iudah, to feede thereupon: in the house of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbraid my people, and magnified themselves against their borders.

9 Therefore, as I live, saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall bee as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettles, and salt pits, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my folke shall spoile them, and the remnant of my people shall possesse them.

10 This shall they haue for their pride, because they haue reproched, and magnified themselves against the Lord of hosts people.

11 The Lord will be terrible vnto them: for he will consume all the gods of the earth, and euen man shall worship him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen.

12 Yee Morians also shall be slaine by my sword with them.

13 And he will stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Asshur, and will make Nineueh desolate, and waste like a wilderness.

14 And flocks shall lie in the middes of her, and all the beastes of the nations, and the pelicans, and the owle shall abide in the vpper posts of it: the voice of birds shall sing in the windowes, and desolation shall be vpon the posts, for the cedars are conquered.

15 This is the reioicing city that dwelt careless, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none besides mee: how is she made waste, and the lodging of the beasts! euerie one that passeth by her, shall hiss and wagge his hand.

CHAP. III.

Against the governors of Ierusalem. 8 of aborning of all the Gentiles. 12 A conspuracie of Israel.

Woe to her that is filthy and polluted, to the robbing citie.

2 She heard not the voyce: shee receiued not correction: she trusted not in the Lord: she drew not neere to her God.

3 Her princes within her are as roaring lyons: her Iudges are as wolues in the evening, which leaue not the bones till the morrow.

4 Her prophets are light, and wicked persons: her priests haue polluted the Sanctuary: they haue writt the law.

5 The iust Lord in the mids thereof: hee will doe none iniquitie: euerie morning doeth he bring his iudgement to light, he faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed.

6 I haue cut off the nations: their towres are desolate: I haue made their streets waste, that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man, and without inhabitant.

7 I said, Surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling should not be destroyed, howeouer I visited them, but they rose early, and corrupted all their works.

8 Therefore wait ye vpon me, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise vp: to the pray: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdoms to powre vpon them mine indignation, when all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be deuoured with the fire of my iellousie.

9 Surely then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of y Lord, to serue him with one consent.

10 From beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, the daughter of my dispersed, praying vnto me, shall bring me an offering.

11 In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for all thy works wherein thou hast transgressed against mee: for then I will take away out of the mids of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proud of mine holy mountaine.

12 Then will I leaue in the middes of thee an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord.

13 The remnant of Israel shall doe none iniquity, nor speake lies: neither shall a deceitfull tongue be found in their mouth, for they shall be fed, and lie downe, and none shall make them afraid.

14 Reioyce O daughter Zion: be yee ioyfull, O Israel: be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem.

15 The Lord hath taken away thy iudgements: he hath cast out thine enemies: the King of Israel, when the Lord is in the middes of thee: thou shalt see no more euill.

16 In that day it shall be said to Ierusalem, Feare thou not, O Zion, let not thine hands be faint.

17 The Lord thy God in the middes of thee is mighty: he will saue, hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: hee will quiet himselfe in his loue: hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioy.

18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare reproch for it.

19 Beholde, at that time I will bruite all that afflict thee, & I will p saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise and fame in all the lands of their shame.

20 At that time will I bring you againe, and then will I gather you, for I will giue you a name and praise among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, saith the Lord.

I will deliuer the Church, which now is afflicted, as Mic. 4. 6. the Abyssinians and Caldeans which did mocke them and put them to shame.

The wicked thus boyled that God was among them, and the Prophet answered that that cannot excuseth their wickedness: for God will not beare with their sinnes: yet, that he did patiently and sent his Prophets continually to call them to repentance, but hee profited nothing.

By the instruction of other nations she sheweth that the Lewes should haue learned to feare God.

They were most earnest and ready to doe wickedly.

Seeing ye will not repent, you shall looke for my vengeance as well as other nations.

when Iudah was destroyed, hee sheweth that hee will publish his grace through all the world.

Isa. with our shoulder, Hos. 6. 9.

This is the Lewes shall come as well as the Gentiles, which is to be understood vnder the time of the Gospel.

For they shall haue full remission of their sinnes: and the hypocrites which boyled of the Temple, which was also hye pride in times past, shall be taken from thee.

This is the punishment for thy sinne.

As the Abyssinians, Caldeans, Egyptians, and other nations.

To defend thee by thy sinnes, thou shalt put him away, and let thy selfe naked, as

As among the Abyssinians and Caldeans which did mocke them and put them to shame.

b That is, which haue liued vpon rightly and godly according as he professed by his word.

c He cometh the faithful in that the Lord would change his punishments from them vnto the Philistims their enemies and other nations.

d That is, Galilee: by these nations he meaneth the people that dwelt neere to the Lewes, and in stead of friendship were their enemies: therefore he calleth them Canaanites whom the Lord appointed to be slaine.

e He is the which God would destroy their enemies, because their country might be a resting place for his Church.

f These nations presumed to take from the Lewes that country which the Lord had giuen them.

g When he shall deliue his people and destroy their enemies & idoles, his glory shall shine throught all the world.

h Read Isa. 34. 11 Isa. 34. 11.

i Meaning Nineueh, which reioicing to much of her strength and prosperitie should be thus made waste, and Gods people deliuered.

a That is, Ierusalem.

b They are as greedy that they eat up bones & all h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

i That is before the building of the Temple was begun.

k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promised that God would blisse them: and albeit as yet the Levite was not yet come forth, yet in the gathering they should have plenty.

Prests answered, and said, It shalbe vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before mee, saith the Lord: and so are all the works of their hands, and that which they offer hereto vncleane.

16 And now, I pray you, consider in your mindes from this day, and afore, euē afore a stone was laid vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the winepresse, for to draw out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I mote you with blasting, and with mildeu and with haile: in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from this day, and afore, from the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, euē from the day that the foundation of the Lordes Temple was laid:

consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the seed yet in the barn? as yet the vine and the figge tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blisse you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai, in the four and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I will shake the heauens and the earth, 23 And I will ouerthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strenght of the kingdoms of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charrets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day saith the Lord of hostes will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hostes.

l He exhorteth them to patience, and to abide till the harvest came, & then they should see Gods blessings. m I will make a change, and renew all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel heretofore is a figure.

n Hereby he sheweth that there shall be no let or hindrance, when God will make this wonderful restitution of his Church.

o Signifying, that his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

TWELVE moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore, hee putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefit of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue from death and sinne by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednesse, and coulde not see forth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, hee looketh them most sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, hee setteth the promise of grace, that they might by this means be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

a Hee exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to shew the wickednesse of their fathers. b Hee figureth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

N, the eight moneth of the second yeere of ^a Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto ^b Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath bene displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Turne ye vnto mee, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 Bee ye not as your fathers, vnto whom the former ^a Prophets haue cried, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Turne you now from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where are they? and do the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my words & my statutes which I commaunded by my seruants the Prophets, take hold of your fathers? and they returned, and said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath he dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the four and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth ^b Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I saw by night, and behold, ^k a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrrhe trees that were in a bottom, and behind him were there ^l red horses speckled and white.

9 Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, said vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrrhe trees, answered, and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to go thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord that stood among the myrrhe trees, and said, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the Angel of the Lord answered, and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with mee, with good words and comfortable words.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord, the mediator prayed for the saluation of his Church, which when all the country about them were at rest.

Lord

h Which continueth part of January and part of February.

i This vision signifieth the restitution of the Church: but as yet she should not appeare to manys eyes, which is here meant by the night, by the bottom, and by the myrrhe trees which are black, and giue a darke shadow, yet he comprehendeth to a King, who hath his postes and messengers abroad, by whom he still watcheth his purpose, and bringeth his misters to passe. k Who was the chief among the rest of the holymen.

l These signified the diuers of Gods Angels, by whom God sometimes punisheth, & sometime comforteth and bringeth forth his works in diuers forms.

m That is, Christ was now troubled a Who was the sonne of Hysaias.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2 Chron 24. 20.

c But had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah as he was, because he came of those progenitors, as of Iosias &c.

d Berechiah, 3rd Iddo.

e These speake thus to comfort them with Gods iudgements, that they should not provoke him as their fathers haue done, whom he so grievously punished.

f Let you fruits declare that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his Spirit, and mortified you: for else man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuerth him.

a Though for a time God doth remove his help and comfort from his Church yet this declares that he loveth them still most dearly, as most mercifully to their children, as he hath said his will, and when it is expedient for them, his help is ever ready.

b In destroying the reprobate I shewed my selfe but a little angry toward my church, but the enemies would have destroyed them also, & considered not the end of my chastisements.

c To measure out the buildings.

d The abundance shall be so great that the places of store shall not be able to containe the blessings that God will send, but shall even breake for fulness.

e Which signified all the enemies to the Church, East, West, North, South.

f These Carpenters or Smithes are Gods instruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and thornie hornes, which would overthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies hornes is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

a That is, the Angel who was Christ: for in respect of his office he is sometimes called an Angel, but in respect of his eternall essence, in God, and so called.

b Meaning himselfe Zachariah.

c Signifying the spiritual Ierusalem and Church vnder Christ, which should be extended by the Gospel through all the world, and should need no materiall wall, nor trust in any worldly strength, but should be safely preferred and dwelt in peace among all their enemies.

d To defend my Church, to reare the enemies & to destroy them if they approach neere.

e In one they shall have their full felicitie and glory.

f He calleth to them partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease, remained still in captivitie, and to preferred their own private commodities to the benefits of God promised in his Church.

g As it was that scattered you, so have I power to restore you.

h By flying from Babylon, and coming to the Church.

i Seeing that God hath begun to shewe his grace among you by delivering you, he continueth the same till toward you, and therefore sendeth his Angel and his Christ to defend you from your enemies that they shall not bury you, neither by the way nor at home.

k Yet as ye desire vnto God, that hee can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye.

l Psal. 17. 8. I Vpon the beathen your enemies.

m They shall be your servants as you haue bene theirs.

Lord of hostes, I am jealous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale.

15 And am greatly angry against the careless heathen: for I was angry but a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 There ore thus saith the Lord, I will reuente Ierusalem with tender mercy: mine house shall be builded in it, fish the Iord of hostes, and a line p shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crye yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord o hostes, My cities shall yet be broken with plenty: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then li I vpon mine eyes and saw, and beheld four horns.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure carpenters.

21 Then saide I, What come these to doe? And he answered and said, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their hornes ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I Lift vpon mine eyes againe, and looked, and beheld, a man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then saide I, Whither goest thou? And he said vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beheld the Angel that talked with me went forth, and another Angel went out to meet him,

4 And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this young man, and say, Ierusalem shall be inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord will be vnto her a wall of fire round about, and will be the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, come forth & flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I have scattered you into the four winds of the heauē, saith the Lord.

7 Save thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this glory hath he sent me vnto the nations, which spoiled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the kape of his eye.

9 For behold, I will lift vp mine hand I vpon them: and they shall be a pole to those that serued them, and ye shall know, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me.

10 Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the mids of thee, saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the mids of thee, & thou shalt know that the Iord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherite Iudah: his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdom.

And he shewed me Iehoshua the hie Priest, standing before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the Lord laid vnto Satan, The Lord reprocue thee, O Satan: when the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprocue thee. Is not this a brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And vnto him he said, Behold, I haue caused thee this iniquity to depart from thee, & I will clothe thee with garb of raiment.

5 And I saide, Let them set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Iord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also iudge mine house, & shalt also keepe my courts, and I will giue thee place among the high that stand by.

8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy fellows that sit before thee: for they are monstrous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the Branch my seruante.

9 For loe, the stone that I haue laid before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shall be seuen eyes: behold, I will cut out the graining thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquity of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call every man his neighbour vnder the vine and vnder the figgetree.

In this most needfully be vnderstood of Christ, who being God equal with his Father, was sent as the Mediator to dwell in his church and to gouerne them.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediator for the state of the Church.

b Which declares that the faithful haue not only waite in his flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe & spiritual wickednes, Eph. 6. 12.

c That is, Christ speaks to God as the Mediator of his church, that he would rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall presence of his Church.

d Meaning that Iehoshua was wonderfully preferred in the captivitie, and now Satan sought to afflict and trouble him when he was doing his office.

e In respect of the glorious garments, & precious stones that the Priests did weare before the captivities and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should be made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church.

f He sheweth of what apparell he speaks, which is when our filthy finnes are taken away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spiritual restitution.

g The Prophet prayeth that besides the raiment, the Priest might also haue a tiar for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignity of the Priesthood might be perfected: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King and here all such are condemned that can content themselves with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet describeth the perfection, and obtruncketh it.

h That is, haue rule and government in my Church, as thy predecessors haue had.

i Whereby hee meaneeth to haue the whole charge and government of the Church.

k That is, the Angels, who represented the whole number of the faithful: signifying that all the godly should willingly receive him.

l Because they follow my word, they are contemned in the world, and esteemed as smoulders.

m That is, Christ who doth humble himselfe, that not only he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned.

n Isai. 61. 1. & 62. 3. & 37. 14. & 38. 1.

o He sheweth that the ministers cannot build, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of life, both because he giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him.

p Chap. 4. 10. O that I will make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of God.

q Though I haue purified this land for a time, yet I will come now be purified, and visit it: finnes no more.

r Ye shall then liue in peace & quietnes, that is, in the kingdom of Christ.

CHAP. III.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

And the Angell that talked with mee, came againe and waked me, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,

And said vnto me, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and behold, a candlestick full of gold with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen pipes to the lampes which were vpon the top thereof,

And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

So I answered and spake to the Angell that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

Then the Angell that talked with me, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an arm nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes,

Who art thou, O great mountain, before Zerubbabel? for thou shalt be a plaine, and he shall bring forth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying Grace, grace vnto it.

Moreover, the worde of the Lord came to me, saying,

The hands of Zerubbabel haue layed the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you,

For who hath despised the day of the small things? but they shall reioice, and shall see the stone of the temple in the hand of Zerubbabel: the seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

And I spake moreover, and said vnto him, What be these two olue branches, which thorow the two golden pipes empty them elues into the gold?

And hee answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I saide, No, my Lord.

Then said he, these are the two oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

a Which was euer in the midst of the Temple signifying that the graces of Gods spirit should shew therein most abundantly, and in all perfection.
b Which conuoyed the oyle that dropped into the lampes, in that the lampes neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithful that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces and to bring his promise to passe, though he had no helpe of man.
c Whose is a figure of Christ, and therefore this vision was dedicated to all the Church who are his body and members.
d Hee sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preserve his Church, though hee were not manly helped thereunto.
e Hee compareth the power of the adversaries to a great mountaine who chooght the Jewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, with the enemies daily labour to let in the building of this spiritual Temple, one all in vaine.
f Though the enemies thinke to bring this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone there of, and say it is perfection, so that all the godly shall reioice, and pray vnto God that he would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.
g Meaning, he Prophet, that is an Christ sent by my Father for the building and preservation of my spiritual Temple.
h Signifying that all were discouraged at the small and meane beginning of the Temple.
i Whereby hee signifieth the plummet with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see no things pleasant to the eye.
k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continual providence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can doe about or bring anything to passe to hinder his worke, chap. 3. p. 1 l Which were euer Greene and full of oyle, for that still they poured forth oyle into the lampes: signifying that God will continually maintaine and preserve his Church, and endue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

The vision of the flying bookes, signifying the curse of sinners, and such as abhorre the me of God. a By the vision of the meane is signified the bringing of Iudahs affliction vnto Babylon.

Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked and behold, a flying booke.

And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying a booke: the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof ten cubits.

Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that b Releth, shall be cut off asfall on this side as one that: and euery one that d sweareth, shall be cut off, asfall on this side as one that.

I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of a thiefe, and into the house of him that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof and stones thereof.

Then the Angel that talked with me, went forth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

And I aide, what is it? And hee saide, This is an Ephah that goeth forth. Hee saide moreover, This is the sight of them through all the earth.

And behold, there was lift vp a talent of lead and this is a woman that sitteth in the midst of the Ephah.

And hee said, This is wickednes, and hee cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a stork), and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

And hee did vnto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall bee established and let there vpon her owne place.

In the next verse, 1 Signifying, that Samsam shall not haue such power against the Jewes content: that, as hee had in time past, but that God would thut vp inquiry in a measure: to a prison. k Which declared that God would execute his iudgement by the meanes of weeke and distempered men: 1 To remouen the impietie and all fictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for sure in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the four charieths he describeth the four Monarchies.

Again I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came four charieths out from betweene b two mountaines and the mountaines were mountaines of brass.

Then in the first chariet were d red horses, and in the second chariet b blacke horses.

And in the third chariet c white horses, and in the fourth chariet, horses of f diuers colours, and reddish.

Then I answered, and saide vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What are these, my Lord?

And the Angel answered, and said vnto me, These are the four spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

That with the blacke horse went forth into a By which signified the great cruelty and persecutions that the Church had endured vnder the Babylonians. d Signifying, that they had endured great affliction vnder the Babylonians. e These represented the four Monarchies of the Persians, which testified their toleribery. f Which signified, that God would sometime punish his Church with, and pour his plagues vpon their enemies, as hee did in destroying Ninieue, and Babylon, and other their enemies. g Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods spirit which according to his vouchable counsell hee causeth to appeare through all the world.

a Because the Jewes had groued and Gods plague by contemning his word, and calling off all indgement and esquire, hee inueth that Gods curses written in this booke had fully light both on them and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans: that is, former enemies. b That is, vnto anyinity toward his neigbour. c Meaning wherefore hee be in the world. d Hee hath transfused the first booke, and seereth the word of God, but as yet Gods Name. e Which was a measure in drie things containing about ten potels. f That is, all the wickednesse of the vngodly in Gods place, which hee hath in a measure, and can that it or opposit at his pleasure. g To couer the measure. h Which representeth iniquity.

a By charieths here, as by horses alone, hee meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will. b By the brazen mountaines hee meaneth the eternall counsell, and providence of God whereby hee hath from before all eternity decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter. c Which signified e So that their reuerence shall not be in vain: For God will reward with his promise, and their promise shall be sure and stable. f Let neither respect of your private commoditie, nor their countell of other, nor feare of enemies discourage you to the going forward with the building of the Temple: but be constant and obey the Prophets, which encourage you thereunto. g For God curseth your worke, for that neither man nor beast had profit of their labours.

8 And I will bring them, & they shall dwell in the midst of Ierusalem, & they shall be my people, & I will be their God in truth, & in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Let your hands be strong, yee that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hostes was laid, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I let all men, every one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not entreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the residue shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruit, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heavens shall giue their dew, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possess all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O House of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers provoked mee vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not.

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall doe, Speake ye euery man the truth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly & vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah joy, and gladnesse, and prosperous high feasts: therefore loue the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one cite, shall goe to another, saying, Vp, let vs goe & pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will go also.

22 Yea, great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, in those dayes shall men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Jew, and say, Wee will goe with you for we haue heard that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatening of the Gentiles. 2 The coming of Christ.

THE burden of the word of the Lord in the land of Madrach: and Damascus shall be his breist: when the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border d thereby:

3 When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies. d That is, by Damascus: meaning, that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod and plague.

Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be very wise. 3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and he reied vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and he will smite her power in the Sea, and shee shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the King shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and he shall be as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall be as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now haue I scene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for ioy O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King cometh vnto thee: mee is iust, and saved himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the chariots from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall be from sea vnto sea, and from the riuer to the end of the land.

11 Thou also shalt be saved through the blood of thy couenant, I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein u was no water.

12 Turne you to the strong hold, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a bowe for mee: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a giants sword.

14 And the Lord shall be scene ouer them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlwinds of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noise as through wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall be able to let this kingdom of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word. p That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syriacus: & by these places which the Iewes knew, he meant an infinite space and compass ouer the whole world. q That is, from Ephraim. r Meaning, Ierusalem or the Church which is saved by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and let it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeing they neuer so great. t That is, into the holy land where the cite and the Temple are, where God will defend you. u Meaning, the Iustfall, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on every side, and yet I used in hope that God would restore them to liberty. x That is, double benefite and prosperitie, in respect of that which your fathers enioyed from David to the captivity. y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which here meaneth by the Grecians. z He promitteth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies, and haue abundance and excess of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to moue them to intemperancie, but to sobriety, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberality.

a The iustfull shall be preferred, and reuerenced of all, but the very enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them, as Ioseph declared of Alexander the great, when he met iudas the high Priest, b Shall be as the stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! come shall make the young men chearefull, and new wine the maides.

a Surely the b idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the soothsayers haue receiued, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

a My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visit: the goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as his beautifull horse in the battell.

a Out of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the nayle, out of him the bow of battell, and out of him euery appointer of tribute also.

a And they shall be as the mighty men, which treade downe their enemies in the myre of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shall be confounded.

a And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preferre the house of Ioseph, and I will bring them again, for I pittie them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and I will heare them.

a And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant: and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

a I will huffe for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall increase, as they haue increased.

a And I will kisse them among the people, and they shall remember mee in farre countries: and they shall liue with their children and I turne againe.

a I will bring them againe all out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

a And hee shall goe into the sea, with affligion, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depths of the riuier shall dry vp: and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

a I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord, a The destruction of the temple. b The ara of the iustfull is commended. c Christ. d A grieuous vision against Ierusalem and Iudas.

Open thy doores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

a Howle, b firretrees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: howle yee, O oaks of Bashan, for the defended forcet is cut downe.

a There is the voyce of the howling of the shepheards: for their glory is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lions whelps: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

a Thus saith the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the slaughter.

a They that possesse them, slay them: and sinne not: and they that sell them, b Blesse be the Lord, for I am rich, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

a Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

a For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me two ftaues: the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

a Three shepheards alio cut off in one moneth, and my soule lothed them, and their soule abhorred me.

a Then said I, I will not feede you: that ditch, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

a And I tooke my staffe, euen Beauty, and brake it: that I might dissolue my couenant, which I had made with all people.

a And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

a And I did vnto them, if ye thinke it good, giue me p my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirty pieces of siluer.

a And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at the price. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter, in the house of the Lord.

a Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel.

a And the Lord said vnto me, Taketo thee yet: the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

a For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambs, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp, but hee shall eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

a O idle shepheard that leaueth the flocke, the sword shall be vpon his arme, & vpon his right vaite, and therefore hee breaketh both the one and the other. CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the worde of the Lord vpon ^a Israel, with the Lord, which spred the heavens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a ^b cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will hee be in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heety stone, or all people: all that lye it vp shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, sayth the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the Princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem ^{shalbe} my strength in the Lord of hosts their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coales of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shalbe inhabited againe in her owne place, ^{now} in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preserve the tents of Iudah, as aforetime: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid ^{shalbe} as Gods house, and as the Angell of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of grace, and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue pierced, and they shall lament for him as one mourneth for his only sonne, and be sory for him as ones sory for his first borne.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megaddon.

12 And the kind shall bewaile euery family apart, the family of the house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the family of Shimei apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that remaine, euery family apart, and their wiues apart.

15 Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine. a Chron 35.22. k That is. in all places where the Iewes shall remaine. l Signifying, that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremony: but euery one touched with his owne griefe, shall lament. m Vnder these certaine families hee containeth all the tribes, and sheweth also the Kings and the Priests had by their bones pierced Christ. o Called also Simeon. o To wit, which were clea by grace, and preserved from the common destruction a Of the fountain of grace. b Of the cleane riddance of Idolatry & the curse of the godly against false prophets.

CHAP. XIII.

1 In that day there shall be a fountain opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse.

2 And in that day, sayth the Lord of hosts, I will cut out the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will caute the prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet prophesie, his father and his mother that venge him, shall lay vnto him, Thou shalt not lue: for thou speakst lyes in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, shall smite him through, when he prophesieth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets be ashamed euery one of his vision, when he hath prophesied. ne ther shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But he shall say, I am no Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught mee to bee an husbandman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 Arise, O sword, vpon my shepherd, and vpon the man, that is, my fellow, sayth the Lord of hosts. smite the shepherd, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, sayth the Lord, two parts therein shall be cut off, and die: but the third shalbe left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part through the fire, and will refine them as the siluer is fined, and wiltry them as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

10 They shall confess their former ignorance, and be contrite labour for their sinne. h Hereby hee sheweth that though their parents and friends dead more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would poure their children, that became false Prophets that the markes and signes it would reneue for euery man. i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that beset this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should be an horrible dilapation among the people: for their gouernours and palliours should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applyeth this to Christ because he was the head of all Pastors, Matth. 26.31. k The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enioy them, shall be tried with great afflictions. o That it shall be known: that onely Gods power and his mercies doe ptesse them.

CHAP. XIII.

8 Of the doctrine that shall proceed out of the Church, and of the reformation thereof.

1 Behold, the daye of the Lord cometh, and they poile shall bee diuided in the middes of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses poyled, and the women desiled, and halfe of the citie shall go into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then shall the Lord goe forth, and fight against those nations, as when hee fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feet shall stand in that day vpon the mount of olives, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of olues shall cleaue in the midles thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shalbe a very great valley, and halfe speech the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how hee will as it were by miracle (ane it) do so that out of all the parts of the world, they shall fee Ierusalem which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalem the Church.

a He sheweth what shall be the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remission of finnes by the blood of Christ, which shall be a common washing, fontaine, and purge them from all vncleannesse. b He prometh that God will also purge them from all superstitions, & that their religion shall be pure. c Meaning the false prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.

d That is, when they shall prophesie lyes, and make God who is the author of truth, a lie herunto. e He sheweth what shall be the goodly thing that the kingdome of Christ, Eccl. 3.2.9.

f God shall make them ashamed of their errors, and lyes, & bring them to repentance: and by shall no more weare Prophets apparel, to make their doctrine seeme more holy.

g They shall confess their former ignorance, and be contrite labour for their sinne. h Hereby hee sheweth that though their parents and friends dead more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would poure their children, that became false Prophets that the markes and signes it would reneue for euery man. i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that beset this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should be an horrible dilapation among the people: for their gouernours and palliours should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applyeth this to Christ because he was the head of all Pastors, Matth. 26.31. k The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enioy them, shall be tried with great afflictions. o That it shall be known: that onely Gods power and his mercies doe ptesse them.

a Hee armeth the people against the great temptations that should come, before they enioy this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ that when these dangers should come they might know that they were warned of them afore.

Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to reforme this great thing, h Signifying that there should be great troubles in the Church, & that the time heereof is in y^e Lords hands, yet at length (which is heere meant by the evening) God would send comfort.

i That is, the spiritual graces of God, which should ever continue in most abundance. k All idolatry and superstition shall be abolished, and there shall be one God, one faith, and one religion.

of the mountaine shall remove toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And yee shall flee into the valley of the mountains: for the valley of the mountains shall reach vnto Azal: yea, yee shall flee like as yee fled from the earthquake, in the daies of Vzziah king of Iudah: and the Lord & my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day shall there bee no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there shall be a day (it is knowne vnto the Lord) neither day nor night, but about the evening time it shall be light.

8 And in that day shall there be waters out of the goate from Ierusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the vttermoſt East, and shall be, both in summer and winter.

9 And the Lord shall bee King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there be one Lord, and his name shall be one.

10 All the land shall be turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shall be sited vpon, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananial vnto the Kings winepresses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Ierusalem shall bee safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will mite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feet, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, & their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

13 This new Ierusalem shall be scene through all the world, and shall excell the first in excellency, wealth, and greatness.

13 But in that day in a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and every one shall take by the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall be vpon against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered round about, with gold and silver, and great abundance of apparrell.

15 Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the cattell and of the asse, and of all the beastes that be in the tents as this plague.

16 But it shall come to passe that every one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vpon from yeare to yeare to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so will not come vpon of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raie.

18 And it the family of Egypt goe not vpon, and come not, it shall not come vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will mite all the heathen, that come not vpon to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vpon to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there be written vpon the bridles of the horses, The holiness vnto the Lord, and the shes in the Lords house shall bee like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, every pot in Ierusalem and Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and seeke therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hostes.

m God will not ouerly rule p^r warre with o^r, but redress at home to your them. n I o^r stand ope^r preb^r him. o I o^r amie are rich and therefore shall not come out a p^r ay, but to use blood. p As the men should be destroy^r ed, verse 12.

q By the Egyptians when were greates enemies to one religion, hee searcheth all the Gentiles.

r Signifying that to what seruice they were put now (whether to labour, or to leaue in warre) they were now holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.

s As precious the one as the other, because they shall be sanctified.

t But all shall be pure and cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrites, nor any that shall corrupt the seruice of God.

MALACHI

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vpon for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there arose more with Ieremias was first, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that it should with more seruice as his looks for the coming of Messiah. Hee confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former do first chiefly hee reprooche with the Priests for their countenance, and for that they serued God after their own fantasies, and as according to the precept of his words. Hee also reuoceth certain peculiar sinnes which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wives, murmurings against God, impatience, and such like. Notwithstanding for the comfort of the godly, hee declareth that God would not forget his promise made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the covenant should be accomplished, whose coming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and joy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel, and chiefly the Priests.

a Read Isa. 23. 1.

b Which declareth their ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was so euident, in that hee chose Abraham from out of all the world, and next chose Isaac the younger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the elder.

c For becauſe that the ſignes of mine hatred appeared vnto when hee was made ſeruant vnto his younger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterward in that hee was put from his birthright. yet euen now before your eyes the ſignes hereof are euident, in that that his countrey lyeth waste, and hee shall neuer retorne so inhabite it: whereas ye people who in the enemie hated more then me, are by my grace and out toward you deliuered, read Rom. 9. 13.

He burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by the ministry of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, saith the Lord: yet ye say, b Wherein hath thou loued vs? Was not Esau Isaaks brother, saith the Lord? yet I loued Isaac.

3 And I hated Esau, & made his mountaine waste, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, Wee are impouertised, but we will returne and build the desolate places, yet sayth the Lord of hostes, they shall build; but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry for ever.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the broder of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father where is mine honour? and if I be a master where is my feare, saith the Lord of hostes vnto you, o Priests that despise my Name? and yefay, c Wherein haue wee despised thy Name?

d hardened them by their example to greater evils. e Hee hypocrites, which would not see their faults, but most impudently covered them, and so were blinde guides.

d Besides the test of the people, hee concerneth the Priests chiefly, because they should haue reformed others for their hypocrites, and obſtinacie against God, and not haue bred their grieffe.

 bare the people in his hand that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these evils came upon the people.
 k Will God consider your office and place, seeing you are so close and wicked?
 l Because the Levites who kept the doors did not trie whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God willeth that they would rather shut the doors, then to receive such as were not perfect.
 m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true service shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was under the Law, framed his words to the capacity of the people, and by the altar as a sacrifice here meaneth the spiritual service of God, which should be vnder the Gospel, when an end should be made to all these legal ceremonies by Christs only sacrifice.
 n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the service, as with the fact:
 but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God which he requireth, and so committed both iniquity, and also shewed their contempt of God, and contumacious.
 o The Priest and people were both weary with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and service they gave to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord.
 p That is hath ability to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will leave him according to his covetous minde.

7 Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is not to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not euil: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euil: other it now vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, sayth the Lord of hostes?

9 And now I pray you, pray before God, that he may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will he regard you? persons, faith the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you, that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, faith the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shall be offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, sayth
 the Lord of hostes.

12 But yee haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye said also, Behold, it is a wearinesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, faith the Lord of hostes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame, and the sicke: thus ye offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, faith the Lord?

14 But cursed bee the deceiver, which hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, sayth the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

Lord of hostes.

5 My g couenant was with him of life and peace, and I haue him feare, and hee feared mee, and was affraid before my Name.

6 The law of truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquity found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests lips should preferre knowledge, and they should seeke the Law at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the couenant of Leui, faith the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because yee kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Law.

10 Haue we not all one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holines of the Lord, which hee loued, and hath married the daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iakob, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue yee done againe, and coue-red the altar of the Lord with tears, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet ye say, Wherein? Because the Lord hath bin with thee between thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed: yet is she thy companion, and the wife of thy couen-ant.

15 And did not he make one? yet had he a boundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because hee fought a godly seed: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and let none trespass against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, put her away, faith the Lord God of Israel, yet hee couereth the iniurie vnder his garment, faith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Yee haue wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him?
 When ye say euery one that doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delitteth in them.
 Or where is the God of iudgement.

g Hee sheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the rite of Leui on Gods part that hee would giue them long life and felicity, and on their part,
 that they should faithfully serue him according to his word.
 h I prescribed Leui a certaine law to serue me, i Hee would mee and set forth my glory with all humility and submission. k Hee sheweth that the Priests sought to haue knowledge to imitate not other in the word of the Lord.
 l Hee is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessity, and not to refuse it for himselfe.
 m Shewing that whosoever hath not deare Gods will, is not his messenger and Priest. n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father, Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend
 I God nor their brethren.
 o Why reby they had bound themselues to God to be an holy people.
 p They haue rayed themselves in marriage with them that are of another religion.
 q That is, the people.
 r Yee canst the people to lament, because that God doth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine. f This is another fault whereof hee accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of morality. t As the one halfe of thy selle u Shere that was ioyned to thee by a louemee couen-ant, and by the inuocation of Gods Name. x
 Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many? y By his power and verbe hee could haue made many women for one man. z Such as should be borne in lawfull and moderate marriage, wherein is no excessiue lustre. a Con-taine your fel-lins within your bounds, and be sober in minde, and bridle your affections. b Not that hee doth allow diuor-cement, but of the fault hee sheweth which is lesse. c Hee thinketh his sufficiency to keepe his wife still, albeit hee taketh others, and so as it were couereth his fault. d Ye murmured against God because hee heard not your foolishnesse ye called. e In thinking, that God should reuenge the wicked, and hath not reuenged them that serue him.
 f Thus they blasphemed
 God in condemning his power and iudice because hee indged not according to their iustices.

CHAPTER II.

Threatnings against the Priests, being false or of the people.

And now, O ye Priests, this commandment is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory vnto my Name, faith the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and will curse your blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because yee do not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt your seede and cast downe vpon your faces, thus the dung of your solemne feastes, and you shall be like vnto it.

4 And yee shall know, that I haue sent this commandment vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might stand faith the Lord. The Priests obiect against the Prophet that hee could not prophane them, but the multitude against the Priesthood, and the office fla-blished of God by promise, but hee sheweth that the office is nothing flandered when these villenies and dung are called by their owne names.

CHAP. III.

Of the miſſenger of the Lord John Baptist and of Chriſt's office.

Behold, I will ſend my miſſenger, and he ſhall prepare the way before mee: and the Lord whom ye ſeek ſhall ſpeedily come to his Temple: euen the miſſenger of the Couenant, whom ye deſire: behold, hee ſhall come, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

2 But who ſhall abide the day of his coming? and who ſhall endure when he appeareth: for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers ſope.

3 And he ſhall let downe to trie and hie the ſiluer: hee ſhall cūen ſine the ſonnes of Leui, and purifie them as gold & ſiluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteouſneſſe.

4 Then ſhall the offerings of Iudah and Ieruſalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time and in the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come neere to you to iudgment, and I will be a ſwift witneſſe vnto the ſoothſayers, and againſt adulterers, and againſt falſe ſwearers, & againſt thoſe that wrongfully keepe back the hirelings wages, and vex the widow and the fatherleſſe, and oppreſſe the ſtranger, and feare not me, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye ſonnes of Iaakob are not conſumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: ye returne vnto mee, and I will returne vnto you, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes: but ye ſaid, Wherein ſhall we returne?

8 Will a man ſpoile his gods? yet haue ye ſpoyled mee: but ye ſay, Wherein haue we ſpoiled thee? In tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are curſed with a curſe: for ye haue ſpoyled mee, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the ſtorehouſe, that there may be meat in mine houſe, and proue me now herewith, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a bleſſing without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the deuourer for your ſakes, and hee ſhall not deſtroy the fruit of your ground, neither ſhall your vine bee barren in the field, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

12 And all nations ſhall call you bleſſed: for ye ſhall be a pleaſant land, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

13 Your wordes haue bene ſour againſt me, ſaith the Lord: yet ye ſay, What haue we ſpoken againſt thee?

14 Ye haue ſaid, It is in vaine to ſerue God: and what profit is it that wee haue kept his commandment, and that wee walked humbly before the Lord of hoſtes?

15 Therefore wee count the proud bleſſed: euen they that worke wickedneſſe, are ſet vp, and they that tempe God, yea, they are deliuered.

16 Then ſpake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they ſhall come to mee, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, in that day, that I ſhall do this, for a ſicke, and I will cure them as a man pareth his owne ſonne that ſerueth him.

18 Then ſhall you returne, & diſcerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betwene him that ſerueth God, and him that ſerueth him not.

And alſo that this might bee an example of Gods mercies to you. When I ſhall reſtore my Church according to my promiſe, mine owne preſerued goods. That is, forgive their ſinnes, with my Spirit.

CHAP. IIIII.

The day of the Lord before the which Eliſha ſhould come.

For behold, the day cometh that ſhall burne as an ouen, and all the proud, yea, and all that doe wickedly, ſhall bee ſtubble, and the day that cometh, ſhall burne them vp, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, and ſhall leaue them neither roote nor branch.

2 But vnto you that feare my Name, ſhall the Sonne of righteouſneſſe ariſe, and health ſhall be vnder his wings, and ye ſhall go forth, and grow vp as fat calves.

3 And ye ſhall tread downe the wicked: for they ſhall bee duſt vnder the ſoles of your feet, in the day that I ſhall doe this, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

4 Remember the law of Moſes my ſeruant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Iſrael, with the ſtatutes and iudgements.

5 Behold, I will ſend you Eliſha the Prophet before the coming of the great and ſcarefull day of the Lord.

6 And he ſhall turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, left I come and ſmite the earth with curſing.

Ye ſhall be let at liberty, and increaſe in the ioy of the ſpirit, 2 Cor. 3. 17. & becauſe the time was come that the Iewes ſhould be deſtroyed of the Sonnes vntill the time of Chriſt, becauſe they ſhould with more ſeruent minde deſire his coming, the Prophet exhorted them to exerciſe them ſelves diligently in ſtudying the law of Moſes in the meane ſeaſon, whereby they might continue in the true Religion, and alſo be armed againſt all temptations. This Chriſt expoundeth of Iohn Baptist, Matth. 11. 13, 14. who both for his zeale, and reſtoring of religion, is aptly compared to Eliſha. I Which as it is true for the wicked, ſo doeth it vaken the godly, and call them to repentance. a He propheſeth of Gods iudgements againſt the wicked, who would not receiue Chriſt, when as God ſhould ſend him for the reſtauration of his Church.

b Meaning, Chriſt, who with his wings or beames of his grace ſhould lighten & comfort his Church, Ephe. 5. 14, and he is called the Sonne of righteouſneſſe, becauſe in himſelfe he hath all perfection, and alſo the iuſtice of the Father dwelling in him: whereby he regeneratech vs vnto righteouſneſſe, cleane thevs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God.

c Eliſha ſhould be ſent before the coming of the ſonne of righteouſneſſe, becauſe in himſelfe he hath all perfection, and alſo the iuſtice of the Father dwelling in him: whereby he regeneratech vs vnto righteouſneſſe, cleane thevs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God.

The end of the Prophets.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

THese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the new Testament, are called Apocrypha, that is, bookes, which were not received by a common consent to be read and expounded publicly in the Church, neither yet served to proue any point of Christian Religion, save in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonick to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were received to be read for the advancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly manners: which bookes declare, that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not utterly destitute of teachers, and meane to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesseth that these calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both so threatened by his Prophet, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

I. ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

Iosias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Passouer. 7 Offerings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Levites. 23 The upright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Iosias appointed king. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

And Iosias kept the Passouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the Priests according to their daily courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Levites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the House, which Salomon the sonne of king Dauid had built,

4 And said, Yee shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid king of Israel, and according to the Maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Levites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passouer, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passouer after the Lords Commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kids, with three thousand calves.

8 These were giuen of the Kings possessions according to the promise to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. Then gaue Hiikias and Zacharias and Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Passouer, two thousand sixe hundred sheep, and three hundre calves.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brethren, and Sabias, and Chielus, and Ioram captaines gaue to the Levites for the Passouer siue thousand sheep, and seuen hundred calves.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Levites stood in order, hawing vneleauened bread according to the tribes.

11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers before the people, to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Passouer with fire, as * appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots, 13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselves, & for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fat vnto the euenning, and the Levites did make ready for themselves, & for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy fingers the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to their appointed ordinances of Dauid, to sing, Asaph, & Azarias, and Edlinus, which was of the kings appointment.

16 And the porters were at every gate, so that it was not lawfull for any should passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Levites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things that appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passeeouer, 18 And offer the sacrifices vpon the Altar of the Lord, according to the commaundement of king Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeeouer and the feast of vniuersen bread seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passeeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passeeouer as did Iosias, and the Priests, and the Levites, and the Iewes, and all Israel which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeeouer kept, 23 The works of Iosias were vpriight before his Lord with a heart full of godlinesse.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, about euerie nation and kingdome, & grieved him with || sensibele things, so that the wordes of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

25 ¶ Now after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaoh king of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

26 But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lorde God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lord hasteneth mee forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he set himselfe in battell array against him in the field of Megiddo, & the princes came downe to king Iosias.

30 And the king sayd to his seruants, Conuey mee out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So hee gate vp on his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem, hee changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kingdome of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the kings of Iudea, and euerie one of the actes that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things now rehearsed are registred in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Ioachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in stead of his father Iosias, when hee was three and twentie yere old.

35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He taxed also the people of an hundred talentes of siluer, and one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Ioachim his brother king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And he bound Ioachaz and his gouernors: but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and fure yeere olde was Ioachim when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, who when hee had bound him with a chaine of brasle, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, and set them in his temple of Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Ioachim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made king, he was eigheteene yeere olde.

44 And hee reigned three moneths and tenne dayes in Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And hee made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when hee was one and twentie yeere old, and he reigned eleuen yeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did hee feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that hee was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, he forswore himselfe by the Name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his neck and his heart, and transgressed the Lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of al nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuertheless, the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them back, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that he being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, commanded the kings of the Caldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man nor maiden, neither old man nor child among them.

54 But he deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lorde, both great and small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and carried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, for by worshipping in idle creature.

thereof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sword, hee caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Ieremias, 58 And that the land might enjoy her Sabbaths all the time that it was desolate, till seuentie yeeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus came out of the Jewes to returne. 2. He sent the holy vessels. 3. The names of those that returned. 4. The adventures of thees building, and the Kings letters for the same.

IN * the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremias,

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and hee made Proclamation throughout all his kingdome, even by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, even the most high Lord, hath made me king over the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded mee to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, even his Lord bee with him, and let him go vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: hee is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, these, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe them with gold and silver,

7 With gifts, with horses, and cattell, and other things, which shall be brought according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, & the Priests and Levites, and all whose minde the Lord had moved to goe vp, and build an house to the Lord in Ierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things, with silver and gold, horses and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose minds were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whom they were giuen to || Abassai the gouernour of Iudea.

13 Whereof this was the number: A thousand golden cups, and a thousand silver cups, basins of silver for the sacrifices, nine and twentie, vials of gold thirty, and of silver two thousand, foure hundred, and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of gold and silver, which they caried away, were five thousand, foure hundred threefcore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captivity of Babylon to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ But * in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, Belemus, & Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beelthimus, & || Semellius the secretary, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places wrote vnto him this Epistle heere following, against them that dwell in Iudea and Ierusalem, 10 THE KING ARTAXERXES, OVR LORD.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the Secretary, and the rest of their counsell and the Iudges which are in Cœlolyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowne to our lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, and the walles be finished, they will not enely not endure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple goe forward, wee thought it not meet to passe ouer such a thing.

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it bee thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwayes rebel, and did trouble both kings and citie,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also the citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the king, we declare it, that if this citie be built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Cœlolyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beelthimus, & to Semellius the secretary, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria, and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle which ye sent me: therefore I commanded, that it should bee sought out, and it was found, that this citie hath alwayes praised against kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and how that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Cœlolyria and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, and that it bee taken heed that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the Secretary, and the rest which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerxes had written, they moued their tents with speed to Ierusalem, with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, to halt the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

Ethiopia of an hundredth and seven and twentie provinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, & king Darius went into his chamber, & slept till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three young men of the guard, keepers of the kings body, laid oute to another,

5 Let every one of vs speake a sentence, and he that shall overcome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victory,

6 As to wear purple and to drinke in gold, and to sleepe in gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an headtite of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke,

7 And he shall sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shall be called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence, & sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of king Darius, 9 And said, when the king rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the king, and the three princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victory be giuen as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but Truth ouercometh all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings, and gaue them to him, & he read them,

14 And sent, and called all the noble men of Persia, and of Media, and the gouernours, and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls, 15 And fate him downe in the counsell, and the writing was: ead before them.

16 Then he said, Call the young men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then hee said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And said on this manner, O yee men, how strong is wine! it deceiueh all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the mind of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bondman and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no manner of sorrow nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by 7 talents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no mind to loue either friends or bretheren, and a little after they draw out swords, 23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O yee men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and hee held his peace, when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women 34 Of the strength of iustice, which sentence is approved, 47 and his prouision giued.

Then the second, which had spoken of the strength of the King, began to say,

2 O yee men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if hee send them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaines, and walies, and towres.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commaundement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, as well the spoiles at all other things.

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battell, but til the earth: for when they haue sowne it againe, they reape it, & bring it to the king, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if hee bid, Kill, they kill: if he lay, Spare, they spare,

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them Make desolate, they make desolate: if hee bid, Build, they build, 9 If hee bid, Cut off, they cut off: if hee bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeh.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne businesse: neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O yee men, how should not the King bee strongest seeing he is thus obeyed! so he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the Truth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O yee men, neither I mighty king, nor many men nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer the? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the King and all the people which bare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments, and make men honourable, neither can men bee without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Doe they not leaue all those things, and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gaze, and gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then gold, or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father, which hath nourished him, and his owne country, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman hee ieopardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother, nor country.

22 Therefore by this yee may know that the women beare rule ouer you: do ye not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword, & goeth forth to kill and to sleale, and to faile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a lion, and goeth in darknesse, and when he hath stolen, ransished and spoiled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his own wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Now therefore doe you not beleue mee? is not the king great in his power? do not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Teri sawe him, and Apame, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Batrachus, sitting on the right hand of the King,

30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand, 31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, hee laughed: and if she were angry with him, hee did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.

32 How then, O ye men, are not won en more strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the king & the princes looked one vpon another, & he began to speake of the truth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is hie, and the sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the truth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for truth, and the heauen blesteth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vnjust thing with it.

37 The wife is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked works are such, and there is no truth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But truth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but shee doeth the things which are iust, and absteineth from vnjust, and wicked things, and all men fauour her works.

40 Neither is there any vnjust thing in her iudgement, and shee is the strength and the kingdom and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of truth.

41 So he ceased to speake, & then all the people cryed, and sayd, Truth is great and strongest.

42 Then the king laide vnto him, Aske what thou wilt beside that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue liberty to sit by mee, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then hee said to the king, Remember the vow that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome,

44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when hee made a vow to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither, 45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iuda was destroyed by the Caldeans.

46 And now, O Lord the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the king of heauen.

47 Then king Darius rising vp kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way with him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Caesolyria and Phenicia, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and builde the citie with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no priuie, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they held,

51 And that euery yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twenty talents vntill it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer teenteene) other ten talents euery yeere, 53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priestes that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges & the Priestes garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And hee wrote that they should giue the Iewes their charges vntill the holie were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also hee wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoever Cyrus had commanded to doe, he also commanded to doe it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, he lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the king of heauen, 59 Saying, Of thee is the victory, and of thee is wisdom, & of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant, 60 Blessed bee thou which hast giuen me wisdom: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So he tooke the letters and went out, and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren, 62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedom and libertie.

63 To goe vp and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of musick and ioy, seuen dayes.

61 And they ſung with lowd voyce ſongs to the praife of the Lord, becauſe h s merce and glory is for euer in all Iſrael.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cried with a loud voyce, praifing the Lord for the riſing vp of the houſe of the Lord.

63 Alſo ſome of the Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the ancients which had ſene the former houſe,

64 Came to ſee the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets, and ioied with loud voyce, 65 So that the people could not beare the trumpets, becauſe of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, ſo that they were heard faire off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noyſe of trumpets it was,

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Iſrael.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Ieſus, and the chiefe of the families, ſaid vnto them, Let vs build alſo with you.

¶ Or, Aſſyrians. ¶ Or, Aſſyrians.

69 For we obey your Lord as you doe, and ſacrifice vnto him ſince the dayes of || Aſaſareth king of the Aſſyrians, which brought vs hither, 70 Then Zorobabel, and Ieſus, and the chiefe of the families of Iſrael ſaid to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an houſe to the Lord our God.

* Ezra 4. 3. 4.

71 For we alone will build it to the Lord God of Iſrael, as it becometh vs, and as * Cyrus the king of the Perſians ſaide vs.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them ſluggiſh that were in Iudea, and letted them to build the worke, and by their abuſements and ſeditious and conſpiracies hindered the finiſhing of the building, 73 All the time of king Cyrus life: ſo that they were let from the building two yeere, vntill the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Siſinnus ſheweth the ſtorm. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The king was contrary.

PVt * in the ſecond yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the ſonne of Ado the Prophets prophesied to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Iudea and Ieruſalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Iſrael, which they called ¶ vp on.

* Ezra 5. 1. 2.

2 Then Zorobabel ſonne of Salathiel, and Ieſus the ſonne of Ioſedec ſtood vp, and began to build the houſe of the Lord, which is in Ieruſalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Siſinnus the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan with his companions came vnto them,

4 And ſaid vnto them, By whose commandement build you this houſe, and this building, and enrepreſe all theſe other thing? and who are the builders that enterpriſe ſuch things?

† Greeke, upon ſight.

5 But the Ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord after that he had visited the captiuitie, 6 That they were not letted to build, vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was receiued.

7 ¶ The copy of the Epistle, which hee did write and send to Darius: Sirs I N N S gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute king Darius.

8 It may please the king our master plainly to vnderstand that when we came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the citie of Ierusalem, we found in the citie of Ierusalem the Ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lord, great and new, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already layd vpon the walles.

10 And these works are done with great speed, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it will bee finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then wee asked their Ancients, saying, By whose commandement build you this house, and lay the foundation of these works?

12 We asked them these things, to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, Wee are the seruants of the Lord, which haue created the heauen and the earth.

14 And * this house was built vp many yeeres agoe by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen, * he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had carried out of the house at Ierusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the king tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to || Sanabassar ruler.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should carie away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Ierusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should bee built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassar being come hither, layd the foundations of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building and is not finished.

21 Now therefore if it please the king, let it bee sought vp in the kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it bee found that the building of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem hath bene done by the consent of king Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the lord our king, let him make vs answer concerning these things.

23 Then king Darius commanded to search in the kings libraries, that were in Babylon, & there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were layd vp for memorie.

24 In the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded the house of the Lord at Ierusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should bee of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites, with three rowes of hewen stones, and one rowe of new wood of that countrey, and that the costs should bee payed out of the house of king Cyrus,

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of gold as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Ierusalem, and brought into Babylon, should bee restored to the house, which is in Ierusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also hee commanded that Sisinnes, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan, and their companions, and those which were constituted captiues in Syria and Phenice, should take heed to refrain from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to build it cleane vp againe, & that they bee diligent to heipe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord bee finished,

29 And that some part of the tribute of Cælosyria and Phenice should be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oyle continually euery yeere without faile, as the Priests, which are in Ierusalem shall testifie to be spent euery day:

31 That offerings may bee made to the high God for the King, and his children, and that they may play for their liues.

32 Furthermore hee commanded that whosoener should transgresse any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate anything thereof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods should bee the Kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose Name is there called vpon, destroy euery king, and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or doe euill to that house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

34 * I Darius the King haue ordeined that it should bee diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sisinnes and his companions follow the Kings commandement, and heipe the Iewes to build the Temple. 5 The time that it was built. 10 They keepe the Passouer.

Then Sisinnes the * gouernour of Cælosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan, and their companions, obeying King Darius commandements,

2 Assisted diligently the holy works, working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuary,

3 And the holy workes prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophesied.

4 So they finished all things by the commandement dement of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus, and Darius & Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy house was finished in the three and twentieth day of the month Adar, in the sixe yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

6 And the children of Israel, & the Priests and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyses.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, foure hundred lambes, 8 And twelue goats for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests and the Leuites stood according to their kindreds, clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyses, and also the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered the pascouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Leuites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie, were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Pascheouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for themselves.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eue, euen all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land, and fought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vniuersaledge bread seven dayes, reioycing before the Lord.

15 Because hee had turned the counsell of the King of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their handes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIIII.

1 Esdras cometh from Babylon to Ierusalem. 10 The copie of the commission given by Artaxerxes. 29 Esdras giueth thanks to the Lord. 32 The number of the heades of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confession.

And after these things, when Artaxerxes king of the Persians reigned, Esdras the sonne of Saraia the sonne of Ezerias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salum,

2 The sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Ezias, the sonne of Memeroth, the sonne of Zaraias, the sonne of Saurias, the sonne of Boccas, the sonne of Abisum, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron was the hie Priest.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a scribe well taught in the Law of Moyses, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 And the king gaue him great honour, and he found grace in his sight in all his requests.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Leuites, and of the holy singers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem.

6 In the seuen yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the fift moneth this was the seuen yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth, 7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speed in their journey.)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that hee would let nothing passe that was in the Law of the Lord, and in the commandments, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the commission written by king Artaxerxes was giuen Esdras the Priest and reader of the law of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 Forasmuch as I consider things with pittie, I haue commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priests and Leuites which are in our kingdome, should goe with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my seuen friends the counsellers,

13 That they may visite the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord,

14 And cary the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friends haue vowed: also all the gold and siluer, which shall be found in the countrey of Babylonia appertaining to the Lord in Ierusalem,

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, as well siluer as gold, for buls, and rammes, and lambs, and things thereunto pertaining,

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren will doe with the gold or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things seuer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the Kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerxes haue commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoever Esdras, the Priest and Reader of the Law of the highest God, shall find for, they should giue it him with all speede, euen to the summe of an hundred talents of siluer, 21 And likewise vnto an hundred cores of corne, and an hundred pieces of wine, and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the highest God according to the law of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the King and of his tonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy singers, or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor tax be taken, nor that any haue power to tax them in any thing.

24 Thou also Esdras, according to the wisdom of God, ordaine Iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Law of thy God, and teach those which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Law of God and the King, be diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Eldras the Scribe said, Blessed bee the onely Lord God of my fathers, which hath purthis in the heart of the king to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honoured me before the king and the counsellors, and all his friends and gouernors.

28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the hepe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe vp with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the king.

30 Of the sonnes of Phinees, Gerlon, of the sonnes of Ithamar, Gamasi, of the sonnes of Dauid, ¶ Lettus.

31 Of the sonnes of Sechenias, of the sonnes of Phares, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundredth and fiftie men.

32 Of the sonnes of ¶ Salomon, Abeliacnias the sonne of Zacharias, and with him two hundredth men.

33 Of the sonnes of Zachoe, Sechenias the sonne of ¶ Iezous, and with him three hundredth men, of the sonnes of Adin, ¶ Oneth sonne of Ionachas, and with him two hundredth and fifty men.

34 Of the sonnes of Eliam, ¶ Ielias sonne of Gotholias, and with him seuentie men.

35 Of the sonnes of Saphatias, Zarias sonne of ¶ Machael, and with him seuentie men.

36 Of the sonnes of Ioab, ¶ Badia sonne of Iezelus, and with him two hundredth & twelue men.

37 Of the sonnes of ¶ Baud, Asilimoth sonne of Iosaphias, and with him an hundredth & threescore men.

38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Bebai, and with him twelue and eight men.

39 Of the sonnes of ¶ Asath, Iohannes sonne of Acatau, and with him an hundredth and ten.

40 Of the sonnes of Adoniam the last: and these are the names of them, Eliphalat, ¶ Ieouel and ¶ Maia, and with them seuentie men: of the sonnes of ¶ Bagouthi sonne of Iseacourus, and with him seuentie men.

41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called * Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbered them.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites, 43 I sent to Eleazar, and behold, there came ¶ Maafman, and Alnachan, and Samaian, and ¶ Ioribon, and Nathan, Ennatat, Zacharian, and Mossallamon the chiefe and best learned.

44 And I bade them goe to Dadeus the captaine, which was in the place of the treasure, 45 With charge to bid Dadeus and his brethren, and the treasures that were there, to send to vs them which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hand of our Lord, learned men of the sonnes of Moisi, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ¶ Cisebebrat and his sonnes, and his brethren being eightene, 47 And Alebia, and ¶ Annon, and Ofaia his brethren of the sonnes of ¶ Cananeus with their sonnes, twentie persons, 48 And of the Minuters of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple two hundredth and twenty, of whom all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And * there I proclaimed a fast for the young men before the Lord to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the king footemen, or horsemen, or conduct for safegard against our enemies, 51 Becauie we had said to the King, that the power of our Lord should bee with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lord againe, according to these things, whom we found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, ¶ Elebrias and Aslanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the siluer & the gold, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lorde, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them fixe hundred and fiftie talents of siluer, & siluer vessels of an hundredth talents, and an hundredth talent of gold, 56 And twenty golden balins, and twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like gold.

57 And I said to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold, and the siluer is a vow to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch & keepe them, till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the siluer and the gold, and the vessels, and caried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mighty power of our Lord with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the gold was deliuered in the house of our Lord to ¶ Marmorthe Priest the sonne of Iouri, 62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them Iosabad the sonne of Ielus, and ¶ Moeth sonne of Sabbanus Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, eight twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes fourescore and fixteene,

65 Lambs threescore and twelue, twelue goats for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord, 66 And they presented the commandments of the king to the kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Celsyryia and Phenice, who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

67 ¶ When these things were doite, the gouernours came to mee, saying, The people of Israel, the princes and the Priests, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites & Chetites, & Pherefites, and Iebusites, and Arabites, and Egyptians and Iudeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seed is mixed, mixed with the strange people of the land, & the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soon as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, & the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off my head, and off my beard, and fate me downe sorrowfull and very sad.

71 Then also they that were moued with the word of γ Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I fate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I arose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our sins are increased about our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers wee are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sins therefore, and our fathers wee with our brethren, with our kings & Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And how now great hath thy mercy been, O Lord, that there should be left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou should reueile to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when wee were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Simon that is delatate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shall wee say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

82 * Because the land which ye goe to inherit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse,

83 Therefore now ye shall not ioyned their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may bee made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore al that is come to passe, was done for our wicked works, and for our great sinnes: yet Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but wee againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy lawe, and to mixe vs with the vncleane thinge of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldst neither leaue vs roote, nor seed, nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Behold, wee are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we endure before thee these things.

90 ¶ And as Esdras praied and confessed and wept, & lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and young children: for there was a great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Iechonias the sonne of γ Ieel of the sonnes of Israel crying out, said, O Eldras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: wee haue taken in marriage strange women of the nations of γ land, 92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an oth concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seem good to thee, & to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doth it appertaine, and weare with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, & made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests & Leuits of all Israel to sweare, that they would do thus: and they swore.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the Law for the strange wiues, & they promised to put them away.

Then * Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Ioannan the sonne of Eliafub,

2 And being lodged there, he did eat no bread nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem,

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or three dayes according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, & he cast cut from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda and Benjamin, came together within three dayes into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and said to them, Ye haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

8 Nowe therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cryed out, and sayd with a loud voyce, We wil do so as thou hast said.

11 But because the multitude was great, and the time is winter, so that we cannot stand without, and the work is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wiues of our families tarie:

13 And let the Priests and iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

14 Then Ionathas Asaels sonne, and γ Ezecias sonne γ of Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mosul'am, and Sabbateus did helpe them.

28 And of the ſonnes of || Zamoth, Eliadas, Eliſimus, Othomias, Iarimoth, and || Sabatus, and Sardeus.

29 Of the ſonnes of || Bebai, Ioannes, and Ananias, and || Iofabad, and Aemath.

30 Of the ſonnes of || Mani, Olamus, Mamuchus, Iedaiaſus, Iaſael, and Ieremoti.

31 And of the ſonnes of || Addi, Naathus, Moofias, Lacumus, and Naidus, and Matthanias, and || Seſchel, and Balmus, and Manafſes.

32 And of the ſonnes of Annas, Elionas, and Aleas, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon a Cholaſmite.

33 And of the ſonnes of || Afom, Altaneus, and || Matthias, and Banaias, Eliphalt, and Manafſes, and Semei.

34 And of the ſonnes of || Maani, Ieremias, Momdis, Omairus, Iuel, Marai, and Paclias, and Amos, Carabaſion, and Euafias, and Mammimacanaus, Eliſiaſus, Vamus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias, and of the ſonnes of Ozoras, Seſis, Eſril, Azatius, Samaras, Sambis, Iofiphus.

35 And of the ſonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Inel, Banaias.

36 All theſe married ſtrange wiues, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Prieſts and the Leuites dwelt in Ieruſalem, and in the countrey, the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth, & the children of Iſrael in their owne houſes.

38 ¶ Then all the multitude aſſembled together with one conſent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the Eaſt, 39 And ſpoke to Eſdras the Prieſt and reader that hee ſhould bring the Law of Moyſes, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Iſrael.

40 Then brought Eſdras the chief Prieſt, the Law to all the multitude both man and woman, and to all the Prieſts, that they might heare the Law the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth.

41 And he read in the firſt broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkned to the Law.

42 So Eſdras the Prieſt and reader of the Law, ſtood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there ſtood by him || Matgathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezecias, Balamus at his right hand, 44 And at his left hand || Phaldaius, and Sail, Melchias, Aothaſaphus, Nabatais.

45 Then Eſdras tooke the booke of the Lawe before the multitude (for he ſate honourably before them all.)

46 And they all ſtood vpright when hee expounded the Law, and Eſdras bleſſed the Lord the moſt high God, the moſt mighty God of hoſtes.

47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.

48 Then Ieſus and || Anus, and Sarabias, and Aſimus, and Iacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maianias, and Calitas, Azarias, and Ioazabbus, and Ananias, and Viatas the Leuites liſt vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worſhipped the Lord, 49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and ſtood alſo earnestly vpon thereading.

50 Then ſaid || Aththarates to Eſdras the chief Prieſt and reader, and to the Leuites that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Lawe.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fat meats, and drink the ſweet drinks, and ſend preſents to the men that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lords, and be notorious: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all theſe things to the people ſaying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not ſad.

54 Then they departed all to eat and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue preſents to them that had not, and to make good cheere.

55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherewith they were inſtructed, when they were aſſembled together.

CHAP. I.

¶ The people is reformed for their unfaithfulneſſe. 30 God will haue another people if theſe will not be reformed.

¶ The ſecond booke of the Prophet * Eſdras, the ſonne of Saraiaſus, the ſonne of Azarias, the ſonne of Helcias, the ſonne of Sadanis, the ſonne of Sadoe, the ſonne of Achito.

2 The ſonne of Achias, the ſonne of Iuineer, the ſonne of Heli, the ſon of Amariaſus, the ſonne of Aſie, the ſonne of Marimoth, the ſonne of Arua, the ſonne of Ozias, the ſonne of Eorih, the ſonne of Abiſei, the ſonne of Phinices, the ſonne of Eleazar,

3 The ſonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Levi) which Eſdras was priſoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artaxerxes king of Perſia.

4 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

5 Goe, and shew my people their finnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against mee, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the finnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked mee vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Law, but they are a rebellious people.

9 How long shall I forbear them, vnto whom I haue done so much good?

10 *Many kings haue I destroyed for their sake: Pharaoh with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: *I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countreyes Tyrus and Sidon, and haue sinned all their enemies.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord, 13 *I haue led you thorow the Sea, and haue giuen you a sure way since y^e beginning: *I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

14 *I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten mee, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, The quails *were a token vnto you: I gaue you tents for safeguard, wherein ye murmured.

16 And ye triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but yet ye murmured still.

17 Where are the benefites, that I haue done for you? when ye were hungry in the wilderness, *did ye not cry vnto mee, 18 Saying, Why hath thou brought vs into this wilderness, to kill vs? It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this wilderness.

19 I had pity vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eat: *so ye did eat Angels food.

20 *When ye were thirstie, did not I cleare the stone, and waters did flow out to satisfie you? from the heare I couered you with the leaues of the trees, 21 And I gaue you fat countries: I cast out the Canaanites, the Phereites, and Philistims before you: *what shall I doe more for you, saith the Lord?

22 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, *When ye were in the wilderness at the bitter waters, being athirst, and blaspheming my Name, 23 I gaue you not fire for the blasphemies, but cast a tree into the water, & made the river sweet.

24 What shall I do vnto thee, O Iacob? thou *Iuda wouldest not obey: I will turne mee to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my Lawes.

25 Seeing ye haue forsaken me, I will also forsake you: when ye aske mercy of mee, I will not haue pity vpon you.

26 *When ye call vpon mee, I will not heare you: for ye haue defiled your hands with blood, and your feet are swift to commit murder.

27 Although ye haue not forsaken me, but your owne shewes, saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Haue I not praised you as a father his finnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her young babes, 29 That yee would bee my people, as I am your God, and that ye would be my children, as I am your Father?

30 *I gathered you together as a henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what shall I doe vnto you? I will callt you out from my sight.

31 *Whyn you bring gifts vnto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feast days, your new moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets, whom yee haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will reuenge, saith the Lord.

33 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Your house shall be desolate: I will cast you out as the winde doeth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commandement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleue me though they heare me not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I command them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will do for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnes, and though they haue not seene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glory, and see the people that come from the East.

39 Vnto whom I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micah, Joel, Abdias, Ionas, 40 Naum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias, (which is called also the messenger of the Lord.)

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue sitheth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

Thus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandments by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them saith vnto the, Goe ye away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorrow and heavinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: go ye, O my children, and aske mercy of the Lord.

5 And thee, O father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my covenant.

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a foyle, that there kinred be not continued.

7 Let their names be scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my covenant.

* what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorrah,

9 Whose land is mixed with clouds of pitch, and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 ¶ Thus saith the Lord vnto Eldras, Tell my people that I will giue them the kingdome of Ie-rusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and giue them the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life smelling of oymment: they shall neither labour nor be weary.

13 Go ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good:
for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feet as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue known my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esay and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue san-ctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits,

19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, and seuen mighty mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked:

21 Heale the wounded and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorn: mend the creeple, and let the blinde come into the light of my clearnesse.

22 Keepe the old and the yong that are within thy walles,

23 * Wherefoeuer thou findest the dead, take them, and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still: O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse:
stablish their feete.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse cometh, other shall weepe and be sorrowfull, but thou shalt bee merrie and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee and shall doe nothing against thee saith the Lord.

29 Mine handes shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deuiſe thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shew mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shew mercy vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

* Job. 1. 17.

33 ¶ Eldras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Moreb, that I should goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast mee off, and despised the commandment of the Lord,

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O ye heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Waite for your shepherd, who shall giue you euerlasting rest: for he is neere at hand, that shall come in the end of the world,

35 Bee ready to the reward of the kingdome:
for the euerlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadow of this world: receiue the ioy of your glory: I testifiemy Sauour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thanks vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise, and stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadowe of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 * ¶ I Eldras saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.

43 And in the mids of them there was a yong man higher in stature then the all, and vpon euery one of their heads he set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much marueiled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and sayd, Who are these, my Lord?

45 Who answered, and said vnto me, These be they, that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortal, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, & giveth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And hee answered and said vnto mee, It is the Sonne of God, whome they haue confessed in the world. Then beganne I greatly to commend them, that had stoud so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel said vnto me, Go thy way and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderful works which God did for the people, are recited.
31 Eldras marueileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

I N the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the city as I was at Baby'on, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to my heart,

2 Because I saw the deuolotion of Sion, and the wealch of them that dwelt at Babylon

3 So my spirit was fore moued, so that I began to speake fearefull words to the most High,
and sayd,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantest the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

5 * And a body vnto Adam, without foule, who who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee,

6 And leddest him into Paradise, which thy right hand bad planted, or euer thee eart brought forth.

* Gen. 6. 12.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but hee transgressed it, and immediately thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whose came nations, tribes, people and kinreds out of number.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth began to multiply, and the number of the children, people and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Nowe when they liued wickedly before thee, * thou didst chosse thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham.

17 And when thou ledst his seed out of Egypt, * thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina, 19 And thy glory went thorow foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and cold, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seede of Jacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obferse.

* Gen. 3. 6.

20 Yet tookest thou now away from them the wicked heart, that thy Lawe might bring forth fruit in them.

21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

24 * Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee, 26 Following the wayes of Adam and all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and sawe their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yeere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preferred thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue how this cometh to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleueed thy testimonies as Iacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruite: for I haue gone here and therethrowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednes now in the ballance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hathio Key thy Commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reprooueth Esau, because hee seemed to enter into the profanous iudgements of God.

And the Angel that was sent vnto mee, whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And said, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the Highest.

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and said, I am sent to shew thee three waies, and to set forth three similitudes before thee.

4 Wherof if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way, that thou desirest to see, and I will shewe thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I said, Tell on my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Goe thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the wind, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is borne that can do that, which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the mids of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth; or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto mee, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer climbe vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and wind, & of the day, whereby thou hast said, and from & which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answer of them.

10 Hee said moreouer vnto mee, Thine owne things, & such as are grown vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 How shouldest thou know that bee able to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, and now outwardly in & corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption,

* Judg. 9. 8.
N. Chron. 3. 18.

corruption, that is evident in my sight?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that wee should liue in wickednes, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And he answered mee, and said, * I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees helde a counsell, 14 And said, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that wee may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell, and said, Come, let vs go vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that wee may get another country for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it, 17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the land stood vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and said, Verely it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and said, Thou hast giuen a right iudgment: but why iudgest thou northy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea for his floods, so * they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are about the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and said, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to enquire of thine hie things, but of such as we daily meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the Law of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world, as the grasshoppers, and our life is a very feare, and we are not thought worthy to obtaine mercie.

25 But what will he doe to his name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered hee me, and said, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt marueile: for the world hathest fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrighiteousnesse & weaknes.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowne, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill is sowne, that is sowne bee not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euill is sowne, passe not away, then cannot the thing come that is sowne with good.

30 For the corne of euill seed hath bene sowne in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath hee brought vp vnto this time? and how much shall he bring forth vntill the harvest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruite of wickednes the corne of euill seed bringeth forth.

32 And when the stalkes shall bee cut downe which are without number, how great an harvest must be prepared, 33 Then I answered, and said, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeres lewd and euill?

34 And hee answered me, saying, Hast thou not to bee about the most High: stor thou labourst in vaine to bee about him, though thou endeavour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when cometh the fruite of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and said, When the number of the leedes is filled in you: for hee hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number: and they shall not be moued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne.

39 And for our sake peradventure the harvest of the righteous is not sultured, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me, and said, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when shee hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then said I, No, Lord, he cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the travell, to do these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall bee shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meet thereto, 45 Shew me whether there be more to come, then is past, or more things past than are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come I know not.

47 And he said vnto mee, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stood, & behold, a hote burning ouen passed before me: & when the flame was gone by, I looked, & behold, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before mee a watie cloud, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said hee vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the drops, and the smoke were much.

51 Then I prayed and said, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered mee, and said, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not lent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

C H A P. V.

In the latter times euill shall be hid. 10 Vnrigheteousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 32 Ihuus is reuelled and God deliuereth his ion. 35 God doeth all things in season.

Neuer-

* 2 Pet. 2. 13.

NEuertheless, concerning the tokens, behold, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth shall be taken in a great number, and the way of the truth shall be hid, and the land shall be barren from faulh.

2 And * iniquitie shall be increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past.

3 And it shall come to passe, that one shall see in foot, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigne.

4 Yea, if God grant thee to liue, thou shalt see after the time past, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, and the moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the weed, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall be moued.

6 And he shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the fowles shall change place.

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall all heare the voice thereof.

8 There shall bee a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wilde beasts shall change their places, and menslious women shall beare monsters.

9 And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide itselfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall vnrigheteousnesse and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray: gaine and weep as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, and my mind was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held mee, comforted mee, and set mee vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and eate, and forsake vs not as the shepheard that leaueth his flocke in the handes of the cruell woulues.

19 Then said I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not nere mee: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning & weeping, as Vriell the Angel had commanded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grievous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most high againe.

23 And sayd, O Lord, Lord: of euery forest of the cedars, & of all y trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all landes of the world thou hast choien thee one pit, and of all the floures of the grownd thou hast choien thee one lily.

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one river, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one ewe, and of all the cattel that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou loudest, thou gauest a Law that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou ginen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one robe thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They tread thee downe, which haue withstood thy promises, and beleue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou didst so much hate thy people, they should haue bene puttied with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me.

32 And said vnto me, Heare me, & I will teach thee, & hearken that I may sit & thee luther.

33 And I said Speake or, my Lord. Then said hee vnto mee, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. I ouers thou them better then he doth that made them?

34 And I said, No, Lord, but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my reines gaine mee euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most high, & to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not sene the trouble of Iacob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he said vnto me, Number vnto me the things that are not yet come, or, gather mee the drops that are scattered, or, make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open mee the places that are closed, and bring me forth the winde, that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voice, and then will I declare thee the thing that thou askest, and labourdest to know.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto mee, Like as thou hast done none of these things that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite y I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, & what shall they doe that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he said vnto mee, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slackenesse of the last: so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and said, Couldst thou not make at once those that haue bene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then

44 Then answered he mee, The creature, said hee, cannot prevent the Creatour, neither can the world hold them at once, that shall bee created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy servant that thou which givest strength to all, hast given life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also containe all men at once.

46 And he said vnto mee, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? I require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I said, Surely thee cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto mee, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times, when seede is sown vpon it.

49 For as a yong child begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceed to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast told me is yong, draweth the neere vnto age?

51 He answered mee, and said, Alke a woman that traualleth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shall answer thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that yee are lesse of stature, then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then yee, as the creatures which now begin to bee old, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shew thy servant, by whom doest thou gouerne thy workmanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath reserved all things in his secret counsell, and is author thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicitie of the age to come.

And he said vnto mee, In the beginning when the round world was made, and before the borders of the world were set, and before the winds blew one against another.

2 Before the noise of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of Paradise were laid:

3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the mooueable powers were established, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the ayre were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimneys in Sion were hote:

5 Before the present yeeres were fought out, and before the afflictions of them that now sinne, were turned away, and they that haue layd vp the treasure of faith, were sealed.

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me also they shalbe ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and said, What shalbe the diuision of times: or when shall be the ende of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And he said vnto me, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Iacob and Esau were borne of him,

* Iacobs hand held fast the heele of Esau.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Iacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, Eldras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, and said, O Lord, Lord if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beech thee make an end to shew thy servant thy tokens, whereof thou thewest mee part the last night.

13 So he answered me, and said, Stand vp vpon thy feet, and heare a mighty sounding voice:

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be moued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, bee not afraid: for of the end shall bee the word, and of the foundation of the earth shall it bee vnderstood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my feet, and bearkened, and behold, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:

18 And it said, Beholde, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth.

19 And when I begin to inquire of them who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shalbe fulfilled, 20 And the world, that shall vanish away, shalbe sealed, then will I shew these signes: the books shalbe opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yeere old shal speake with their voices: the women with childen shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths old, & they shall liue that are borne.

22 Then suddenly shall the lowen places appeare as the vnswollen, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found emptie.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friends fight with friends as with enemies, and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the wells shall stand still, and in three hours they shall not runne.

25 Whosoever remaineth from all these things that I haue told thee, shalbe saved, and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are reuerend, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shalbe changed and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shalbe put out, and deceit shalbe quenched.

28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shalbe overcome, and the truth which hath bene so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And when he talked with me, beholde, I looked a little vpon him before whom I stood.

30 And these words said hee vnto mee, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe & fast seven daies more, I will tell thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest: surely the mightie alth scene thy righteous dealing: he hath seene also thy chastity, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Bee of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe, and fasted seuen dayes in like manner, that I might fulfill the three weekes which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eighth night was mine heart vexed with me againe, and I began to speake before the most high.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen and the earth should bee made, and the worke followed thy word.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darkness was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly ayre, and commandedst it, that going betwene, it should make a diuision betwene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commandedst that the waters should bee gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: sixe parts diddest thou dry, and kept them to the intent that of these waters should bee that should serue thee, beeing sowed of God and tilled.

43 As soone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediately great and innumerable fruite did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, and flowres of vchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderful smell, and these things were created the third day.

45 * Vpon the fourth day then createdst the light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the starres.

46 And gauest them a charge to doe * seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou laidest vnto the seventh part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beasts, & fowles and fishes, and it was so.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life, brought forth liuing things at the commandement of God, that the nations might praifethy wonderous workes.

49 Then didst thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leviathan, 50 And diddest separate the one from the other: for the seventh part, where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hilles.

52 But vnto Leviathan thou gauest the seventh part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the sixt day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell, and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam whom thou made lord ouer all the workes, which thou hast created, of him came we all, and the people also whom thou hast created.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothings before thee, but be like vnto pitte, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessell.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And wee thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy seruants lowe) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

1 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 2 God aduerseth all in time. 3 The coming and death of Christ. 4 The resurrection and last iudgement. 5 How the which all corruption shall cease. 6 The first Adam. 7 The new life. 8 The mercies and goodness of God.

And when I had made an end of these words, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had bene sent downe to me the nights afore.

2 And he said vnto mee, Vp Elias, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I said, Speake on my God. Then said he vnto mee, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But preluopie that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the ieruers,

5 Who could goe into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? if he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and let vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwene the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this city were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my Statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrow, full of sorrow and cruell: they are but few, and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore-world were wide and sure, and brought immortall fruit.

14 If then they that are liuing labour not to enter by these strait and brittle things, they cannot attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

* Gen. i. 1.

* Gen. i. 14.

* Gen. i. 14, 15.
deut. 4. 19.

* Gen. 1. 30.

1 Or, Ench.

* Gen. 3. 1.

17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, * seeing thou hast ordeined in this Law, that the righteous should inherite thes things, and that the vngodly should perishe;

18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he said vnto mee, There is no Iudge more iust then God, and theris none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perishe in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue, to auoyd punishment.

22 Neuerthelesse, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake aginst him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselves by their wicked deeds, and denied the power of the most High, and egaued not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Elishas, vnto the empty are empty things, and to the full, full things.

26 Behold, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue told thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and thee shall come forth, and be seene, that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoever shall escape these euils, hee shall see my wonder.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure yeeres.

29 After these same yeeres, shall my Sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the old silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore-iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be awaked: yd and that shall die that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the foules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seat of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an end.

34 Iustice only shall continue: the trueth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed: the good deeds shall be of force, and vnrighteousnes shall beare no more rule.

36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and * Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wilderness, 37 And they that came after him, for Israel, in the time of Achaz and Samuel,

38 And * David for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuary, 39 * And Elias for those that received raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 40 * And Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers other for many.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly. wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered me, and said, This present life is not the end, oft times ho'our is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weak.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperance shall passe away: incontinencie shall be cut off: righteousness shall grow vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man be able to s'ue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee should not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in heauenesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee, 49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there bee promised an immortall life, when wee doe the works that bring death?

50 And that an euerslasting hope should bee promised vs, seeing that wee betide our selues to vaine vanity?

51 And that there should bee appointed vs dwellings of health and safety, if wee haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should bee kept to defend them that haue led a patient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall Paradise should bee shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if we will not enter into it?

54 (For wee haue bene conuerfant in vnpleasing places)

55 And that the faces of them which haue ab stained, should shine more then starrs, if our faces be blacker then darkenesse?

56 For while wee liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighteously, that we should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he mee, and said, This is the maner of the battell, which man, that is borne in the earth shall fight,

58 That if he bee cuercome, he should suffer as thou hast said. but if he get the victory, he should receiue the thing that I said, 59 For this is the life whereof Moyses spake vnto the people, while hee liued, saying, * Chuse thee life that thou mayest liue.

60 Neuerthelesse, they beleueed him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor mee also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauenesse should not so bee to their destruction, as ioi should come vnto them, to whom saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered then, & said, I know Lord, that the most High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world,

63 And that he hath pitie on those that walke in his Law,

* Rom. 9. 18.

* Deut. 30. 19.

* Gen. 18. 23.

* Exod. 32. 3, 11.

* 2. Sam. 24. 17.

* 2. Chron. 6. 14.

* 1. King. 17. 21.

and 18. 42, 45.

* 2. King. 19. 15.

64 And that he is patient for hee long suffering those that haue sinned as his creature,

65 And that he is liberal: for he will giue as much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercy: for hee commeth in mercy those that are present, and that are past, and them that are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof, 68 He pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they which haue done euil, might be relieved from their wickednesse, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine alioe.

69 And if hee, being Iudge, forgave not those that be healed with his word, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peradventure be very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is small. 6 The worker of God are excellent. 30 Elias as prayer for him & for his people. 39 The promise of saluation to the iust. 45 The destruction of the ungodly.

AND he answered mee, saying, The most High made this world for many, but the world to come, for few.

2 I will tell thee a similitude. O Eldras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pots, but little dust that gold commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.

3 There be many created, but few shall bee saved.

4 Then answered I, and said, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule and deuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may intreate thee, that thou mayest giue seede vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruite of it, wheret yeuery one which is corrupt, may lue, who can let himselfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, & we all are one workmanship of thine hands as thou hast said.

8 For when the body now is fashioned in the wombe, & thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preferred by fire and water, and the worke created by thee, doeth suffer nine months the creature, which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that containeth, and that which is conteined shall both bee preferred, and when time is come, the wombe, being preferred, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commaunded the members, ouen the beasts, to giue milke vnto the fruite appointed to the breasts.

11 That the thing which is created may be nourished for a time, til thou disposest it to thy mercy.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousness, nourishest it in thy law, and refoimest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou slayest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy Commandement, that the thing also which is made, might be preferred.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in generall thou shalt rather pro-uide) tye concerning thy people, for whose sake I am sorry.

16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whom I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieved.

17 For them will I pray before thee, as will for my selfe, as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 But I haue heard the sudden coming of the Iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, & vnderstand my words which I will speake before thee. The beginning of 7 wordes of Eldras, before he was taken vp.

20 O Lord, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre, 21 Whole throne is insituable, and his glorie incomprehensible, before whom the hollie of the Angels stand with trembling.

22 Whose keeping is tuned in winde and fire, whose word is true, and sayings stedfast: whose commandement is strong, & government terrible,

23 Whose looke drieth vp the depths, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away, as the thing beareth witness, 24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I lue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answere.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not bee thy will, to destroy them, which haue liued like beasts, but looke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure, with them which appeare worse then beasts, but loue them that alway put their trust in thy righteousness and glory.

31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sicknesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towards vs which haue no workes of righteousness.

33 For the righteous, which haue laide vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so grieved towards it?

35 For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any y doth confesse the, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this O Lord, thy righteousness, & thy goodnes shall be praised, if thou be mercifull vnto the, which haue not the substance of good workes.

37 Then answered hee mee, and said, Some things, hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy words it shall be.

38 For I will not verely consider the workes of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But I will reioice in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation and the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe, 41 For as the husbandman soweth much seed upon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sown, cometh not vp in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted take root: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saved.

42 I answered them, and said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seed periseth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine:

44 So periseth man, which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his creater, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seed.

45 Bee not wrath with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, & haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, and said, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off that thou shouldest loue my creature about me: but I haue oft times drawn nere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the viorighteous.

48 In this also art thou marueilous before the Highest, 49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becometh thee, & hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries and calamities remaine for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteous life made ready: the citie is builded: & rest is prepared, perfect goodnes, and absolute wisdom.

53 The roote of euil is leaied vp from you, the weaknesse and moeth is destroyed from you, and into hell flyeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorrowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had liberty, they despised the most high: they contemned his Law, and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreover, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 * Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die.

59 For as y^e thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish.

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the Name of him that made them, and are vnthankfull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered and sayd, 63 Behold now, O Lord, thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

4. All things in this world haue a beginning and an end, 10. Tow-ments for the wicked after this life. 15. The number of the wicked is more than of the good. 29. The times singulature. 38. Therefore they perish. 38. The wisdom of a woman lamenting.

He answered mee then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall be seene an earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people,

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest,

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, and shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleueed,

8 Shall be preserued from the said perils, and shall see my saluation in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept me holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pity of themselves, which now haue abused ray wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefits, and haue not knowne me,

11 But haue abhorred my Lawe, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstand, but despised it, 12 They must be taught it after deare by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more careless, to know how the vngodly shall be punished, but inquire how the righteous shall be saved, and whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore sayd, that which I say now, and will speake it hereafter, that there be many moe of them which perish, then of them that shall be saved.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And hee answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seede: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is the husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the manners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seed, & by a Law, whereout they cannot rid themselves.

20 So I considered the world, and beheld there was perill, because of the deifies, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuertheless, if thou wilt cease seven dayes moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a fire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eat onely of the floures of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers only, 25 And pray vnto the most high continually) then will I come and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way as hee had commanded me, into the field, which is called Ardah, & there I sate among the flowers, and did eat of the herbs of the field, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen daies, as I sate vpon y^e grasse and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and beganne to talke before the most high, and to say,

29 O Lord, when thou wouldst shew thy selfe vnto vs, *thou declaredst thy self vnto our fathers in y^e wilderness, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

30 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and marke my words, thou seed of Iacob.

31 For behold, I sowe my Law in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that yee may be honoured by it for ever.

32 But our fathers which received the Lawe, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appear, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 * For they that receiued it, perished be cause they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiueh seed, or the sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sown, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sown, or is put therein, & the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Law, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it.

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, & vpon the right side * I saw a woman which mourned sore, and lamented with a loud voice, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughts wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And sayde vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in mind?

41 And she said vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorow: for I am fore vexed in my mind, & brought very low.

42 Then I said vnto her, What aileth thee? tell me.

43 And she said vnto mee, I thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no childe, hauing an husband thirte yeeres.

44 And euery houre, and euery day these thirte yeeres, I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirte yeeres God heard mee thine handmaide, and looked vpon my misery, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my countrey, and wee gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great trauell.

47 So when he grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

C H A P. X.

Esdras and the women that appeareth vnto him, commeth to the bar.

But when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lights, and all my neighbors rose vp to comfort me: so I reled vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fled, and am come into this field, as thou test,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the city, but to remaine here, and neither to eat nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast, vntill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angrily, and sayd, 6 Thou foolish woman above all other, seest thou not our heauinesse & what cometh vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull, and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 seeing we be all now in heauinesse, and make our moane (for we be all sorrowfull) are thou sory for one sonne?

9 Demand the earth, and shee shall tell thee that it is shee that ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, she that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sory but for one?

12 But if thou wouldst say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruit of my womb, which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the manner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth in to her as it came.)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauel, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withhold thy sorow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt bee commended therein.

17 Goethy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and sayd, 20 Do not so, but be counselled: for how many fallies hath Sion? Be of good comfort because of the sorrow of Ierusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuary is layd waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed.

22 Our psalterion sainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, & the light of our candlestick is quenched, and the Ark of our covenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, & the Name that is called vpon our vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are bunt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our young men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weak, 23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the feale hath lost her worship: for shee is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauynesse, and put away the multitude of sorowes that the Almightie may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beaury shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and muled what it might be.

26 And beholde immediately shee cast out a great voyce, very feareful, so that the earth shook at the noile of the woman.

27 And I looked, and beheld, the woman appeared vnto mee no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraide, and cryed with a loud voyce, and sayd, 28 Where is Vriell the Angel * which came to me at y first? for he hath caused mee to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke me by the right hand and comforted me, and set me vpon my feet and said vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sory?

32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done * according to thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heare that I do not know.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doth my mind, being haughty, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I will informe thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraide: for the most High hath reueiled many secreet things vnto thee.

39 He hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sory continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a litle while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganst to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likenesse of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a city builded.

43 And whereas the told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman which thou sawest, she is Sion: and whereas she told thee (euen shee which thou seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that shee sayd vnto thee, that shee was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirtie yeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon built the citie, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas shee told thee that shee nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem:

48 But whereas shee told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when he came into her chamber, that is the fall of Ierusalem:

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganst to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For how the most High seeth, that thou art sory in thy minde, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clearnesse of her glory, and the fairenesse of her beauty.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shew thee these things vnto thee.

53 Theefore I commanded thee to goe into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building can not stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed, 55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but goe in, and see the beautie and greatnes of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morrow at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another, as hee had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an eagle coming forth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a lion coming out of the forest.

Then saw I a dream, and beholde, there came vp from the sea an eagle, which had twelue feathered wings and three heads.

2 And I saw, and beheld, she spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the winds of the ayre blew on her, and gathered themselves.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became litle feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the middes was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreover, I saw that the Eagle shewe with his feathers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no nor one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the Eagle stood vp vpon her claws, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not altogether: sleepe eury one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preferred for the last.

10 Neuertheles, I saw that the voyce went not out of her heads, but from the mids of her bodies.

11 Then I numbered her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold, vpon the right side there arose one leathier, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next flood vp, & reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more.

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euey one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, & behold, in proecesse of time the feathers that followed, stood vp on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and behold, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the Eagles body, but two heads that rested, and fixe wings.

24 Then sawe I also that two wings diuided themselves from the fixe, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnder-wings thought to set vp themselves, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second was sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselves to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, behold, there awoke one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the mids: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I saw, that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them: that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnderwings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, & bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwell vpon earth, with much labour; and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the mids, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, & ouer those that dwell therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon the right side, denouced it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which said vnto mee, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I saw, and beheld as it were a Lion, that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that he sent out a mans voyce vnto the eagle, and spake, and said, 38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee.

39 Art not thou that that of the foure beasts remainest; whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath overcome all the beasts that were past: and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulness, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast iudged the world with truth.

42 Seeing thou hast moued the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast leued liers, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and hast cast downe the wals of such as did thee no harme;

43 Therefore is thy wrongful dealing come vp vnto the most high: & thy rage vnto the mighty.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the preuious times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, nor thy wicked claws, nor all thy vaine body.

46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe as one deliuered from thy violence, and that free may hope for the iudgment, and mercy of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

And when the Lyon spake these words to the Eagle, I saw,

1 And behold, the head that had the vpper hand, appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselves to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproares.

2 And I saw, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awoke out of the trouble and trance of my mind, and from the great feare, and said vnto my spirit,

3 Loe, this hast thou done vnto mee in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

4 Loe, yet am I weary in my minde, and very weak in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

5 Therefore now will I beseech the most High that he will comfort me vnto the end.

6 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deed be come vp before thy face, 7 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruants the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule.

8 Seeing thou hast iudged me worthy to shew me the last times.

9 ¶ Then he said vnto mee, This is the interpretation of this vision,

10 The eagle whom thou sawest come vp from the seas, is the * kingdome which was scene in the vision of thy brother Daniel, 11 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

12 Behold, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared about all kingdomes that were before it.

13 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after another.

14 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue no more time then the first.

15 And this do the twelue wings signify which thou sawest,

17 As for the voyce that thou heardst speake and that thou sawest not goe out from the heads, but from the middes of the body thereof, this is the interpretation, 18 That after the time of that kingdome there shall arise great strife, and it shall be in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be reitored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder-wings, which thou sawest hang vnder her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight Kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yeeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time cometh, there shall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation,

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things vnto them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe aboute all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Eagle:

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall denoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall denoure the other: but at the last shall hee fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnder-wings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 These are they whom the most High hath preferred for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lyon whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood, and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the words that thou hast heard, 32 This is the wind which the most High hath kept for them, and for their wickednesse vnto the end, and hee shall reprocue them, and cast before them their spoiles.

33 For he shall set them alie in the iudgement and shall rebuke them, and correct them.

34 For he will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preferred vpon my borders, and hee shall make them ioyfull, vntill the coming of the day of iudgement, wherof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely hast beene meet to know this secret of the most High.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seen: in a booke, and hidesthem, 38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seven dayes more, for it may be shewed thee what I haue pleased the most High to declare vnto thee, and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued, that these seven dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto mee, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee? or what euill haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as an hairen or ship preferred from the tempest.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it bene for vs, that we had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For wee are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a lowd voyce. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie, thou house of Iacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, I might seeke mercy for the low estate of your Sanctuary.

49 And now gue your way home euery man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them.

51 But I remained still in the field seven dayes, as he had commanded mee, and did eat onely of the flowers of the field, and had my meat of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a mind coming forth of the sea, 3 which became a man, 5 its properties and power against his enemies, 11 The declaration of from vision.

AND after the seven daies, I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde from the sea, and it mooued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and behold, there was a mighty man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth falleth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and behold, hee graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 Till after these things, and behold, all they which came to fight against him, were foreafraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuertheless when hee saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, hee lifted not vp his hand: for hee held no sword nor any instrument of warre:

10 But onely, as I saw, he sent out of his mouth as it had beene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue hee cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and let with violence vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing leene, but onely dust, and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 ¶ Afterward, sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruante these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted mee worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew mee now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, Woe vnto them that shall bee left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behind:

17 For they that were not left, were in heauenne.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are laid vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and vnto those that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier that hee that is in danger should fall into these, and foresee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloud out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered hee mee, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation, 23 He that shall beare the danger in that time hee shall keepe himselfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith toward the most Mightie.

24 Know therefore, that they which bee left behind, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, Whereas thou sawest a man comming vp from the mids of the sea,

26 The same is he whom the most High hath kept a great secret, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and he shall order them, that are left behind,

27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came a blast with fire and storme,

28 And that hee neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse hee destroyed the whole multitude that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,

29 Behold, the dayes come that the most High will beginne to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And hee shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, city against city, and place against place, * and nation against nation, and realme against realme.

32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my sonne bee reuealed, whom thou sawest goe vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man shall in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that bee willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But hee shall stand vpon the top of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen loorth without any hands.

37 And this my sonne shall rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shall be tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them, euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were caried away captiues out of their owne land, * in the time of Oleeas the King, whom Salmanasar the King of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and caried them beyond the riuer: so were they brought into another land.

41 But they tooke this counsell to themselves, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further country, where neuer mankind dwelt:

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates, 44 For the most High then shewed them signes * and staid the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer.

45 For thorow the country there was a great journey, euen of a yeere and an halfe, and the same region is called I Arareth.

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The most High shall hold still the springs of the riuer againe, that they may goe thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that be left behind of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, hee shall defend the people that remaine.

50 And then shall he shew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord shewe mee this, wherefore haue I seen the man comming vp from the mids of the sea?

52 And he said vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon the earth see my Sonne or those that bee with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreames which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne Lawe, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, & sought it.

55 Thy life hath thou ordered in widome, and hast colled vnderstanding thy mother, 56 Therefore haue I shewd thee therewards with the most High: and after these other dayes I will

I will ſpeake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorying and praying the moſt High for the wonders which hee did in time.

58 Which hee gouerneth, and ſuch things as come in their ſeaſons, and there I ſate three dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

a How God appeared to Moſes in the buſh. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times will be then the former. 29 The ingratitudes of Iſrael. 35 To reſurreccion and iudgement.

Vpon the third day I ſate vnder an Oke, and behold, there came forth a voice vnto me out of the buſh, and ſaid, Eſdras, Eſdras.

2 And I ſaid, Here am I, Lord, and ſtood vp vpon my feete.

3 Then ſaid hee vnto me, * In the buſh I reucaled my ſelfe, and ſpake vnto Moſes, when my people ſeru'd in Egypt:

4 And I ſent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long ſeaſon,

5 And I told him many wonders, and ſhewed him the ſecrets of the times and the ende, and commanded him, ſaying,

6 Theſe wordes ſhalt thou declare, and theſe ſhalt thou hide.

7 And now I ſay vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart theſe ſignes that I haue ſhewed, and the dreames that thou haſt ſeene, and the interpretations which thou haſt heard.

8 For thou ſhalt be taken away from all, and thou ſhalt remaine henceforth with my counſell, and with ſuch as bee like thee, vntill the times bee ended.

9 For the world hath loſt his youth, and the times begin to waxe old.

10 For the world is diuided into twelue parts and ten parts out are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore ſet thine houſe in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort ſuch of them as be in trouble and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: caſt away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weakeneſſe, 14 And ſet aſide thy moſt grievous thoughts, and liſt thee to depart from theſe times.

15 For greater evils then thoſe which thou haſt ſeene now, ſhall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reaſon of age, the more ſhall the evils be increaſed vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the death is fled farre away, and lyes are at hand: for now haſteth the viſion to come, that thou haſt ſeene,

18 Then answered I, and ſaid before thee,

19 Behold, Lord, I will goe as thou haſt commanded mee, and reforme the people, which are preſent; but they that ſhall bee borne afterward, who ſhall admoniſh them?

20 Thus the world is ſet in darkeneſſe, and they that dwell therein are without light.

21 For thy lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that ſhall be done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, ſend the holy Ghoſt into me, and I will write all that hath beene done in the world ſince the beginning, which was written in thy Lawe, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And hee answered me, ſaying, Goe, and gather the people, and ſay vnto them, that they ſeek thee not for fortie dayes.

24 But prepare thee many box tables, and take with thee theſe ſiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Scanus and Aſiel, which are ready to write wiſely, 25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderſtanding in thine heart, which ſhall not be put out till the things bee performed, which thou ſhalt begin to write.

26 And then ſhalt thou declare ſomethings openly vnto the perſic men, and ſome things ſhalt thou ſhew ſecretly vnto the wiſe: ſo morrow this houſe ſhalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and ſaid, 28 Heare theſe wordes, O Iſrael.

29 * Our fathers at the beginning were ſtrangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered, 30 And receiued the Lawe of liſe, * which they kept not, which yee alſo haue tranſgreſſed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye alſo haue done vnrighteouſly, and haue not kept the waies which the moſt High commanded you.

32 And forſomuch as he is a righteous Iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that hee had given you.

33 And now are yee here, and your brether among you.

34 Therefore if ſo be that ye will ſubdue your owne vnderſtanding, and reforme your heart, ye ſhall be kept aliue, and after death ſhall ye obtaine mercy.

35 For after death ſhall the iudgement come when we ſhall liue againe: & then ſhall the names of the righteous bee maniſeſt, and the workes of the vngodly ſhall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto mee, nor ſeek me theſe forty dayes.

37 So I tooke the ſiue men, as hee commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called mee, ſaying, Eſdras, * open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth and behold, hee reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water, but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it and dranke, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vnderſtanding, and wiſedome grewe in my breaſt: for my ſpirit was ſtrengthened in memory, 41 And my mouth was opened, & ſhut no more.

42 The moſt High gaue vnderſtanding vnto the ſiue men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderſtood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I ſpake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In foure dayes they wrote two hundred and foure bookes.

45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfilled, the moſt High ſpake, ſaying, The firſt that thou haſt written, publiſh openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it:

46 But keepe the ſeauenty laſt that thou haſt giue them to the wiſe among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderſtanding and and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I diddo.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophetic of Elias is verissime. 2 The ewith that shall come on the world. 3 The Lord will avenge the innocents blood. 12 Egypt shall amene. 16 Sedition, 20 and punishment upon the King of the earth. 24 Carthage they shall smite. 29 Troubles and warres upon the beate earth. 33 Gods the reuenger of his elect.

BEhold, speake thou in the cares of my people the words of prophetic, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord,

2 And cause them to bee written in a letter: for they are faithful and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vntaile: fulluile of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For every vnfaitfull shall die in his vnfaitfulness.

5 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death, and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked works are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednes, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold, the innocent and righteous blood crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

9 I will surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt:

11 But I will bring them out with a mighty hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, & will destroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall bee smitten with the plague and punishment: that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible flarie.

14 Woe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sword and their destruction draweth nere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swords in their hands.

16 For there shall besedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regarde their king, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to goe into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall be afraid, men shall feare.

19 A men shall haue no pitty vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall bee spoiled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to come vnto them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompence them in their boosome: thus saith the Lord God,

22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandments, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuary.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, & ye shall remaine in them: for God will not delect you, because ye haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision commeth from the East.

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many chariots, and the multitude of them shall be carried as the wind vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Even the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the bores of the forest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemies besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their host shall be feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Behold clouds from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another, & they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their own starre, and the blood shall be from the sword vnto the belly.

36 And the dung of man vnto the camels litter.

37 And there shall be great fearefulness and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath shall be afraid, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, & part from the West.

39 And from the East shall windes arise, and shall open it with the cloud which he raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West windes, shall be destroyed.

40 And the great and mighty cloudes shall be lit vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraid, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out euery his place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation.

41 As fire and baile, and flying swords, and many waters, that all fields may be full, and all riues with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall beake down the cities and walles, and mountaynes, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the meadows, and their cornes.

43 And they shall goe with a straight course, vnto Babylon, and make it afraid.

44 They shall come to her, and besiege her, and shall powre forth the constellation, and all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke go vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall doe seruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person, 47 Wo vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alwayes desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God, 49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widowhood, pouertie, and famine, and the sword, & pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glory of thy power shall be dried vp as the flower when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt bee sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mighty and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and said ouer their death when thou wast drunken, 54 Set forth the beauty of thy countenance?

55 The reward of thy whoredome shall bee in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eat their own flesh, and drinke their own blood for want of bread, and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as vnhappy, shalt come thorow the sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine city, and shall root out one part of thy land and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall be to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land and thy mountaines: all thy woods, and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they carry away captiue, and shall spoile thy substance, and marre the beauty of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, and Egypt, and Syria, 18. 38. Of the evils that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to gouerne them elses misfortune. 54 To acknowledge their sinne, and to accuse them (saith the Lord): 55 Who mightie prouidence and iustice it is to be remembered.

V Wo to thee Babylon and Asia: wo to thee Egypt and Syria.

2 Gird your selues with sacke and hairecloth and mourne your children, and be sorry: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can drue them away?

5 May any man drue away an hungry Lyon in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begunne to burne? may one turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mighty Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can drue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, & who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not vterly bee broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea riseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord, and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his tight hand, that bendeth the bow: his arrows that he shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to bee shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, tell it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine and great death: the beginning of wars, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, & all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor be alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, vntailes shall be so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselves to bee in good case: but then shall the euils bud forth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall bee cast out as dongue, and there shall bee no man to comfort them: for the earth shall bee wasted, and the cities shall bee cast downe.

20 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sow it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shall be ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so yone man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voice.

22 For of one city there shall be ten left, and two of the field, which shall hide themselves in the thicke wood, and in the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaine three or foure olines in the place where olives grow, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those daies there shall be three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

26 And the earth shall be left waste, & the fields thereof cheretof shall waxe old, and her wayes and all her pathes shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauell there through.

27 The virgins shall mourne, having no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, having no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, having no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, yee seruants of the Lorde, heare these things, and make them.

30 Behold the word of the Lorde, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whome the Lorde speaketh: behold, the plagues draw nere, and are not slacke,

31 As a traouelling woman which in the ninth month bringeth forth her sonne, when ſoure houres of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the childe cometh to the birth, they tary not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles bee euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that wil lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as he that winneth it: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein:

36 He that soweth, as one that shall not reap: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry not, to as the widows.

38 Therefore, they that labour, labour in vain:

39 For strangers shall reape their fruits, and spoile their goods, and ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more wil I be angry against them for their finnes, sayth the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieth an honest & vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquity, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when she shall come that shall bridle the authour of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for ouer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lorde God and his glory.

46 Behold, the Lord * knoweth all the workes of men, their imaginations, their thoughts, and their hearts.

47 * For as soone as he sayd, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them.

49 Hee searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: hee hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 He hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 Hee spreadeth out the heauen like a vault: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountaines, to poure out floods from the high rockes to water the earth.

53 He made man, & put his heart in the mids of the body, and gaue him breath, life and vnderstanding, 54 And the Spirit of the Almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hidde things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when yee sinne and would hide your finnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sins are brought forth before men, ye shall be confounded, and your owne finnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What wil ye doe, or how wil ye hide your finnes before God and his Angels?

59 Behold, God himselfe is the iudge: feare him: cease from your finnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meat to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision and in reproch, and troden vnder foote.

62 For in every place and cities that are nere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoile, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoile their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the triall of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tryed by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord, behold, the daies of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not ye afraid: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my Commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your finnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift then selues vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their finnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with thornes, and the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

THe booke of the wordes of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananias the sonne of Adiel, the son of Gabael, of the seed of Asael, and of the tribe of Nephtholim,

3 Who in the time of || Enemessar king of the Assyrians was * led away captive out of this Ise, which is at the right hand of that citie which is called properly Nephtholim, in Galilee about Aser.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of truth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren which were of my nation, and came with me to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Israel, being but yong, all the tribe of Nephtholim my father fell from the house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated and built vp for all ages.

5 * Now all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heier called Baal.

6 But I (as it was ordained to all Israel by an eueralting decree) went alone offto Ierusalem at the feasts * bringing the first fruits, and the tenths of beasts, with that which was first borne, and offered them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Ierusalem: the other tenth part I sold, and came and bestowed it enery yeere at Ierusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meet, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded mee, for my father left me as a pupill.

9 * Furthermore when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of * mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

10 * But when I was led captiue to Nineue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kinred did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating,
12 Because I remembered God with all mine heart.

13 Therefore the most High gaue me grace and fauour before Enemessar, so I was his purveyor.

14 * And I went into Media, and I deliuered ten talents of siluer to Gabael the brother of Gabrias || in the land of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose fate because it was troubled, I could not go into Media.

16 * But in the time of || Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry,

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my kinred dead, or call about the walles of Nineue, I buried him.

18 And if the king Sennacherib had slaine any when he was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them priuily (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the King.

19 Therefore when a certaine Ninesuite had accused me to the King, because I did bury them, I hid my selfe: & because I knew I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

20 Then all my goods were spoyled, neither was there any thing left me besides my wife Anna and my sonne Tobias.

21 Neuerthelesse * within fife and fifty dayes, two of his sonnes killed him, & they fled into the mountaines of Arrarath, and Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accounts and ouer all his domestically affaires Achicharus my brother Anaels sonne.

22 And when Achicharus had made a request for me, I came againe to Nineue: now Achicharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouersaw the accounts: so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

2 Tobias calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 He leaues the staffe to bury the dead. 10 How he becometh blind. 11 His wife laboureth for his living. 14 She reproacheth him basely.

NOW when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto mee with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy staffe of the seuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared mee, in the which I ate down to eate.

2 And when I saw abundance of meat, I sayd to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt finde of our brethren which hath remembered God, and loe I will tarry for thee.

3 But he came againe, and said, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the Sunne.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meate in heauinesse.

6 Remembering that prophesie of * Amos, which had said, Your solemne feasts shall be turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wailing.

7 Therefore I wept, & after the going downe of the sunne I went and made a graue, and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked mee, and said, Doeth he not care to die for this cause, who * fled away, and yet, loe, he buryeth the dead againe?

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house, because I was polluted, and hauing my face vncouered,

10 And I knew not that sparrows were in the wall, & as mine eyes were open, the sparrows cast down warme dung into mine eyes, and a white nes came in mine eyes, and I went to the Physicians, but they Iped me not. Morouer, Achicharus did nourish me vntill I went into Helmas.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens works to doe

CHAP. III.

1 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 13 Her prayes heard. 17 The Angel Raphael sent.

Then I, being sorrowfull, did weepe, and in my sorrow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy works, and all thy wayes are mercy and trueth, and thou iudgeth truly and iustly for ever.

3 Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my finnes or mine ignorances, or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy comandements: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs. * for a spoile and vnto captivity, and to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom wee are dispersed, and now I|thou hast many and iust causes,

5 To doe with me according to my finnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy comandements, neither haue walked in truth before thee.

6 Now therefore I deale with me: I reuere thee vnto thee, & command my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolved, and become earth: for it is better for mee to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorrowfull: command therefore that I may bee dissolved out of this disfreite, and goe into the everlasting peace: turne not thy face away from mee.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day, that in Ecabatane a citie of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maids,

8 Because he had bene married to seven husbands, whom Almoeus the euil spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doeſt thou not know, said they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had now seven husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore doſt thou I|beat vs for them? If they be dead, ge thy waies hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When shee heard these things, she was very sorrowfull, so that shee thought to haue strangled herselfe. And shee said, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shal slander him, and shall bring his age to the grave with sorrow.

11 Then shee prayed toward the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for ever: let all thy works praise thee for ever.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captivity: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath he any manchild to be his heire, neither any I|neere kinsman or childe borne of him, to whom I may keepe me selfe for a wife: my seven husbands are now dead, and why should I liue?

But if it please not thee that I should die, command to looke on me, and to pitie me that I doe no more: he are reproch, 16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the Maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenes of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Almoeus the euil spirit, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIIII.

Precept, and exhortation of Tobit to his sonne.

In that day Tobit remembered * the flues which hee had deliuered to Gabzel in Raguel a city of Media.

2 And said with himselfe, I haue wisied for death, whereto doe I not call? or my sonne Tobias, that I may adomish him before I die?

3 And when hee had called him, hee said, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury me, and despiſe not Tobias, that I may enour her all the daies of thy life, & do that which shal please her, & anger her not.

4 Remember, my sonne, how many dangers shee suffered when thou wast in her wombe,

5 And when shee dyeth, bury her by me in the same graue.

6 I praye, let our Lord God alwaies before thine eyes, as I did not thy will be set to sinne, or to transgreſſe the comandements of God. Doe vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnihticosnesse, for if thou deale truly, thy doings shal prosperously succede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 * Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraid to giue a litle almes.

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of needefulle.

10 * Because that almes doeth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darkenesse.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most Hie, to all them which vſe it.

12 Beware of all * whoredome my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seed of thy fathers, and take not a strangewoman to wife, which is act of thy fathers stocke: for we are the children of the Prophets Noe, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob are our fathers ſiſt the beginning. Remember my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shal inherite the land.

13 Now therefore my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despiſe not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, & much trouble, and in fiercenes is scarcity and great poertie: for I|fiercenes is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the * wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tary w thee, but giue him it out of had: for if thou ferue God, he wil also pay thee: be circumspect my sonne, in all things that thou doest, & be wel instructed in all thy conuersation.

15 * Do that to no man which thou hateſt: drink not wine to make thee drunk, neither let drunkennesse,

CHAP. V.

Tobias sent to Rages. 4. Hee meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which did conuince him.

Tobias then answered, & said, Father, I will doe all things which thou hast commanded mee.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand-writing, & said vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and goe and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and said vnto him, May I goe with thee into the land of Media? and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel said, I will go with thee, for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tary for me till I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Goe, and tary not: so hee went in and said to his father, Behold, I haue found one, which will goe with mee. Then hee said, Call him vnto mee, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said vnto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Dost thou seeke a stocke or family, or an hired man to goe with thy sonne? Then Tobit said vnto him, I would knowe brother, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then he said, I am of the kindred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit said, ¶ Thou art welcome, brother: be not thou angry with mee, because I haue inquired to know thy kindred and thy family: for thou art my brother, of an honest & good stocke: for I know Ananias and Ionathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for wee went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenths of the fruites, and they were not deceiued with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tell me, What wages shall I giue thee?

will thou a groat a day and things necessary, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea moreover if ye returne safe, I will adde something to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, & goe you on Gods Name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father said, Goe thou with this man, & God which dwelleth in heauen prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both and departed, and the dog of the yong man with them.

17 But Anna his mother wept, and saide to Tobit. Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

18 Would to God we had not laid money vp on money, but that it had bene call away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Be not careful my sister: he shall returne in safety, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and hee shall returne safe.

22 Then hee made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

Tobit deliuered from the fish. 7. Raphael strength him certaine medicines. 10. Hee conuinceth him to leaue Sarra.

And as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, & there abode.

2 And when the yong man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man tooke the fish, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel said, Cut the fish, and take the heart and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

5 So the yong man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had roasted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the yong man saide to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he said vnto him, Touching the heart, & the liuer, if a deuill or an euil spirit trouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and hee shall be no more vexed.

8 As for the gall anoint a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and hee shall be healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 the Angel said to the yong man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy colin: he also hath one only daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that she may be giue thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doth the right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred.

12 And the maid is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, & I will speake to her father, that we may make the marriage when we are returned fro Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another according to the Law of Moses: els he should deserue death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maid hath bene giuen to seven men, who all died in the marriage chamber:

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Dost thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldst marry a wife of thine owne people: wherefore heare me, O my brother: for the Lord be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shall she be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou shalt go into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hot coales for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish.

17 Which if the spirit doe smell, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, & pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pity on you, and saue you: feare not, for she is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, & thou shalt keepe her, and she shall goe with thee: moreover I suppose that she shall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, hee loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marryeth Sarra Rayuels daughter.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel: and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, shee brought them into the house.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this young man to Tobit my cousin!

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they said, that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Ninue.

4 Then he said to them, Doe ye know Tobit our kinsman? And they said, We know him. Then said he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped and kissed him, and wept,

7 And blessed him, and said vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blind, he was sorrowfull and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreover they receiued them with a ready mind, and after that they had killed a ram of the flocke, they set much meate on the table. Then said Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou hast kept in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched.

9 So hee communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel said to Tobias, Eate, and drinke and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marrye my daughter. neuertheless, I will declare vnto thee the truth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to seuen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheless be thou of a good courage and merrie. But Tobias said, I will eate nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and betroth her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and she came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the * Law of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them, 14 And called his wife Edna, and hee tooke a book, and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as he had bidden her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares.

18 And said vnto her, Bee of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy sorrow: be of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4. He prayeth to God with his wife. 11. Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in law. 16. Raguel bleisset his Lord.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as hee went, hee remembered the words of Raphael, and tooke coales for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the euill spirit had smelled, he fled into the vtmost parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and said, Sister, arise and let vs pray, that God would haue pite on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens bleesse thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him * Eue his wife for an helpe: and stay of them came mankind: thou hast said, It is not good, that a man shoulde bee alone: let vs make vnto him an aide like vnto himselfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therefore grant me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And he said with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house, hee said to his wife Edna, send one of the maids, and let them see whether hee bee aliue: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

12 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and found them both sleepe, 13 And came forth, and told them that hee was aliue.

14 Then Raguel praised God, and said, O God, thou art worthy to bee praised with all pure and holy praise: therefore let thy Saints praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and chinelect praise thee for euer.

15 Thou art to bee praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercy.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

Raguel praiseth God for Tobias.

Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

Tobias asketh Raguel's daughter to wife.

17 Thou art to bee praised, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercie, O Lord, and finish their life in health with joy and mercy.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an oath, that hee should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the marriage were expired,

21 And then he should take the halfe of his goods & returne in safetie to his father, and should haue the rest, when he and his wife were dead,

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias marriage.

1 Then Tobias called Raphael, and said vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring mee the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne ſ I shal not depart.

4 But my Father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very sorry.

5 So Raphael went out & came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand-writing, who brought forth bags which were seale vp, & gaue them to him,

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobias and his wife shooke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

Now Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the journey were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore he was very fory.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he carish: and he began to bewaile him, and said,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace: bee not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But the said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead, and he went out euery day by the way which they went, neither did the eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias, vntill the fourteene daies of ſ wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that hee should rarie there. Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see mee.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with mee, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let mee goe to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and monney.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And hee said to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and hee kissed them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and grant that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may ioyce before the Lord. Behold now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not intreat her euill.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How hee met reuincied. 10 His father bath his sight restored and praiseth the Lord.

After these things Tobias went his way, praising God that he had giuen him a precious journey, & blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, how thou diddest leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haite before thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine hand the gill of the fish. So they went their way, and the dogge followed them.

5 Now Anna fate in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whom when she saw comming, shee said to his father, Behold thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him,

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receive his sight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, hee shall rub and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from hencefoorth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore and stumbled, but his sonne ran vnto him,

11 And to take hold of his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Bee of good hope, my father, 12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, he fell on his necke.

14 And he wept and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pitie on me: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad went in, and told his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law, reioycing and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him goe, marvelled, because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pitie on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God bee blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed bee thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achicharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

2 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him, & the which hee would recompense. 11, 15 Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

Then

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the marriage of his daughter to Tobias.

The father and mother are in heauines for Tobias tarying.

Chap. 5, 17.

Raguel giueth Tobias, and his wife leaue to depart.

Sarra is instructed by her parents.

4 Goe into Media my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather bee in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered, in the earth from that good land, and Ierusalem shall bee desolate, and the house of God in it shall bee burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

* Eysa. 3. 8.
and 6. 14.

5 Yet againe* God will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, untill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished they shall returne from every place out of captiuitie, and build vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spokē thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truly, and shall burie their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lord in trueth and iustice shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercy to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the Commandements, and shewe thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And bury mee honestly, and thy mother with me: but tary no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of sight he brought him into darkenesse, and how he rewarded him againe, yet Achiacharus was saved, but the other had his reward: for hee went downe into darkenesse. Manasse gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousness doeth deliuer. When he had said these things, IJ hee gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundred and eighty yeere old, and he buried him honourably.

Or his soule failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife & children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in law.

13 Where he became old with honour, and he buried his father & mother in law honourably, & he inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And he ended at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundred and seuen and twenty yeere old.

15 But before hee died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

I V D E T H.

C H A P. I.

2 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad and Iouerue him. 12 Hee threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the wall'es round about, of hewen stone, three cubits broad, and sixe cubits long, and made the height of the wall' fenty cubites, and the bredth thereof fifty cubits,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it of an hundred cubits, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threecore cubits,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on his fienty cubits, & the bredth of them forty cubits, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen.

5 Euen in those dayes, king Nabuchodonosor made warre with king Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coasts of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountains, & all that dwelt by Euphrates, & Tygris, & Hydaspes, & the countrey of Arioch, king of the Elymeans, & very many nations assembled themselves to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galile, and the great field of Eldrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, & the cities thereof, & beyond Iorden vnto Ierusalem, & Ectane, & Chellus, and Cades, & the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, & Ramesse, and all the land of Gosen, 10 Vntill one cometo Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and till one cometo the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, hee was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadors from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, and sware by his throne and Kingdome, that he would surely be auenged vpon all those coasts of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, & that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt, till one cometo the borders of the two seas.

13 Then hee marched in battell aray with his power against king Arphaxad in the fientyenth yeere, and he preail'd in his battell: for he ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horsemen, and all his chariots.

14 And he wan his cities, and came to Ecbatane, and tooke the towres, and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame, 15 He tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him thorow with his darts, and destroyed him vterly that day.

16 So he returned after ward to Nineue, both he and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there hee passed the time and banquetted both hee, and his armie an hundred and twenty dayes.

C H A P. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor communicated presumptuously that all people should be brought in subjection, 6 and to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Oloferus' army. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

And

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was take in the houle of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

1 So hee called vnto him all his officers, and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and let before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

2 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

3 And when hee had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

4 Thus saith the great king, the lord of the whole earth, behold thou shalt goe forth from my presence, & take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen an hundred and twentieth thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand.

5 And thou shalt goe against all the West country, because they disobeyed my commandement.

6 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land & the water: for I wil goe forth in my wrath against them, & will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoile vnto them,

7 So that their wounded shall fil their valleys, and their riuers, and their flood shall ouerflow, being filled with their dead.

8 And I will bring their captiuitie to the utmost parts of all the earth.

9 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their country: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reuerse them for mee vntill the day that I rebuke them.

10 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them wherefoeuer thou goest.

11 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdom, whatfoeuer I haue spoken, that will I doe by mine hand.

12 And take thou heed that thou transgresse not any of the commandements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

13 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the army of Assur,

14 And hee mustered the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundred and twenty thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

15 And hee fet them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.

16 And hee tooke camels and asses for the burdens a very great number, & sheepe, and oxen, and goats without number for their prouision, 17 And vitails for euery man of the army, and very much gold and silver out of the kings houle.

18 Then he went forth and all his power to go before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, & to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charrets, and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

19 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grasshoppers, and like the grauel of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

20 And they went forth of Nineueh three daies journey toward the country of Beelileth, and pitched from Beelileth, neere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

21 Then hee tooke all his armie, his footmen and horsemen, and charrets, and went from thence into the mountaines.

22 And he destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Isselles, and the children of Imael, which were toward the wilderness at the South of the Chelians.

23 Then hee went ouer Euphrates, and went thorow Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the high cities that were vpon the riuier of Arbonai, vntill one come to the sea.

24 And he tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South, and ouer against Arabia.

25 He compelled also all the children of Median, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

26 Then he went downe into the country of Damascus, in the time of wheat harvest, and burnt vp all their fields, and destroyed their fockes and the herds, he robbed their cities, and spoiled their country, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.

27 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast, which were in Sidon & Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Alcalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people submit to Olofernes. 8 He destroyeth their gods, that Nabuchodonosor might easily be worshipped.

SO they sent ambassadors to him with messages of peace, saying,

1 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great king: we lie downe before thee: vie vs as thalbe good in thy sight.

2 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheate, and our flocks, and our herds, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vie them as it pleasest thee.

3 Behold, euen our cities, and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

4 So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

5 Then came hee downe toward the sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garitions in the high cities, and tooke out of them choien men for the warre.

6 So they and all the country round about receiued them with crownes, and daunces, and with timbrels.

7 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was enioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor only, & that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

8 Also he came against Eldraelon, neere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great fruit of Iudea.

9 And he pitched betwene Geba, & a city of the Scythians, and there he taried a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Ispahites were a bold and defended their country. 6 He com the Priests to Bethsala, that they should forsake their idols. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and lamented themselves before him.

NOW the children of Israel that dwelt in Iudea, heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captivity, and loe late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethora, and Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Efora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the tops of the high mountaines, and walled the villiges that were in them, and put in victuals for the prouision of warre: for their fields were of late retyed.

6 Also Ioachim the high Priest which was in those dayes in Ierusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Efdraelon toward the open country nere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entry into Iudea, and it was easie to let them that would, come vp, because the passage was trait for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Ioachim the hie Priest had comanded them with the Ancients of all y^e people of Israel which dwelt at Ierusalem.

9 Then cried every man of Israel to God with great fencey, and their soules wth great affection.

10 Both they and their wives, and their children, and their cattel, and every stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus every man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar, 12 And cried to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not giue their children for a pray, and their wives for a spoile, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Iudea and Ierusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Ioachim the hie Priest, and all the priests that stood before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering, with prayers, and the free gifts of the people,

15 And had ashes on their miters, and cryed vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Aschiyo the Anomime doeth declare 100 offenses of the manner of the Ieruelites.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for war, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the tops of the high hills, and had layd impediments in the champaigne country.

2 Wherewith hee was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast,

3 And hee said vnto them, Shew mee, O yee sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what king or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meet mee, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 ¶ Then said Achier the captaine of all the sons of Animon, Let my lord heare y^e word of the mouth of his seruant, & I wil declare vnto thee the truth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, nere where thou remainst: & there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant, 6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And * they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then * their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan where they dwelt, and were increased with gold and siluer, and with very much cattell.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so y^e one could not number their linage.

11 ¶ Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them low with labouring in bricke, and made them slaves.

12 Then they cried vnto their God, & he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the * Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

13 And * God dried the red sea in their presence,

14 And * brought them into mount Sina and Cades-barne, and cast forth all that dwell in the wilderness.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esbon, and passing ouer Iordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they * cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pheresites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sichein, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that country many dayes.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.

18 But * when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, * and weied captiues into a land that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But * now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherin they were scattered, & haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there be any fault in this people, so that they have sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shalbe their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and wee shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, leaſt their Lord defend them, and their God before them: and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the Sea side and in Meab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, we feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mighty armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O Lord Olofernes, and they shall be meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. vi.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 24 Achior is shuttred into the hands of them of Bethulia, 28 The Bethulians crye vnto the Lord.

And when the tumult of the men that were about the councill was ceased, Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, said vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Meab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, because that God will defend them; and who is God but Nabuchodonosor?

3 Hee will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but wee his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustaine the power of our horses.

4 For wee will treade them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall be drunken with their blood, and their fields shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall vilerly perish.

5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth hath said, euen he hath said, None of my words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hirſling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that ſeue mee, passe thorow thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carie thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the high cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commanded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: & they went out from the middle of the plaine into the mountaines, & came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia

12 And when the men of the citie sawe them from therop of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went fourth of the citie vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from coming vp by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and looted him, and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie.

15 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simcon, and Chabris the sonne of Boethniel, and Charnis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assenbly, and they let Achior in the mids of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And hee answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the councill of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the mids of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cried vnto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, let hold their pride, and haue mercy on the babies of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assenbly into his house, & made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel at that night for help.

CHAP. vii.

1 Olofernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8 The councill of the Judeans and others against the Iſraelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

¶ He next day Olofernes commanded all his armie and all his people which were come to take his part, that they should remove their camps against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streits of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then there strong men removed their camps in that day, and the armie of the men of war was an hundred thousand and seuentie footmen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage & other men that were afoote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spread abroad toward Dothaim vnto Eelbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdracrom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they sawe the multitude, were greatly troubled, and sayde euery one to his neighbour Now will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the high mountaines nor the valleys, nor the hills are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of war, and burning fires in their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day, Olofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them, and let garisons of men of warre ouer them, and reasonoued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Eſau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the Sea coast, and ſaid,

9 Let our captaine now heare a word, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie,

10 For this people of the children of Iſrael doe not truſt in their ſpeares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, becauſe it is not eaſie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore my lord, fight not againſt them in battell array, and there ſhall not ſo much as one man of thy people periſh.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe ſtill the water of the country, that cometh forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: ſo ſhall thiſt kill them, and they ſhall giue vp their citie: and we and our people will goe vp to the tops of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children ſhall be conſumed with famine: & before the ſword come againſt them, they ſhall be ouerthrowen in the ſtreets where they dwell.

15 Thus ſhalt thou render them an euill reward, becauſe they rebelled and obeyed not thy perſon peaceably.

16 And theſe words pleaſed Olofernes and all his ſouldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had ſpoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, & with them ſue thouſand of the Aſſyrians & they pitched in the valley, & took the waters, & the fountaines of the waters of the children of Iſſael.

18 Then the children of Eſau went vp with the children of Ammon, & camped in the mountaines ouer againſt Dorchaim, & they ſent ſome of themſelues towards the South, & toward the Eaſt, ouer againſt Rebel, which is nere vnto Cbuſi, that is vpon the riuier Mochmur: and the reſt of the army of the Aſſyrians camped in the field, and covered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Iſrael cried vnto the Lord their God, becauſe their heart failed: for all their enemies had compaſſed them about, & there was no way to eſcape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Aſſur remained about them, both their foot men, chariots and horſemen, foure and thirty dayes: ſo that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the ciſternes were empty, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by meaſure.

22 Therefore their children ſwooned, and their wiues & yong men ſailed for thiſt, and ſell downe in the ſtreets of the citie, and by the paſſages of the gates, and there was no ſtrength in them.

23 Then all the people aſſembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie both yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loud voyce, and ſaid before all the Elders,

24 The Lord iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that you haue not required peace of the children of Aſſur.

25 For now we haue no helper: but God hath ſold vs into their hands, that wee ſhould bee thrown down before them with thiſt and great deſtruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a ſpoile to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to bee made a ſpoile vnto them, then to die for thiſt: for wee will bee his ſeruants that we may liue, and not ſee the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witneſſe againſt you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers which puniſheth vs, according to our finnes and the finnes of our fathers, that yee lay not theſe things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great cry of all with one conſent in the middes of the aſſembly, and they cried vnto the Lord God with a loud voyce.

30 Then ſaid Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs wait yet ſiue dayes, in the which ſpace the Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he wil not forſake vs in the end.

31 And if theſe dayes paſſe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So hee ſeparated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towers of their citie, and ſent their wiues and their children into their houſes, and they were very low brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life & conuerſation of Iudeth, &c. She rebuketh the ſauiturneſſe of the gouernours. 12. Shee ſheweth that they ſhould not tempt God, but waite vpon him for ſuccour. 33. Her enterpriſe againſt the enemies.

Now at that time, Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the ſonne of Ox, the ſonne of Ioseph, the ſonne of Oziel, the ſonne of Elcia, the ſonne of Ananias, the ſonne of Gedon, the ſonne of Raphaim, the ſonne of Acito, the ſonne of Elihu, the ſonne of Eliab, the ſonne of Nathanael, the ſonne of Samael, the ſonne of Salafadai, the ſonne of Iſſael.

2 And Manaffes was her huſband, of her ſtock and kindred, who died in the barley harueſt.

3 For as he was diligent ouer them that bound ſheaves in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and hee fell vpon his bed, and died in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betweene Dorchaim and Balamo.

4 So Iudeth was in her houſe a widow three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And ſhe made her a tent vpon her houſe, and put on ſackcloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And ſhee faſted all the dayes of her widowhood, ſaue the day before the Sabbath, & the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feaſts and ſolemne daies of the houſe of Iſrael.

7 She was alſo of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to behold: and her huſband Manaffes had left her golde and ſiluer, and men ſeruants, and maid ſeruants, and cattell, and poſſeſſions, where ſhe remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for ſhe feared God greatly.

9 Now when he heard the euill words of the people againſt the gouernour, becauſe they faired for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the word: that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had * sworn vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fuy dayes.)

10 Then she sent her maid, that had the gouernement of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris & Charmis the ancients of the citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and she sayd vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that yee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this oth which yee made and pronounced betwene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now yee seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can yee perceiue the things that hee thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, & know his mind, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he will not helpe vs within these fuy dayes, he hath power to defend vs when he will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore bind the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatened, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath been aforetime.

* Iudg. 2. 11.
and 4. 1. and 6. 1.

19 For * the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoyle, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other God, therefore we trust if he will not de pise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we shall be taken, shall Iudea be so famous: for our Sanctuary shall be spoyled, & he will require the profanation thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captivity of the country, and the desolation of our inheritance will returne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, wherefoeuer we shal be in bondage, and we shal be an offence & a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shal not be directed by fauour, but by Lord our God shal turn it to dishonor.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs and the Sanctuary, and the House, and the altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreover, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.

* Gen. 22. 1.

26 Remember what things hee did to * Abraham, and how he tried Isaac, and all that hee did to * Iacob in Mesopotamia of Syria, when hee kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

* Gen. 28. 7.

27 For he hath not tried vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth he take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is known, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue known thy wisdom: for the deuce of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirftie, and compelled vs to doe vnto them as wee haue spoken, and haue brought vs to to another which wee may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, & that we may faint no more.

32 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing, which shall be declared in all generations to the children of our nation.

33 You shal stand this night in the gate, & I will go forth with mine hand: aid & within the daies that yee haue promised to deliuer the citie to our enemies the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine acte: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things be finished that I doe.

35 Then said Ozias and the princes vnto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

Iudeth humbleth her selfe before the Lord, & maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people, 7 against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God w the helpe of the humble.

Then Iudeth fell vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, and put off the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed. And about the time that the incense of the euenng was offered in Ierusalem in the house of the Lord, Iudeth cried with a loud voyce, and sayd,

2 O Lord God of my father * Simeon, to whom thou gauest a word to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the maid, and defiled her, and discovered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproche (for thou hadst commanded that it should not so be,

* Gen. 34. 1, 25.

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gauest their Princes to the slaughter, for they were deceived and washed their beds with blood) and hast striken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray, and their daughters to be captiues, & all their spoyle for a booty to the children if thou loudest: which were moued with thy zeale, & abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore and these, and the things that shal be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou dost purpose are present, and say, Behold, wee are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are fore-knownen.

7 Behold, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselves with horses and horsemen: they glory in the strength of their footmen, they trust in shield, speare and bowe, and sling, and doe not knowe that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and breake breaketh their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuary, and to pollute the tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the altar.

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceived.

10 * Smite by the deceit of my lips the seruant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

11 * For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men, but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weak, and the protector of them that are forsaken, and the Saviour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer, 13 And grant me words & craft, & a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprife cruell things against thy couenant, and against thine holy House, and against the top of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may knowe that thou art the God of all power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth hideeth her selfe, and goeth forth of the citie. 21 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians, and brought to Olofernes.

NOW after she had ceased to cry vnto God of Israel, & had made an end of all these words.

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maid, and went downe into the house, in the which she abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feast dayes.

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherewith she was clad, she washed her body with water, and anointed it with much oynment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of glaynesse, wherewith she was clad during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feet, and put on bracelets, and sleeu 1. and rings, & earerings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely, to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her maid a bottell of wine, and a pott of oyle, & filled a scrip with floure, and with drie figs, and with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together, and laid them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabibis and Charmis.

7 And when they saw her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marvelled greatly at her wonderfull beauty, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Iherusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Command the gates of the citie to be opened vnto mee, that I may go forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken vnto me: for they commanded the gates to be opened vnto mee as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, she and her maid with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill she was gone downe the mountaine, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went straight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 Andooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she said, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall be giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes the chief captain of your armie, to declare him ure things, and I will shew before him the way whereby hee shall goe and winne all the mountaines, without loosing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beauty, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hastened to come down to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, & he will intreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundred men, and prepared a charet for her and her maid, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro thoroughout the campe: for her coming was bruited among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for she stood without the tent of Olofernes, vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marvelled at her beauty, and wondered at the children of Israel because of her, and euery one said vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceive the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes gard went out, and all his seruants and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopy, which was woven with purple & gold, and emeralds, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and he came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they carried lamps of silver before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marvelled at the beauty of her countenance, and she fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Olofernes comforteth Iudeth. 2 Now sheeth the cause of her coming. 5 She deceiveth him by her faire words.

Then said Olofernes vnto her, Woman, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would leaue Nabuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised me, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselves.

3 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard; be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreat thee well as they doe the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth sayd vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaide to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmaide, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor king of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shalbe made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fields, and the cattell, and the soules of the heauen shall lue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For wee haue heard of thy wisdom and thy prudent spirit, and it is declared thorow the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdom, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feats of warre marueilous.

9 Now * as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy councill, wee haue heard his words: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them a l that he had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, reiect not his word, but let it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the word preuaile against them, except they sinne against thy God.

11 Now therefore, lest my lord should bee frustrate, and voyd of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may bee taken in their sinne, whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which v so oft times as they doe that which is not becoming,

12 (For because their vitralls faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things, that God had forbidden them to eat by his Lawes.

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruits of the wheat, and the riches of the wine, and of the oile which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priestesthat Ierue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreover they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate.)

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shal be giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaide, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, & God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoever shall heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and wo shippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant go out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reuile vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes.

18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt go forth with all thine army, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will lead thee thorow the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will let thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no shepherd, and a dog shall not bark with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto mee according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they manueled at her wisdom, and said, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beauty of face, and wisdom of wordes.

22 Likewise Olofernes sayd vnto her, God hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy wordes: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall bee my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt be renowned thorow out the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iudeth would not p'ssute her, wth the meat of the Gentiles.

5 She maketh her request that she might goe out by night to pray. 12 Olofernes can'te her to come to the banquet.

Then hee commanded to bring her in where his treasures were laide, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth said, "I may not eat of them, lest there should bee an offence, but I can Iustice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

3 Then Olofernes said vnto her, If the things that thou hast thought faile, how should wee giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then said Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaide shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord work by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and shee slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord commande that thine handmaide may goe forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commanded his guard that they should not slay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed herselfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when shee came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So shee returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch, who had charge ouer all that he had, Go, and perswade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that shee come vnto vs, and eat and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we do not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and sayd, Let me this faire mayd make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs joyfully, and to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Iudeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I should gain say my lord? Surely whatsoever pleasech him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So shee arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her mayd went and spread forth her skinnies on the ground ouer against Olofernes, which she had receiued of Bagoas for her dayly vie, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Now when Iudeth came and sate downe, Olofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was moued, and he desired greatly her company: for hee had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had sene her.

17 Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be merry with vs.

18 So Iudeth said, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then shee tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things that her mayd had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then hee had drunken at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Olofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOW when the evening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all wearie, because the feast had bene long.

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with * wine.

3 ¶ Now Iudeth had commanded her mayd to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her coming forth as she did daily: for she said, she would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth in her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, said in his heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine handes for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, & to execute mine enterprises to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approached to the bed, and tooke hold of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen mee, O Lord God of Israel, this day.

8 And shee smote twise vpon his necke, with all her might, and shee tooke away his head from him, 9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anone after the went forth, and gaue Olofernes head to her maid.

10 And she put it in her scip of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and praessing thorow the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then said Iudeth as she off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shewe his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voice, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their city, and they called the Elders of the city.

13 And they ranne all together both smal and great: for it was about their expectation, that she should come. So they opened the gate, and receiued her, & made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 Then she said to them with a loude voyce, Praise God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scip, and shewed it, and said vnto them, Behold the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, and behold the canopie wherein hee did lie in his drunkenesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord Iudeth, who hath kept mee in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and he hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villeny.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed bee thou, O our GOD, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most high God aboute all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes. 10 Achior loyneth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

THEN said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also, my brethren, and * take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your wallles.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field toward the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shal goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before fore your face.

4 So you and all that inhabit the coastes of Israel, shall pursue them, and overthrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come & saw the head of Olofernes, in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, he fell at Iudeths feet, and reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, & in all nations, which, hearing thy name, shalbe astonished.

8 Now therefore tell mee all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that she had done from the day that she went forth vntill that houre she spake vnto them.

9 And when she had left off speaking, the people reioiced with a great voyce, and made a noife of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleued in God vnfeinedly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 And as soone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, & euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straits of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their capitaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe capitaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent, and said to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue bene bold to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, hee opened it, and went into the chamber, & found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty cry, and rent his garments.

17 After, hee went into the tent of Iudeth where shee vied to remaine, and found her not: then he leaped out to the people, and cried, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednesse: one woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the capitaines of the Assyrians army heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, & there was a cry and a very great noyse throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

2 The Assyrians are afraid and flee. 3 The Itrachites pursue them. 4 Iudith the Itrachite cometh to Bethulia to see Iudeth, and to praise God for her.

And when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in sight of his neighbor: but altogether amazed they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountains.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warrior among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomalthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, & Chola, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Ierusalem, and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galilee chased them with a great slaughter, vntill they came to Damascus, and to the coasts thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Ioachim the hie Priest, and the Ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioicing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirtie dayes, and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and she tooke it and laid it on her nules, and made ready her charrets, and laid them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, & made a dance among them for her, and she took branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with Oliues, & her that was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouths.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudith prayeth God with a song. 19 Shee offereth vnto the Lord Olofernes hisse. 21 Her continuance, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

Then Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voice.

2 And Iudeth said, Begin vnto my God with timbrels, sing to my Lord with cymbales: tune vnto him a Psalme: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the mids of his people, and deliuered mee out of the hand of the persecutors.

* Chap. 2. 11, 15.

4 Asfur came from the mountaines soorth of the North: he came with thousands in his army, * whole multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemen haue covered the valleys.

5 He said that he would burne vp my borders and kill my yong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, & make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoyle.

6 But the almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mighty did not fall by the young men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the high gyants invade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beauty of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with oylment, and bound vp her haire in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beauty took his minde prisoner, and the fauchin passed through his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnesse, and the Medes weretroubled with her hardinesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble one shouted, then they feared, they listd vp their voice and turned backe.

12 The children of maids peared them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I wil sing vnto the Lord a song and praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, maueilous, and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast lent thy Spirit, and hee made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rockes melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweete saour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kinned: the Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feeble them and weepe for ever.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lord, & as soone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Iudeth also offered all the stuffe of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopy which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuary, for the space of three moneths, and Iudeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the dayes of her life, after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to || his people.

23 But she increased more and more in honor, and waxed olde in her husbands house, being an hundred and fve yeere olde, and made her mayd free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

24 And* the house of Israel lamented her seven dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were neere: off to kinned to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neere of her kined.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the dayes of Iudeth, nor a long time after her death.

Or, her people.

ESTHER.

Certaine portions of the story of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations:

Which follow the tenth Chapter.

Hen Mardocheus said, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the Sunne, and as much water: this flood was Esther whom the king married, and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Am: n.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cried to God and are saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs fro all these euils, and God hath wrought signes & great wonders, which haue not been done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, & another for all the Gentiles

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, at the house and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembered his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shal be vnto them in the moneth Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generacions for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemus and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who sayd he was a Priest and Leuite, and Ptolemus his sonne, that brought the former letters of || Phurzy, which they said Lyfimachus the sonne of Ptolemus, which was at Ierusalem, interpreted,

2 In the second yere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes in the first day of 3 month Nisan, Mardocheus the son of Iarus, the sonne of Semei, the sonne son of Cis of the tribe of Benjamin had a dreame, 3 A few dwelling in the cite of Sufis, a noble man that bare office in the kings court.

Orp.

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabu-chodonosor the king of Babilon brought from Ierusalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Behold a noise of a tempest with thunders, and earthquakes, and uproare in the land.

6 Behold, two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their cry was great whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darknesse and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amazed, and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, a little wel grew into a great river, and flowed ouer a great waters.

11 The light and the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.

12 Now when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, he awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the kings court with Bagathas, and Thara, the kings eunuches, and keepers of the palace.

2 * But when he heard their purpose, and their imaginations, hee perceived that they went about to lay their hands vpon the king Artaxerxes, and so he certified the king thereof.

3 Then caused the king to examine the two eunuches with torments, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the king caused to be put in the Chronicles, Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the king commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the court, and for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.

9 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the A-gagite, which was in great honor and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copy of the letters of Artaxerxes against the letters. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

THE copy of the letters was this, The great king Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes and gournours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentlenesse to gouerne my subiects, and wholly to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely goe thorow on euery side, and to renewe peace againe which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellors shewe these things might be brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisdom and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of true fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, even Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, & haue alwayes despised the commandments of kings, and so that this generall Empire, that wee haue begun cannot be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing now we perceiue, that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vi-sing strange & other maner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue we commanded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wiues and children be destroyed and rooted out with the sword of their enemies without al mercy, and that none be spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,

7 That they which of old, and now also haue euer bin rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the works of the Lord, & made his prayer vnto him,

9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, a King almighty (for all things are in thy power) & if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee

10 For thou hast made heaven and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heaven.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest
 Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proud Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good will for the saluation of Israel, to haue kist the sole of his feet.

14 But I did it, because I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God, and king, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance that hath bin thine from the beginning

16 Despise not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selle.

17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorow into ioy, that wee may liue, O Lord, and praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like maner cried most earnestly vnto the Lord, because of death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her and her people.
 Queene Esther also, being in danger of death, resorted vnto the Lord,

2 And laid away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious oymment, she scattered ashes, & dongue vpon her head: & she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy killed she with the haire that she plucked off.

3 And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our king, helpe me delolate womā, which haue no helper but thee

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in γ kinned of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among γ ll people, & our fathers from their predecessors, for a perpetual inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou didst promise them.

6 Now Lord, we haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giue vs into γ hands of our enemies, 7 Because we worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheless, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue stroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they will abolish γ thing that thou γ thy mouth hast ordeined, & destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them γ praise thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, & of thine altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and to magnifie afeithly king for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy scepter to them γ be nothing, lest they laugh vs to scorne in our miserie: but turn their deuice vpon theselues, & make him an example, that hath begun the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Giue me an eloquent speech in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemy, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him, 14 But deliuer vs γ thine hand, & helpe me, γ am solitarie, which haue no defence, but onely thee.

15 Thou knowest all things, O Lord: thou knowest, that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shew my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menfrowis cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe,

17 And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the kings feast, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offerings, 18 And that I thine handmaide haue no ioy since the day that I was brought hither vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboute all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe in to the King and make intercession for her people. 2 And she performeth his request.

Mardocheus also bade Esther to go in vnto the King, & pray for her people & for her countrey

2 Remember faith he, the dayes of thy low estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the king, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, & speake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when shee had ended her prayer, she laid away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And deckt her selfe goodly, after that shee had called vpon God, which is the beholder & sauour of all things, and tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Vpon the one she leaned her selfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull as herseparable, but her heart was sorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then shee went in thorow all the doores, and stood before the king, and the king saie vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold and precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then hee lit vp his face, that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leaned her selfe vpon the head of the maide that went with her.

11 Neuertheless, God turned the kings mind that he was gentle, who being careful, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till shee came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, & not thee. Come neere.

14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and laid it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and said, Talke with mee.

16 Then said she, I saw thee, O lord, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie, 17 For wonderful art thou, O Lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copy of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee reuoketh those which hee hath sent forth.

The great king Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia,ouer an hundred and seuen and twenty prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnesse of Princes, and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And endeavour not only to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankfulness away from men, but in pride and presumption, say that be vnmindfull of benefites, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oftentimes many which be set in office, and vnto whom their friends causes are committed, by vaine intifements doe wrap them in calamities, that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie and gentlenesse of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not only by old histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences, as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore we must take heed hereafter, that we may make the Kingdome peaceable for all men, wha change sooner shall come,

9 And discerneth things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenesse.

10 For Aman a Macedonian, the son of Amadathus, Joseph. Antiq. lib. x. cap. 6.

Jathus, being indeed a stranger from the Persians blood, & far fro our goodnes, vs received of vs, 11 And hath proued the friendship that wee beare toward all nations, so that hee was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the King.

12 But he could not vie him selfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to deprive vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifold deceit also hath hee desired to destroy Mardochus our preseruer, which had done vs good in all things, and innocent Else the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation, 14 For his mind was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meane to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we find that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man, that they might be destroyed) are no euill doers, but vfe most iust lawes, 16 And that they bee the children of the most High and Almighty & euertliuing God, by whom the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitors in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall doe well; if ye dee not put in execution those letters, that Artan the son of Amasthus did write vnto you.

18 For he that required them, happeeth at Sus before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deservings.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copy of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne Lawes,

20 And ye shall aide them, that vpon the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged on them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them, 21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy the day wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreover, among other follemne dayes ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse,

23 That both now and in time to come, this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs, and all such as loue the prosperity of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs, 24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly be destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beasts and foules for euer.

THE WISEDOM OF SALOMON.

CHAP. I.

1 How we ought to search and argue after God. 2 Who be those that finish vs. 3 The holy Ghost. 4 Wee ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 5 If wee desire death commeth. 6 Righteousnesse and vngodlyness.

Loue * righteousnesse, yee that bee Iudges of the earth: thinke reverently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

2 * For he will be found of them that tempe him not; and appeareth vnto such as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: & his power when it is tried, reprocueth the vngodly.

4 Because wisdom cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwel in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.

5 For the holy * Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceipt, and withereth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth.

6 For the Spirit of wisdom * is louing, & will not abolute him, that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witness of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lord filtereth all the world: and the same thinke maintaineth all things, hath knowlege of the voyce.

8 Therefore hee that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot bee hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall be made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sound of his words shall come vnto God for correction of his iniquities.

10 For the care of ielousie heareth all things, and the noise of the grudgings shall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, and refrain your tongue from slander: for there is no word so secret, that shall goe for nought, and the mouth that speaketh lies, slayeth the soule.

12 Seeke not death in the error of your life: * destroy not your selues through the workes of your owne hands.

13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.

14 For hee created all things, that they might haue their being: & the generations of the world are preserued, & there is no payson of destruction in them, & the kingdome of hel is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousnesse is immortall, but vngodlyness shall bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly call * it vnto them both with hands and words, and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their confessions against the faithfull.

In the vngodly lay, as they falsely imagine with themselves, * our life is short and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouerie, neither was any known that hath returned from the graue.

2 For wee are borne at all aduerture, and wee shall be hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for the breath is a smoke in our nostrils, and the words as a sparkere railed out of our heart,

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the spirit vanissheth as the soft ayre.

4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloud, and come to nought as the myste that is driuen away with the beames of the sunne, and cast downe with the heate thereof. Our name also shall be forgotten in time, and no man shall laue our workes in remembrance.

5 * For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man commeth againe.

6 * Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleasures that are present, and let vs cheerefully vie the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill ourselues with costly wine, & ointments, and let not the floure of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose buds, afore they be withered.

9 Let vs albe partakers of our wantonnesse: let vs leaue son: token of our pleasure in euery place: for that is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppress the poore that is righteous: let vs not spare the widow, nor reuerence the white haire of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our strength bee the Law of vnrighteousnesse: for the thing that is feeble, is reprooued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraud the righteous: for he is not for our profit, and he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending against the Law, and blameth vs as transgressors of discipline.

13 He maketh him boaste to haue the knowledge of God, & he calleth him selfe the son of the Lord.

14 He is mad: to reprove our thoughts.

15 If grieueth vs also to looke vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.

16 Hee counteth vs as bastards, and bee with-draweth him selfe from our waye as from filthi-nesse: hee commendeth greatly the latter end of the iust, and boasteth that God is his Father.

17 Let vs see then if his words bee true: let vs proue what end he shall haue.

18 For if the righteous man bee * the sonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.

19 Let vs examine him with rebukes and torments, that wee may know his mekenesse, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shameful death: for he shalbe preferred as he him selfe saith.

21 Such things do they imagine, and go astray: for their owne wickednes hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderstand the myster-ies of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousnes, nor can discern the honor of the foules that are faultlesse.

23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the image of his own likeness.

24 * Neuer the less, through enuie of the deuill came death into the world: and they that hold of his side, proue it.

CHAP. III.

* The commendation and assurance of the righteous. 7 The reward of the righteous. 11 Who are miserable.

BVt the foules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.

2 * In the sight of the vnwise they appeared to die, and their end was thought grieuous,

3 And their departing from vs destruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they suffer paine before men, yet is * their hope full of immortality.

5 They are punished, but in few things, yet in many things that they be wel rewarded: * for God proueth them, & findeth them mee for himselfe.

6 Hee tryeth them as the gold in the furnace, and receiue them as a perfect fruit offering.

7 * And in the time of their vision they shall shine, and run thorow as the sparkes among the stubble.

8 They * shall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lord shall reigne for euer.

9 They that trust in him shall vnderstand the trueth, and the faithfull shall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercy is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 But * the vngodly shall be punished according to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisdom and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their works vnprofitable.

12 Their wiues are vnder reet, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vn-defiled, and knoweth not the sinful bed: * she shall haue fruit in the visitation of the foules.

14 And the eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquity, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall bee giuen the speciall gift of faith, and an acceptable porti-on in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the root of wisdom shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shall not bee partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shall be rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall bee without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, nei-ther comfort in the day of trial.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked genera-tion.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commendation thereof. 10 The death of the righte-ous, and the commendation of the vnfaithfull.

Better is barrenesse with vertue: for the me-moriall thereof is immortal. for it is knowen with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example there-at, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the buttell and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which a-bound in children, is vnprofitable, and the ba-stard plants shall take no deepe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, * yet they shalbe shaken with the winde for they stand not fast, and through the vehemen-cie of the wind they shalbe rooted out.

5 For the vnperfite branches shall be broken, and their fruit shall be vnprofitable and sowe to eat, and meet for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be winnesse of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous be prevented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measu-ed by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisdom is the gray haire, and an vn-defiled life is the old age.

10 * He pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that wheras he liued among sinners, he transla-ted him.

11 He was taken away lest wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his mind.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscureth the the things that are good, and the vntedfastnesse of conſcience peruerſeth the ſimple minde.

13 I though he was ſoone dead, yet fulfilled he much time.

14 For his ſoule pleaſed God: therefore haſted he to take him away from wickedneſſe.

15 Yet the people ſee and vnderſtand it not, and conſider no ſuch things in their hearts, how that grace and mercy is vpon his Saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous ſhall be dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: & the youth ſhall be ſoone brought to an end, he long life of the vngodly.

17 For they ſee the end of the wife, but they vnderſtand not what God hath deſired for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preferred him in ſafety.

18 They ſee him and deſpiſe him, but the Lord will laugh them to ſcorne.

19 So that they ſhall fall hereafter without honour, and ſhall haue a ſhame among the dead for euermore: for without any voyce ſhall he liſt them and caſt them downe, & ſhake the foundations, ſo that they ſhall be vtterly waſted, & they ſhall be in ſorrow, and their memoriall ſhall periſh.

20 So they being afraid, ſhall remember their finnes, and their owne wickednes ſhall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The conſtancie of the righteous before their perſecutors. 14 The ſcriptures of the vntedfaſt ſhall be vaine. 15 The beſtiance of the Saints and galls.

Then ſhall the righteous ſtand in great boldneſſe before the face of ſuch as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they ſee him, they ſhall be vexed with horrible feare, and ſhall be amazed for his wonderfull diſcipline,

3 And ſhall charge their mindes, and ſit for griefe of minde, and ſay within themſelues, This is hee whom wee ſometime had in deriſion and in a parable of reproch.

4 * We fooles thought his life madneſſe, and his end without honour.

5 How is hee counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of truth, & the light of righteouſnes hath not ſhined vnto vs: & the ſun of vnderſtanding rote not vpon vs.

7 Wee haue wearied our ſelues in the way of wickedneſſe and deſtruction, and wee haue gone through dangerous wayes: but wee haue not knowne the way of the Lord.

8 What hath price profited vs? or what profite hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All thoſe things are paſſed away like a ſhadow: and as a poſſet that paſſeth by.

10 As a ſhip that paſſeth ouer the waves of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof can be found, neither the path nor in the floods:

11 Or as a bird that ſteth thorow the aire, and no man can lee any token of her paſſage, but only heere the note of her wings, beating the light wind, parting the aire through the vehemencie of her going, and ſleeth on ſhaking her wings, whereas after ward no token of her way can be found:

12 Or as when an arrow is ſhot at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediatly cometh together againe, ſo that a man cannot knowe where it went: how?

13 Euen ſo we, all one as we were borne, we began to draw to our end, & haue ſhewed no token of vertue, but are conſumed in our owne wickednes.

14 For the hope of the vngodly is like hee duſt that is blown away with the wind, and likeneth ſeeme that is ſcattered abroad with the ſtorme, and as the ſmoke which is diſperſed with the wind and as the remembrance of him paſſeth, that to rieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous ſhall liue for euer: their reward alſo is with the Lord, and the moſt High hath care of them.

16 Therefore ſhall they receive a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand ſhall he cower them, and with his arme ſhall he defend them.

17 He ſhall take his ieiouſie for armour, & ſhall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He ſhall put on righteouſnes for a breſtplate, and take true iudgement in ſtead of an helmet.

19 He wil take holines for an inuincible ſhield.

20 He wil ſharpen his ſierce wrath for a ſword, & the world ſhall fight with him againſt ynwile.

21 Then ſhall the thunderbolts goe ſtreight out of the lightnings, & ſhall ſeeto the marke as out of the bene bow of the cloudes, and out of his anger that throweth ſtones, ſhall thicke haile be caſt, and the water of the ſea ſhall be wroth againſt them, and the floods ſhall mightily overflow.

22 And a mighty winde ſhall ſtand vp againſt them, and like a ſtorme ſhall ſcatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie ſhall bring all the earth to a wilderneſſe, and wickedneſſe ſhall overthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and Iudges, which are alſo exhorted to ſeek wiſedome.

Hear therefore, O yee Kings, and vnderſtand: I learne ye ſhall be iudges of the ends of the earth.

2 Giue care, ye that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of people.

3 For the rule is giuen you of the Lord, and power by the moſt High, which will trie your works, and ſearch out your in-aginations.

4 Becauſe that yee being officers of his kingdome, haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the will of God.

5 Horribly & ſuddenly wil he appeare vnto you: for an iudgement ſhall they haue ſeeke rule.

6 For hee that is moſt low is worthy mercy, but the mighty ſhall be mightily tormented.

7 For he ſhall be Lord ouer all, wil ſpare no perſon neither ſhall hee ſeare any creature: ſee he hath made the ſmall and great, and careth for all alike.

8 Put for the mighty abideth the ſore triall.

9 Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, doe I ſpeake that ye may leaue wile dome, and not ſeek amiſſe.

10 For they that keepe holineſſe holily, ſhall be holy, & they ſhall be learned there, ſhall find a defence.

11 Wherefore let your delight vpon my words and deſire them, and ye ſhall be inſtructed.

12 Wiſedome ſhineth and neuer ſaſeth away, and is eaſily ſeene of them that loſe her, & found of ſuch as ſeek her.

13 Shee preuenteth them that deſire her, that ſhe may firſt ſhew her ſelfe vnto them.

14 Who ſo awaketh vnto her betimes, ſhall haue no great trouble: for he ſhall find her ſitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfect vnderſtanding: and who ſo watcheth for her, ſhall be ſoone without care.

for her, & sheweth her selfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue:

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes, & the keeping of lawes is the assurance of immortality, 19 And immortality maketh vs nere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisedome leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your delight be then in thrones, and scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisedome, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tell you what wisedome is, and whence it cometh, & will not hide the nysseries from you, but will seke her out fro the beginning of her natiuitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the trueth.

23 Neither will I haue to do with consuming enuy for such a man shall not be partaker of wisedome.

24 But the multitude of wyse is the preservation of the world, & a wise king is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my wordes, and ye shall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisedome ought to be preferred about all things.

I My selfe am also mortal & a man like all other, & am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to bee flesh in ten moneths: I was brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that cometh with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common aire, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying & weeping at the first as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swaddling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherefore I praide, & vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, & the spirit of wisdom came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all gold is but a little grauell in respect of her, and silver shall be counted but clay before her.

10 I loued her about health and beautie, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11 All good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisedome was the author thereof, and I knew not that shee was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfaignedly, and communicated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For shee is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisedome and the director of the wise.

16 For in his hand are both we and our wordes, and all wisedome & the knowledge of the workes.

17 For hee hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the world was made, and the power of the elements.

18 The beginning & the end, and the mids of the times, how many times al it, & the change of seasons.

19 The course of the yere, & situation of the stars,

20 The nature of liuing things, & the furiousnes of beastes, & power of winds, & the inuiginations of men, & diuersities of plants, & the vertues of roots.

21 And all things both secret and knowne doe I know: for wisedome the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the only begotten, manifest old, subtil, moueable, clere, vndefiled, euident, not hurtful, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good.

23 Courteous, stable, fire, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing thorow all intellectuall, pure, and subrell spirits.

24 For wisedome is nimble then all nimble things: shee goeth thorow and attaineth to all things, because of her purenesse.

25 For shee is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence, that floweth from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

26 For shee is the brightnes of the euerlasting light, the vndefiled mirror of the maiestie of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being one, shee can doe all things, and remaining in her selfe, reneweth all, & according to the ages shee entereth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisedome.

29 For shee is more beautifull then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night cometh vpon it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisedome.

Shee also reacheth from one ende to another mightily, & comely doeth the order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beauty.

3 In shee is conuersation with God, it comendeth her nobility: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For shee is the choolemistress of the knowledge of God, and the chuser out of his workes.

5 If riches be a possibill to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, & worketh all things?

6 For if prudence worketh, what is it among all things that worketh better then the?

7 If a man loue righteousnes, her labours are vertuous: for she teacheth sobernesse and prudence, righteousnes and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, and discern things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of wordes, and the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that shee would counsell mee good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, and honour among the Elders though I be young.

11 I shall be found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall be marueilous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue they shall abide my leisure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by her I shall obtaine immortallitie, and leaue an euertlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mighty in battell.

16 When I come home, I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitterness, and her fellowship hath no reuolucion, but mirth and ioy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdome is in mortallitie, 18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the works of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudence, and glory by communicating with her, I went about seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a witty child, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an yndefiled body.

21 Neuertheless, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her except God gaue her, (and that was a point of wisdome also, to know whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Solomon to obtaine wisdome.

O God of fathers, and Lord of mercie, which hast made all things with thy word,

2 And ordeined man through thy wisdome, that he should haue dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made,

3 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousnes, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

4 * Give mee that wisdome, which sitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children.

5 For I thy seruant, & son of thine handmaid, am a feeble leperon, and of a short time, & yet liue in the vnderstanding of iudgement and the lawes.

6 And though a man bee neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdome be not with him, he shall keene be regarded.

7 * Thou hast chosen mee to be a king of thy people, and the Iudge of thy sons and daughters.

8 Thou hast commaunded me to build a Temple vpon thine holy Mount, & an altar in thy city wherein thou dwellest, a likeness of thine holy Tabernacle, which I on hast prepared from the beginning.

9 And thy wisdome is with thee, which knoweth thy works, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandments.

10 Send her out of thine holy heavens, and send her from the throne of thy Majesty, that she may be with me and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For thou knowest and vnderstandest all things, and she shall lead me soberly in my works, and preserve me by her glory.

12 So shall my works be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be mercie for my fathers throne.

13 For * what man is he can know the counsel of God? or who can think what the wil of God is?

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are seare, and our secret is an vncertaine.

15 For aule a centipable body is heaue vnto the world, and the carly menten kepeth downe the mind that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can we discern the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour find we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things which are in heauen?

17 Who can know thy counsell, except thou giue him wisdome, and send thine holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, & men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preferred through wisdome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisdome.

She preferred the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his effience,

2 And * gaue him power to rule all things,

3 * But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.

4 For whose cause the earth was ouerflown, but wisdome preferred it againe, governing the iust men by a little wood.

5 Moreover, when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, shee knew the righteous, and preferred him faultlesse vnto God, and kept him sure, because shee loved him tenderly as a sonne.

6 Shee preferred the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the five cities.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimony, and the trees that beare fruit that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaihtfull soule, there standeth pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisdome, had not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behind them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnes, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot be hid.

9 But wisdome deliuered them that serued her.

10 * When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, & led him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the couetousnesse of such as desired him, she stood by him and made him rich.

12 Shee saved him from the enemies, & defended him from them that lay in wait, & she gaue him the prize in a mighty battell, that he might know that the feare of God is greater than all things.

13 * When the righteous was sold, shee forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne, shee went downe with him into the dungeon, 14 And failed him not in the hands til she had brought him the scepter of the realme, and power against those that oppressed him, and then that had accused him, shee declared to be liars, and gaue him a perpetual glory.

15 Shee deliuered the righteous people & faultlesse fled from the nations that oppressed them.

16 Shee entered into the foale of the seruant of the Lord, and stood by him in wonders & signes against

* Exod. 7. 20.

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time, how thou hadst punished thine aduersaries

8 For when they were tried & chastised with mercy, they knew how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hath thou exhorted as a father, and proued them : but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous king, when thou didst examine the.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double w mourning, & the remembrance of this past.

11 For when they perceived that through their torments good came vnto the, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondered at him, whom afore they had call out, denied and derided : for they had another thirst then the first.

13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednesse, wherewith they were decieued, and worshipped * serpents, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beasts : thou sendest a multitude of vnreasonable beasts vpon them for a vengeance, that they might know, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit : but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number and weight, 18 For thou hast euer had great strength, and might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme!

19 For as the small thing y the ballance weigheth, so is the world before thee, & as a drop of the morning dew, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, & makest as though thou lawdest not the sins of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou lovest all the things that are, and hast none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou hadst hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will ? or how could any thing bee preferred, except it were called of thee ?

23 But thou sparest all : for they are thine, O Lord, which are the loue of soules.

CHAP. XII.

1 The mercy of God toward sinners. 14 The works of God are vnprocurable. 19 God quickeneth the dead.

Or thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of * e things, wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 * As for thole old inhabitants of the holy land, thou diddest hate them.

4 For they committed abominable works, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying their owne children without mercy, and eating the bowels of mans flesh in banquetting, where the raging Priests shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the s. ules destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That y land which thou lovest abuse al other, might be a meet dwelling for y child of God.

8 * Neuertheless, thou sparest them also as men, and sendest the forerunners of thine holles, euen hornets to destroy them by little and little,

* Exod 23. 2.
* Deut 2. 25.

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little & little, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well that it was an vnrighteous nation and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For there was a cursed seed from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearest any man.

12 For who dare say, * What hast thou done ? or who dare stand against thy iudgement ? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made : * who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men ?

* Rom. 9. 30.

13 For there is none other God but thou, * that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright.

* 1. Pet 5. 7.

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them who thou hast punished

15 Forasmuch as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserved to be punished

* Job 10. 2, 3.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righte-ousnesse, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to bee of a perfect power, thou declarest thy power, and repro-ucest he boideitie of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgest with equitie, and governest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest thinke thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place, that they might change from their wickednesse,

21 With how great circumspectiō wilt thou pun-nish thine own children, vnto whole fathers thou hast sworne, & made covenants of good promises?

22 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercy.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented & wicked that haue liued a disoluit life by their own imaginatiōs

24 *For they went astray very far in the wayes of error, and esteemed the beast, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishement that they should bee in derision as children without reason,

26 But they that will not bee reformed by those seuerall rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they saw themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whom afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

All things be vaine except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and isidols are mocked.

1 Vnely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God,* and could not know him: that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the works, the wisdom afore.

2 *But they thought the fire, or the winde, or the swift ayre, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to be gouer-nours of the world and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie, that they thought them gods, yet should they haue known how much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first author of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marvelled at the power, & operation of the, yet should they haue perceived hereby, how much hee that made these things is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creatour being compared with them may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse then these, & seek God and would find him, & yet peradventure doe erre,

7 *For they got about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene,

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused,
9 For if they can know so much, that they can discerne the world, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is there hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens handes, gold, and silver, and the thing that is inuented by art, and the similitude of beasts, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 *Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the vse of life,

12 And the things that are cutt off from his worke, he belloweth to create his meate to fill himselfe,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked peece of wood, & full of knobs) he carueth it diligently at his leisure, and according as he is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and dispo-neth it after the similitude of a man,

14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it out with red, and painteth it, and coue-reth every spot that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a convenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron.

16 Proudlyng for so it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image which hath neede of helpe.

17 Thus he prayeth for his gods, and for his marriage, and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 He calleth on him that is weake for health:
he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his journey, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires, he requireth furtherance of him, that hath no manner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction and abomination of iuages. 8 A curse is set vpon them that maketh it ens. 24 The curse of idolatry proceeded.

1 What ensueance of idolatry.
2 Gaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorow the raging waves, colleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the ship that carrieth him.

3 For as for the countenance of money hath found it out, & the craftsman made it by cunning,

4 But thy providence, O Father, governeth vs:
*For thou hast made a way, cuen in the sea, and a sure path amongst the waves,

5 Declaring thereby, that the vaine power to helpe in all things: yea, though a man went to the sea with out meanes.

6 Neuertheless thou wouldest not, that the workes of thy wisdom should bee vaine, and therefore doe men commit their liues to a small peece of wood, and passe ouer the stormie sea in a ship, and are saued.

7 *For in the olde time also when the proud giants perished, the hope of the world cuntinto a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and left seede of generation vnto the world.

8 For blessed is the tree whereby righte-ousnesse cometh.

9 But that is cursed that is made with hands,* both it, & he that made it, because hee made it, & it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

both like hated of God: for truly the worke and he that made it shall be punished together.

10 Therefore shall there be a visitation for the idols of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, and stumbling blockes vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feete of the vnwise.

11 For the increasing of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning neither shall they continue for ever.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grievously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, he made an image for him that was once dead, whom now he worshippeth as a god, and ordeined to his servants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by proces of time this wicked custom prevailed, and was kept as a law, and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had beene present.

17 Against the ambition of the craftsman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For he peradventure willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so thorow the beauty of the worke the multitude was allured, & so took him now for a god, which a little afore was but honored as a man.

20 And this was the deceiving of mans life, when men being in servitude, through calamity and tyranny ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreover, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great warres of ignorance, those to great plagues called they peace.

22 For either they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or vsed secret ceremonies, or raging dissolutesse by strange rites:

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or els vexed him by adultery.

24 So were all mixed together, blood, and slaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulness, tumults, perjuries, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulness, defiling of houses, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adultery, and vncleanness.

26 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause, and the end of all euill:

27 For either they be mad when they be merie, or prophesies, or liue vngodly, or els lightly sweare themselves.

28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, adding themselves vnto idoles, & because they sweare vniuilly to deicide, & despite holines:

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The vnle of the faithfull praying the mercy of God by whose grace they turne not to idoles.

1 I thank you, O our God, all gracious & true, long suffering, and go earnestly all things by mercy.

2 Though we sinne yet are wee thine: for we know thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfect righteousness, & to know thy power, is the root of immortallitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked invention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labor of the painter, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

5 Whose sight stirrith vp the desire of the ignorant: so that hee couereth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things, are worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

7 The potter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessell with labor to our vse: but of the same clay hee maketh both the vessels, & serueth to cleane vses, & the contrary likewise: but where as euery vessell serueth, the potter is the iudge.

8 So by his wicked labour he maketh a vaine god of the same clay. euen he which a little afore was made of earth himselfe, & within a while after goeth thither againe, where hee was taken, & where hee shall make account for the loue of his life.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labor he raketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striveth with the goldsmiths and silversmiths, and counterfeitheth the coppersmiths, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiuaible things.

10 His heart is aches, & his hope is more vile than earth, & his life is lesse worthy of honor then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pastime, and our conseruation as a marker, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to bee getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Now he that of earth maketh fraille vessels & images knoweth himselfe to offend about al other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that holde them in subiection are most vnwise, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue sight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to gripe, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them, but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing hee is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vnrighteous hands, he himselfe is better then they whom hee worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beauty to be desired, in respect of other beasts: for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

For thy iudgements are great, and cannot be exprest: therefore men do erre, that will not be reformed.

1 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darkness, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the rooofe, did lie there to escape thee euil lasting providence.

2 And while they thought to be hid in their darke finnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke covering of forgetfulness, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

3 For the denner that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorrowfull sights did appeare.

4 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

5 For there appeared vnto them only a sudden fire, very dreadfull to that being afraid of this vision, // which they could not see, they thought the things which they saw, to be worse.

That is, the horrible visions.
* Exod. 7. 12.
and 8. 1. 2.

6 * And the illusions of the magicall arts were brought downe, and it was a moile shamefull reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.

7 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the fickle person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

8 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beasts that passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents, so that they did not feare, and did they saw not the ayre, which by no meanes can be auoyded.

9 For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimony: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecall cruell things.

10 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the conscience which reason offereth.

11 And the selfe that the hope is within, the more doth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intolerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe.

14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometimes they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoever fell downe, hee was kept and shut in prison, but without chains.

16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, he nist suffer this necessitie, that he could not avoid:

17 (For with one chaine of darkenesse were they all bound) whether it were an biting wind, or a sweete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hasty running water, 18 Or a great noise of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping bealls, that could not be seene, or the noise of cruell bealls, that roared, or the // found: that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fell a heauy night, an image of that darkenesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darkenesse.

3 The scorie pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliuance of the faithfull. 10 The Lord wote the Egyptians, 20
The fume of the people in the wilderness. 21 Aaron stood betweene the declining and the dead with his censere.

Verthy Saints had a very great * light, whose voice because // they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

3 * Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the vnkownen way, and madest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honourable journey.

4 But they were worthy to be deprived of the light, and to be kept in darknesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the vncorrupt light of the Law should be giuen to the world.

5 * Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one child that was cast out, and preferred to reprove them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, & destroyed them all together in the mighty water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuen cred't, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus thy * people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a Law of righteousness by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good and euill in like manner, and that the fathers should first sing prayes.

10 But a disagreeing cry was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the * master and the seruant were punishment with like punishment and the common people suffered alike with the King.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kind of death: neither were y hang sufficient to bury them: for in the twinkling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could be seene nothing, because of the enchantments, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, & the night was in the midst of her twilt coure,

15 Thine Almighty word leapt downe from heaven out of thy royal throne, as a fierce man of warre in the mids of the land that was destroyed, 16 And brought thine vnainted Commandement as a sharp sword, and flood vp and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreams vexed them suddenly, and fearefulness came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Now tentation of death touched the righteous also, and * among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haile, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministracion, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, and fo brought the miserie to an end, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he subdued them that punished, alledging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by haples one vpon another, he stood in the middes, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from coming to the liuing.

24 * For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the four e rows of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by oiments,

5 Both that thy people might try a marvellous poeue, and that the might find a strange death.

6 For every creature in his kinde was fashioned of new, and serued in their owne offices enioyned them, that thy children might bee kept without hurt.

7 For the cloud ouershadowed their tents, and the dry earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a great field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous marueles.

9 For they // neyed like hofes, and leaped like lambes, praizing thee, O Lord, which haddest delivered them.

10 For they were yet mindfull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought fourth flies in stead of cattell, and how the river scrawled with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

11 * But at the last they saw a new generation of birds, when they were enticed with lust, and desired delicate meats.

12 * For the quailles came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the // sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednes, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers.

13 For the one sort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all thesethings, some would not suffer, that any regard should bee had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banquetting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict the with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness as in old times certaine were at the doores of the * righteous, so that every one being compassed with darkenesse fought the entrance of his doore.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument: of musike, and the melody still remaineth, which may easily be perceived by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kind to quench.

20 Again the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beastes that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to be yce, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortal meat.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and halt not despised to assist them in every time and place.

¶ The Wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THIS Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and he liued in the latter times, after the people had beene led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather as he himselfe writteth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdom among the Hebrewes, who did not only gather the graue sentences of wise men that had bene before him, but hee himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdom. So the first Iesus died, and left this which hee had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it, and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISEDOMES, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfather: thinking by this title of Wisedome to allure the Reader to reade this booke with more great desire and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, men of men that were approved of God, and certaine Prayers and songs of the author himselfe: moreover what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues hee had beaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deed.

¶ The Prologue of the wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

WHEREAS many, and great things haue bin giuen vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine & wisedome. whereby the readers ought not only to become learned themselves, but also may be able by the diligent study thereof to be profitable vnto strangers, both by speaking & writing.) After that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, & had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, hee purposed also to write something pertaining to learning & wisedome, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselves to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the law. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to read it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though we seeme to some in some things not able to attain to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expressed: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue haue another force in themselves than when they are translated into another tongue, & not only those things, but other things also, as I lawe I selfe, and the Prophets, & other bookes haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt, vnder king Ptolemies, and continued there, I found a copy full of great learning, & I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence and trauel to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, & are desirous to learne, might apply the same to good maners, & liue according to the Law.

C H A P. I.

1 My wisdom cometh of God, 11 A prayer of the slave of God, 29 The meane to come by wisdom.

1 My wisdom cometh of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him,] and is with him for euer.

2 Who can number the fard of the sea, and the drops of the raine, and the dayes of the world? [who can measure] the height of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisdom [of God, which hath bene before all things?]

4 Wisdom hath bin created before all things, & the vnderstanding of prudence fro euerlasting.

5 [The word of God most High, is the fountaine of wisdom, and the euerlasting commandements are the entrance vnto her.]

6 * Vnto whom hath the roote of wisdom bin declared? or who hath knowen her wise counsels?

7 [Vnto whom hath the doctrine of wisdom bene discovered and shewed? and who hath vnderstood the manifest entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wise, [euen the most hie Creator of all things the Almighty the King of power] and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 Hee is the Lord, that hath created her [throw the holy Ghost:] he hath seene her, numbred her, [and measured her.]

10 He hath powred her out vpon all his works, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord, is glory and gladnesse, and reioicing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a merry heart, and giueth gladnesse, and ioy, and long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lord, it shall goe well with him at the last, and hee shall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wisdom, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great works thereof.]

15 * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and was a ale with the first in the wombe. [the goeth with the chosen women, and is known with the righteous and faithful.]

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy knowledge, 17 Holines shall preserve and stablish the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnesse.

18 Who so feareth the Lord, shall prosper, and in the day of his end he shall be blessed.]

19 Shee hath built her euermlasting foundations with men, and is giuen to be with their feare.

20 To feare God is the finlesse of wisdom, and filleth men with her fruit.

21 Shee filleth their whole house with [all] things desirable, and the garner with the thing that she bringeth forth: and both twaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisdom, and giueth peace and perfect health: hee hath seene her, and numbred her.

23 [Shee] arieth downe knowledge and vnderstanding of wisdom, and hath brought vnto honour them that possessed her.

24 The feare of the Lord is the roote of wisdom, and her branches are long life.

25 [In the treasures of wisdom is vnderstanding and holy knowledge, but wisdom is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sinne: and when she is present, she driueth away anger.

27 ¶ For wicked anger can not be iustified: for his rashnesse in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 He will hide his words [for a time, and many mens lips shall speake of his wisdom.]

30 In the treasures of wisdom are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisdom, keepe the commandements, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdom & discipline: he hath pleasure in faith, and meekenesse.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 ¶ Be not an hypocrite, that men should speake of thee, but take heede what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thy selfe, lest thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discover thy secrets, and cast thee down in the mids of the Congregation, because thou wouldest not receive the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

C H A P. I I I.

22 To our father and mother ought mee to giue double honour. 20 Of blessing and curse, of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer to loue his, to earne out the secrets of God.

[THE children of wisdom are the Church of the righteous, and their off-spring is obedience and loue.]

23 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and doe the easier, that ye may be safe.

24 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, & hath confirmed the authority of the mother ouer the children.

25 Who so honoureth his father, his finnes shall be forgiven him, [and hee shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his daily desires.]

26 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

27 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, hee shall be heard.

28 He that honoureth his father, shall haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

29 He y^e feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

30 * Honour thy father and mother in deede and in word [and in all patience] that thou mayst haue || Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]

31 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

32 Reioice not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

33 Seeing that mans glory commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.

34 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.

35 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

36 For the good intreacy of thy father shal not be forgotten, but he shall be a fortress for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence, thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be founded for thee in righteousness.]

37 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy finnes also shall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

38 He y^e forsaketh his father shal come to shame, and he that angreth his mother is cursed of God.

39 My sonne perourme thy doings with meekenesse, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approoued.

40 The * greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things,] and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord.

41 Many are excellent and of renowne: but the secrets are reueiled vnto the meeke.

42 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

43 * Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things subtilly which are to mightie for thee.

44 [But] what [God] hath commanded thee thinke vpon that with reuerence, & be not curious in many of his works: for it is not needful for thee to see with thine eyes the things y^e are secret.

45 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee about the capacitie of men.

46 The meddling with such hath beguiled many, & an euill opinion hath deceiued their iudgment.

47 Thou canst not see without eyes: profite not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

48 A stubborne heart shall fare euill at the last: and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.

49 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and hee that is froward of heart shall stumble therein.

50 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorrowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

51 The perswasion of the proud is without remedie, and his steps shall be plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken root in him, [and hee shall not be esteemed.]

52 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentive care is the desire of a wise man.

53 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will abstaine from sinne, and shall prosper in the workes of righteousness.]

54 Water quencheth burning fire, * and almes taketh away finnes.

28 Strive for the truth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life.] and the Lord God shall fight for thee against thine enemies.]

29 Be not halfe in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy workes.

30 Be not as a Lion in thine owne house, neither beate thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor oppress them that are vnder thee.]

31 ¶ Let not thine hand be stretched out to receive, and thus when thou shouldest giue.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may we not put any confidence 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be derided.

T rust not vnto thy riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

2 Follow not thine own minde, and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neither say thou, [Howe haue I had strength?] or who will bring me vnder for my workes? for God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, & what euil hath come vnto me? for the Almighty is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee unpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercy of God is great: hee will forgie my manifold finnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation cometh downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy security thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in y day of punishment [& vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with euery wind, and goe not into euery way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding [and in the way and knowledge of the Lord] and haue but one manner of word. [and follow the word of peace and righteousnesse.]

11 Be humble to heare the worde of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answer with wisdom.]

12 ¶ Bewilt to heare good things, and let thy lifec be pure, and giue a patient answer.

13 If thou halt vnderstanding, answer thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [lest thou be trapped in an vndiscreet word, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man can use him to fall.

15 Be not counted a talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame [& repentance] follow the thief, & an euil conuention is ouer him that is double tongued: [but hee that is a backbiter, shall be hated, enuied, and confounded.]

16 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 This is the prouerbe of a sinner to be cruel tongue, & Offshindship 33 Discretely taught.

B e not of a friend [thy neighbours] enemy: for such shall haue an euill name, shame and reproch, and he shall be in infamy as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Be not proud in the deuce of thine owne minde, lest thy soule rent thee as a bull,

3 And eat vp thy leaues, & destroy thy fruit, & so thou be left as a dry tree [in the wilderness.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweet talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 H. I. friend ship with many, neuertheless, haue but one counsellor of a thousand.

7 If thou gettest a friend proue him first, and be not halfe to credit him.

he will declare thy shame.

10 Again, some *friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction hee continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperity he will be as thou thy selfe, and wil vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought low, hee will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 *A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for anything, and the weight [of gold and silver] is not to be compared to the goodnesse [of his faith]

16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life [and immortality,] and they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou finde wisdom [which shall endure] till thine old age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and waite for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but little labour in her worke: but thou shalt eat of her fruits right soone.

20 How exceeding sharpe is thee to the vnlearned? hee that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one thee is as a fine touchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisdome, but there be but few that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that know her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue eare, my sonne, receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy fete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not weary of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and searh her, and she shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shall be turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters bee a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] and her chaines a glorious rayment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt be taught & if thou wilt apply thy mind, thou shalt be witty 34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the Elders, which are wise, and ioiue with him that is wise.

36 *Be sure to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou wilt see a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy loote weare the steps of his deore.

38 Let thy mind be vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be continually* occupied in his commandements: so shall he establish thine heart, and giue thee wisdom at thine owne desire.

C H A P. VII.

2 ¶ We must forsake euill, and yet not in all: for our seruice. 3 ¶ The heauen of the wise woman is his wife, his friends, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

Doe no euill: so that no harme come vnto thee. 2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, loe not vpon the turrowes of vnrighteousnesse, lest that thou reape them leuen fold.

4 Aske not of the Lord preheminece, neither of the King the seat of honour.

5 *Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: [for he knoweth thine heart,] and boast not thy wisdom in the presence of the king.

6 Seeken not to be made a iudge, least thou be not able to take away iniquitie, and lest thou, fearing the person of the mighty, shouldst commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy stile among the people.

8 *Binde not two signes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most High God, he will accept it.

10 Be not tainted hearted when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauines of his soule: for [God which teareth all things] is he *that can bring downe and see vp againe.

12 Sow not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 Vse not to make any manner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many words whē thou art among the Elders, neither *repeat a thing in thy prayer.

15 Hate not laborious worke, neither the haubaudry which the most High hath created.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy mind greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wife and good woman, [that is faileu vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord,] for her grace is aboue gold.

20 ¶ Whereas thy seruant worketh truly, intreat him not euill, nor the hireling that belongeth himselfe wholly for thee.

21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and defraud him not of libertie, [neither leaue him a pouer man.]

22 *If thou haue cattell, looke well to them, & if they be for thy profit, keepe them with thee.

23 *If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and hold their necke from their youth.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their bodies, and shew not thy face cheerefull toward them.

25 Marry thy daughter, and let her be thou performe a weighty matter, but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy mind, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to behaue euill.

16 Error and darkenesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselves in euill, waxe old in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 Some man is rich by his care and niggardship, and this is the portion of his wages,

* Luke 12. 19.

19 In that hee laith, * I haue gotten rest, and now will I eate continually of my goods, yet I see considereth not, that the time draweth neere, that hee must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, & exercise thy selfe therein, and remains in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Maruell not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death, to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his works are discovered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe known by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thy house: for the deceitfull haue many vaines, [and are like stomacks that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a Partrich is taken vnder a basket, [and the hinde is taken in the snare] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in wait, and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy praise he will finde some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased] for a sinfull man layeth wait for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man, for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and hee will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, and driue thee from thine own.

CHAP. XII.

2. Unto whom we ought to doe good, so Euenius ought not to be trusted.

When thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou bee thanked for thy benefite,

3 Hee cannot haue good that continueth in euill and giueth no almes, [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath merie vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinuer.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: hold backe thy bread, & giue it not vnto him, lest hee ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twice as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend cannot bee knownen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie be vnknownen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trueth neuer thine enemie: for like as a yon rusteth, so doeth his wickednes.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt bee to him as hee that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, lest hee destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

16 For a season will hee bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

17 * An enemie is sweet in his lips: he can make many good words, and speak many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth how to throw thee into the pit, and if he may finde epportunitie, he will not be satisfied with blood.

2 Burthen not thy selfe about thy power, whilest thou liuest, and companie not with one that is mightier & richer then thy selfe: for how agree the Kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

3 The rich dealeth varighteously, and threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must entreat: if the rich haue done wrong, hee must must yet bee intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shall straight wayes be threatened.

4 If thou bee for his profit, hee vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, hee will liue with thee: yea, hee will maketh thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6 If he haue need of thee, he will defraud thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, & giue thee all good words, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will he shame thee in his meate, vntill he haue supt thee cleane vp twice or thrise, and at the last hee will laugh thee to scorne: afterward, when he seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou bee not deceiued in thine owne conceit and brought downe by thy simplicity: [be not too humble in thy wisdom.]

10 ¶ If thou be called of a mightie man, abscuse thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.

11 Presse not thou vnto him, if thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speech, but beleue not his many wordes: for with much communication will he tempt thee, and laughingly will he grope thee.

13 He is vnmercifull and keepeth not promise: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, and take good heed: for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Lone the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 ¶ Euery beast loueth his like, and euery man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like and euery man will keepe company wth such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What fellowship hath hyena with a dog? and what peace is betwene the rich & the poore?

20 As the wild asse is the Lyons pray in the wilderness, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the poore hate humilitie, so do the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends driue him away.

23 If a rich man offend he hath many helpers: hee speaketh proude wordes, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, and though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue, and looke what he saith, they praise it to the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this: and if hee doe amisse, they will destry him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience] and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A cheerefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to knowe the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The office of the tongue, 27 Man is but a vaine thing, 28 happy is he that continueth in wisdom.

Blessed is the man * that hath not fallen by the word of his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorrow of sinne.

* Chap. 9. 16, 16
Jon. 2.

2 Blessed is he y^e is not condemned in his conscience, & is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a niggard: and what should an enuius man doe with money?

4 He that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheare with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whom will he be good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: and this is a reward of his wickednesse.

7 And if hee doe any good, he doeth it not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuius man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hath heuer enough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

* Psal. 27. 23

10 A * wicked eye enuieth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table.

11 My sonne, doe good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due offerings.

12 Remember that death tarieth not, & that the covenant of the graue is not shewed vnto thee.

13 * Doe good vnto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine abilitie stretch out thine hand and giue him.

* Chap. 4. 1. 26, 27
Iake 12. 13.

14 Defraud not thy selfe of the good day, & let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauels vnto another, & thy labours for y^e diuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue and take & sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousnesse before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

* Eccl. 10. 6. 1. 26, 27
24. 14, 15.

17 ¶ * All flesh waxeth old as a garment: & this is y^e condition of all times, Thou shalt die y^e death.

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some grow, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one commeth to an end, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe with all.

20 [Euery excellent worke shall be iustified, and he that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.]

21 * Blessed is the man that doth meditate honest things: y^e wisdom, [and exerciseth his selfe in iustice,] and he that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding.

* Psal. 112. 1

22 Which considreth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secrets.

23 Goethou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lie in waite in her wayes.

24 Hee shall looke in acher windowes, and hearken at her doores.

25 Hee shall abide beside her house, & fasten a stake in her walles: he shall pitch his tent beside her.

26 And hee shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall set his children vnder her couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her he shall bee couered from the heate, and in her glory shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodness which followeth him that feareth God, 8 God resisteth and casteth off the sinner, 11 God is not the author of euill.

[Which is a wild beast that counterfeith the voyce of men, and to enuise them out of their houses, and couereth them.]

He that feareth the Lord, will doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keepe it sure.

2 As an [honourable] mother shall she reeete him, and she as his wife married of a virgine, will receiue him.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderstanding shall she feede him, and giue him the * water of [wholefome] wisdom to drinke.

4 He shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not be moued, and shall hold himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.

5 Shee shall exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the mids of the Congregation shall she open his mouth [with the spirit of wisdom and vnderstanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 She shall cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladnesse, and an euerslasting name.

7 But foolish men will not take holde vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding, will meet her:] the sinners shall not fee her.

8 For she is farre from pride [and deceite] and men that lie cannot remember her: [but men of truth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of G. d.]

9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisdom, [and bee plenteous in a faithfull mouth:] then the Lord will prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to doe the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, Hee hath caused mee to erre: for he hath no need of the sinful man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of error:] and they that feare God, loue it not.

14 * He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsell, [and gaue him his commandments and precepts.]

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandments, and tellise thy good will.

16 Hee hath set water and fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

17 * Before man is life and death, [good and euill:] what him liketh shall be giuen him.

18 For the wisdom of the Lord is great, and hee is mightie in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

19 * And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and hee knoweth all the workes of man.

20 Hee hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath hee giuen any man licence to sinne [for hee desireth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.]

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of unhappy and wicked children: 2 No man can hide himselfe from God. 3 An exhortation to the receiving of instruction. Desire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon the multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behind him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the cite be inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shall be wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, & mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 * In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire bee kindled, and among vnfaitfull people shall the wrath be set on fire.

7 * He spared not the old gyants, which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength.

8 * Neither spared hee wheras Lord dwelt, those whom hee burred for their pride.

9 Hee had no pittie vpon the people that were destroyed, and puffed vp in their finnes:

10 * And fo hee preserved the sixe hundred thousand footemen, that were gathered in the hardnesse of their heart, in afflicting them, and pitying them, in smiting them and healing them, with mercy and with chastisement.

11 Therefore if there be one stiffnecked among the people, it is maruell if hee escape vnpunished: for mercy and wrath are with him: he is mightie to forgieue and to powere out displeasure.

12 * As his mercie is great, so is his punishment: also he iudgeth a man according to his works.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoile, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deedes, and cuery one shall find according to his works, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lord hardened Pharaos, that he should not knowe him, and that his workes should bee known vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercie is knowne to all creatures: hee hath separated his light from the darkenesse: with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my selfe from the Lord: for who will thinke vpon me from aboue? I shall not bee known in so great a heape of people: for what is my soule among such an infinite number of creatures?

18 Behold the heauen, and the * heauen of heauens, which are for God, the depth, and the earth, and all that therein is, shall bee moued when hee shall visite.

19 All the world which is created and made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 These things doeth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but he vnderstandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the storme that no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousness? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is farre off, & the trying out of all things faileth.

23 Hee that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an vnwise and errouseous man casteth his minde vpon foolish things.

24 My son, hearken vnto me, and learne knowledge, and marke my words with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee weightie doctines, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, & part of them hath hee sundred from the other when hee first made them.

27 He hath garnished his workes for euer, and their beginnings so long as they shall endure: they are not hungry, nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindreth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his words.

30 With all manner of liuing beasts hath hee covered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The creation of man, and the goodness that God hath done vnto him. 20 Of ames, 22 and repentance.

THe * Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe,

2 He gaue him the number of dayes and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

3 He clothed them with strength, as they had need, and made them according to his image.

4 He made all flesh to feare him, so that he had the dominion ouer the beasts and foules.

5 [* He created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe,] and gaue them discretion & tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and firstly he gaue them a spirit, and seuenthly he gaue them speech to declare his works,

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euill,

7 Hee set his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble works,

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they should prudently declare his works, and that the elect should praise his holy Name together.

9 Besides this, he gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the Lawe of life for an heritage, that they might know that they were mortall.

10 Hee made an euermolting Covenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes sawe the maiestie of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voyce.

12 And hee said vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things * He gaue every man also a commandement concerning his neighbour, 13 Their wayes are euermolting before him, and are not hid from his eyes,

14 Every man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their stony hearts cannot become flesh, 15 Hee appointed a ruler vpon every people, when hee diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 * And hee did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom hee nourished with discipline as his first borne, and giueh him most louing light, and doeth not forsake him.

17 All their works are as the sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hid from him, but all their finnes are before the Lord, 19 And as hee is mercifull, and knoweth his worke, he doth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

20 * The almes of a man, is as a thing sealed vpon before him, and he keepeth the good deeds of man as the apple of the eye, and giueh repentance to their finnes, and daughters.

21 * At the last shall he arise, and reward them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads.

22 * But vnto them that will repent, he giueh them grace to returne, and exhorteth such as faile, with patience, [and sendeth them the portion of the veritic.]

23 * Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy finnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence, 24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for hee will bring thee from darkenesse to wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Know the rightousnesse and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most high God, and goe in the parts of the holy world with such as be liuing and confesse God.]

26 * Who can praise the most High in the hell, as doe all they that liue and confesse him?

27 [Abide not thou in the error of the vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.]

28 Thankewlesse remembreth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing, and he that is found of heart, praiseth the Lord, [and reioyceth in his mercy.]

29 How great is the louing kindnesse of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For all things cannot be in men, because the sonne of man is not immortal, [and they take pleasure in the vanity of wickednesse.]

31 What is more cleare then the sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euill, [shall be reprooued.]

33 Hee seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marvellous workes of God. 6. 7 The misery and wretchednesse of man. 9 Against God's anger we are to complaine. 21 The performing of power.

HE that liueth for euermolting, * made all things together: the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and he remaineth a victorious King for euermolting.]

2 Hee ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he governeth all things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath hee giuen power to expresse his works? who will seeke out the ground of his noble acties?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatness? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercy?

5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lord, there may nothing bee taken from them, neither can any thing be put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, he must begin againe, and when he thinketh to come to an end, he must goe againe to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man? wherefore createth hee? what good or euill can hee doe?

8 * If the number of a mans daye be an hundred yeere, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death, 9 As drops of raine are vnto the sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the land, so are * a thousand yeeres to the dayes euermolting.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and pouereth out his mercy vpon them.

11 He saw and perceiued, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their reire was euill: therefore hee p heaped hee vpon his mercy vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousness.]

13 Hee hath mercy on them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, reprove not: and whateuer thou giest, vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shall not the dewe alswage the heate? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Lot, is not a word better then a good gift? but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A soule will reprove churlishly, and a gift of the enuius putteth out the eyes.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doeth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Every wise man knoweth wisdomes, and knowledge, and praiseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in words: [they vnderstand the true and righteousnesse,] and pouere out with modestie graue sentences for mans life.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnes, & entangle not thy selfe with such company.

33 Become not a begger by making bankers of that that thou hast borrowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse, els thou shouldest slanderously lie in wait for thine owne life.

1 Wine and whoredoms bring men to pouertie. 6 In thy wordes vse discrecion. 22 The difference of the wisdomes of God and man. 27 What thou mayest knowe but in man.

A Labouring man that is giuen to drunkennes, shall not be rich: and hee that contemneth small things, shall fall by little and little.

* Gen. 19. 33, 34. and 11. 1, 2, 4.

2 * Wine and women leade wise men out of the way, [and put men of vnderstanding to reprove.]

3 And hee that companieth adulterers, shall become impudent: rottennesse and wormes shall haue him to heritage, and he that is too bold, shall be taken away, and be made a publike example.

* Job. 32. 11, 12.

4 * Hee that is hasty to giue credite, is light minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednes, shall be punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life shall be shortened, and he that abhorreth babbling of words, quencheth wickednesse:] but he that resisteth pleasures, crowneeth his owne soule.

6 He that refrainerh his tongue, may liue with a troublefome man, and he that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Rehearse not to another, that which is told vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindered.

8 Decline not other mens maners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not vnto thee, reueale it not.

9 For hee will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, hee will hate thee.

* Chap. 22. 29, and 17. 17.

10 * If thou hast heard a word [against thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and bee sure, it will not burst thee.

11 A foole trauelleteth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

12 As an arrow that ticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

* Lem. 19. 17, and 16. 15.

13 * Reproue a friend lest hee doe euill, and if hee haue done it, that hee doe it no more.

14 Reproue a friend that hee may keepe his tongue: and if hee haue spoken, that hee say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a slander is raised, and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: * and who is hee that hath not offended in his tongue?

* Lam. 3. 3.

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threatenest him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisdomes obtaineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruit of immortality.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wisdomes, and performing of the Law is perfect wisdomes, and the knowledge of his almighty power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not doe as it pleaseth thee, though afterward hee doe it, hee shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednesse is not wisdomes, neither is there prudence whereas the counsell of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is voyd of wisdomes.

23 He that hath small vnderstanding, & feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisdomes, and transgresseth the Law of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Law: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that being about wicked purposes, doe bow downe themselves, and are sad, whose inward parts burne altogether with deceit: hee looketh downe with his face, and faimeth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, hee will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

16 And though he be so weake that he can do thee no harme, yet when he may find opportunity, he will doe euill.

27 ¶ A man may be knowne by his looke, and one that hath vnderstanding may be perceived by the marking of his countenance.

28 ¶ A mans garments, and his excessive laughter, and going, declare what person he is.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in sinne. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Oshyng. 24 The thiefe and the murderer. 28 Gifs blind his eyes of the wife.

T Here is some rebuke that is not comely: a-gaine, some man holdeth his tongue, and hee is wise.

2 It is much better to reprocue then to beare euill will: and hee that acknowledgeth his fault, shall be preferred from hurt.

3 As* when a gelded man through lust would defile a maid, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reprocued, to shew repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilfull sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becometh hateful.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because hee hath not to answer: and some keepeth silence, waiting a convenient* time.

7 ¶ A wife man will hold his tongue till he see opportunity: but a trifier and a fool will regard no time.

8 He that vseth many words, shall be abhorred, and hee that taketh authoritie to himselfe, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and sometime a thing that is iound, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, & there is some gift, whose reward is double.

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humbles lieth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a little price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.

13 ¶ A wife man with his words maketh himselfe to be loved, but the merry tales of fooles shall be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for he looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth little, and he vpbraideth much: he openeth his mouth like a towne-crier: to day hee lendeth: to morrow asketh he againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole saith, I haue no friend, I haue no thanke for all my good deeds: and they that eate my bread, speake euill of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shall he be laughed to scorn? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pavement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale, which is oft told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wife sentence loseth grace when it cometh out of a fooles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieved when he is alone, 21 Some man there is that destroyeth his own soule because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons loseth it.

22 Some man promisseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemy of him for naught.

23 ¶ A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A theefe is better then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of lyars are vn honest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wife man shall bring himselfe to honour with his wordes, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 ¶ Hee that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape [hee that worketh righteouesnesse, shall be exalted,] and he that pleaseeth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

28 ¶ Reward and giftes blind the eyes of the wife, and make them dumme, that they cannot reprocue faults.

29 Wisdome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profit is in them both?

30 Better is hee that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisdom.

31 The necessary patience of him, that followeth the Lord, is better then hee that goeth without his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reproved. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

M Ylonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, but pray for the fore sinnes [that they may be forgiven thee.]

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou comest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lion, to slay the foules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and injuries wast riches: so the house of the proude shall be desolate.

5 ¶ The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, cometh vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lord, conuerteth in heart.

7 Aneloquent talker is knowen a farre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 ¶ The congregation of the wicked is like towne wrapped together: their end is a flame of fire to destroy them.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hell, [darkenesse and paines.]

11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord [trusteth his owne afflictions thereby: and the increase of wisdom is the end of the feare of God, 12 Hee that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that encreaseth bitternesse.

13 The knowledge of the wife shall abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise word, hee will commend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he wil disallow it, and cast it behind his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelinesse in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, and they shall ponder his words in their heart.

18 As in an houle that is destroyed, so is wisdom vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

19 Doct ine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feet, and like manacles vpon the right hand.

20 * A foole clifeth vp his voyce with laughter, but a wise man doeth scarce smile secretly.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewel of gold, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foote is soone in his [neighbours] shoule: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but he that is well nurtured, wil stand without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for hee that is wise, will be grieved with such dishonour.

25 The lippes of talkers will bee telling such things as pertaine not vnto them, but the wordes of such a haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When the vngodly curseth Satan, he curseth his owne soule.

CHAP. XXII.

x Of the puggard. 12 Not to speake much to a foole, 16 A good conscience is precious.

A Slouthfull man is like a filthy stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to bee compared to the dung of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 A euill nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: & the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wife daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but the that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 She that is bold, dishonoureth both her father and her husband [and is not interior to the vngodly] but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musick in mourning: but wisdom knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole is as one that gleweth a peir heard together, and as he that waketh one that slepeth, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children lue honestly, & haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proud, with laureines and foolishnes they desile y nobilitie of their kindred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of Wisdom, is as a man, which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

11 * Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so wepte for the foole, for hee wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.

12 Seuen dayes dee men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation of the foole, and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no vnderstanding: * beware of him, lest it turne thee to paine, and least thou bee desired when hee shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue sorrow by his foolishnesse.

14 What is heauy erthen lead? and what other name should a foole haue?

15 * Sand and salt, and a lumpe of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly] man.

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot be loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discrete wisdom, is as a faire plaistiring on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on high, cannot abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 Hee that hurtheth the eye, bringeth forth tears, and he that hurtheth the heart bringeth forth the affliction.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and hee that vpbraideth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sword at thy friend, yet despair not: for there may bee a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation: so that vpbraiding, or pride, or disclosing of secrets or a traiterous wound doe not let: for by these things euery friend will depart.

23 Befauthfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alway to bee contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill wordes [rebukes and threatnings,] goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not bee ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though hee should doe me harme: whoeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

26 Who shall see* a watch before my mouth, & a seale of wisdom vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

about to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersary, and mine enemies reioyce ouer me, whose hope is farre from thy mercie.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, [leau me not in their imagination] neither giue me a proud looke. Turne away from thy seruants a stout minde.

5 Take from me vaine hope, & concupiscence, and rectine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh hold me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 ¶ Hear, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake truth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish though his lips, [nor be hurt by wicked works.]

8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lips: for the euill speaker and the proud doe offend by them.

9 * Accusome not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many talles.] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the holy one: [for thou shalt not be vnpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot be without some leaue, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednes, and the plague shall neuer go from his house: when he shall offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a worde which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Vse not thy mouth to ignorant rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 ¶ Remember thy father & thy mother, whe thou art sit among great men, lest thou bee forgotten in their light, and so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou haddest not been borne, and curse the day of thy nativity.

15 * The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer bee reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction]: a mind hot as fire, that cannot be quenched till it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 (All bread is sweet to a whore-monger: he will not leaue off hee perishe.)

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh this in his heart, * Who seeth me? I am compassed about with darkness: the walls couer me: no body seeth mee: whome neede I to feare? the most High will not remember my finnes.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are a thousand times brighter then the Sun, beholding all the wayes of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secret parts.

20 He knew all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.

21 * The same man shall be punished in the streets of the citie, [and shall be chased like a yong hoosefoale,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of every man, because he would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shall it go also with every wife, that leaueh her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 * For first shee hath disobeyed the Law of the most High, and secondly she hath trespassed against her owne husband: and thirdly, she hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.

24 Shee shall be brought out into the congregation, and examination shall be made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull report shall she leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, & that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed vnto the commandement of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

C H A P. XXIIII.

1 A prayer of wisdome, proceeding forth of the mouth of God, of her works, and place where she resteth. 20 Shee is giuen to the children of God.

Wisdome shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the midst of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, & triumph before his power.

3 [In the midst of her people shall she be exalted, and wondred at in the holy assembly.]

4 In the multitude of the chosen she shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, shee shall be prayed, and shall say,

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.]

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen, [and couered the earth as a cloud.]

7 My dwelling is about in the height, & my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compass of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nation, [and with my power haue I troden down the hea: ts of all, both high and lowe,]

10 In all these things I fought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and root thy selfe among my chosen.

12 * He created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: * In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I established in Sion.

13 * In the welbeloued citie gaue he me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honorable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vpon hiell like a cedar in Libanus, & as a cypresse vpon the mountains of Harmon.

16 I am exalted like an Imetree [about the banks, and as a rose plant in Iericho, as a fayre olive.

olive tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as a cinnamon, and as a bag of spices. I gave a sweet odour as the best myrrhe, as galbanum, and onix, and sweet storax, and perfume of incense in an houfe.

18 As the terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 * As the vine haue I brought forth [fruit] of sweet labour, and my flowers are the fruit of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth in me is all hope of life and vertue.]

22 Come vnto me all ye that be desirous of me, and fill your felues with my fruits.

23 * For the remembrance of me is sweeter then hony, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the honycombe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.]

24 They that eate me, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: [they that make me to be known, shall haue euerslasting life.]

26 All these things are the booke [of life,] and the couenant of the most high God, [and the knowledge of the trueth,] * and the Law that Moses [in the precepts of righteoulnesse] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.]

27 Be not weary to behaue your felues valiantly with the Lord, that he may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord Almighty is but one God, and besides him there is none other Saviour.

28 [Out of Dauid his seruant he ordained to raise vp a most mighty King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 He filleth all things with his wisdom, as * Phylon, and as Tygris, in the time of the new fruits.

30 Hee maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates, and as * Iorden, in the time of the harvest.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not known her perfectly: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdom [haue cast out floods:] I am as an a me of the river: I run into Paradise as a water conduit.

35 I said, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will pearce thorow all the lower parts of the earth: I will looke vpon a such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet poure out doctrine, as prophesie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

39 * Behold that I haue not laboured for my felicitie onely, but for all them that seeke wisdom.

CHAP. XXV.

1 of three things which please God, and of three which be a curse. 2 of nine things that be no to be iudged. 14 of the malice of a woman.

Three things reioyce me, and by them am I beautified before God and men: the vnty of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together.

2 ¶ Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I vterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud, a rich man that is a liar, and an old adulterer that doth.

3 ¶ If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou find in thine age?

4 ¶ Oh, how pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely a thing is wisdom vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudence to men of honour!

6 The crown of old men is to haue much experience, and the teare of God is their glory.

7 ¶ There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 ¶ Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him.

9 Well is him that findeth prudence, & he that speaketh in the eares of them that will heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is he that findeth wisdom: yet is there none about him that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in cleareness.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God,] vnto whom shall he belikened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioy ned vnto him.

14 [¶ The greatest heaviness is the heaviness of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue me any plague saue only the plague of the hart, & any malice saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance saue the vengeance of the enemy.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath about the wrath of an enemy.

18 * I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednes of a woman changeth her face, & maketh her countenance black as [a sick-]

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbors: because of her he fighteth sore or he beware.

21 All wickednes is but little to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing vp of a fyny way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of words: o a quiet man.

23 * Stumble not at the beauty of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praiſe of a good woman. 5 Of the ſeare of three ſtings, and of the ſcurf. 6 Of the ſclous and drunken woman. 29 Of two ſtings it is cauſe ſorrow, and of the third which mooueth wrath.

Bleſſed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres ſhalbe double.

2 An honeſt woman reioyceth her husband, and ſhe ſhall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which ſhall be giuen for agife vnto ſuch as feare ſ Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, hee hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they ſhall at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afrayd of the fourth: treaſon in a citie: the aſſembly of the people, and falſe accuſation: all theſe are heavier then death.

6 ¶ But the ſorrow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is ielous ouer another: and ſhe that communeth with all, is a ſcourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers waies: he that hath her, is as though he held a ſcorpion.

8 A drunken woman and ſuch as cannot bee tamed, is a great plague: for ſhe cannot couer her owne ſhame.

9 The whoredom of a woman may be knowne in the pride of her eyes, and eye-lids.

10 ¶ * If thy daughter bee not ſhamefaſt, hold her ſtraightly, leſt ſhee abuſe her ſiſte through euermuch libertie.

11 Take heed of her that hath an vnſhamefaſt eye: and marueile not if ſhe treſpaſſe againſt thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirſtie, ſo ſhall he open her mouth, and drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge ſhall ſhe ſit downe, and open her quier againſt euery arrow.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and ſeetheth his bones with her vnderſtanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing ſo much worth as a woman well inſtructed.

15 A ſhamefaſt & faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the Sunne when it ariſeth in the high places of the Lord, ſo is the beauiſtie of a good wife the ornament of her houſe.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candleſticke, ſo is the beauiſtie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the ſockets of ſiluer: ſo are faire feet with a conſtant minde.

19 [Perpetual are the foundations that be laid vpon a ſtrong rocke: ſo are the commandments of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My ſonne, keepe the ſtrength of thine age ſtable, and giue not thy ſtrength to ſtrangers.

21 When thou haſt gotten a fruitfull poſſeſſion through all the fields, loſe it with thine owne ſeed, truſting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy ſtocke that ſhal liue after thee, ſhall grow, truſting in the great libertie of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a ſowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towre againſt death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A ſhameleſſe woman contemneth ſhame: but a ſhamefaſt woman wili reuerence her husband.

26 A ſhameleſſe woman is compared to a doge: but ſhe that is ſhan eſt reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, ſhal be iudged wife of all: but ſhe that deſpiſeth him, ſhal be blaſted for her pride.

28 A loud crying woman and a babler let her be ſought out to driue away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with ſuch, ſhall be conuerſant among the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the thide maketh me angry: a man of warre that ſuffereth pouerty: and men of vnderſtanding that are not ſet by: and when one departeth from righteouſneſſe vnto ſinne: the Lord appointeth ſuch to the ſword.

30 [There be two things which me thinke to be hard and perillous] A marchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without ſinne.

18 For as a man doth stroyeth his enemy, so doeth thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a bird goe out of his hand, so if thou giuest ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for he is too far off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his foules wounded.]

21 As for wounds, they may bee bound vp againe, and an euill word may bee reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

* Prov. 12. 10.

22 * He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and he that knoweth him, wil let him alone.

23 When thou art present, he wil speake sweetly, and praise thy words: but at the last hee will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who fo casteth a stone on high, casteth it vpon his owne head: and hee that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

* Psal. 115. pro 25.
27. ecclesi. 10. 8.

26 Who fo * diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, [and hee that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon,] and hee that layeth a snare for another, shall be taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euill, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockery and reproch follow the proud, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shall be taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despire and anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

C H A P. XXVIII.

1 Wrought not to desire vengeance, but to forgive the offence.
13 Of the uses of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

* Deut. 32. 35.
rom. 12. 19

HE * that seeketh vengeance shall finde vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his finnes.

] Man ought not to seeke vengeance.

2 ¶ Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so shall hy finnes be forgiven thee also, when thou prayest.

3 Should a man haue hatred against man, and * desire forgiveness of the Lord?

* Maith. 6. 14.

4 He will shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: and will he aske forgiveness of his owne finnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred [& aske pardon of God,] who wil intreat for his finnes?

6 Remember the end, & let enimity passe: imagine not death & destruction to another through anger, but perseuer in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandements: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neighbor [consider diligently] the counsaile of the most High, and forgiue his ignorance.

8 * Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy finnes fewer: for an angry man kindleth strife.

* Chap. 3. 1.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at ease.

10 * As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, & the more vehement the anger is, the more is he inflamed.

* Prov. 26. 32.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheddeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witness, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 ¶ * Abhorre slanderer & double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace.

] The tongue.
* Chap. 31. 28.

14 The double tongue hath disquieted many, and driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and beene the decay of mightie nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many virtuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer find rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There bee many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Wel is him that is kept from an euil tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawn in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yton, and the bands of it are bands of braffe.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be burne with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein: and it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 I-edge thy possession with thornes, and make dootes and bares for thy mouth.

25 Binde vpon thy filer and gold, and weigh thy words in a balance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a snare] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in wait, [and thy fall be incurable euen vnto death.]

C H A P. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money and doe aduise. 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friend. 24 The power of the life.

HE that will shew mercy, ¶ lendeth to his neighbour: & he that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandements.

] Of well doing.

2 * Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour again in due season.

* Deut. 15. 7, 8.
mat. 5. 42.
luke 6. 35:

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alway finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and grieved them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a carelesse answer, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, and reckoneth the other as a thing found: else he deceiueh him of his money, and maketh him an enemy without cause: he payeth him with cursing and rebuke, and giueth him euill words for his good deede.

7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to bee defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himselfe, and desire not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandements sake, and turne him not away, because of his poverty.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 * Bestow thy treasure after the commandement of the most high, and it shall bring thee more profit then gold.

12 || Lay vp thine * almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.

13 [A mans almes is as a purse with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward shall it arise, and paye every man his reward vpon his head.]

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mighty.

15 An honest man is || surety for his neighbor: but he that is impudent forsaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy surety: for he hath laid his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deede of his surety.

18 The wicked will not become surety, and he that is of an vnthankfull minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promisseth for his neighbour: and when he hath lust his honesty, he wil forsake him.]

20 Suretiship hath destroyed many a rich man, and remoued them as the waues of the sea, mighty men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Lord, shall fall into suretiship: and he that medleth much with other mens businesse, is entangled in controuersies.

22 ¶ Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thyselfe fall not.

23 * The chiefe thing of life is * azer, & bread, and clothing and lodging to couer thy shame.

24 || The poore mans life in his own lodge is better then of delicate fare in another mans.

25 Be it little or much, hold thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou darrest not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and feede vnthankfull men, and after shalt haue bitter wordes for the same, saying, 28 Come thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast ready.

29 Giue place thou stranger, to an honorable man: my brother commeth to be lodged, and I haue neede of my house.

30 These things are heauie to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpraising of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commodity of brath. 17 Death is better then a sorrowfull life. 22 Of the ioy and sorrow of the beere.

H Ee that loveth his sonne, * cauleth him oft to feelee the rod, that he may haue ioy of him in the end.

2 He that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 He that teacheth his sonne grieueth his enemy: & before his friends he shall reioyce of him.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for all he hath left one beund him that is like him.

5 In his life he saw him, and had ioy in him, and was not lory in his death, [neither was hee ashamed before his enemies.]

6 He lefte behind him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew labour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is grieved at euerie crye.

8 An vntamed horse will be stubborne, and a wanton childe will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, hee shall make thee afraid: and if thou play with him he shall bring thee to heauinesse.

10 Laugh not with him, lest thou be fory with him, and lest thou gnash thy teeth in the end.

11 * Giue him no liberty in his youth, and winke not at his folly.

12 Bow down his necke while he is yong, and beate him on the sides while he is a childe, lest he waxe stubborne, & be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring forow to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy child, and be diligente therein, lest his thine grieue thee.

14 ¶ || Better is þ poore being whole & strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body.

15 Health and strength is aboue all gold, and a whole body aboue infinite treasures.

16 There is no riches aboue a sound body, and no ioy aboue the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [and long rest, & then continual sicknesse.]

18 The good things that are powred on a mouth that vp, are as messes of meat set vpon a graue.

19 What good doeth the offering vnto an idole? for he can neither eate nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lord, [and beareth the reward of iniquity.]

20 He seeth with his eyes, and groneth like a gelded man that lieth with a virgin and sigheth.

21 * Giue not ouer thy minde vnto heauinesse, and vex not thy selfe in thine owne counsell.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnesse is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 Ioue thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: driue so farre from thee: for sorrow bath slaine many, and there is no profit therein.

24 Enue and wrath shorten the life, and carelesse bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meate and diet,

1 Of contentment, 2 Of them that inke paine to gather riches.
 8 The praise of a rich man without a fault. 12 We ought so to be drunken with sleep, as follow [after] us.

1 Couetousnesse.
 1. Tim. 6. 9, 10.

WAking after riches pineth away the body, & the care thereof driueth away sleepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sicknesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueeth off he is still poore.

5 He that loueth gold shall not be iustified, and he that followeth corruption, shall haue enough thereof.

* Chap 8. 3.

6 Many are destroyed by the reason of gold, and haue found their destruction before them.

7 It is as a stumbling blocke vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, & every loole is taken therewith.

* Luke 12. 4.

8 Blessed is the rich which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after gold, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]

9 Who is he, and we will commend him? for wonderful things hath he done among his people.

10 Who hath been tried thereby, and found perfect? let him be an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods be established, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

Temperancie.

12 If thou sit at a costly table, [open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Behold much meate.]

13 Remember that an euill eye is a fawre, and what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hand wherefoeuer it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and makee euery thing.

16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not, lest thou be hated.

17 Leauethou off first for natures sake, and be not insatiable, lest thou offend.

18 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

* Chap 37. 19.

19 How little is sufficient for a man well taught? & thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feel he any paine.]

20 A wholesome sleepe commeth of a temperate belly: he riseth vp in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching and cholericke diseases, and pangs of the belly are with an vniaciable man.

21 If thou halt been forced to eate, arise, goe forth, vomit, and then take thy rest [so thou shalt bring no sicknesse vnto thy body.]

22 My sonne, heare mee, and despise mee not, and at the last thou shalt find as I haue told thee: in all thy works be quick, so shall there no sicknesse come vnto thee.

* Prov 22. 9.

Liberalitie.

23 Who so is [liberal] in his meate, men shall blesse him: and the testimonie of his honesty shall be beleued.

24 But against him that is a niggard of his meate, the whole citie shall murmur: the testimonies of his niggardnesse shall be sure.

25 Shew not thy valiantnesse in wine: for wine hath destroyed many.

* Iudith 13. 2, 8.

26 The fornice proueth the edge in the tempering: so doeth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkennesse.

27 Wine soberly drunken is profitable for the life of man: what is his liethat is ouercome with wine?

* Pal. 104. 19
 Prov 31. 4, 5, 6, 7.

28 Wine was made [from the beginning:] to make men glad, [and not for drunkennesse.] Wine measurably drunken and in time, bringeth gladnesse and cheerefulnesse of the mind.

29 But wine drunken with excess, maketh bitterness of minde with brawlings and foldings.

30 Drunkennesse encreaseth the courage of a foole, till he offend: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

31 Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despitefull words, and presse not vpon him with contrary words.

* Chap. 10. 1.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modestie. 5 Let the euill speake. 14 To giue thanks after the pass. 15 Of the feast, faith, and confidence in God.

IF thou be made the master of the feast, [lift not thy selfe vp, but be among them, as one of the rest:] take diligent care for them, and so sit down.

Humblenesse.

2 And when thou hast done all thy duty, sit downe, that thou mayest be merry with them, and receive a crowne for thy good behauiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with sound iudgement, and hinder not musike.

4 Powere not out words where there is no audience, and be not forth wiseome out of time.

* Eccles. 3. 7
 Chap 20. 7.

5 The consent of musicians at a banquet, is as a signet of caruncle set in gold.

6 And as the signet of an Emeraude well trimmed with gold, so is the melodie of musike in a pleasant banquet.

7 [Giue care and be still, and for thy good behauiour thou shalt be beloved.]

8 Thou that art yong, speake if neede be, and yet fearefully when thou art asked.

9 Comprehend much in few words: [in many things be as one that is ignorant:] be as one that vnderstandeth, and yet hold thy tongue.

10 If thou be among great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much.

* Job 32. 4.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a shamefull man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp beimes, and be not the last: but get thee home without delay.

13 And theretake thy pastime, and doe what thou wilt, for that thou do none euill, or vse proud words.

14 But about all things giue thanks vnto him that made thee: & replenished thee with his goods.

15 Who so feareth the Lord, will receive his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall find fauour.

16 He that seeketh the Law, shall be filled therewith: but the hypocrite will be offended thereat.

17 They feare the Lord that find that which is righteous, and that kinde iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsell: but a lewd and proud man is not touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.

20 [My sonne] doe nothing without aduise-ment: so shall it not repent thee after the deede.

21 Go not in the way wherethou maiest fall, nor where where thou mayest stumble among the stones; neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heed of them that be thine owne household.]

23 In euery good worke be of a faithful heart: for this is the keeping of the commandements.

24 Who so beleuech in || the Lord, keepeth the Commandements: and hee that trusteth in the Lord, shall take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliverance of him that feareth God. 2 The sentence of the wife. 3 Man in the hand of God, as the clay in the hand of the potter. 23 Of such servants.

Here shall no euill come vnto him that || feareth the Lord: but when he is in temptation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Law: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a ship in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Law is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answer, and so shalt thou be heard: bee sure of the matter, and so answer.

5 The heart of the * foolish is like a cart-wheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axle tree.

6 As a wilde houle neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornefull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the dayes of the yeeere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lord hath parted them asunder, and hee hath by them disposed the times and solemne feasts.

9 Some of them hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath he put among the dayes to number.

10 And all men are of the * ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

11 Some of them hath he blessed & exalted, and some of them hath he sanctified, and appropriate to himselfe: but some of them hath he cursed, and brought them low, & put them out of their estate.

12 * As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creator, so that he may reward them as liketh him best.

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: for the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all thy works of the most hie thou mayest see that there are euery two, one against another. 15 * I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my wine-press, like a grape gatherer.

16 Behold, how I haue not laboured onely for myselfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge.

17 Heare mee, O yee great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, yee rulers of the Congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne & wife, thy brother and friend power ouer thee, while thou liuest; and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou increate for the same againe.

19 * As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldst looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes bee excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt end thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip, and the burden be long vnto the asse: and meate, correction, & worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou let thy seruant to labour, thou shalt find rest: but if thou let him bee idle, hee shall seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whippe bowe downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whips and correction.

26 Send him to labour that he goe not idle: for idleness bringeth much euill.

27 Set him to work, for y belongs to him: if he be not obedient, || put on more heauie fetters.

28 But be not excessive to ward any, and without discretion doe nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithfull seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne sonne: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, increate him as thy brother: for thou hast need of him, as of thy selfe. If thou entreate him euill, and he run away, wilt thou seeke him?

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Of dreams. 2 The praise of them that feare God. 3 The offering to the wicked. 22 The bread of the weaver. 27 God doeth not allow the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

He hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, || and dreames make fooles, to haue wings.

2 Who fo regardeth dreames, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the winde.

3 Euen so is it with the appearing of dreams, as the likeness of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be cleansed by the violence? or what trueth can be spoken of a lyar?

5 Soothsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, & a minde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that traualleth.

6 Where as such visions come not of the most High to try thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The Law shall be fulfilled without lies, and wisdom is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed vnderstandeth much, & he that hath good experience, can take of wisdom.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 Whel I wandred to & fro, I saw many things, & mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oftentimes in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare || the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can he'p them.

14 Who so || feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth hee his trust? who is his strength?

16 * For the eyes of the Lord haue respect vnto them that loue him: he is their * mighty protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heate, and a shadow for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, and an helpe from falling.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lighteneth the eyes: he giueth health, life and blessing.

5 For all thesethings are done because of the commandement.

6 * The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweet before the most High.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer bee forgotten.

8 Giue the Lord his honour with a good and liberal eye, and diminish not the first frutes of thine hands.

9 * In all thy gifts shew a ioyfull countenance, and dedicate thy tithes with gladnesse.

10 Giue vnto the most High according as hee hath enriched thee, * and looke what thine hand is able giue with a cheerefull eye.

11 For the Lord recompenseth, and will giue thee seven times as much.

12 * Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he will not receive it, and abstaine from wrongful sacrifices: for the Lord is the iudge, and regardeth no * mans person.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 He despiseth not the desire of the fatherlesse nor the widow, when the powerth out her prayer

15 Doth not the teares run down the widows cheeks? & her cry is against him y causeth them: [for from her cheeks do they go vp vnto heauen, & the Lord which heareth them, doth accept them]

16 Hee that serueth the Lord, shall be accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the clouds.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth throw the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come nere, and will not depart till the most High haue respited thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not beslacke, nor the Almighty will tary long from the, till he hath smitten in lunder the loynes of the vnmerefull, and daunted himselfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruell, and broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, till he giue euery man after his workes, and reward them after their deuiles, till hee haue iudged the cause of his people and comforted them with his mercy.

19 Oh how faire a thing is mercy in the time of anguish and trouble! It is like a cloud of raine that commeth in the time of a drought,

C H A P. XXXVI.

1 A prayer to God in the person of all faithfull men, against those that pervert his Church. 22 The prayer of a good woman.

H Aue mercy vpon vs, O Lorde God of all things, and behold vs, and [shew vs the light of thy mercies,]

2 And send thy feare || among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may know that there is no God but thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes,]

3 Lift vp thine * hand vpon the strange nations that they may see thy power.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs,

5 That they may know thee, as we know thee: for there is none other God, but only thou, O lord

6 Renew the signes and change the wonders: shew the glory of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shew forth thy wonderous actes.

7 Raise vp thine indignation, & powre out wrath: take away the aduersary, and smite the enemy.

8 Make the time short: remember thine other, that thy wonderous workes may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of thy fire consume them that escape, & let them perish that oppress the people

10 Save in sunder the heads of the princes that be our enemies, & say, There is none other but we.

11 || Gather all the tribes of Iacob together, [that they may know that there is none other God but only thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes] and inherie thou them as from the beginning.

12 O Lord, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel, * whome thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

13 Oh be mercifull vnto Ierusalem the city of the Sanctuary, the city of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witness vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, & raise vp the prophecies that haue bene shewed in thy Name.

16 Reward them that wait for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants according to §. blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousness,] that all they which dwell vpon the earth may know that thou art the Lord the eternal God.

22 The beautie of a woman cheereeth the face, and a man louth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentleness, meeknesse, and wholsometalke, then is not her husband like other men.

24 He that hath || gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begun to get a possession: she is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoiled: and hee that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a thiefe that is alway ready and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and ledgeth, where so euer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellors. 12 To keepe his company thus fauour God.

¶ Of friendship. Euery friend saith, || I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

2 Remaineth there not heauynesse vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemy?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceit?

4 * There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemy.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy mind, & thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke || no counsell at him of whom thou art suspected, and discloose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

8 * Euery counsellor praiseth his own counsell, but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

9 Beware of the counsellor, & be aduised afore || whereto thou wilt vnto him: for hee will counsell for himselfe: lest he cast the lot vpon thee.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand againe thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 [A]ke no counsell for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of it sliche, of him that hath no iustice, || nor of a woman touching her of whom she is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a merchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the tale, nor of an enuious man touching thankfulness, nor of the vnmmercifull touching kindeesse, [nor of an] vn honest man of honestie, || nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of a hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But be continuall with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the Commandements of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is forry for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine own heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to shew more then seuen watchmen that sit aboute in an high towre.

15 And aboute all this pray to the most High that he will direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernement ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is witty, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in words, and is hated, yea he is destitute of all || food.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord, for he is destitute of all wisdom.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruits of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wife man instructeth his people, and the fruits of his wisdom faile not.

23 A wife man shall be plentifully blessed, and all they that see him, shall like him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wife man shall obtaine credit among his people, and his name shall be perpetual.

26 My sonne, prouethe soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

28 Be not || gredie in all delights, and be not too hasty vpon all meates.

29 * For excess of meates bringeth sicknesse, and gluttony commeth into cholericke diseases.

30 By surfeit many haue perished: but hee that || dieteth himselfe, prolongeth life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physician is commendable. 16 To laud the deed. 24 The wisdom of him that is learned.

Honour the || Physician with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most High commeth healing, and he shall receive gifts of the king.

3 The knowledge of the Physician listeth vp his head, and in the sight of great men he shall be in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and he that is wise will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the water made sweet with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof?

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, that he might be glorified in his wondrous works.

7 With such doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the Apothecary make a confession, and yet he cannot finish his owne works: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, feile not in thy sickness, but * pray vnto the Lord, and he will make thee whole.

10 Leasse off from sinne, and order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednesse.

11 Offer sweet incense, and fine flour for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the || first giuer.

12 Then giue place to the Physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not go from thee, for thou hast need of him.

16 My ioune, * powre thou teares ouer the dead, || and begin to mourne, as if thou hadst suffered great harme thy selfe, and then couer thy bodie according to || his appointment, and neglect not his buriall.

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, & be earnest in mourning, & vie lamentation, as he is worthy, and that a day or two, lest thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

18 * For of heauinesse cometh death, and the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength.

19 Of the affliction of the heart cometh sorrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauinesse to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember the iudgement: thine also shalt be likewise, vnto me yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

23 * Seeing his dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisdom of a learned man cometh by vñg well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisdom.

25 How can he get wisdom that holdeth the plough, and he that hath pleasure in the good, and in driving oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breed of bullocks?

26 He giueth his mind to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter and workmaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselves to counterfeite imagerie, & watch to performe the worke.

28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anvil, and doth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire drieth his flesh, and hee must fight with the heate of the fornice: the noyle of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that he maketh: he setteth his mind to make vp his works: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth his wheele about with his feet: he is careful away at his worke, & maketh his work by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feet hee tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to cleanse the ouen.

31 All these hope in their hands, and euery one beltoweth his wisdom in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities bee maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsel of the people, neither are they high in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not meet for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation,

1 A wise man. 16 The workers of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profit, but vnto the euill men good things are euill.

He onely that applieth his minde to the Law of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the || wisdom of all the ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophecies.

2 He keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entrencheth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the mystery of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 Hee shall scire among great men, and appeare before the prince: he shall trauaile thorow strange countreys: for he hath tried the good and the euill among men.

5 Hee will giue his heart to reforet early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his finnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may powre out wise sentences, and giue thanks vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 || He shall direct his counsel and knowledge: ||

8 Hee shall shew forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law and cōuenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memory shall neuer bee put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 * The congregation shall declare his wisdom, and shew it.

11 Though hee bee dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, hee shall get the fame.

12 Yet will I speake of mee things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hee ken vnto mee, ye holy children, and bring forth fruit, as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field.

14 And giue a sweet smell as || incense, and bring forth flowres as the lillie: giue a smell & sing a song of praise: blesse the Lord in all his works.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, & shew forth his praise with the songs of your lips, and with harpes, and ye shall say after this maner, 16 * All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at any time convenient they shall all hee fought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselves.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 Hee seeth from euertlasting to euertlasting, and there is nothing wonderful vnto him.

21 A man need not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall run ouer as the streame, and moisten the earth like a flood.

23 As he hath turned the water into saltnesse, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

26 The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance which in their rigour lay on iust strokes: in the time of destruction they shew forth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made the.

29 Fire and haire, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde beastes, and the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sword execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall be glad to doe his commandments: and when need is, they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their houte is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandment.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

33 All the works of the Lord are good, & he giueth euery one in due season, and when need is?

34 So that a man need not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are all worthy praise.

35 And therefore praise the Lord with whole heart and mouth, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

Many miseries in this life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and perigence of the feare of God.

RECEIUE trauell is created for all men, and an heauy yoke vpon the sons of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day they returne to the mother of all things.

2 Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death.

3 From him that sitteth vpon his glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blue silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Vnrich and enuie, trouble and vnquietnesse, and feare of death, and rigor, and strife, and in the time of rest the slepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping hee is as in a watch-tower in the day: he is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is life, he awaketh, and maruailth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seven fold to the vngodly.

9 Moreouer, death, and blood, and strife, and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes come the flood also.

11 All things that are of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: and they that are of the waters, shall turne into the sea.

12 All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shall be put away: but faithfulness shall endure for euer.

13 The substance of the vngodly shall be dried vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When hee openeth his hand, hee reioyceth: but all the transgressions shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane robes are as vp on the high rockes.

16 Their tender stalks by what water so euer it be or water banke, it shall be withered vp before all other herbes.

17 Friendlinesse is as a most plentiful garden of pleasure, and mercy endureth for euer.

18 To labour and to be content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but hee that findeth a treasure is abouten both.

19 Children, and the building of the citie maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and muske reioyceth the heart: but the loue of wisdom is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noise: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth labour and beautie: but a greene seede time is rather then them both.

23 A friend and companion come together at opportunity: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends & helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Gold and siluer fasten the freere: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches & strength lift vp the mind: but the feare of the Lord is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, & it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 My soune, lead not a beggars life, for better it were to die then to beg.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he tormenteth him selfe after other mens meat, but a wise man and well nourished, will be ware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared, 8 Accuse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Gods house and fire. 14 An exhortation to giue heere vnto wisdom. 17 Of what things a man ought to be heedfull.

Of Death, how better is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth a rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing, or worse him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue more.

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needfull, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue bin before thee, & that come after: this is the midnite of the Lord our all flesh.

4 And why wouldst thou be against the pleasure of the most High? whether it be true or an hundredth or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the grave.

5 The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe be vnto you, O yee vngodly, which haue forsaken the Law of the most high God: for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shall be borne to cursing: if ye die, the curse shall be your portion.

10 All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: to the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shall be put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shall continue with thee above a thousand treasures of gold.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbered: but a good name endureth euer.

14 My children, keepe wisdom in peace: * for wisdom that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profit is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisdom.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my words: for it is not good in all things to be ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother, be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authoritie:

18 Offence before the King and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrightheousnesse before a companion and friend,

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the truth of God and his covenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the bread, or to bereproued for giuing or taking,

20 And of silence vnto them that talke thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be euill minded toward another mans wife,

22 Or to solicite any mans maid, or to stand by her bed, or to reproch thy friends with words, 23 Or to vpbraide when thou giest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reucale secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well be shamefast, and shalt find fauour with all men.

a The Law of God must be taught: yea, then the secrets of thine heart.

Of these things bee not thou ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person:

2 Of the Lawe of the most High and his covenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy compulsion, and of strangers: or of distributing thy heritage among friends:

4 To be diligent to keepe true ballance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sell merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, & to beate an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, & weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned, and the vniue, and the aged that conend against the young: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approoued of all men liuing.

9 ¶ The daughter shall maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carelesnesse that hee hath for her, take away his sleepe in the youth, lest she should passe the flower of her age: and when she hath an husband, lest she should be hated:

10 In her virginity, lest she should be defiled, or gotten with child in her fathers house, and when she is with her husband, lest she mischaue herself & when she is married, lest she continue vnfruitfull.

11 ¶ If thy daughter be vnshamefast, keepe her straightly, lest shee cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the cite, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

12 ¶ Behold not euery bodys beauty, and company not among women.

13 For as the moth commeth out of garments: so doth wickednesse of the woman.

14 The wickednes of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame and reproch.

15 ¶ I will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appointed that his Saints should declare all his wonderous workes, which the almightie Lord hath stablished to confirme all things by in his maiestie?

18 He seeketh out the depth, & the heart, & he knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 Hee declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the pathes of things that are secret.

20 ¶ No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him.

21 Hee hath garnished the excellent workes of his wisdom, and he is from euerslasting to euerslasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be diminished: hee hath no need of any counseller.

22 O how delectable are all his workes, and to be considered euen vnto the sparks of fire!

23 They liue all, and endure for euer: and whensoever need is they are all obedient.

24 They are all double, one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

2 The Sunne also a marvelous instrument when it appeareth, declareth, at his going out, the worke of the most High.

3 Arnoone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The Sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a furnace with continuall heat: it casteth out the fierie vapours, and with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandment he causeth it to runne hastily.

6 ¶ The moone also hath her meede to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world.

7 ¶ The feastes are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto the end.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heaven: the besutic of heaven are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commandement of the Holy one, they continue in their order, and faile not in their watch.

* Gen. 9. 13, 14.

11 ¶ * Looke vpon the raine-bowe, and praise him that made it: very beautiful is it in the brightness thereof.

* J. 4. 12.

12 ¶ * It compasseth the heaven about with a glorious circle, and the bands of the most High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commandement he maketh the snow to haile, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the fowles.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the cloudes, and broken the hailefennes.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beareth the earth: so doeth the storme of the North: the whirlwind also, as birds that flie, scattereth the snow, and the falling downe thereof, is as the grasshoppers that light downe.

18 The eye mauielth at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is: astonied at the raine of it.

19 Hee also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frozen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the cold North winde bloweth, and yce is frozen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clootheth the waters as with a breadplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, & burneth the wilderness, & destroyeth that y is Greene like fire.

22 The remedie of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dew commeth vpon the hear, it refresheth it.

23 [By his word he stilleth the winde] by his counsell hee appeareth the deepe, and planteth ylands therein.

24 They that faile ouer the sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we mauiel thereat.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

Let vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowned for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophecies.

* Exod. 18. 35.

4 ¶ * They gouerned the people by counsell and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences.

5 They inuented the melodie of mullicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mightie in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these were honorable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 ¶ There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shalbe spoken of.

* Gen. 7. 22.

9 There are some also which haue no memoriall, and are perished as though they had neuer beene, and are become as though they had neuer beene borne, and their children after them.

10 But the former were mercifull men, whose righteousness hath not bene forgotten.

11 For whose posterity a good inheritance is reserved, & their seed is contained in the covenant.

12 Their stocke is contained in the covenant, and their posterity after them.

13 Their seed shall remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euer more.

* Chap. 39. 10.

15 ¶ The people speake of their wisdom, and the Congregation talke of their praise.

¶ Enoch.

17 ¶ * Noe was found perfit, and in the time of wrath he had a reward: therefore was he leift as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came.

* Gen. 9. 11.
¶ Abraham.
* Gen. 12. 3. and 15. 5. and 17. 4.

18 An euerlasting covenant was made with him, that all flesh should perish no more by the flood.

19 ¶ Abraham was a * great father of many people: in glory was there none like vnto him.

3 By his wordes hee cauted the wonders to cease, and he made him * glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commandements for his people, and shewed him his glory.

* Numb. 12.3.

4 * Hee sanctified him with faithfulness, and meekenesse, and chose him out of all men.

* Exod. 19.7.

5 Hee caused him to be relis voice, & brought him into the darke cloud, * and there he gaue him the commandements before his face, euen the law of life and knowledge, that he might teach Iacob the couenant, and Israel his iudgements.

* Aaron.

* Exod. 4.18.

6 Hee exalted || Aaron an holy man like vnto him, euen * his brother of the tribe of Levi.

7 Aneuerlasting couenant made he with him, and gaue him the Priesthood among the people, and made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 He put perfect ioy vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

* Exod. 28.35.

9 He compassed him about with bels of gold, and with many bels round about, * that when hee went in, the sound might be heard, and might make a noyse in the Sanctuary, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people,

* Exod and Thum. m.

10 And with an holy garment, with gold also, and blue silke, and purple, and diuers kindes of works, and with a breastplate of iudgement, and with the || signes of truth,

11 And with worke of scarlet cunningly wrought, and with precious stones grauen like scales, and set in gold by goldsmiths worke for a memorial, with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel,

12 And with a crowne of gold vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holinesse, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Before him werethere no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on, but onely his children, and his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholly consumed euery day twice continually.

* Exod. 8.28.

15 * Moyses filled his hands, and anointed him with holy oyle, and was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenant, and to his seed for long as the heauens should remaine, that he should minister before him, & also to execute the office of the Priesthood, and blesse his people in his Name.

16 Before all men huius the Lord chose him, that hee should present offerings before him, and a sweet smoure for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

* Deut. 17.10. and 25.1.

17 * Hee gaue him also his commandements, and auhoritie according to the lawes appointed, that hee should teach Iacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Law.

* Numb. 16.1, 2.

18 * Strangers stood vp against him, and enuied him in the wilderness, euen the men that tooke Dathans and Abirams part, and the company of Core in furie and rage.

19 This the Lord saw, & it displeased him, and in his wrathful indignation were they consumed: hee did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fiery flame.

* Numb. 17.8.

20 * But he made Aaron more honourable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially hee appointed bread in abundance, 21 For the Priests did eat of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him and to his seed.

22 * Elife had hee none heritage in the land of his people, neither had hee any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance

* Deut. 18.1, 2, and 18.1.

23 The third in glory is || * Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because he had zeale in the feare of the Lord, and stood vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

Phinees. * Numb. 25.1, 2, 3, 4. and 25.4.

24 Therefore was there a Couenant of peace made with him, that he should be the chiefe of the Sanctuary of his people, and that hee and his posteritie should haue the dignitie of the Priesthood for euer.

25 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdom should remaine to his son of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should be to the onely son of his sonne, and to his seed. God giue vs wisdom in our heart, to iudge his people in righteousnesse, that the good things that they haue be not abolished, and that their glory may endure for their posterity.

CHAP. XLVI.

The praise of Iosue, Caleb, and Samuel.

Iesus || * the sonne of Naue was valiant in the warres, and was the successour of Moyses in prophecies, who according vnto his name was a great Sauiour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of the enemies that rose vp against them, and to let Israel in their inheritance.

6 He rushed in vpon the nations in battell, and in the * going downe of Bethoron he destroyed the aduersaries, that they might know his weapons, and that he sought || in the sight of the Lord: for he || followed the Almighty.

Iosue 10.12.

7 * In the time of Moyses also hee did good worke: he and || Caleb the son of Iephunne stood against the enemy, and withheld the people from sinne, and appeased the wicked murmuring.

9 * The Lord gaue strength also vnto Caleb, which remiued him vnto his old age, so that he went vp into the high place: of the land, and his seed obtained it for an heritage, princes ouer his people.

Iosue 14.12.

14 By the Law of the Lord he iudged the congregation, and the Lord had respect vnto Iacob.

15 This Prophet was approued for his faithfullnes, and he was knowen faithfull in his wordes and visions.

16 He called vpon the Lord Almighty, when his enemies pressed vpon him on euery side, when he offered the sucking lambe.

17 And the Lord thundred from heauen, and made his voice to be heard with a great noise.

18 So hee discomfited the princes of the Tyrrians, and all the rulers of the Philistims.

19 And before his king sleepe he made protection in the sight of the Lord, and his anointed, and hee tooke no substance of any man, no not so much as a shooe, and no man could accuse him.

20 After his sleepe al hee told of the kings death, and from the earth lift he vp his voyce, and prophesied that the wickednesse of the people should perish.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, David and Solomon.

After him rose vp || Nathan to prophesie in the time of David.

2 For as the fat is taken away from the peace offering, so was || David chosen out of the children of Israel.

3 Hee plaied with the Lyons as with kids, and with beares as with lambes.

4 Slew he not a giant when he was yet but young, and hee took away the rebuke from the people, when hee lift vp his hand with the stone in the sling, to beate downe the pride of Goliath?

5 For hee called vpon the most high Lord which gaue him strength in his right hand, to slay that mightie warrior, and that hee might let vp the horne of his people againe.

6 So || hee gaue him the praise of ten thousand, and honoured him with great praises, and gaue him a crowne of glory.

7 For he destroyed the enemies on euery side, and rooted out the Philistims his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sinne vnto this day.

8 In all his workes hee praised the holy One, and the most high with honourable wordes, and with his whole heart hee sung songs, and loued him that made him.

9 Hee set fingers also before the altar, and according to their time hee made sweete songs, that they might praise God daily with their songs.

10 He ordained to keepe the feasts dayes comely, and appointed the tunes perfectly, that they might praise the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

11 The Lord tooke away his sinnes, and exalted his horne for euer: he gaue him the couenant of the kingdom, & the throne of glory in Israel.

12 After him rose vp a wise sunne, whoby him dwelt in a large possession.

13 Solomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made all quiet round about him, hee might walke in his house in his Name, and prepare the Sanctuary for euer.

14 How wise was hee in his youth, and wast filled with vnderstanding as with a flood!

15 Thy mind couered the whole earth, & hath filled it with grace and Iake sentences.

16 Thy Name was abroad in the yles, and for thy peace thou wast beloved.

17 The countreys maruelled at thee for thy songs, and proverbes, and similitudes, and interpretations.

18 By the Name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast gathered gold as tinne, and hast had as much siluer as it read.

19 Thou diddest bow thy loyes to women, and wast ouercome by thy body.

20 Thou didst flatter in honour, and hast desired thy posteritie, and hast brought wrath vpon thy children, and hast felt sorrow for thy folly.

21 So the kingdome was diuided, and Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdome.

22 Neuer the lesse, the Lord left not off his mercie, neither was he destroyed for his workes, neither did hee abolish the posteritie of his elect, nor tooke away the seede of him that loued him, but he left a remnant vnto Iacob, and a roote of him vnto David.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seede hee left behind him || Roboam, euen || the foolishnes of the people, and one that had no vnde standing, who turned away the people through his counsell, and || Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat, which caused Israel to sinne, & shewed Ephraim the way to sinne:

24 So that their sinnes were so much increased, that they were driuen out of the land.

25 For they fought out all wickednesse, till the vengeance came vpon them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The praise of Elias, Eliseus, Elisha, and Jesse.

Then flood vp || Elias the Prophet as a fire, and his word burnt like a lampe.

2 He brought a famine vpon them, and by his zeale he diminished them: [for they might not away with the commandmentes of the Lord.]

3 By the word of the Lord hee shut the heauen, & three times brought hee the fire from heauen.

4 O Elias, how honorable art thou by thy wonderful deeds! who may make his best to like thee.

5 Which hath raised vp the dead from death, and by the word of the most high out of the graue:

6 Which hath brought Kings vnto destruction, and the honourable from their state:

7 Which hee desired the rebuke of the Lord in Sinai, & in Horeb the iudgement of the vengeance:

8 Which didst anoint kings that they might || recompence, and Prophets to be thy successors:

9 Which wastaken vp in a whirlewinde of fire, and in a chariot of fierie horses:

10 Which wast appointed to reprocue in due season, & to pacifie the wrath of the Lords iudgement befoere it kindled, and to turne the hearts of the fathers vnto the children, and to set vp the tribes of Iacob.

11 Blessed were they that saw thee, and slept in loue for we shall like.

12 When Elias was couered with the storme, || Eliseus was filled with his spirit: while hee liued, he was not counted for any prince, neither could any bring him into subjection.

13 Nothing could ouercome him, and after his death his body was obsequied.

14 Hee did worde in his life, and in death were his workes marvellous.

15 For all this the people repented not, neither depented they from their sinnes: till they were carried away prisoners into strange lands, and were carried throug all the earth: so that there remained but a very few people with the prince vnto the house of David.

19 Then trembled their hearts and handes, so that they sorrowed like a woman in trauell.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is merciful, and lift vp their hands vnto him, and immediately the holy One heard them out of heauen.

21 [He thought no more vpon their finnes nor gaue them ouer to their enemies,] but deliuered them by the hand of Esai.

22 * Hee smote the hofte of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosias, &zechiah, Dauid, Ieremie, &zechiel, Zorobabel, Iesus, Neemias, Enoch, Ioseph, Seman & Sath.

¶ Hee remembrance of ¶ Iosias is like the composition of the perfume, that is made by the art of the Apothecary, it is sweete as honie in all monthes, and as musike at a banquet of wine.

2 Hee behauid himselfe vprightly in the reformation of the people, and tooke away all abominations of iniquitie.

3 Hee directed his heart vnto the Lord, and in the time of the vngodly he established religion.

4 All, except Dauid and Ezekias, and Iosias, committed wickednes: for euen the kings of Iuda forsooke the Law of the most High, and failed, 5 Therefore he gaue them ¶ horne vnto other, and their honour to a strange nation.

6 Hee burnt the elect cite of the Sanctuary, and destroyed the streetes thereof according to the ¶ prophesie of ¶ Ieremias.

7 For they ¶ intreated him euil, which neuertheless was a Prophet, ¶ sanctified from his mothers wombe, that he might roote out and afflicke, and destroy, and that he might also build vp, and plant,

8 ¶ Ezechiel saw the glorious vision, which was shewed him vpon the chariot of the Cherubims.

9 * For hee made mention of the enemies vnder the figure of the raine, and directed them that went right.

10 ¶ And let the bones of the twelue Prophets flourish out of their place, and let their memory bee blessed: for they comforted Iacob, and deliuered them by assured hope.

11 ¶ How shal we praise ¶ Zorobabel, which was as a ring on the right hand!

12 So was ¶ Iesus also the sonne of Ioseph: hele men in their time builded the house, and set vp the Sanctuary of the Lord againe, which was prepared for an euermlasting worship.

13 ¶ And among ¶ elect was ¶ Neemias, whole renowne is great, which set vp for vs the wallies that were fallen, and set vp the gates and the bars, and laid the foundations of our house, 14 ¶ But vpon the earth was no man created like ¶ Enoch: for he was taken vp from the earth.

15 Neither was there a like man vnto ¶ Ioseph the gouernour of his brethren, and the shepholder of his people, whose bones were kept.

16 ¶ Sem and ¶ Seth were in great honour among men: and so was ¶ Adam about euery liuing thing in the creation.

CHAP. L.

Of Simon the sonne of Onias, 22 An exhortation to praise the Lord. 27 The author of this booke.

¶ Immon ¶ the son of Onias the hie Priest, which in his life set vp the house againe, and in his dayes established the ¶ Temple,

2 Vnder him was the foundation of the double height laide, and the high wallies that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the brasse was about in measure as the sea.

4 He tooke care for his people that they should not fall, and fortified the city against the siege.

5 How honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when hee came out of the house couered with the vail!

6 Hee was as the morning starre in the mids of a cloud and as the moone when it is full,

7 And as the Sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most Hie, and as the rainbow that is bright in the faire clouds,

8 And as the floure of the roses in the spring of the yeere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of Summer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessell of massie gold, set with all manner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire oliue tree that is fruitfull, & as a cypres tree which groweth vp to the clouds, 11 When he put on the garments of honor, and was clothed with all beauty, he went vp to ¶ holy altar, & made the garment of holines honorable.

12 When hee tooke the portions out of the Priestes hands, he himselfe stood by the hearth of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glory, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the congregation of Israel.

14 And that he might accomplish his ministry vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High and Almighty, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, and hee powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good sauour vnto the most high King of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brassen trumpets, and made a great noise to be heard, for a remembrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together hastened, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God Almighty, and most high.

18 The fingers also sang with their voyces, so that the sound was great, and the melodie sweete.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most high high with prayer before him that is merciful, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his service.

20 Then went he downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole Congregation of the children of Israel, that they should giue praise with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his name.

21 He began againe to worship, that he might receiue the blessing of the most High.

22 Now therefore giue praise al ye vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our dayes from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercy,

23 That he would giue vs ioy fullnesse of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in old time, 24 That hee would confirme his mercy with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Sirach, the sonne of Eleazarus of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wisdom of his heart.

28 Blessed is he that exerciseth himselfe therein: & he that layeth vp these in his heart, shal be wise.

29 For if he doe these things, he shal be strong in all things: for he setteth his steps in the light of the Lord which giueth wisdom to the godly. The Lord be praised for euermore. So be it, so be it.

CHAP. 11.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

I Will confesse thee, O Lord and King, and praise thee, O God my Sauour: I wil giue thanks vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserved my body from destruction, & from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered me according to the multitude of thy mercy, and for thy Names sake from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, & out of the hands of such as sought after my life, & from the manifold afflictions which I had,

4 And from the fire that choked me round about, and from the middes of the fire, that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hell, from an vnclean tongue, from lying words, from false accusation to the king, and from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My soule shall praise the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on every side, and there was no man to help me: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine actes of olde, how thou deliuerest such as waite for thee, and faulteth them out of the hands of the || enemies.

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord the Father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, & in the time of the proud without help.

11 I will praise thy Name continually, and wil sing praise with thanksgiving: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou saudest me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks and praise thee, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet young, or euer I went abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto far countries, and she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioycd in her: my foot walked in the right way, and from my youth vp I sought I after her,

16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gave me much wisdom:

17 And I profited by her: therefore wil I ascribe the glory vnto him that giveth wisdom.

18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I will be ieaalous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my works: I lifted vp mine hands on high, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in purenesse: I haue had my heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.

21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath given mee a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.

23 Draw neere vnto mee yee vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are ye slow? and what say you of these things seeing your soules are very thirsty?

25 I opened my mouth and said, * Buy her for you without money.

26 Bow downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shal receiue instruction: she is ready that ye may find her.

27 Behold with your eyes, * how that I haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto mee much rest.

28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much gold.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercy of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.

30 Doe your dutie betimes, and hee will giue you a reward at his time.

CHAP. I.

Baruch wrote a booke during the captivity of Babylon, which he read before Iechonah and all the people. 10 The Iewes saw the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, so that might that they should pray for them.

¶ These are the wordes of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of || Afadaias, the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon,

2 In the fifth yee, and in the seventh day of the month, what time as the Caldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did read the wordes of this booke, that Iechonah the sonne of Ioaquin king of Iuda might heare, and all the people that were come to heare the booke,

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the river || Sud.

Or, Sedecias

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.

6 They made a collect on also of money, according to euery mans power,

7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Ioachim the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salom Prielt, and vnto the other priests, and to al the people which were with him at Ierusalem,

8 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the temple, to bring them againe into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the month || Siuan, to wit, silver vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Iosias king of Iuda had made,

Or, Siuan.

9 After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had led away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his princes, and his nobles prisoners, and the people, and caried them to Babylon.

10 And they said, Behold, we haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a || meate offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God,

Or Maime, for Nabub, which was the evening and morning sacrifice.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth as the dayes of heauen,

12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne, that wee may long doo them kruice, and finde fauour in their sight

13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the fury of the Lord and his wrath is not turne: from vs.)

14 And reade this booke (which we haue sent to you to be cheafed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast daies, and at time conuenient.

* Chap. 2.6.

15 Thus shall ye say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousnes, but vnto vs the confision of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, & to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

16 And o our kings, and to our princes, & to our priests, & to our prophets, and to our fathers,

* DAN. 9.5.

17 Because wee haue * sinned before the Lord our God,

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euē vnto this day, we haue bin disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and we haue been negligent to heare his voyce.

* Dent. 28.15.

20 * Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appoynted by Moyses his seruant, at the time that hee brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appereth this day.

21 Neuer thelesse, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the Prophets, whom hee sent vnto vs

22 But euery one of vs followed his wicked imagination of his own heart, to serue strange gods, and to do euil in the sight of the Lord our God,

C H A P. II.

The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christian. 1. The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 2. He promitteth that he will call a new people from captiuitie, and giue them a new and euertlasting Testament.

Therefore the Lord our God hath performed his word which hee pronounced against vs, and against our Iudges that gouerned Irael, and against our kings, and against our pince, and against the men of Irael and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things that were written in the Law of Moyses,

3 That some among vs should eat his flesh of his owne son, & son e the flesh of his owne daughter.

* Dent. 28.32.

4 Moreover he hath deliuered them to bee in subiection to all the kingdomes that are round about vs, to be as a reproc and delolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath and not above, because we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

6 * To the Lord our God appereth righteousnes, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame, as appereth this day.

* Chap. 1.15.

7 For all the plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue we not praised before the Lord, that we might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lord hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his works, which hee hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walk in the commandements of the Lord that hee hath giuen vnto vs.

11 * And now, O Lord God of Irael, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, & an hie arme, & with signes and with wonders, and with great power, & hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appereth this day,

* DAN. 9.15.

12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, & our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, & giue vs fauor in the sight of them which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy name is called vpon Irael and vpon thy posterity.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

17 * Open thine eyes, and behold: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, giue vnto the Lord, neither || praise, nor righteousnes.

* Dent. 28.15.

|| Psal. 136. and 135. 17, 18 || 14. 8. 18. 9.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatnes of sinne, and he that goeth crookedly and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule will giue thee praise and righteousnes, O Lord.

* Or, glory: nor praise of righteousnes.

19 For we doe not require mercy in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousnes of our fathers, or of our kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath, & indigna-indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy seruants the Prophets saying, 21 * Thus sayth the Lord, Bow downe your shoulders, & serue the king of Babylon: for he shall remaine in the land that I haue vnto our fathers.

22 But it yee will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the king of Babylon.

23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voice of mirth, and the voice of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voice of the bride, and the land shall be desolate of inhabitants.

24 But we would not hearken vnto thy voice, to serue the king of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the words that it ou spaketh by thy seruants the Prophets, namely, that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers should be carried out of their places.

25 And loe, they are cast out to the heat of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great misery with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs, according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercy.

28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou didst command him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying, 29 * If ye will not obey my voice, Then shall this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very few among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I know that they will not heare me: for it is a stiff necked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselves, 31 And know that I am the Lord their God: then will I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares.

32 And they shall heare, and praise me in the land of their captiuitie, & thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backs, and from their euill works: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into the land which I promised with an oath vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and they shall be lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an euerlasting Covenent with them, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more driue my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. II.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begun for their deliuerance.

9 He prayeth for wisdom vnto the people shewing, that to great aduantage come vnto them for the dispelling thereof. 36 One of Gods will be the ruler of wisdom. 37 Of the resurrection of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, & the spirit that is vexed, cryeth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pittie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for ever, & we vnto this day perish.

4 O Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of three their God:

wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we selfe could call vnto thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuitie: for we haue considered in our mindes all the wickednesse of our fathers that sinned before thee.

8 Belold, we are yet this day in our captiuitie where thou hast scattered vs, to bee a reprob and a curse, and subiect to paymerits, according to all the iniquities of our fathers which are departed from thee Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandments of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisdom.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen olde in a strange country?

11 And art defiled with the dead? and art counted with them that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountain of wisdome.

13 For if thou hast walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for ever.

14 Learne whereys wisdome, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest know alio from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where is light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beastes vpon the earth?

17 They had then pastime with the fowles of the heauen, that hoarded vp silver & gold, wherein men trust, and made none end of their gathering?

18 For they ycoyned silver, & were so careless of their worke & wholement: that had none end.

19 Are come to nought, & gone downe to hel, and other men are come vp in their steads.

20 Whenthy were yong, they saw the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge.

21 Neither perceiued the paths thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were far off from that way.

22 It hath not bin heard of in the land of Canaan neither hath it bene seene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines that fought after wisdom vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Naran, & of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisdom haue known the way of wisdom, neither do they thinke vpon the paths thereof.

24 O Israel, how great is the house of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none end: it is hie, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the giants, famous from the beginning that were of great stature, & so expert in warre.

27 I hose did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, & perished thorow their own foolishnes.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen to take her, and brought her downe from the clouds?

30 Who hath gone oute the sea to finde her, and hath brought her rather then fine gold?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and hee hath found her out wth his vnderstanding: and this same is he which hath prepared the earth for euer more, & hath filled it with fourefooted beasts.

33 When he sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when he calleth it againe, it obeyeth him wth feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefulness: they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Iacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward hee was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

The reward of them that keepe the Law, and the punishment of them that despise it. 18 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof, the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

This is the booke of the Commandements of God, and the Law that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take hold of it: walke by this brightnes before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel, we are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which are the memoriam of Israel.

6 Yee are sold to the nations, nor for your destruction: but because ye prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils, and not to God.

8 Yee haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euermlasting God, and ye haue grieved Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When she saw the wrath comming vpon you fro God, she said, Hearken ye that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauines.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes & daughters, which the euermlasting will bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer mee a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the sins of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They would not knowe his righteousness, nor walke in the wayes of his commandements: neither did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousness.

14 Come ye, that dwell about Sion, & cal to remembrance the captiuitie of my sons & daughters, which the Euermlasting hath brought vpon them.

15 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language.

16 Which neither reuence the aged, nor pity the yong: thele haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing mee alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, & put vpon me the sackcloth of prayer, and so long as I liue I will call vpon the Euermlasting.

21 Be of good comfort, O children: cry vnto God, and he will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation through the Euermlasting, and ioy is come vpon me from the Holy one, because of the mercy which shall quickly come vnto you from our euermlasting Saviour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping & mourning: but with ioy and perpetual gladnesse will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now y^e neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glory, and brightnesse from the Euermlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemies hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt treade vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and cry vnto God, for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your mind to go astray from your God, so endeavour your selues tentimes more to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euermlasting ioy again, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for hee which gaue thee that name will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflicte thee, & such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is she that hath taken thy sons.

33 For as shee reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall she be sorry for her owne delolation.

34 For I will take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shall be turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come vpon her from the euermlasting, long to endure, and she shall be inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem, looke toward the East, and behold the ioy I commeth vnto thee from thy God.

37 Loe, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the word of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure is shewed the Church.

Put off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, & thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour, that commeth vnto thee from God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousness, that commeth from God, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Euermlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightnes to euery countrey vnder the heaven.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer, uer, The peace of righteouſnes, and the glory of the worſhip of God.

5 Ariſe, O Ieruſalem, and ſtand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the Eaſt, and behold thy children gathered from the Eaſt vnto the Weſt by the word of the holy one, reioicing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God wil bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe euery hie mountaine, & the long enduring rocks, and to fill the valles, to make the ground plaine, that Iſrael may walk ſafely vnto the honor of God.

8 The woods and all ſweet ſmelling trees ſhall ſhadow Iſrael at the commendement of God.

9 For God ſhall bring Iſrael with ioy in the light of his maiſtie, with the mercy and righteouſneſſe that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPY OF THE EPISTLE THAT Ieremias ſent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the king of the Babylonians. To certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

Because of the finnes, that ye haue committed againſt God, ye ſhall be led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, king of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye ſhall remaine there many yeres, and a long ſeaſon, euen ſeuē generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.

3 Now ſhall ye ſee in Babylon gods of ſiluer, and of gold, and of wood, born vpon mens ſhoulders, to cauſe the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wiſe be like the ſtrangers, neither be ye aſtayed of them, when ye ſee the multitude before them & behinde them worſhipping them.

5 But ſay yee in your hearts, O Lord, we muſt worſhip thee.

6 For mine Angel ſhall be with you, and ſhall care for your ſoules.

7 As for their tongue, it is poliſhed by the carpen-ter, & they themſelues are gilted, and laid ouer with ſiluer: yet are they but lies, & cannot ſpeake.

8 And as they take gold for a maide that loveth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: ſometimes alſo the Priests themſelues conuey away the gold and ſiluer from their gods, and beſtow it vpon themſelues.

10 Yea, they giue of the ſame vnto the harlots, that are in their houſes: againe, they decke theſe gods of ſiluer, & gods of golde, and of wood with garments like men,

11 Yet cannot they be preſerued from ruſt and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them with clothing of purple, and with their faces becauſe of the duſt of the temple, whereof there is much vpon them, 13 One holdeth a ſcepter, as though he were a certaine iudge of the countrey: yet can hee not ſlay ſuch as offend him.

14 Another hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is hee not able to defend himſelfe from battell, nor from theenes: ſo then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not for as a veſſell that a man uſeth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be ſet vp in their temples, their eyes be full of duſt by reaſon of the feete of thole that come in:

17 And as the gates are ſhut in round about vpon him that hath offended the king: or as one that ſhould be led to be put to death, for the priests keepe their temples with doores, and with locks, and with barres, leſt their gods ſhould be ſpoiled by robbers.

18 They light vp candles before theſe: yea, more then for themſelues, whereof they cannot leeve: for they are but as one of the poſts of the temple.

19 They confeſſe that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things, that creepe out of the earth eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the ſmoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, ſwallowes, & birds flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats alſo.

22 By this yee may be ſure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithſtanding, the golde that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the ruſt, they cannot ſhine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a moſt high price.

25 They are borne vpon mens ſhoulders, becauſe they haue no feet, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worthy: yea, and they that worſhip them, are aſhamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot riſe vp againe of themſelues, neither if one ſet them vpright, can they moue of themſelues, neither if they be bowed downe, can they make themſelues ſtraight: but the yet ſet gifts before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them their Priests ſell them, and abuſe them: like wiſe alſo the women lay vp of the ſame: but vnto the poore and ſicke they giue nothing.

28 The menſtruous women, and they that are in childbed, touch their ſacrifices: by theſe things yee may know that they are no gods: leaſt they not.

29 From whence commeth it then, that they are called gods? becauſe the women bring gifts to the gods of ſiluer, and gold, and wood.

30 And the Priests fit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whoſe heads & beards are ſhauen, and being bare headed, 31 They roare, and crie before their gods, as men doe at the ſeaſe of one that is dead.

32 The priests alſo take away of their garments, and clothes their wiues and children.

33 Whether it be euill that one doth vnto them or good, they are not able to recompence it: they can neither ſet vp a king nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor mooney: though a man make a vow vnto them and keepe it nor, they will not require it.

35 They can ſaue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mighty.

36 They cannot reſtore a blinde man to his ſight, nor helpe any man at his neede.

37 They can ſhew no mercy to the widow, nor doe good to the fatherleſſe.

38 Their gods of wood, gold, and ſiluer are as ſtones, that be hewen out of the mountaine, and they they that worship them, shall be confounded.

39 How should a man then thinke or say that they are gods?

40 Moreover the Caldeans themselves dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel.

41 And desire that hee would make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand these things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sense.

42 Furthermore, the women girded with coards, sit in the streets, and burne straw.

43 And if one of them be drawn away, and lie with any such as come by, these casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because shee was not so worthily reputed, nor her cord broken.

44 Whatfoeuer is done among these, lies: how may it thebe thought or said, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmiths make them, neither bee they any other thing, but euen what the workman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, begods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there cometh any war or plague vpon them, the priests imagine with themselves, where they may hide themselves with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defend themselves from warre nor from plagues?

50 For seeing they be but of wood, and of siluer, and of gold, men shall know hereafter that they are but lies, and it shall be manifest to all nations and kings, that they bee no gods, but the works of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be knowne, that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no king in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preferre fro iniurie, they haue no power, but are as crows betweene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of gold, the priests will escape and saue themselves, but they burne as the balikes therein.

55 They cannot withstand any King or enemies: how can it then bee thought or said, that they be gods?

56 Moreover these gods of wood, of gold, and of siluer can neither defend themselves from theues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest take away their gold and siluer, and apparel, wherewith they bee clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselves.

58 Therefore it is better to be a King, and so to shew his power, or else a profitable vessel in an house, whereby he that oweth it, might haue profit, then such false gods: or to be a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as be therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the sunne, and the moone, and the stars that shine, when they are sent downe for necessary vices, obey.

60 Likewise also y lightning, when it shineth, it is euident: & the wind bloweth in euery country.

61 And when God commandeth the clouds to goe about the whole world, they doe as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hills & woods, it doth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme, nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they bee gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.

64 For so much now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse nor blesse kings:

66 Neither can they shew signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.

67 The beasts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, & do themselves good.

68 So ye may be certified, that by no manner of meanes they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a scar-crow in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of gold:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and gold and siluer are like to a white thorne in an orchard: that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead body that is call in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightnesse, which fadereth vpon them, ye may vnderstand that they be no gods: yea they themselves shall be consumed at the last, and they shall bee a shame to the country.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall be farre from reproofe.

The song of the three holy children, which followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fiery furnace.

CHAP. I.

23 The prayer of Azarias. 45 The cruelty of the King. 48 The flame deuoureth the Caldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the furnace. 51 The three children praise the Lord, and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 And they walked in the middes of the flame, praising God, and magnified the Lord.

25 The Azarias stood vp, & praised on this maner, & opening his mouth yf mids of fyre, said

26 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be praised and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certain.

28 In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy city of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equity hast thou brought all these things vpon vs, because of our sinnes.

29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing fro thee: in all things haue we trespassed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them. neither done as thou hast commanded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, and most hateful traitors, and to an vnrighteous king, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And now wee may not open our mouthes: we are become a shame and reproche vnto thy seruants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy names sake, we beseech thee giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant.

35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake.

36 To whom thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiply their seed as the flus of heauen, & as the sand that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For wee, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, & be left vnder this day in all the world, because of our finnes:

38 So that now wee haue neither Prince nor Prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruits before thee, that wee might find mercy.

39 Neuerthelesse, in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit, let vs be recciued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rams and bullocks, and as in ten thousand of lambs, so let our offering be in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them that put their trust in thee.

41 And now we follow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnes, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory, O Lord, 44 That all they that doe thy seruants euill, may be confounded: euen let them bee confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may know that thou only art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now thy kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the oven hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with tow, & with sagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the furnace fortie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the furnace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the furnace with them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the furnace, 50 And made in the midst of the furnace like a moit hissing winde, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieved nor troubled them.

51 Then these three (as out of one mouth) praised & glorified & blessed God in the furnace, saying, 52 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praised, and exalted about all things for euer, and blessed be thy glorious and holy Name, and praised about all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glory, and praised about all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed be thou that beholdest the depths, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and praised about all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed bee thou in the glorious Throne of thy kingdome, and praised about all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised about all things, & glorified for euer.

57 All ye works of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer, 58 O heauens, blesse ye the Lord, praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

59 O Angels of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

60 All yee waters that bee about the heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

61 All yee powers of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

62 O sunne and moone, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

63 O stars of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

64 Euerie flower and dew, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

65 All yee windes, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

66 O fire and heate, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

67 O winter and summer, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

68 O dewes and stormes of snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

69 O frost and colde, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

70 O yce and snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

71 O nights and daies, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

72 O light and darkenesse blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

73 O lightnings and clouds blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

74 Let the earth blesse the Lord: let it praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

75 O mountaines, and hills, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

76 All things that grow on the earth, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

77 O fountaines, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

78 O sea and floods, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

79 O whales, and all that moue in the waters, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

80 All ye fowles of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

81 All ye beastes and cattell, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

82 O children of men blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

83 Let Israel blesse the Lord, praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

84 O Priests of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

85 O seruants of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

86 O spirits and soules of the righteous, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

87 O Saints and humble of heart, blesse ye che Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, & Mifael, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, & exalt him aboue all things for euer: for he hath deliuered vs from the hel, & faued vs from the hand of death, and deliuered vs out of the mids of the fornice, and burning flame: i euen out of the mids of the fire hath he deliuered vs.

89 Confesse vnto the Lord, that he is gracious: for his mercy endureth for euer.

90 All yee that worship the Lord, blesse the God of gods: praise him, and acknowledge him: for his mercy endureth world without end.

THE HISTORY OF || SVSANNA, which some ioine to the end of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

[Or, Susanna.

1. The two gouernours are taken with the lone of Susanna. 2. They saie herallone in the garden. 3. They sollicite her to wickednesse. 4. Shee sheweth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 5. She is accused. 6. Daniel doeth deliuer her. 6. The gouernours are put to death.

Here dwelt a man in Babylon called Ioachim.

2 And he tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moyses.

4 Now Ioachim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Iewes, because he was more honourable then all others.

5 The same yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to bee Iudges, such as the Lord speaketh of, that the iniquity came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

6 These hated Ioachims house, and all such as had any thing to doe in the Law, came thither vnto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noone, Susanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two Elders saw her that shee went in daily and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their mind, and cast down their eyes, that they should not see heauen, nor remember iust iudgements.

10 And albeit they were both wouniden with her love, yet durst not one shew another his griefe

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one said to the other, Let vs goe now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appointed they a time both together when they might find her alone.

15 Now when they had spied out a convenient time, that shee went in, as her maide was, with two maides onely, and thought to wash her selfe in the garden (for it was an hote season)

16 And there was no body there, save the two Elders that had hid themselves, and watched for her.

17 She said to her maids, Bring me oile & sype, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me.

18 And they did as shee bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselves at a backe doore, to see the thing that shee had commanded them: but they sawe not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Now when the maides were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp, and ran vnto her, laying,

20 Behold, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and we burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, wee will beare witnesse against thee, that a yong man was with thee: and therefore thou didst send away thy maids fro thee.

22 Then Susanna fighed, & said, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I do this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I do it not, I cannot escape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, & not doe it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.

24 With that Susanna cried with a loud voice, and the two Elders cried out against her.

25 Then ran the one, and opened the garden doore,

26 & so when the seruants of the house heard the crye in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Susanna.

28 On the morrow after, came the people to Ioachim her husband, & the two Elders came also, full of mischionous imagination against Susanna, to put her to death,

29 And sayd before the people, Send for Susanna the daughter of Helcias Ioachims wife. And immediately they sent.

30 So shee came with her father and mother, her children and all her kindred.

31 Now Susanna was very tender, & faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commanded to vncouer her face (for shee was couered): that they might so be satisfied with her beauty.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders stood vp in the mids of the people, and laid their hands vpon her head, 35 Which wept and looked vp toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders said, As wee walked in the garden alone, shee came in with two maids, whom shee sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then wee which stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ran vnto them, and we saw them as they were together.

39 But wee could not hold him: for hee was stronger stronger then wee, and opened the doore, and leaped out.

40 Now when he had taken this woman, wee asked her what young man this was, but she would not tell vs: of these things are we witnesses.

41 Then the assembly beleued them, as those that were the Elders and Idges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cried out wth a loud voyce, and said, O euerglasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things before they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest that they haue borne false witness against mee, and behold, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 ¶ Therefore when she was led to be put to death, the Lord raiſed vp the holy spirit of a young child, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cried with a loud voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and said, What meane these words that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the middes of them, and said, Are ye such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the truth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witness against her.

50 Wherefore the people returned againe in all haste, and the Elders said vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then said Daniel vnto them, Put these two asides one iarte from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder one from another, he called one of them and said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now thy finnes which thou hast committed aforetime, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgments, and hast condemned the inno-cent, and hast let the guilty goe free, all which the Lord saith. ¶ The innocent and righteous flourish on not flay.

54 Now then if thou hast seene her, tell me, vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a Ierusalem tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verely thou hast liyed against thine owne head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

56 So hee put him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and said vnto him, O thou seed of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beaustie hath deceived thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 These haue yee dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Now therefore tell mee, vnder what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a Prime tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also liyed against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cried with a loud voyce, and praised God which laweth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witness by their owne mouth.)

62 ¶ And according to the Law of Moyses they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was laved the same day.

63 Therefore Helcias and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Isaac her husband, and all the kindred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of all the people.

65 And King Astyages was layd with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

THE HISTORIE OF BEL AND of the Dragon; which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

Now when King Astyages was layd with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian received his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the King's table, and was honoured above all his friends.

3 Now the Babyonians had an idole, called Bel, and the e was spent vpon him euery day twelue great measures of fine flour, and fourte sheepe, and fixe great pors of wine.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King laid vnto him, Why doest not thou worship it?

5 Who answered, and said, Because I may not worſhip idoles made with hands: but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen & the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then laid the king vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? seest thou not how much he eateth and drinketh euery day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O King, he not deceived I for this is but clay with in, and brasie without, and did neuer eate anything.

8 So the King was wroth, and called for the priests and laid vnto them, If ye tell me not, who this that eateth vpon these expenses, ye shall die.

9 But if yee can certifie mee that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the King, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Now the priests of Bel were threescore and ten besides their wives and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bel's priests said, Behold, we will goe out, and let thou the meate there, O King, and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet.

12 And to morrow when thou comest in, if thou findest not the Bel hath eaten vp all, we will suffer death, or else Daniel that hath bid vpon vs.

13 Now they thought themselves sure enough:

Zz for

¶ Called Arrabs, whereof euery one contained somewhat more, then nine gallons, which make in all an hundred and eight gallons at the least.
¶ Called Metretes, and euery one of these measures contained about ten gallons, which in all make threescore.

for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there they went in euery, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout all the temple, in the presence of the king alone: then went they out and shut the doore, and sealed it with the kings signet, & so departed.

15 Now in the night came the priests, with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning beimes the king arose, and Daniel with him.

17 And the king said, Daniel, Are the seales whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they be whole.

18 And as soone as hee had opened the doore, the king looked vpon the table, and cried with a loud voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the king that he should not goe in, & said, Behold now the punishment, and marke wel whole footsteps are these.

20 And the king said, I see the footsteps of men, women, & children: therefore was the king angry, 21 And tooke the priests, with their wiues and children, and they thewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore the king slew them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him, and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreover in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the king said vnto Daniel, Saiest thou, that this is of brass also? loe, he tueth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no liuing god: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel vnto the king, I will worship the Lord my God: for hee is the liuing God.

26 But giue mee leave, O king, and I will slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the king said, I giue thee leave.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and fat, and haire, and did seeche them together, and made lumpes thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst asunder. And Daniel said, Behold, whom ye worship.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the king, saying, The king is become a lew: for hee hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Priests to death.

29 So they came to the king, and said, Deliuer vs Daniel, or els wee will destroy thee and thine houle.

30 Now when the king saw that they pressed sore vpon him, and that necessity constrained him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lions denne, where he was sixe dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen Lyons, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iury a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made portage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord said vnto Abbacuc, Goe, cary the men that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lions denne.

35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I neuer saw Babylon, neither doe I know where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, & bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cried, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then said Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon mee, and thou neuer failest them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediately.

40 Vpon the seuenth day the king went to bewaile Daniel: and when hee came to the denne, hee looked in, and behold, Daniel sat in the midst of the Lyons.

41 Then cryed the king with a loude voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And hee drew him out of the den, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction, into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

THE FIRST BOOKE OF the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel made covenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus forbids the Jews to use their lawes. 30 Antiochus forbids the Jews to use their lawes.

After that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip went forth of the land of Chettrijm, and slew Darius king of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia,

2 He tooke great warres in hand, and wanne strong holds, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorow to the ends of the world, and tooke spoiles of many nations, inasmuch that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hautie.

4 Now when hee had gathered a mightie strong holle,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations, and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things hee fell sicke, and knew that he should die.

7 Then hee called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had bene brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

9 And his seruants reigned euery one in his roume.

10 And they all caused themselves to be crowned.

ned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much was kinde in increase in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote en Antiochus Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus which had bene an hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundredth and seven and thirtieth yeere of the Kingdome of the Greeces.

12 In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entred many, saying, Let vs goe, and make a couenant with the heathen, that are round about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorrow.

13 So this desire pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready, and went to the king which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen.

16 And made themselves vncircumcised, and forsooke the oly couenant & ioyned themselves to the heathen, and were sold to doe mischief.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, he went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that he might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mightie company, with chariots, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great naue, 19 And moued warre against Ptolemus king of Egypt: but Ptolemus was afraid of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus was many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the poyles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundredth fortie and three yeere, 22 And went vp toward Israel and Ierusalem with a mighty people,

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuary, and tooke away the golden altar and the candlestick for the light, and all the instruments therof, & the table of the shewbread, & the powing vessels, and the bowles, and the golden basins, and the vases, and the crownes, and the golden apparel, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 Hee tooke also the silver and gold, and the precious iewels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that he found, and when he had taken away all, he departed into his owne land.

25 After hee had murthered many men, and spoken very proudly, 26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the young women and the young men were made feeble, and the beauty of the women was changed.

28 Every bridegrome tooke him to mourne, and fte that sat in the marriage chamber was in he unlesse.

29 The land also was moued for the inhabitants therof: for all the house of Iacob was couered with confusion.

30 After two yeeres the king sent his chiefe taxemaster into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude.

31 Who spake peaceable wordes vnto them in deceit and they gaue credite vnto him.

32 Then hee fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when hee had spoiled the citie, hee set fire on it, casting downe the houses therof, and walled therout on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the citie of David with a great and thicke wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreover they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified the ielous therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons and victuals, and gathered the spoile of Ierusalem, and laid it vp there.

38 Thus became they a fore snare and were in ambuscment for the Sanctuary, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuary, and defiled the Sanctuary, 40 In so much that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, & it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom first had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wilderness: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, and her honour brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorrow.

43 Also the king wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the king.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the king sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, & to the cities of Iuda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the countrey,

47 And y they should forbid the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the offerings in the Sanctuary,

48 And that they should defile the Sabbath and the feasts,

49 And pollute the Sanctuary & the holy men,

50 And to set vp altars, and grotes and chapels of idoles, and offer vp swines flesh, and vnclean beasts,

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleanesse, & pollute themselves, that they might forget the Law, and change all the ordinances, 52 And that whosoever would not doe according to the commandement of the king should suffer death.

53 In like maner wrote he throughout all his kingdome, and set ouerseers ouer all the people for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And hee commanded the cities of Iuda to doe sacrifice, city by city.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by he: pe euery one that forsooke the Lawe, and to they committed euill in the land.

56 And they droue the Israelites into secret places, euen whosoever they could see for succour.

57 The fiftieth day of Calus in the hundredth and fife and thirtieth yeere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Iuda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the streetes they burnt incense.

59 And the booke of the Lawe which they found they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whosoever had a booke of the testament found by him, or whosoever consented vnto the lawe, the Kings commandement was, that they should put him to death by their authoritie.

61 And they executed these things every moneth vpon the people of Israel that were found in the cities.

62 And in the five and twentieth day of the moneth they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commandement, they put certaine women to death, which had cauled their children to be circumcised.

64 And they hanged vp the children at their neckes, and they spoiled their houses, and slew the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in themselves, that they would not eate vncleane things.

66 But chose rather to suffer death, then to be defiled with those meates, to because they would not breake the holy covenant, they were put to death.

67 And this tyrannie was very fore vpon the people of Israel.

CHAP. II.

2 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy citie. 19 They refuse to doe fornicious and idol.

21 The rage of Mattathias for the Lawe of God. 33 They are slain and without fight against braue of the Sabbath day. 40 Mattathias during commandment his sonnes to keep the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

In those dayes floode vp Mattathias the Priest, the sonne of Ioannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sons of Ioabab of Ierusalem, and dwelt in Modin.

2 And he had five sons, Ioanab called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thassi,

4 Iudas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called I Abaron, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphus.

6 Now hee sawe the blasphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Ierusalem,

7 And he said, Woe is mee, wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy city, & thus to sit still? it is deuised into the hands of the enemies,

8 And the sanctuary is in the hands of strangers, her Temple is as a man that hath no renouew.

9 Her glorious vessels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are slaine in the streetes, and her yong men are fallen by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it that hath not some possession in her kingdome, or hat not gotten of her spoiles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmaid.

12 Behold, our Sanctuary and our beauty, and honour is desolate, & the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpe is vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, hee, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned very sore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the king to the citie of Modin to compeell them to forsake God and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.

17 Then spake the Commissioners of the king, and said vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in this citie, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, and fulfill the kings commandement, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Iuda, and such as remaine at Ierusalem: so shalt thou and thy family be in the kings fauour, and thou and thy children shall be enriched with silver and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and said with a loud voice, Though all nations that are vnder the kings dominion obey him, and fall away from every man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandements, 20 Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren walke in the covenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull vnto vs, that wee forsake not the Lawe and the ordinances.

22 We wil not hearken vnto the kings words to transgress our religion, neither on the right side, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off speaking these wordes, there came one of the Iewes, in the sight of all to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the kings commandements.

24 Now when Mattathias saw it, hee was so inflamed with zeale, that his reines shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Law: therefore he ran vnto him, and killed him by the altar.

25 And at the same time hee slew the kings commissioner that compelled him to doe sacrifice and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare hee a zeale to the Lawe of God, & slew, as Phinees did vnto Zambri the sonne of Salom.

27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loud voice in the citie, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the Law, and wil stand by the covenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So hee and his sonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the citie.

29 Then many that fought after iustice, and iudgement,

30 Went downe into the wilderness to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wiues, and their cattell: for the afflictions increased fore vpon them.

31 ¶ Now when it was tolde vnto the kings seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Ierusalem in the citie of Dauid, that men had broken the kings commandement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wilderness, 32 Then many pursued after them, and hauing overtaken them, they camped against them, and set the battell in aray against them on the Sabbath day.

33 And said vnto them, Le. this now be sufficient: come forth and doe according to the commandement of the king, and ye shall liue.

34 But they answered, We will not goe forth, neither will wee doe the kings commandement to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any stone at them, or flopped the prime places:

37 But said, We will die all in our innocencies: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that yee destroy vs wrongfully.

for that liued in by and uprightly.

38 Thus they gaue them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wiues and their children to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly, 40 And laid one to another, It wee doe all as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our lawes, then shall they destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoever shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, wee will fight against him, that wee die not all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Asideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, joynted themselves vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger; but the rest fled vnto the heathen and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about, and destroyed the altars, 46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they found within the coasts of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the proud men: and this acte prospered in their hands.

48 So they recovered the Law out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drew neere that Mattathias should die, hee said vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be ye zealous of the Law, and giue your liues for the Couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what acts our fathers did in their time: so shall ye receiue great honour and an euerslasting name.

52 * Was not Abraham found faithfull in temptation, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousness?

53 * Ioseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandment, and was made the lord of Egypt.

54 * Phinees our father, because hee was zealous and seruent, obtained the couenant of the euerslasting Priesthood.

55 * Iesus for fulfilling the word, was made the gouernour of Israel.

56 * Caleb, because he bare witness before the Congregation, receiued the heritage of the land.

57 * David because of his mercy obtained the throne of the kingdom for euermore.

58 * Elias, because he was zealous and seruent in the Law, was taken vp euen vnto heauen.

59 * Ananias, Azarias, and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

60 * Daniel because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lyons.

61 And thus ye may consider throughout all ages, that whosoever putteth his trust in him, shall not want strength.

62 * Feare not yet then the words of a ffull man: for his glory is but durg and wormes.

63 To day he is set vp, and to morrow he shall * not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth.

64 ¶ Wherefore my sonnes, take good hearts, and shew your selues men for the Law: for by it shall you obtaine glory.

65 And behold, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: giue care vnto him alway: he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Iudas Macabeus hath bin mighty and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him bee your captaine, and fight you the battell for the people:

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you all those that obserue the Law, and shall auenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompenſe fully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commandment of the Law.

69 So he blessed them, and was layde with his fathers,

70 And died in the hundreth, fourtie and sixe yeere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Iudas is made viceroy ouer the Iewes. 13 He killeth Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44 The confusion of Iudas toward God. 55 Iudas doth much to fight against Lycias, whom Antiochus had made captaine ouer his host.

Then Iudas his sonne, called Macabeus, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that held with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.

3 So he gate his people great honour: he put on a breastplate as a gyant, and armed himselfe, and set the battell in aray, and defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his acts he was like a Lyon, and as a Lyons whelp roaring after the pray.

5 For he pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people,

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquity were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And hee grieued diuers kings, but Iacob reioyced by his acts, and his memorial is blessed for euer.

8 He went also thorow the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was hee renowned vnto the ends of the earth, and he assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great host out of Samaria to fight against Israel.

11 Which when Iudas perceiued, hee went forth to meet him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Iudas tooke their spoiles, and tooke also Apollonius sword, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the armie of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the Congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre, 14 He said, I will get mee a name, and will bee glorious in the reame: for I will goe fight with Iudas and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandment.

15 So he made him ready to go vp, & there went with him a mighty host of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenger of the children of Israel.

16 And when hee came nere to the going vp of Bethoron, Iudas went forth to meet him with a small company.

17 But when they saw the armie comming against them, they said to Iudas, How are we able, being so few, to fight against great a multitude and so strong, seeing we be so weary, and have fasted all this day?

18 Then said Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the hands of few, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victory of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength cometh from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruel & proud multitude to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to rob vs.

21 But we doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes, 22 And God himselfe will destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraid of them.

23 And when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his hoste destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them from the going downe of Bethoron vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundred men of them, and the rest fled into the land of the Philistims.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about, 26 So that his fame came vnto the king: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Iudas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, hee was angry in his minde: wherefore hee sent forth, and gathered all the power of his realme, a very strong armie, 28 And opened his treasure, and gaue his hoste a yeeles wages in hand, commanding them to be ready for a yeele for all occasions.

29 Neuertheless, when hee saw that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the disfection, and plagues that hee had brought vpon the land, in taking away the lawes which had bene o' old time,

30 Hee feared lest hee should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberalitie hee farre passed the other kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

32 So hee left Lyfias a noble man and of the kings blood, to ouersce the kings businesse, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt.

33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreover, hee gaue him halfe of his hoste and elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done.

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and I. rusalem, that he should send an armie against them, to destroy and rout out the power of Israel, and the remnant of Ierusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place.

36 And to set strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke the halfe of the hoste that remained, and departed from Antioch his royall citie, in the yeele an hundredth fourtie and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorow the high countreys.

38 Then L. fias cho'e Ptolemus the sonne of Doriminius, and Nicanor, and Gorgias, mightie men, and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them fourtie thousand footmen, and seuen thousand horsemen, to go into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power: and came and pitched by || Emmaus in the plaine countrey.

Emmaus.

41 Now when the merchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much silver and gold, and seruants, and came into the campe, to buy the children of Israel for slaves, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations toynd with them.

42 ¶ Now when Iudas and his brethren saw that trouble increased, and that the hoste drew nere vnto their borders, consider ng the kings words, whereby hee had commanded to destroy the people, and vterly abolish them, 43 They sayd one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuary.

44 Then the Congregation was scone readie gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Ierusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderness. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuary was troden downe, and the strangers kept the fortresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mitch of Iacob was taken away, the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered themselves together, and came to Mafpha before Ierusalem: for in Mafpha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Israel.

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackcloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heads, and rent their clothes.

48 And opened the booke of the Law, wherein the heathen sought to print the likenesse of their idoles, 49 And brought the Priests garments, and the first fruits, and the tithes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cried with a loud voyce toward heauen, saying, What shall we doe with these? and whither shall we cary them away?

51 For thy Sanctuary is troden downe and defiled, and thy Priests are in heauines, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come against vs, to destroy vs: thou knowest what things they imagine against vs.

53 How can wee stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cried with a loud voice.

55 And after this Iudas ordeined captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundredths, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houses, or married wiues, or planted vineyards, or were fearefull that they should returne euerie one to his owne house, according * to the Law.

Deut. 20. 5.

57 So the hoste remooued, and pitched vpon the fourth side of Emmaus.

58 And Iudas saide, Arme your selues, and be valiant men and be ready against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our sanctuary.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battell, then to see the calamities of our people and of our sanctuary.

60 Neuertheless as the will of God is in heaven, so be it.

CHAP. liiii.

1 Iudas goeth against Gorgias which setteth in wait. 14 Hee putteth Gorgias and his host to flight. 28 Lysias inuadeth Iudas, 29 But Iudas driueth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple, and adedicates the altar.

Then tooke Gorgias five thousand foote men, and a thousand of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night,

2 To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the forefront were his guides.

3 Now when Iudas heard it, he remooued, and they that were valiant men to smite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus, 4 Whiles yet the armie was dispersed from the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Iudas campe: and when hee found no man there, he sought them in the mountaines: for said he, They flee from vs.

6 But as soone as it was day, Iudas shewed himselfe in the field with three thousand men, which had neither harness nor swords to their minds.

7 And they saw that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, & that they were expert men of war.

8 Then said Iudas to the men that were with him, Feare yee not their multitude, neither be afraid of their assault.

9 Remember, how our fathers were deliuered * in the red sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with an armie.

10 Therefore now let vs cry vnto heauen, and the Lord will haue mercy vpon vs: and remember the couenant of our fathers, and will destroy this hoste before our face this day:

11 So shall all the heathen know, that there is one which deliuereth and saueh Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, and saw them comming against them.

13 And they went out of their tents into the battell, and they that were with Iudas, blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were discouraged and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fell by the sword, and they pursued them vnto || Gazeron, and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Azotus, and of Iamnia, so that there were slaine of them about three thousand men.

16 So Iudas turned againe with his host from pursuing them,

17 And said vnto the people, Be not greedy of the spoiles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand yee now fast against your enemies and ouercome them: then may yee safely take the spoiles.

19 As Iudas was speaking these wordes, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines,

20 But when Gorgias sawe that his were fled, and that Iudas souldiers burnt the tents: (for the smoke that was scene declared what was done.)

21 When they saw these things, they were fore afraid, and when they saw also that Iudas and his hoste were in the field ready to set their selues in aray, 22 They fled euery one into || land of strangers.

23 So Iudas turned againe to spoile the tents where hee gate much gold and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the sea and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, and sung Psalmes, and trailed toward the heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

25 And so Israel had a great victory in the day.

26 ¶ Now all the strangers that escaped, came, and told Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard the things, was fore afraid, and discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as he would, neither such things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yere following gathered Lysias thieftore thousand chosen foote men, and five thousand horsemen to fight against Ierusalem.

29 So they came into || Idumea, and pitched their tents at || Beth sura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he saw the mighty army, he praised, and said, Blessed be thou, O Saviour of Israel, * which diddest destroy the assault of the mighty man by the hand of thy seruant David, * & gauest the hoste of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armoure bearer: * 1 Sam. 17. 50, 51. * 1 Sam. 31. 13, 14.

31 Shut vp this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraid, and confound their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee, then shall all they that knowe thy Name praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias hoste, five thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 When Lysias, seeing his armie put to flight, and the maner of Iudas foote men, & that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antichia and gathered strangers, and when hee had furnished his armie, hee thought againe (being prepared) to come against Iudas.

36 Then said Iudas and his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discouraged: let vs now goe vp to cleanse, and to repaire the Sanctuary.

37 So all the host gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of sion.

38 Now when they sawe the Sanctuary layde waste, and the altar denied, and the doores burne vp, and the shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe, 39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads.

40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarum with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had lenteth the Sanctuary.

42 So hee chose Priests that were vnedified, such as delighted in the Law, 43 And they cleaned the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vnclean place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offerings, which was polluted.

 45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, lest it should be a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar, 46 And laid vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a Prophet, to shew what should bee done with them.
 47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Lave, and builded a new altar according to the former,
 48 And made vp the Sanctuary, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.
 49 They made also new holy vessels, & brought into the Temple the candlestick, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.
 50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlestick, that they might burne in the Temple.
 51 They set also the shewbread vpon the Table, and hanged vp the vailles, and finished all the workes that they had begun to make.
 52 And vpon the fife and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Challeu, in the hundred and eightieth and fourtieth yeere they rose vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offered sacrifice according to the Law, vpon the new altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.
 54 According to the time and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day was it made new with songs, and harps, and lutes, and cymbals.
 55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praising toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.
 56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnes and offered sacrifices of deliuerance with praise, 58 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and shields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.
 58 Thus there was very great gladnes among the people, and thereproch of the heathen was put away.
 59 So Iudas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel, ordained that the daies of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the fife and twentieth day of the moneth Challeu, with mirth and gladnesse.
 60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with high walles, and strong towers round about, lest the Gentiles should come and tread it downe, as they had done afore.
 61 Therefore they set a garison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea,

CHAP. V.

1 Iudas vanquished the heathen, that hee goe about to destroy Israel, and is helpe of his brethren Simon and Ionathan. 30 He ouerthroweth the city of Ephron, because they denied him passage thorow it.

NOW when the nations round about heard that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuary renewed as afore, they were fore grieved.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Iudas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at J Arrabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and hee smote them with a great plague, and droue them to straits, and tooke their spoiles.

4 Hee thought also vpon the malice of the children of Ben, which had bene a snare and an hindrance vnto the people, when they lay in wait for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towers, and besieged them, and destroyed them vtterly, and burnt their towers with fire, with all that were in them.

6 Afterward went hee against the children of Ammon, where hee found a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So he had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so he discomfited them,

8 And tooke Gazer with the townes thereof, and so turned againe into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in the quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castile of Datheman.

10 And sent letters to Iudas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs, 11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the forefront, wherunto we are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

12 Come now therefore and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine, 13 And all our brethren that were at Tabia are slaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galilee, with their clothes rent: which tolde the same tidings,

15 And saide, that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galilee of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them

16 When Iudas, and the people heard these wordes, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they besieged.

17 Then sayde Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren in Galilee, and I and my brother Ionathan will goe into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So he left Iosephus the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to bee captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Iudea, 19 And commanded them, saying, Take the oversight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, vntill we come againe.

20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thousand men to goe into Galilee, and to Iudas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galilee, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And he pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were slaine of the heathen almost three thousand men: so he tooke their spoiles.

23 Thus

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galilee and in Arbattis, with their wives and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus also, and his brother Jonathan went ouer Iorden, and trauailed three dayes iourney in the wilderness.

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them Iouingly, and told them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the country of Galaad.

26 And how that many of them were besieged in Bosfora, & Bosor, in Aleimis, Chasbon, Maged and Carnaim (all these cities are strong & great.)

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, & to morow they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these forts, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Iudas and his host turned in all haste by the way of the wilderness toward Bosfora, and wanne the citie, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and tooke all their spoile, and set fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night he removed from thence, and went toward the forresse.

30 And besides in the morning when they looked vp behold, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the fort, and had assailed them.

31 When Iudas saw that the battell was begun, and that the crie of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound, 32 Then he said vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went forth behind them with three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cried with prayer.

34 Then the host of Timotheus knew that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and hee smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Maspha, and laid siege vnto it, & wan it, and slew all the males thereof, and spoiled it, and set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went hee and tooke Chasbon, Maged and Bosor, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Iudas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that be round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great.

39 And hee hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come and fight against thee. So Iudas went to meete them.

40 Then Timotheus said vnto the captaines of his hoste, When Iudas and his host come neere the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shal not be able to withstand him: for he wil be too strong for vs.

41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, we will go ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

42 Now when Iudas came neere to the flood, he caused the gouernors of the people to remaine by the flood, & commanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to y battel.

43 So he went first ouer toward them, & all the people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, & cast away their weapons, and fled into the Temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which citie Iudas wan, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Iudas.

45 ¶ Then Iudas gathered all the Israelites that were in the country of Galaad from the least vnto the most, with their wives and their children, & their baggage, a very great hoste to come into the land of Iuda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way, and strongly defended: they could not passe, neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must goe thorow it.

47 But they y were in the citie, shut themselves in, & stopped vp the gates with stones: and Iudas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorow your land, that we may goe into our owne country, and none shall hurt you: we will but onely go thorow on foote: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Iudas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the hoste, that euery man should assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assailed the citie all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword, & destroyed it, & tooke the spoile thereof, & went thorow the city ouer them y were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Iorden into the great plaine before Bethshan.

53 And Iudas gathered together those that were behind, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorow, till they were come into the land of Iuda.

54 Thus they went vp with ioy and gladnesse vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safety.

55 ¶ Now whilest Iudas and Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galilee before Ptolemais, 56 Ioseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias the captaines hearing of the valiant acts, and battels which they had achieved, said, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hoste a commandment and went toward Iamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight against them.

60 And Ioseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Iudea, and their were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great ouerthrow among the people of Israel.

61 Because they were not obedient vnto Iudas and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of stock of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Iudas & his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, wherfoeuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Iudas forth with his brethren, & fought against the childre of Elsau in the land toward the South, where he wanne Hebron

and

and the townes thereof, and he destroyed the castle thereof, and burnt the townes thereof round about.

66 Then removed hee to goe into the land of the strangers, and went thorow Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priestes of the cities flaine in the battell, which would fiew their valiantnesse, and went forth to battell without counsell: And when Iudas came to Azor in the strangers land, hee brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, & tooke away the spoyles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Iuda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus willing to take the citie of Elmais, is driven away of the citizens. 8 He calleth vnto his friends and death. 17 His sonne Antiochus made iung. 31 The manner to prouoke Elephants to fight. 43 Elephants valiant all. 48 The siege of Sion.

NOW when king Antiochus trauailed thorow the high countries, he heard that Elmais in the country of Persia, was a city greatly renowned for riches, siluer and gold,

2 And that there was in it a very rich Temple, whereas were coverings of golde, coate armors, and harness, which Alexander king of Macedonia the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter,

4 And rose vp against him in battell, and hee fled and departed thence with great heauinesse, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreover, there came one which brought him tidings in the country of Persia, y the armies that went against the land of Iuda, were driven away,

6 And that Lysias which went forth first with a great power, was driven away of the Iewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoyles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed,

7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which hee had set vp vpon the altar at Ierusalem, and fenced the Sanctuary with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-sura his citie.

8 So when the king had heard these words, hee was astonished, and sore moued: therefore hee laid him downe vpon his bed, and fel sicke for very sorow, because it was not come to passe, as hee had thought.

9 And there continued he many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that he saw he must needs die.

10 Therefore hee sent for all his friends, and said vnto them, The sleep is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduertisie am I come? & into what floods of misery am I fallen now, whereas aforetime I was in prosperity, & greatly set by, by reason of my power?

12 And now doe I remember the evils that I haue done at Ierusalem: for I tooke all the vessels of gold and siluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.

13 I know that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and behold, I must die with great sorow in a strange land.

14 Then called he for Philip, one of his friends, whom he made ruler of all his realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, & his robe, and the ring, y he should instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp till he might reigne himselfe.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundredth and fourth and ninth yeere.

17 ¶ When Lysias knew that the king was dead, he ordained Antiochus his sonne (whom he had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator, 18 Now they that were in the castle at Ierusalem, kept in the Israelites round about the Sanctuary, and fought always their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Iudas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to besiege them.

20 So they came together and besieged them, in the hundredth and fifti yeere, and made instruments to shoot, and other engines of warre.

21 But certaine of them, that were besieged, gat forth, (vnto whom some vngodly men of Israel ioyned themselves,)

22 And they went vnto the king, laying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and avenge our brethren?

23 We haue been ready to serue thy father, and to goe forth in those things that he appointed, and to obey his commandments.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and wherefoever they found any of vs, they slew them, and spoyle our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely laid hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And behold, this day are they besieging the castle at Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuary and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou dost not prevent them quickly, they will doe greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the king heard this, he was very angry, and called all his friends, the captaines of his armie, and his horsemen, 29 And bands that were hired came vnto him, from the kings that were confederate, and from the yles of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundredth thousand footemen, and twenty thousand horsemen, and two and thirty Elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came thorow Idumea, and drew nere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season, and made engines of warre: but they came out and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Iudas from the castle, and removed the hoste toward Beth-zacarias ouer against the kings campe.

33 So the king arose very early, and brought the army and his power toward the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armie set themselves in aray to the battell, and blew the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberries,

35 And they set the beasts according to the ranges: so that by every elephant there stood a thousand men armed with coats of maile and helmets of brass vpon their heads, and vnto every beast were ordained fiftie hundredth horsemen of the best:

36 Which were ready at all times wherefoever the beast was: and whitherfoever the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towers of wood that couered every beast which were fastened thereon with instruments, & vpon every one was two and and thirtie men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They let also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the valleys.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shieldes, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings armie was spread vpon the high mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyse of their multitude, and the marching of the company, and the raling of the harnesse, were astonied: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Iudas and his hoste entered into the battell, and they slew fixe hundredth man of the kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar the sonne of Abaron, saw one of the elephants armed with royall harnesse, and was more excellent then all the other beasts, he thought that the king should bee vpon him.

44 Wherefore he jeopardized himselfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetual name.

45 And ran boldly vnto him through the mids of the hoste, slaying on the right hand and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went hee to the elephants feet, and gate him vnder him, and slew him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him: and there he died.

47 But the other seeing the power of the king, and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the kings armie went vp to meeete them toward Ierusalem, and the king pitched his tents in Iudea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreover the king tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came bout of the city, because they had no vitayles there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested, 50 The king tooke Beth-sura, and let there a garison to keepe it.

51 And, besieged the Sanctuary many dayes, and made instruments to shoot, and other engines of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts and slings.

52 ¶ They also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vitayles: for it was the seuenth yeere, and then they that were in Iudea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store.

54 So that in the Sanctuary were fewe men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Now when Lysias heard that Philip (whom Antiochus the king, while he liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be king.)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media, and the kings host with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things, 57 He and his halles, and were stirred forward by them in the castle to goe and tell the king, and the captaynes of the hoste, and to others, saying, Wee decreaie daily, and our vitayles are but small, and the place that we lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

58 Now therefore let vs agree with these men, and take truce with them, & with all their nation;

59 And grant them to liue after their law, as they did afore: for they bee grieued, and doe all the other things, because we haue broken their lawes.

60 So the king and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the king and the princes had made an oath vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortreffe.

62 And the king went vp to mount Sion: but when he saw that the place was well defended, he brake his oath that he had made, and com-manded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed he in all hast, and returned vnto Antiochia, where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: so he fought against him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

1 Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus had killed Antiochus and Lysias, & Hieronimus the children of Israel through the counsell of certain wicked persons. 2 The prayer of the Priests against Nicanor. 3 Iudas killed Nicanor, a Iereus that made his prayer.

IN the hundredth and fiftieth yeere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from home, and came vp with a few men vnto a citie of the sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when he came into the possession of his fathers kingdom, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lysias and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was told him, he said, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdom,

5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Israel, whose estate was Alcimus, that would haue one the hie Priest.

6 These manacured the people vnto the king, saying, Iudas and his brethren haue slaine all thy friends and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore send now some man whom thou trustest, that he may goe and see all the destruction which he hath done vnto vs, and to the kings land, and let him punish them with all their punishments.

8 Then the king chose Bacchides a friend of his which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and sent him, 9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom he made hie Priest, and commanded him to be auenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the land of Iuda, and sent messengers to Iudas and his brethren deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they belequed not their saying: for they saw that they were come with a great hoste.

12 Then a company of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreate of reasonable points.

13 And the Asideans were the first that required peace among the children of Israel.

14 For, said they, He that is the Priest of the seed of Aaron, is come with this army: therefore hee will not hurt vs.

15 Then he spake vnto them peaceably, and swore vnto them, and said, Wee will doe you no harme, neither your friends.

16 And they belequed him: but hee tooke of them threecore men, & slew them in one day according cording to the words that were written.

17 * They haue cast the bodies of thy Saints, and their blood round about Ierusalem, and there was no man that would bury them.

18 So the e came a feare and a trembling among all the people: for they said, There is neither truth nor righteousness in them: for they haue broken the appointment and oath that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remooued from Ierusalem, and pitched his tent at || Beth-zecha, where hee sent forth and tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people whom he slew and cast into the great pit.

20 Then committed he the country vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: so Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus stroue for the Priesthood.

22 And all such as troubled the people, reformed vnto him: insomuch that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 Now when Iudas saw all the mischief that Alcimus and his company had done among the Israelites more then the heathen, 24 He went forth round about all the borders of Iudea, and punished those that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroad in the country.

25 But when Alcimus saw that Iudas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, and knew that he was nor able to abide them, he went againe to the king, and accused them of wicked things.

26 Then the king sent Nicanor one of his chiefe princes, which hated Israel deadly, & commanded him that he should destroy the people.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ierusalem with a great hoste, and sent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying, 28 Let there bee no warre betwene mee, and you: I will come with few men, to see how you doe, friendly.

29 So hee came vnto Iudas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.

30 Neuerthelesse, it was tolde Iudas, that hee came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore he feared him, and would see his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceived that his counsell was betrayed, hee went out to fight against Iudas, beside || Carphasalama.

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors hoste about fise thousand men: so they fled into the citie of Dauid.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Si-on, and some of the Priests with the Elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuary to salute him peaceably, and to shewe him the burnt offering that was offered for the king.

34 But he laughed at them, and mocked them, and counted them prophane, and spake proudly.

35 And sware in his wrath, saying, If Iudas and his hoste bee not deliuered now into mine hands, if euer I come againe in Isacrie, I will burne vp this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.

39 Then the Priests came in, and stood before the altar in the Temple, weeping, and saying,

37 For asmuch as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this house, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people,

38 Beauenged of this man and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Ierusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

40 And Iudas pitched in || Adafa with three thousand men, where Iudas praied saying,

41 O Lord, * because the messengers of king Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forth, and slew an hundredth, four score and fise thousand of them.

42 So destroy thou this host before vs to day, that al other may know that he hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuary, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and hee himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Now when his armie saw that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes iourney from Adafa vnto Gadera, blowing alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the townes of Iudea round about, and rushed vpon them, and threw them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoyles and the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hand, which he held vp to proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.

49 And they ordeined to keepe yerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Iuda was in rest a little while.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas considering the power and policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 2 The conditions of mutual friendship sent to the Iewes.

Iudas heard also the fame of the Romanes, that they were mighty and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them.

2 And that they were men of great power, and they told him of their batells, and their worth: which they did among the || Galicians, whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute.

3 And what they had done in the country of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and gold.

4 And that by their counsell, and gentle behaviour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited and giuen great overthrowes to the kings that came against them, from the vttermost part of the earth, and that others gaue them tribute euery yeere.

5 How they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Peres kings of the || Macedonians, and others that arose against them, and how they ouercamethem.

7 And how they tooke him alive, and orſeined him, with ſuch as ſhould reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hoſtages, and a ſeparate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Media, and Lydia, & of his beſt countries, which they tooke of him, and gaue them to king Eumenes.

9 Againſe, when it was told them that the Grecians were coming to deſtroy them,

10 They ſent againſt them a capitaine, which gaue them battell, and ſlew many of them, and tooke many priſoners with their wiues and children, and ſpoiled them and conquered their land, and deſtroyed their ſtrong holdes, and ſubdued them to be their bondmen, vnto this day:

11 Moreouer, how they deſtroyed & brought into ſubiection other kingdomes and yles, whoſeuer had withſtood them:

12 But that they kept amity with their owne friends, and thoſe that ſtayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, in ſomuch that whoſeuer held of their renowne, was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their kingdomes, thoſe reigned, and whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in moſt high authoritie, 14 Yet for all this that none of them were a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to bee magnified therel y.

15 But that they had ordeined them ſelues: a counſell, wherein three hundred and twenty men conſulted dayly, and provided for the common affaires to gouernethem well, 16 And that they committed their gouernment to one man euery yere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither harred, nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Iudas choſe Eupolemus the ſonne of Iohn, the ſonne of Accus, and Iaſon the ſonne of Eleazar, and ſet them vnto Rome to make friendſhip and mutuall fellowſhip with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they law that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Iſrael in bondage)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, & came into the || Senate, where they ſpake and ſaid, 20 Iudas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes had ſent vs vnto you, to make a bond offriendſhip & peace with you, and yeto regiſter vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleaſed them.

22 And this is the copie of the epiſtle that they wrote in tables of braſſe, and ſent to Ieruſalem, that they might haue by them a memorieall of the peace, and mutuall fellowſhip.

23 Good ſucceſſe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Iewes, by ſea, and by land for euer, and the ſword, and enemie be from them.

24 If there come firſt any warre vpon the Romanes, or any of their friends thorowout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Iewes ſhall helpe them, as the time ſhall be appointed, with all their heart.

26 Alſo || they ſhall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor ſerue them with wheate, nor weapons, nor money, nor ſhips, as it pleaſeth the Romanes. but || they ſhall keepe their covenants, without taking any thing of them.

27 Likewise alſo if warre come firſt againſt the nation of the Iewes, the Romanes ſhall helpe them with a good will, according as the time ſhall be appointed them.

28 Neither ſhall wheate be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ſhips, as it pleaſeth the Romanes, who will keepe theſe covenants without deceit.

29 According to theſe articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after theſe points, the one parte or the other will adde or diſmiſh, they may doe it at their pleaſures, and whatſoeuer they ſhall adde or take away, ſhall be ratified.

31 And aſtouching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, we haue written vnto him, ſaying, Wherefore ſayeſt thou thine heauie yoke vpon our friends & confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more againſt thee, wee will doethem iuſtice, and fight with thee by ſea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius ſent his army againſt Iudas. 18 Iudas ſaues himſe. 31 Iudas is put in the ſtead of his brother. 47 The battell betweene Bacchides and Ionathans. 19 Accuſation written with the ſiſte, and ſeeth. 28 He cometh vpon Ionathans by the counſell of certaine wicked priuies, and is overcome. 70 The trueth of Ionathans ſiſte accuſation.

IN the meane ſeaſon when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor and his hoſte had giuen the battell, he ſent Bacchides and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his || chief ſtrength with them.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Vieſaloth which is in Arbelis, and wanne it, and ſlew much people.

3 And in the firſt month of the hundredth ſixtie and two yere, they laid their ſiege againſt Ieruſalem.

4 But they raiſed their campe, and came to Berea, with twenty thouſand ſoote men, and two thouſand horſemen.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at || Eleaſa, and three thouſand choſen men with him.

6 And when they ſaw that the multitude of the armie was great, they were fore afraid, and many conueyed themſelues out of the hoſte, ſo that there abode no more of them, but eight hundred men.

7 When Iudas ſaw that his hoſte failed him, and that he muſt needs fight, he was fore troubled in mind, that he had no time to gather them together, and was diſcouraged.

8 Neuertheleſſe, he ſaid vnto them that remained, Let vs riſe, and goe vp againſt our enemies, if peraduenture we may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue ſtayed him, ſaying, We are not able, but let vs rather ſaue our liues: turne backe now, ſeeing our brethren are departed: for ſhall we fight againſt them that are ſo few?

10 Then Iudas ſaid, God forbid that we ſhould doe his thing, to flee from them: for our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not ſtaine our honour.

11 Then the hoſte remoued out of the tents, and ſtood againſt them, who had diuided their horſemen into two troopes, and they that threw with ſlings, and the archers marched in the foreward, and they that fought in the foreward were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drew neere on both ſides, and blew the trumpets, 13 They of Iudas side blew the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noife of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Iudas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardie men, 15 And braket the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto Mount Azotus.

16 Now when they which were of the left wing saw that the right wing was discomfited they followed Iudas behind, and them that were with him hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a fore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Iudas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Ionathan and Simon tooke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre in the cite of Modin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, saying, 21 How is the valiant man fallen which delivered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Iudas, both the battels and the valiant actes that he did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

¶ 1. Eph. ch. 13.
¶ 1. Cor. 1. 13.

23 ¶ Now after the death of Iudas, wicked men came vp in all the coasts of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselves to iniquity.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselves with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These fought out, & made search for Iudas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Iudas friends together, and said vnto Ionathan, ¶ Or, againe the enemies of our nation.

29 Seeing thy brother Iudas is dead, and there is nonelike him to go forth against our enemies, euert against Bacchides, and || against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs,

30 Therefore this day we chuse thee, that thou mayest be our prince and capitaine in his place, to order our battell.

31 So Ionathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Iudas.

32 But when Bacchides knew it, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Ionathan and Simon his brother perceiving that, fled into the wilderness of Thecua with all their company, and pitched their tents by the water poole of Asphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstood, hee came ouer Iorden with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Ionathan sent his brother Iohn, a capitaine of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

¶ Or, Iordan.

36 But the children of || Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke Iohn and all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Ionathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great mariage, & brought the bride from Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest princes of Canaan.

¶ Or, Nababab.

38 Therefore they remembered Iohn their brother, and went vp, and hid themselves vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, & looked, and beheld, there was a great noyle, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friends and his brethren met them with timbrels, and instruments of musike, and many weapons.

40 Then Ionathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, and slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoyle.

41 Thus the mariage was turned to mourning, and the noyle of their melody into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Iorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon the sabbath day.)

44 Then Ionathan sayd vnto his company, Lets rise now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Behold, the battell is before vs, and behind vs, and the water of Iorden on this side and that side, and the maine, and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore crie now vnto heuen, that yee may bee delivered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Ionathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but hee turned aside from him and recoiled, 48 Then Ionathan, and they that were with him, leapt into Iorden, and swimmied ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not passe thorow Iorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Ierusalem, and built vp the strong cities in Iuda, as the castle of Iericho, and Emmaus and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, || Pharathon, and || Tephso, with high walles, with gates, and with barres,

¶ Or, Thora.
¶ Or, Tephso.

51 And let garisons in them, that they might vie their malice vpon Israel.

52 Hee fortified also the cite Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of vitales.

53 Hee tooke also the chiefeest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Ierusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundred fiftie and three yere, in the second month, Alcimus commanded that the willes of the inner court of the Sanctuary should be destroyed, and he pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a palfie, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides sawe that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the king and so the land of Iuda was in rest two yeres.

F 58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, saying, Behold, Ionathan, & his company dwell at ease, & without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, & he will take them all in one night,
59 So they went and consulted with him
60 Who arose and came with a great host, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Iudea, to take Ionathan and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsell was knowne vnto them.

[Or, Ionathans.

61 And || they tooke fiftie men of the country, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednesse, and slew them.

[Or, Beth-leffem.

62 ¶ Then Ionathan and Simon with their company departed vnto || Beth-basin, which is in the wilderness, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his host, and sent word to them that were of Iudea.

64 Then came he and laid siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.

65 But Ionathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went forth into the country, and came with a certaine number,

[Or, Odarus.

66 And slew || Odomerus and his brethren and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so hee began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also and his company went out of the city, and burnt vp the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomforted him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsell and journey was in vaine.

69 Wherefore hee was very wroth at the wicked men, that gaue him counsell to come into the country, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Ionathan had knowledge, hee sent ambassadours vnto him, to intreat of peace with him, and that the prisoners should bee deliuered.

71 Which thing hee accepted, and did according to his desire, & made an oath, that he would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So hee restored vnto him the prisoners that hee had taken aforetime out of the land of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne land, neither did he come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Ionathan dwelt at Machmas, and beganne there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

C H A P. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Ionathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemies and Alexander.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. cap. 2. 3.

IN the hundredth and threescore yere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemais, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, hee gathered an exceeding great host, and went forth against him to fight

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Ionathan, with louing words, as though he would prefer him,

4 For hee said, Vvee will first make peace with him, before he ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Else he will remember all the euill that wee haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so he gaue Ionathan leaue to gather an host, and to prepare weapons, and to bee Confederate with him, and commanded the hostages that were in the castle, to be deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Ionathan to Ierusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castle.

8 Therefore they were sore afrayde, because they heard that the king had giuen him license to gather an arme.

9 So they that were of the castle, deliuered the hostages vnto Ionathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Ionathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and began to build and repaire the citie.

11 And hee commanded the workemen to build the wals, and the mount Sion round about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castles which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that every man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Only at Beth-sura, remained certaine which had forsaken the Law, and the commandements: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when king Alexander had heard of the promise that Demetrius had made vnto Ionathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble acts, which hee and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 He sayd, Might we finde such a man? now therefore wee will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Vpon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these words, saying, 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Ionathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordaine thee to bee the high Priest of thy nation, and to be called the kings friend: (and hee sent him a purple robe, and a crown of gold) y thou maiest || consider what is for our profite, and keepe friendship toward vs.

[Or, raise
[Or, sake our part

21 So in the seventh moneth of the hundred & threescore yere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Ionathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an host, and prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, hee was marueilous sory, and said, Ioseph. Antiq. 13. cap. 3.

23 What haue we done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting y friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewards, that they may helpe me.

25 Wherevpon hee wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIUS vnto the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant toward vs, & continue in our friendship, and haue not ioynd with our enemies, wherof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still and keepe fidelity toward vs, and wee will recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And will releafe you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, & free you from the customes of sale, and the crowne-taxes, and from the third part.

part of the seede.

30 And from the halfe of the fruit of the trees which is mine owne luerie, I fo release them, that from this day fourth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda or of the three gouernments which are added therunto, as of Samaria, and of Galile, from this day forth for euer more.

31 Ierusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall be holy and free from the tenths and tribute.

32 Also I release the power of the castle which is at Ierusalem, & giue it vnto the big Priest, that he may let in if such men, as he shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreover, I freely deliuer euery one of the Iewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my realme, and euery one of them shall bee free from tributes, yea, euen their cattell, 34 And all the feastes, and Sabbaths, and new Moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedome, and libertie for all the Iewes in my realme.

35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing, or to vex any of them in any manner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousand of the Iewes shall be writen vp in the kings hofte, and haue their wages payed them, as apperteineth to all them that are of the kings armie: and of them shall be ordeined certaine to keepe the kings strong holds.

37 And some of them shall be set ouer the kings most secret affaires, and their gouernors and their Princes shall be of themselves, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the king hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the three gouernments that are added vnto Iudea from the countrie of samaria, shall be ioyned vnto Iudea, and they shall be as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the high Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais & the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuary at Ierusalem, for the necessary expences of the holy things.

40 Moreover, I will giue euery yeere fiftene thousand sicles of siluer of the kings reuenues out of the places appertaining vnto mee.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not paid for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shall giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides this the fure thousand sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the account appointed for the entertainment of the Sanctuary thes yeeres passed, eue these things shall be released because they appertaine to the Priests that minister

43 Item, whosoeuer they be that flee vnto the Temple at Ierusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indred to the king for any manner of thing, they shall be pardoned, and all that they haue in my Realme.

44 For the building also and repairing of the workes of the Sanctuary, expences shall be giuen of the kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Ierusalem, and for fortifying it round about, that the houses in Iudea may be built vp, shall also the costs be giuen out of the kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Ionathan and the people heard these words, they gaue no credite vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembered the great wickednesse that hee had done in Israel, and how fore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great host, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioyned battell, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.

50 So that fore battell continued till the sunne went down, & Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadors vnto Ptoleus the king of Egypt with these wordes, saying,

52 For so much as I am come againe to my Realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and I haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and he and his army is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I bee thy sonne in law, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptoleus the king gaue answere, saying, Hap, y be the day wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meet mee at Ptolemais that wee may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptoleus went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundredth threescore and two yere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and hee gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemais with great glory, as the manner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Ionathan, that he should come and meete him.

60 So hee went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there hee met the two kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine pestilent fellows of Israel, & wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they should take off the garments of Ionathan, and clothe him in purple, and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him.

63 And said vnto his princes, Go with him into the mids of Iy city, and make a proclamation that no man complaine against him of any matter, & that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honor according as it was proclaimed, and that hee was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honor, and wrote him among his chiefe friends, & made him a Duke, and partraker of his dominion.

66 Thus Ionathan returned to Ierusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundredth threescore and fure yere, came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius from Creta into his fathers land.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, he was very sorry, and returned vnto Antiochia

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouergouernour of Caeſoyria, who gathered a great houte and camped in Iamnia, and ſent vnto Ionathan the high Prieſt, ſaying, 70 Dareſt thou, being alone, liſt vp thy ſelfe againſt vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, becauſe of thee: now therefore why doeſt thou varnethy ſelfe againſt vs in the mountaines?

71 Now then if thou truſt in thine owne ſtrength, come downe to vs in the plaine field, and there let vs try the matter together: for I haue the ſtrength of cities.

72 Alke and learne who I am, and they ſhall take my part: & they ſhall tell thee that your foot is not able to ſtand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twice chaſed in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou bee able to abide ſo great an hoſte of horſemen and footmen in the plaine, where is neither ſtone, nor rock, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Ionathan heard the words of Apollonius, he was moued in his mind: wherefore he choſe ten thouſand men, and went out of Ieruſalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Ioppe: but they ſhew him out of the citie: for Apollonius graſion was in Ioppe.

76 Then they fought againſt it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: ſo Ionathan wan Ioppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thouſand horſemen, with a great hoſt of footmen, and went toward Azotus, although he would go forward, and came immediately into the plaine field, becauſe hee had to many horſemen, and put his truſt in them.

78 So Ionathan ſollowed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie ſkirmiſhed with his arriere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thouſand horſemen behind him in ambuſh.

80 And Ionathan knew that there was an ambuſement behinde him: and though they had compaſſed in his hoſte, and ſhot darts at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people ſtood ſtill, as Ionathan had commanded them, till their horſes were wearie.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoſte, and ſet them againſt the band: but the horſes were weary, and he diſcomfited them, and they fled: ſo the horſemen were ſtattered in the ſie d.

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there ſaue themſelues.

84 But Ionathan ſet fire vpon Azotus, and all the cities round about it, and tooke their ſpoiles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were ſlaine and burnt about eight thouſand men.

86 So Ionathan remoued the hoſt from thence, and camped by Aſcalon, where the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Ionathan and his hoſte againe to Ieruſalem, with great ſpoiles.

88 And when King Alexander heard theſe things, he began to dee Ionathan more honour.

89 And ſent him a collar of gold, as the vſe is to be giuen vnto ſuch as are of the Kings blood: he gaue him alſo Accaron, with the borders thereof in poſſeſſion.

CHAP. XI.

1 The diſſention betwene Ptolemus and Alexander his ſonne in law. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reſt after the death of Ptolemus. 22 Ioua is beſieged of Ionathan. 42 Demetrius ſeeing that no man reſiſteth him, ſendeth his armie againe. 54 Tryphon moueth Antiochus againſt Demetrius.

And the king of Egypt gathered a great hoſt, like the ſand that lieth vpon the ſea ſhore, and many ſhips, and went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioine it vnto his owne realme.

2 Vpon this he went into Syria with friendly words, and was let into the cities, and men came forth to meet him: for king Alexander had commanded them to receiue him, becauſe he was his father in law.

3 Now when he entred into the citie of Ptolemais, hee left bands and garilons in euery citie.

4 And when hee came neere to Azotus, they ſhewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the ſuburbes thereof that were deſtroyed, and the bodies caſt abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where hee ſhould paſſe.

5 And they told the king what Ionathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the king held his peace.

6 And Ionathan met the king with great honour at Ioppe, where they ſaluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Ionathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Ieruſalem.

8 So king Ptolemus gate the dominion of the cities by the ſea vnto Seleucia vpon the ſea coaſt, imagining wicked counſels againſt Alexander.

9 ¶ And ſent ambſſadours vnto king Demetrius, ſaying, Come, let vs make a league betwene vs, & I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou ſhalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to ſlay me.

11 Thus he ſlandered Alexander, as one that ſhould deſire his realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forſooke Alexander, ſo that their hatred was openly known.

13 Then Ptolemus came to Antiochia, where he let two crownes vpon his owne head, of Aſia, and of Egypt.

14 In the meane ſeaſon was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in thoſe places, had rebelled againſt him.

15 But when Alexander heard it, hee came to warre againſt him, and Ptolemus brought forth his hoſte, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander iuro Arabia, there to be defended: ſo Ptolemus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian ſonne of Alexander head, and ſent it vnto Ptolemus.

18 But the third day after, King Ptolemus died: and they that were in the holds, were ſlaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundred threſcore and ſeventh yeere.

20 ¶ At the ſame time gaue her Ionathan them that were in Iudea, to lay ſiege vnto the caſtle, which was at Ieruſalem, and they made many instruments struments of warre against it.

& & ſtruments

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and told him that Ionathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it he was angry, and immediately came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Ionathan that hee should lay no more siege vnto it, but that hee should meet him and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neurtherelſe when Ionathan heard this, he commaunded to besiege it: hee chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, and of the Priests, and put himselfe in danger.

24 And tooke with him siluer and golde, and apparel, & diuers presents and went to Ptolemais vnto the king, and found labour in his sight.

25 And though certein vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him, 26 Yet the king increased him as his predecessors had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends.

27 And confirmed him in the high Priesthood with all the honourable things, that he had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Ionathan also desired king, that he would make Iudea free with the three governments, and the countrey of Samaria, and Ionathan promised him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gaue Ionathan writing of the same, containing these words.

30 KING DEMETRIUS vnto his brother Ionathan, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

31 We send you here a copy of the letter which wee did write vnto our cousin Lathenes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lathenes his father, sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulness that our friends the nation of the Iewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towards vs, we are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Iudea with the three governments, Apherema, and Lydda, & Ramath (which are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that apperteineth to all them that sacrefice in Ierusalem both concerning the paymer's which the king tooke yearly also erime, both for the fruits of the earth, and for the fruits of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenths and tributes, which were due vnto vs and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof shalbe reckoned from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that ye make a copy of these things, and deliuer it vnto Ionathan, that it may be set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this, when Demetrius the king saw that his land was in rest, & that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his host euery man to his owne place, except certaine bands of strangers, whom he brought from the vles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers host hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when he saw that all the host murmured against Demetrius, he went to Simacue the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, 40 And layd fore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that hee might reigne in his fathers stead: he told him also what great euill Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Ionathan sent vnto king Demetrius, to driue them out which were in the castle at Ierusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Ionathan, saying, I will not onely doe the things for thee and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee, and thy nation.

43 Now therefore thou shalt doe mee a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all mine army is gone from me.

44 So Ionathan sent him three thousand strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the king, wherefore the king was very glad at their coming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, euen an hundred and twenty thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the citie, and would haue slaine the King.

46 But the king fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streets of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called vnto the Iewes for helpe, which came to him all together, and went abroad thorow the citie.

48 And slew the same day an hundred thousand, and set fire vpon the citie, and tooke many spoiles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the citie, and that they the ciues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 ¶ Grant vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from vexing vs and the citie.

51 So they cast away their weapons, and made peace, & the Iewes were greatly honoured before the king, & before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.

52 Then king Demetrius sat in the throne of his kingdome and had peace in his land.

53 Neurtherelſe he dissembled in all that euer he spake, and withdrew himselfe from Ionathan, neither did he reward him according to the benefits which he had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the young childe Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, & they fought against him, who fled & turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the beasts, and wanne Antiochia.

57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Ionathan, saying, I appoint thee to be the chiefe Priest, and make thee ruler over the foure governments, that thou mayest be a friend of the Kings.

58 Vpon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leue to drinke in gold, and to wear purple, and to haue a collar of gold.

59 Hee made his brother Simon also capitaine from the coastes of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Ionathan went soorth, and passed thorow thorow the cities beyond the flood, & all the men of waire of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came to Askalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoiled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Ionathan, and he made peace with them, and tooke of the sommes of the chiefe men for hostiages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the country vnto Damalus.

63 And when Ionathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cadès, which is in Calile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the country, 64 Hee came against them, and lest Simon his brother in the country.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and sought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which hee granted them, and afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garrison in it.

67 Then Ionathan with his hoste came to the water of Genesar, and becomes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And behold, the hostes of the // strangers met him in the plaine, and had layd ambushments for him in the mountaines.

69 So that when they came against the, the ambushments rose out of their places & skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Ionathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Matathias the sonne of // Absalomus, and Iudas the sonne of Calphi the captaines of the hoste.

71 Then Ionathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to followe after all vnto their tents at Cadès; and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Ionathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Ionathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 2 and to the people of Sparta, to renewe their covenants of friendship. 24 Ionathan putteth his flight the princes of Demetrius. 40 Triphon taketh Ionathan by deceit.

Ionathan now seeing that the time was meete for him, chose certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to establish and renew the friendship with them.

2 Hee sent letters also vnto the Spartians and to other places for the same purpose.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and said, Ionathan the high Priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renew friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romans gaue them free passages, that men should leade them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 ¶ AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Ionathan wrote vnto the Spartians.

6 Ionathan the high Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priests, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from // Ar us, which then reigned among you, that yee would be our brethren, as the copie heretofore written specifeth.

8 And Onias intended the ambassidor honorably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, we need no such writings: for we haue the holy books in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuertheless we thought it good to send vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest wee should bee strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore wee remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts and other daies appointed, when wee offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And we reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue bene moued with great troubles and wars, so that the kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would wee not bee grieuous vnto you, nor to other of your confederates and friends in these warres.

15 For wee haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and we are deliuered from our enemies and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue wee chosen Nimenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Ialon, and sent them vnto the Romans, for to renewe the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commanded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuet you our letters, concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answer of these things.

19 ¶ And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the king of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the hie Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is cometo our knowledge, yee shall doe well, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs wee haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue wee commanded to bee shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Now when Ionathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him with a greater hoste then afore, 25 Hewent from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue them not place to come into his owne country.

26 And hee spent spies vnto their tents, which came againe, & told him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore when the Sun was gone down, Ionathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Ionathan was ready with his mento the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuertheless Ionathan and his company knewe it not till the morning : for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Iona han followed vpon them, but he could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Ionathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and slew them, and tooke their spoile.

32 He proceeded further al'o, and came vnto Damascus, and went thorow all the country.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Afcalon, and to the next holds, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

34 For he heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Ionathan home, & called the elders of the people together, & deuided with them for to build vp the strong holds in Iudea.

36 And to make the wals of Ierusalem higher, and to make a great mount betwixt the castle and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might bee alone, and that men should neither buy nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the citie: for part of the wall vpon the brooke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it and called it Capphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, & made it strong with gares and barres.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and was to be crownd when hee had slaine the king Antiochus.

40 But hee was afraid that Ionathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Ionathan, and to kill him: so he departed, and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Ionathan forth against him to the battell with forty thousand cholen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon sawe that Ionathan came with so great an host, hee durst not lay hand vpon him, 43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his friendes, and gaue him rewards, and commanded his men of warre to bee as obedient vnto him as to himselfe.

44 And saide vnto Ionathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such traueille, seeing there is no warre betwene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and comethou with me to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: I will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my coming.

46 Ionathan beleued him, and did as he saide, and sent away his host, which went into the land of Iuda.

47 And retrained but threethousand with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Now assoone as Ionathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gares, and tooke him, and slew all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen, and horsemen into Galile, & into the great plaine to destroy all Ionathans company.

50 But when they knewe that Ionathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, saw that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Ionathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captain, nor any man to helpe them, therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memory from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Ionathan was taken, Simon was chosyn captain. 17 Tryphon taking his children, and many for the redemption of Ionathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the Realme. 36 Demetrius taketh Iruze. 41 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 He possesseth the towne of Sion. 53 He maketh his Ioue his captaine.

Now when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great host to come into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it,

2 And saw that the people was in great trembling and teare, he came vp to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Yee know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the Lawe and the Sanctuary, and the battels, and troubles that wee haue seene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will auenge my nation, and the Sanctuary, and our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these wordes, the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Thou shalt be our captaine in stead of Iudas and Ionathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoever thou commandest vs, we will doe it.

10 ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making haste to finish the walles of Ierusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent hee Ionathan the sonne of Abshalomus with a great hoste vnto Ioppe, which drone them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remooued from Ptolemais with a great army, to come into the land of Iuda, and Ionathan was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at Additis vpon the open plaine.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stood vp in stead of his brother Ionathan, and that hee would fight against him, hee sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Ionathan thy brother, it is for money that hee is owing in the kings account: concerning the busines that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundred talents of silver, and his two finnes for hostages, that when he is letten forth, he will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Neuer theles Simon knew that he dissembled in his words: yet commanded hee the money, and children to bee deliuered vnto him, lest he should bee in greater hatred of the people of Israel:

18 Who might haue said, Because he sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So he sent the children and an hundred talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Jonathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, that leadeth vnto Adora: but wheresoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castle, sent messengers vnto Tryphon that he should make haste to come by the wilderness, & to send them vitayles.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snow, so that he came not because of the snow: but hee remooued, and went into the countrey of Galsad.

23 And when hee came nere to Biscama, hee slew Jonathan, and hee was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto, of hewen stone behind and before,

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetuall memorie, and carued ships beside the armes, that they might be seene of men, sailing in the sea.

30 This sepulchre which hee made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 ¶ Now as Tryphon went forth with the yong king Antiochus he slew him traiterously.

32 And reigned in his stead, and crowned himselfe king of Asia, and brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castles of Iudea, and compassed them about with hie towres, and great walles, euen with towres, and gates, and barres, and layd vp vitayles in the strong holds.

34 Moreover, Simon chose certaine men & sent them to king Demetrius, that he would discharge the land, for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Wherevpon Demetrius the king answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 DEMETRIUS the king vnto Simon the high Priest, and the friend of kings, and to the Elders and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crowne, and || precious stone that yee sent vnto vs, haue wee receiued, and are ready to make steadfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers to releafe you of the things wherein we made you free.

38 As to the things that wee haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holds which yee haue builded, shall be your owne.

39 Also wee forgiue the ouersights and faults committed vnto this day, & the crowne tax that yee ought vs: and whereas was any other tribute in Ierusalem, it shall be now no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to be written with our men, let them bee written vp, that there may be peace betweene vs.

41 Thus the y-ke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundred and founte yee.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, and publike instruments. IN THE FIRST yee of Simon, the hie and chiefe Priest, gouernour and prince of the Iewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where he set vp an engine of warre, and approached nere the citie, and beat a towre, and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the citie, and there was great trouble in the citie.

45 Inlomuch that the people of the citie rent their clothes, and climbed vp vpon the wals with their wiues, and children, and cryed with a loud voyce, beleeching Simon to grant them peace, saying, 46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, and would fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and cleanted the houles, wherein the idoles were, and io entered thereunto with Palmes and thanksgiuing.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set such men in as kept the Law, and ordained it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now when they in the castle at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come forth, nor goe into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were famished to death, 50 Inlomuch that they besought Simon to make peace with them, which hee granted them, and put them out from thence, and cleanted the castle from filthinesse.

51 And vpon the three and twentie day of the second month, in the hundred leuente and one yee, they entered into it with thanksgiuing, and branches of palm trees, and with haipes, and with cimballs, and with vioules, and with Palmes, and songs, because the great enemy of Israel was overcome.

52 And hee ordeined that the same day should be kept euery yee with gladnesse.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castle, where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also tearyng that Iohn his sonne was now a man, he made him captain of all the holks, and caused him to dwell in Gazaris.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Demetrius is overcome of Antiochus. 2 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnes in Israel. 3 The continuall friendship with the Romanes and with the people of Spaine renewed.

IN the hundred thentie and two yee gathered king Demetrius his holks & depaied vnto Media, to get him help for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Antiochus the king of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So he went and overcame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Antiochus, which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for hee fought the wealth of his nation, therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to doehim worship alway.

5 Sim in also wanne the cite of Ioppe to his great honour to be an hauen towne, and made it an entrance vnto the yles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreies.

7 Hee gathered vp many of their people that were prisoners, and hee had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth sura, and the castle, which he cled from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him;

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruit.

9 The Elders fate in the open places, and consulted all together for the common wealth, & the young men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 Hee provided vitayles for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious name was renowned vnto the end of the world.

11 Hee made peace throughout the land, and Israel had perfect mirth and ioy.

12 For euery man sat vnder his vine, and the figge trees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the kings were ouercome.

14 Hee helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: hee was diligent to see the Law kept, & he tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 Hee be situated the Sanctuary, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romanes heard, and the Spartians had knowledge, that Ionathan was dead, they were very forry.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made his Priest in his stead, and how hee had wonne the land againe with the cities in it, 18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renew the friendship, and bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Ionathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Ierusalem, and this is the copy of the letters that the Spartians sent, 20 THE SENATORS and cite of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, we were glad of their comming, 22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publike records in this manner, NUMENIVS the same of Antiochus, and Antipater the same of Iafon the Iewes ambassadours, came vnto vs to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people that the men should be honourably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should be registred in the publike records, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copy of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shiel of gold of a thousand pound weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstood, they said, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For hee and his brethren, and the house of his father haue established Israel, and overcome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copy of the writing is this, In the eight and twentie day of the moneth || Elul in the hundredth seuentie and two yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the high Priest.

28 In || Saramel in the great Congregation of the Priestes, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the Elders of the countrey, we would signifie vnto you, that many batels haue bene fought in our countrey:

29 Wherein Simon the son of Mattathias (come of the children of Iarib) & his brethren put themselves in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuary, and law might be maintained, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Ionathan gathered his nation together, and became their hie Priest, and is layd with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inuaded their countrey, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuary,

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages:

33 Hee fortified also the cities of Iudea, and Beth sura that lieth vpon the borders of Iudea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay some time) and set there a garrison of the Iewes.

34 And hee fortified Ioppe, which lieth vpon the sea, and || Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus, (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there hee placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessary for the reparation thereof

35 Now when the people saw the faithfulness of Simon, and to whar glory he thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, because hee had done all these things and for the vprightnesse and fidelitie that hee had kept to his nation, and that fought by all meanes to exalt his people, 36 For in his time they prospered wel by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the cite of Dauid at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castle, out of the which they went, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuary, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it for the assurance of the land, and cite, and raised vp the walles of Ierusalem.

38 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his high Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friends, and gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romanes called the Iewes their friends, and confederates, and that they honourably receiued Simons ambassadours, 41 And that the Iewes, and Priests consented, that Simon should be their Prince, and hie Priest perpetually, till God raised vp the true Prophet,

42 And that he should be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuary, and to set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, and that should make prouision for the holy things,

43 And that he should be obeyed of euery man, and that all the writings in the countrey should be be made in his name, and that hee should be clothed in purple, and weare gold,

44 And that it should not bee lawfull for any of the people or Priestes to breake any of these things, or to withstand his words, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or to be clothed in purple, or weare a collar of gold:

45 And if any did contrary to these things, or breake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it should be done to Simon according vnto these words.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the capitaine, and the prince of the Iewes, and of the Priestes, and to be the chiefe of all.

48 And they commanded to set vp this writing in tables of brasie, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuaries in an open place, 49 And that a copie of the same should be hid vp in the tresurie, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Simon. 12 Tryphon is punished. 15 The Romans write letters vnto kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 17 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sought him, breaketh his covenant.

Moreouer king Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the isles of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Containing these words, ANTIOCHVS the king vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vsurped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to challenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the old estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great bolle, and prepared shippes of warre,

4 That I may get thorow the countrey, and bee auenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

5 Now therefore I doe confirme vnto thee all the liberties wherof all the kings my progenitors haue discharged thee, and all the payments, wherof they haue released thee.

6 And I geue thee leave to coyne money of thine owne stamp within thy countrey.

7 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuaries be free, and that all the weapons that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine hands shall be thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the king, and all that shall be due vnto the king, I forgiue it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

9 And when we haue obtained our kingdome, we will giue thee, and thy nation and the Temple greeting: on so that thy honour shall be known throughout the world.

10 ¶ In the hundredth and foure yere, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the bands came together vnto him, so that fewe were left with Tryphon.

11 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but he fled, and came to Dora, which lieth by the sea side.

12 For he saw that troubles were toward him, and that hee had forlosten him.

13 Then came Antiochus against Dora with an hundredth and twenty thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So hee compassed the citie about, and the shippes came by the sea. Thus hee possessed the citie by land and by sea, in token wherewith they fastened no man to goe in nor out.

15 In then came Iason came Numerius, and his company from Rome, hauing letters written vnto the kings and counties, wherein were contained these words.

16 LVCIVS the Councel of Rome vnto king Proteus sendeth greeting.

17 The Ambassadors of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friends and confederates from Simon the high Priest, and from the people of the Iewes to renew friendship, and the bond of loue, 18 Who haue brought a field of gold weighing a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the kings & counties, that they should not go about to hurt them, nor to fight against them nor their cities nor their countrey, neither to maintain their enemies against them.

20 And wee were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there be any pestilent fellows fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the high Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, and to Artalus, and to Arathes, and to Arsaces, 23 And to all the counties, as to Samphanes, and to them of Sparta, and to Delus, and to Minidus, and to Sycon, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lydia, and to Hilaricassius, and to Rhodus, & to Phaelis, and to Coos, and to Siden, and to Certima, and to Guidon, and to Cypius, and to Cyrene.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the high Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the king camped against Dora the second time, euer ready to take it, and made diuers engines of warfare, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither goe in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and golde, and much furniture.

27 Neuertheless, he would not receiue them, but brake all the covenant, which hee had made with him afore, and withdrew himselfe from him.

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends to commune with him, saying, Yee withhold Ioppe, and Gazara with the callic that is at Ierusalem, the citie of my Realme, 29 Whose borders yee haue destroyed & done great hurt in the land, and haue the government of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the cities, which yee haue raken, with the tributes of the places, that yee haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea.

31 Or else giue mee for them five hundredth talents of siluer, & for the harme that yee haue done, and for the tributes of the places other five hundredth talents: if not, we will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when he saw the honour of Simon, and the cupbord of golde and siluer plate, and so great preparation, hee was astonished, and told him the king himselfe.

33 Then answered Simon, & said vnto him, We haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which apperaineth to others, but our fathers heritage which our enemies had vnrightheously in possession a certaine time.

34 But when we had occasion, wee recovered the inheritance of our fathers.

For, complaint concerning.

35 And whereas thou requirest loppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorow our country, yet wil we giue an hundred talents for them, But Athenobius answered him not one word, 36 But turned againe angrie vnto the king, and told him a litle words, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that he had teene; and the King was very angry.

37 ¶ In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship vnto Orthofias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus capitaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footmen, and horsemen, 39 And commanded him to remoue the heste toward Iudea, and to build vp Iedion, and to fortifie the gate, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, and began to vex the people, and to invade Iudea, and to take the people prisoners, and to slay them 41 And hee built vp Cedron, where hee left horsemen and garrison: that they might make outrides by the wayes of Iudea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the capitaine of Abubus host is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemus the sonne of Awuketh Simon and his sonne at a banquet. 25 Iohn quicketh them that lie in waite for his life.

*Ioseph. Antiq. 13.
chap. 12.*

Then came Iohn vp from Gazara, and told Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and said vnto them. I, and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and wee haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am now old, and yee by Gods mercie are of a sufficient age: be yee therefore in stead of me and my brother, and goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen bee with you.

4 So he chose twenty thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine field: and behold, a mighty great hoste came against them both of footmen, and horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when hee sawe that the people was afraid to goe ouer the riuer, hee went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed through after him,

7 Then he diuided his men, and set the horsemen in the middes of the footmen.

8 For their enemies horsemen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gathered them to the forreeste.

9 Then was Iudas Iohns brother wounded: but Iohn followed after them, till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built,

10 Also they fled vnto the towers, that were in the fields of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there flaine two thousand men of them: so hee returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

11 ¶ Now in the field of Iericho was Ptolemus the sonne of Abubus made capitaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For hee had married the daughter of the hie Priest.)

13 Therefore he waxed proud in his mind, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about thorow the cities of the countrey, & stidied carefully for them, he came downe to Iericho with Matathias, and Iudas his sonnes in the hundredth seuentie and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth of Sabat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by trea on into a litle hold, called Docthus, which hee had built, where hee made them a great banquet, and had bid men there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good cheare, Ptolemus stood vp with his men and took their weapon, and entred in to Simon in the banquet house, and slew him with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby hee committed a great villenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemus these things and sent to the king, that he might send him an hoste to helpe him, and so would deliue him the countrey with the cities.

19 Hee sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take Iohn, and sent letters vnto the capitaine to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and gold and rewards.

20 And to Ierusalem hee sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ran before, and told Iohn in Gazara, that his father, & his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemus had sent to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was sore astonished, and laide handes on them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for he knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of Iohn, both of his warres, and of his noble acts (wherin he behaved himselfe manfully) of the building of walles which he made, and other of his deedes, 24 Behold they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

That is to say, shining, it is also called Nepht, or Nephtar which is a cleansing.

IT is found also in the writings of Ieremias the Prophet that he commanded them which were carried away, to take fire as was declared, and as the Prophet commanded them which were led into captiuitie, * Baruch. 6.

2 Giving them a lawe that they should not forget the com mandements of the Lord, and that they should not erre in their minds, whē they saw images of gold and silver with their ornaments.

3 These and such other things commanded he them, and exhorted them that they should not let the law go out of their hearts.

4 It is written also, how the Prophet by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the Tabernacle and the Arke, and follow him: and when he came vp into the mountain where Moyses went vp,* and law the heritage of God,

5 Ieremias went forth and found an hollow caue wherein he laid the Tabernacle & the Arke, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of those that followed him to marke the place, but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Ieremias perceiued, he reproued them, saying, As for that place, it shall be vnknewen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercie be shewed.

8 Then shall the Lord shew them these things, and the maiestie of || Lord shall appeare, and the cloud also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as * when Salomon desired, that the place might bee honourably sanctified.

9 For it is manifest that he being a wise man, offered the * sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple.

10 * And as when Moyses prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the sacrifice: so, when Salomon prayed, * the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering.

11 And Moyses said, Because the sinne offering was not eaten, therefore it is consumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight dayes.

13 These things also are declared in || writings and registers of || Neemias, and how he made a library, and how he gathered the acts of the kings, and of the Prophets, and the acts of Dauid, & the Epistles of the kings, concerning the holy gifts

14 Euen so Iudas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if yee haue neede thereof, send some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas wee then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you, and ye shall doe well if ye keepe the same dayes.

17 We hope also that the God, which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all, and the kingdom, and the Priesthood, and the Sanctuary, 18 * As he promised in the Law, wil shortly haue mercy vpon vs, & gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for he hath saved vs from great perils, and hath cleansed the place.

19 As concerning Iudas Maccabees, and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Empator his sonne, 21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stood for the Iewes religion! (for though they were but fewe, yet they ranne thorow whole countries, and pursued the barbarous armies, 22 And repaired the Temple that was renowned throughout all the world, and deiuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was merciful vnto them with all lenitie)

23 Wee will assay to abridge in one volume those things, that Iason the Cyrenian hath declared in fise booke.

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and the difficulty that they haue that would be occupied in the hearing all of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 We haue endeouored, that they that would read might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memory, and that who soeuer read them, might haue profit.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweate and watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens commodity, hath no small labour: so we also for many mens sakes are very wel content to undertake this great labour.

28 Leauing to the author the exact diligence of euery particular, we will labour to go forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as he that will build a new house, must provide for || whole building, but he that setteth out the plot, or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a story to enter deeply into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten it, to vse few words, and to auoide those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we begin the story, adding thus much to our former words, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in words before the story, and to be short in the story.

CHAP. III.

2 Of the honour done vnto the Temple by the kings of the Gentiles
6 Simon uttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take it away. 26 He is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

VW hat time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the Lawes were very well kept, because of the godlinesse of Onias the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe that euen the Kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts.

3 Insomuch that Seleucus king of Asia of his owne reues, bare all the costs belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning the || iniquity committed in the citie.

5 And when he could not overcome Onias, he gaue him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraetes, which then was gouernor of Celsyryia and Phenicie,

6 And told him that the treasury in Ierusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it it were possible that these things might come into the kings hands.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the king, and had shewed him of the money, as it was told him, the king chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with an commendement, to bring him the foresaid money.

8 Immediately Heliodorus took his journey as though he would visit the cities of Cælyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Ierusalem, and was courteously received of the hie Priest into the citie, he declared what was determined concerning the monie, and shewed the cause of his coming, and asked if these things were so indeed.

10 Then y^e hie Priest told him that there were such things laid vp by the widowes and fatherles.

11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sene of Iobias a nobleman, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundred talents of siluer and two hundred of gold.

12 And that it was altogether vnp^ossible to doe this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holiness of the place and Temple, which is honoured through the whole world for holiness and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commendement giuen him, said that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasury.

14 So he appointed a day, and went in to take order for these things: then there was no small griefe throughout the whole citie.

15 For the Priests fel downe before the altar in the Priests garments, & called vnto heauen vpon him, which had made a Law concerning things giuen to bee kept, that they should bee safely preferred for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorrow of his mind.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to the that looked vpon him, what sorrow he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And the women girt with sackcloth vnder their breasts, filled the streets, and the virgins that were kept in, ran some to the gates, and some to the wals, and others looked out of the windowes.

20 And all held vp their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sorts, and the expectation of the hie Priests being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almighty Lord, that he would keepe safe and sure the things which were laide vp for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheless the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did he performe.

24 And as he and his souldiers were now there present by the treasure, hee that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were assounded at the power of God, and fell into feare and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him most richly barbed, and he ran fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his forefeet, and did smite that he that fate vpon the horse, had haile of gold.

26 Moreover, there appeared two y^e our gemen, notable in strength, excellent in beauty, and comely in apparell, which stood by him on either side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fel suddenly vnto y^e ground and was cecured with great darkness: but they that were with him, took him vp, & put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great company, and many souldiers into the laide treasure, was borne out: for he could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did know the power of God manifestly, but hee was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they praised the Lord that had honoured his own place: for the Temple which a while afore was full of feare & trouble, when the almighty Lord appeared, was filled with ioy & glaiours.

31 Then straightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that he would call vpon the most high to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the hie Priest considering that the king might suspect that the Iewes had gone Heliodorus to me euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Now when the hie Priest had made his prayer, the me yong men in the same clothing appeared & stood before Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias the hie Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord granted thee thy life.

34 And seeing that thou hast bene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mighty power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him, which had granted him his life, & thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the king.

36 Then testified hee vnto every man of the great workes of God y^e he had seene with his eyes. 37 And when the king asked Heliodorus, who were meere to see sent yet once againe to Ierusalem he said, 38 If thou hast any enemy or traitour, send him thither, & thou shalt receive him well scoured if he escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt there is a speciall power of God.

39 For kee that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and delendeth it and he beareth and destroyeth them that coue to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasure.

CHAP. II.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias 7 Iason sheweth the euill of the hie Priestly consuming the king 27 and how he was de-raided by like bribing 34 Onias is slain in a cruelly by Antiochus

THIS Simon now, of whom we spake afore, being a bewrayer of the money and of his owne naturall countrey, reported euill of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was he bold to call him a traitour that was so beneficiall to the city, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that through one that belonged to Simon, murderers were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as he ther was the gouernour of Cœlolyria and Phenice, did rage, and incited Simons malice,

5 He went to the king not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both private y and publicly.

6 For hee saw it was not possible, except the King tooke order to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his folly.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Iafon the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull meanes to be high Priest.

8 For he came vnto the King, and promised him three hundredth and threefore talents of filuer, and of another rent, foure talents.

9 Bestresthis hee promised him an hundredth and fifty, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, & that they would || name them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

10 The which thing when the king had granted, and he had gotten the superiortie, hee began immediately to draw his kinsmen to the customes of the Gentiles, 11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the kings, that the Iewes had set vp by Iohn, the father of Eupolenus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome to become friends and confederates: he put downe their lawes & policies, and brought vp new statutes, and contrary to the Law.

12 For hee presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare || ha's.

13 So there began a great desire to follow the manners of the Gentiles. And they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickedness of Iafon, nor the high Priest, but the vn godly person, 14 So that the Priests were now no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to bee partakers of the wicked expences at the play || after the casting of the stone.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamity came vpon them: for they had them to bee their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

18 ¶ Now when the || games that were vsed euer five yeere, were played at Tyrus, the King being present,

19 This wicked Iafon sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bin Antiochians, which brought three hundred drachmes of filuer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that carried them, desired they might not bee bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expences.

20 So he that ent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules but because of thofeth at brought them, they were giuen to the making of gallies.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menelaus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of king Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceived that he was euill affectioned toward his affaires, he sought his owne assurance, & departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Ierusalem.

22 Where he was honourably receiued of Iafon, and of the citie, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great showings, and so hee went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Threeyeere after ward Iafon sent Menelaus, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the king, and to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires: whereof hee had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he being commended to the king, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for he gaue three hundredth talen's of filuer more then Iafon.

25 So he gaue the kings || letters patents, albeit hee had nothing in himselfe worthy of the high Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

26 Then Iafon, which had deceived his owne brother, being deceived by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gaue the dominion: but as for the money that hee had promised vnto the King, he tooke none order for it, albeit Sosistratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the king.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lyfimachus in his stead in the Priesthood, and Sosistratus left Crates, which was gouernour of the || Cyprians.

30 ¶ Whiles these things were in doing, the Thasians and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the king in all haste to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus aman of authoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus supposing that he had gotten a convenient time, stole certayn vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some hee sold at Tyrus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, hee reprocured him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuary at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when he came to Onias, hee counseiled him craftily, giuing him his right hand with an other: (howbeit he suspected him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so hee slew him incontinently without any regard of righteousness.

35 For the which cause not only the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieued, and tooke it heauily for the vnrightheous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the King was come againe from the places about Cilicia the Iewes that were in the citie, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorry in his mind, and hee had compassion and wept because of the modesty & great discretion which that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, hee tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, & rent his clothes, & comanded him to be led into the citie, and in the same place where hee had committed committed the wickednesse against Onias, he was slain as a murderer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserved.

39 ¶ Now when Lysimachus had done many wicked deedes in the city through the counsell of Menelaus, & the bruit was spied abroad, the multitude gathered the together against Lysimachus: for he had carried out now much vessel of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand, and began to vse vnlawful power, a certaine tyrant being their captain, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they vnderstood the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfulls of dust which lay by, vpon Lysimachus men, & chole that invaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Church-robber himselfe they killed besides the treasure.

43 For these causes an accusation was laid against Menelaus.

44 And when y^e king came to Tyrus, threemen sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus being now conuincied, promised to Ptolomeus the some of Dorimenes much money if he would perfwade the King.

46 So Ptolomeus went to the King into a court whereas he was to coole himselfe, and turned the kings minde, 47 In so much that hee discharged Menelaus from the accusation (notwithstanding he was the cause of al mischiefe) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had told their cause yea, before the Scythians, they should haue been heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they soone punished vniustly, which followed vpon the matter for the cite, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyus hated that wickednesse, and ministred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so through the couetousnesse of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authority, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

3 Of the signes and tokens sene in Ierusalem. 4 Of the end and wickednesse of Iason. 11 The putting of Antiochus against the Temple. 15 The spoyling of the Temple. 27 Alaccabim breeth into the wilderness.

A Bout the same time Antiochus vnderooke his second voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there sene throughout all the citie of Ierusalem, forty dayes long, horlemen running in the ayre, with robes of gold, and as bands of spearmen,

3 And as troups of horsemen set in aray, encountering & coursing one against another, with shaking of shields, and multitude of darts, and drawing of swords, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour seen, and harnessse of all sorts.

4 Therefore euery man prayed that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now when the e was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had been dead, Iason took at the least a thousand men, and came suddenly vpon the citie, and they that were vpon the walls being put backe, and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the castle, but Iason flew his owne citizens without mercie, not considering that to haue the advantage against his kinsmen is greatt disadvantage, but thought that he had gotten the victory of his enemies, and not of his owne nation,

7 Yet he gat not the superiority, but at the last receiued shame for the reward of his treason, and went againe like a vagabond into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this end of his wicked conuersation, that he was accused before Arete the king of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie, being pursued of euery man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination, as an enemy of his countrey and citizens, and was driuen into Egypt.

9 Thus he that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gon to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.

10 And he that had cast many out vnburied, was thrown out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 ¶ Now when the things that were done, were declared to the king, he thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore he came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the cite by violence.

12 He commanded his men of warre also, that they should kill, and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses.

13 Thus was there a slaughter of yong men, and old men, and a destruction of men and women and children, and virgins, and infants were murdered:

14 So that within three daies were slaine fourescore thousand, and forty thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many sold as were slaine.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durst goe into the most holy Temple of all the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the Lawes, and to his owne countrey, to be his guide.

16 And with his wicked hands tooke the holy vessels, which other Kings had giuen for the garnishing glory and honor of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So haury in his minde was Antiochus, that he considered not, that God was not a litle wroth for the sinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not been wrapped in many sinnes, hee, as soon as he had come, had suddenly been punished, and put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king sent to view the treasury.

19 But God hath not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shal it be partaker of the benefits of the Lord, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty, so when the great Lord shal be reconciled, it shal be set vp in great worship againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eightene hundred talents out of the Temple, hee gave him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men saile vpon the drie land, and to walke vpon the sea: such an himinde folly.

22 But he left deputies to rule the people lerusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in maners more cruell then he that let him there:

23 And at Garizin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more grieuous vnto the citizens then the other, and was despitefull against the Iewes his citizens.

24 He sent also Apollonius a cruel prince with an armie of two and twenty thousand, whom hee commanded to slay those that were toward mans age, and to sell the women and the yonger sort.

25 So when he came to Ierusalem, hee stained peace, and kept him still vnto the holy day of Sabbath: & then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, he commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slew all them that were gone forth to the shew, and running through the city with his men armed, he murdered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus being as it were the tenth, fled into the wilderness, and liued there in the mountaines with his company among the beasts, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, least they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the Law of God. 4 The Temple desitid. 10 The women cruelly punished. 28 The grieuous paine of Eleazar.

Or, Antiochia.

NOr long after this, sent the King an olde man of Athens, for to compel the Iewes to transgress the lawes of the fathers, and not to be governed by the Law of God,

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, and that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter that keepeth hospitalitye.

3 This wicked government was sore and grieuous vnto the people.

4 For the Temple was full of dissolution, and gluttony of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, & had to do with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the Law.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keep the Sabbaths, nor to obserue their ancient feasts, nor plainly to confesse himselfe to be a Iew.

7 In the day of the kings birth they were grievously compelled perforce euery moneth to banquet and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of yuie.

8 Moreover through the counsell of Ptolemus, there was out a commandement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like custome, and banqueting should be kept.

9 And who so would not conforme themselves to the manners of the Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present misery.

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcised their sons, whom when they had led round about the citie (the babes hanging at their breastes) they cast them downe headlong ouer the walles.

11 Some that were run together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discovered vnto Philpand were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honorable day, they were as aid to helpe themselves.

12 ¶ Now I beseech those which read this book, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnesse: not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whom hee punisheth when they are come to the fullnesse of their finnes:

15 But thus hee dealeth with vs, that our finnes should not be heaped vnto the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercy from vs: and though he punish with aduersitie, yet doeth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principall scribes, an aged man, and of a wellfaoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But hee desiring rather to die gloriously, then to liue with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment, and spirt it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banke, for that old friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him, that he would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as he would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the King, euen the flesh of the sacrifice.

22 That in so doing he might bee deliuered from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, he would receiue this fauour.

23 But he began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeeres, and the honour of his gray haire, whereunto he was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childehood, but chiefly the holy Law made and giuen by God: therefore hee answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, sayd he, to dissemble, whereby many young persons might thinke, that Eleazar being fourescore yeere olde and ten, were now gone to another religion.

25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for alie time of transitory life) they might be deceived by mee, and I should procure malediction and reproch to mine olde Iage.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither alie nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, and will shew my selfe such as mine age requireth, 28 And so will leaue a notable example for such as be yong, to die willingly and courageously for the honourable & holy Lawes. And when he had said these words, immediately he went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the words that he had spokē: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as hee was ready to giue the ghost because of the strokes, he sighed and said, The Lord that hath: & holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly that whereas I might haue bene deliuered from death,

Or, another waye, life.

Or, asking of the flesh that was sacrificed.

death, I am scourged, and suffer these sore paines of my body: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this maner ended he his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memoriall of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seven brethren and of their mother.

IT came to passe also, that seuen brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the king, against the Law to taste swines flesh, & were tormented with scourges and whips.

1 But one of them which spake first, said thus, What seekest thou? and what wouldest thou know of vs? we are ready to die, rather then to transgresse the Lawes of our fathers.

2 Then was the king angry, and commanded to heate pannes and caldrons, which were incontinently made hote,

3 And he commanded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to slay him, and to cut off the vmoost parts of his body in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

4 Now when he was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to be brought aliue to the fire, & to frie him in the pan: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the pan, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to die courageously saying in this maner,

5 The Lord God doth regard vs, and in deed taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses* declared in the song, wherein hee testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

6 ¶ So when the first was dead after this maner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with the haire out of his head, they asked him, if he would eate, or hee were punished in all the members of the body.

7 But hee answered in his owne language, and said, No. Wherefore he was tormented forthwith like the first.

8 And when he was at the last breath, he said, Thou murderer, takest this present life from vs, but the reing of good will raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of our lasting life.

9 And after him was the third had in denision, and when they demanded his tongue, hee put it out incontinently, & stretched forth his handes boldly,

10 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

11 Insomuch that the king and they which were with him, marueiled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

12 ¶ Now when he was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like maner.

13 And when he was now ready to die, he said thus, It is better that we should chenge this which we might hope for of men, and waite for our hope fro God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

14 ¶ Afterward they brought the fifth also, and tormented him.

15 Who looked vpon the king and said, Thou hast power among men, and though thou bee a mortall man, thou dost what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation, 16 But abide a while, & thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy feed.

17 After him also they brought the sixth, who being at the point of death, said, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for wee suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondred at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

18 But thinke not thou, which vndertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt be unpunished.

19 But the mother was maruelous aboute all other, and worthy of honourable memorie: for when shee saw her seuen sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

20 Yea, she exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and wisdom, stirred vpon her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and said vnto them,

21 I cannot tell how ye came into my wombe for I neither gave you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body.

22 But doubtlesse the creatour of the world, which formed the birth of man, & found out the beginning of all things, will also of his own mercie giue you breath and life againe, as ye now regarde not your owne selues, for his Lawes sake.

23 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious wordes, while the yongest was yet aliue, hee exhorted him not onely with wordes, but swore also vnto him, y an othe, that he would make him rich and wealthy, if hee would forsake the Lawes of his fothers, & that he would take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

24 But when the yong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the king called his mother, & exhorted that she would counsell the yong man to saue his life.

25 And when hee had exhorted her with many wordes, she promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

26 So she turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell tyrant to scorne, and spake in her own language, O my sonne, haue pittie vpon me, that bare thee nine months in my wombe, and gau thee sucke three yeeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

27 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was man kind made likewise.

28 Feare not this hangman but shew thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercie with thy brethren.

29 While shee was yet speaking these wordes, the yong man said, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the kings commandement: but I will obey the commandement of the Law that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

30 And thou that imaginest all mischief against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

31 For we suffer these things, because of our sinnes,

32 But though the liuing Lord be angry with vs a litle while for our chaulenging & correction, yet wil he be reconciled with his owne seruants.

33 But thou, O man without religion & most wicked of all men, list not thy selfe vnto vaine, which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, & listest thine hands against the seruants of God.

* Deut. 32. 36.

35 Forthou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a little paine, are now vnder the diuine cōuenient of euermlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body, and life for the lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he will soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayst confesse, that hee is the onely God,

38 And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon our nation, may cease, 39 Then the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grieuously that he was mocked.

40 So hee also died holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all, after the sonnes was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now be enough spoken concerning the bankers and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his souldiers to conuence. 20 Nicanor is overcome. 27 The Iewes giue thanks after they haue put their enemies to flight, and shew the spoiles vnto the fathersse, and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor fleeth vnto Antiochus.

Then Iudas Maccabeus, & they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinnesfolkes and friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion, and assembled sixe thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that he would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pittie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men.

3 And that hee would haue compassion vpon the citie that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voice of the blood that cried vnto him,

4 And that hee would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his name, and that he would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore he came at vnawares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially hee vied the nights to make such assaults, inso much that the bruit of his manlinesse was spread euery where.

8 ¶ When Philip saw that this man increased by little and little, and that things prospered with him for the most part, he wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Celsyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the kings businesse.

9 Then sent he speedily Nicanor the sonne of Paroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twentie thousand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the king, of two thousand talents, which the Romans should haue, to bee taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buy Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell fourescore and ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of Almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knew of Nicanors coming, hee told them that were with him, of the coming of the armie.

13 Now were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousnes of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other told all that they had left, and besought the Lord together, to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had sold them, or euer he came neere them:

15 And though hee would not doe it for their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about sixe thousand, exhorting them not to be afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the injury that they had vnjustly done to the holy place, & the cruelty done to the citie by derision, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they, said he, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a beck can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreover hee admonished them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when theye perished an hundred and fourescore and five thousand vnder Sennacherib, 20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon against Galathians, how they came in all to the battell eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were sloughed, the eight thousand slawe an hundred and twenty thousand through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had received many benefits.

21 Thus when he had made them bolde with these words, and readie to die for the lawes & the countrey, he deuised his army into foure parts, 22 And made his owne brethren captaines ouer the army, to wit, Simon, Ioseph, and Jonathan, giuing ech one fiftene hundred men.

23 And when Elazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the foreward, ioyned with Nicanor.

24 And because the Almighty helped them, they slawe about nine thousand men, and wounded and maimed the most part of Nicanors hoste, and so put all to flight.

25 And tooke the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoiled the enemies, and kept the Sabbath, giuing thanks and praising the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powered vpon them the beginning of his mercy.

28 And after the Sabbath, * they distributed the spoiles spoiles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, & diuided the residue among themselves and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a general prayer, they besought the mercifull Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward, with one consent they fell vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and slew about twentie thousand, and wanne high and strong holdes, and diuided great spoiles, and gaue an equal portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Moreover, they gathered their weapons together, and layd them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoiles to Ierusalem.

32 They slew also Philarches a most wicked person, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feast of Victory in their country, they burnt Calisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a little house: so hee receiued a reward meet for his wickednes.

34 And that most wicked Nicanor, which had brought a shout and merchants to buy the Iewes,

35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lord, brought down of them whom he thought as nothing: insonmuch that hee put off his glorious raiment, and fled overthwart the country like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia with great dishonour, through the destruction of his hoste:

36 Thus he that promised to pay tribute to the Romans by meanes of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had all defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him,

CHAP. IX.

Antiochus willing to speele Persepolis, is put to flight. 5. As hee persecuteth the Iewes, he is smitten of the Lord. 13. His feared repentance of Antiochus. 28. He dieth miserably.

AT the same time came Antiochus again with adill honour out of the country of Persia.

2 For when he came to Persepolis, and went about to rob the Temple, and to subdue the citie, the people came in a rage to defend themselves with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he vnderstood the things that had come to Nicanor, and Timotheus..

4 And then being chafed in his fume, hee thought to imputer to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his charetman to driue continually, and to dispatch the journey: For Gods iudgement compelled him: for hee had said thus in his pride, I will make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lord Almighty, and God of Israel, smote him with an incurable & inuisible plague: for assoone as he had spoken these words, a paine of the bowels that was remediless, came vpon him, and sore torments of the inward parts,

6 And that most iustly: for hee had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit he would in no wise cease from his arrogance, but swelled the more with pride, breac-thing out fire in his rage against the Iewes, and commanded to haste the iourney: but it came to passe that hee fell downe from the charet that ran swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus he that a little afore thought he might command the floods of the sea (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) & to weigh the hie mountaines in the ballance, was now cast on the ground, and caried in an horse-litter, ceclearing vnto all the manifold power of God,

9 So that the wormes came out of the body of this wicked man in abundance: and whiles he was aliuie, his flesh fell off for paine and torment, and all his annie was grieved at his smell.

10 Thus no man could beare, because of his stinke, him that a little afore thought he might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then he began to leaue off his great pride, and selfe-will, when he was plagued, and came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when hee himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, he laid these words, It is meete to be subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, should not thinke himselfe equal vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lord, who would now haue no mercy on him, 14 And said thus, that he would free at libertie the holy citie vnto the which hee made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whom hee had iudged not worthy to be buried, but would haue cast them out with their children to be deuoured of the fowles and wilde beasts) hee would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And whereas hee had spoiled the holy Temple afore, hee would garnish it with great gifts, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices, 17 Yea, and that he would also become a Iew himselfe, and goethorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God, was come vpon him: therefore depairing of his health, he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder written, containing the forme of a supplication

19 THE KING and Prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his loving citizens wisheth much ioy and health, and prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things goe after your minde, I giue great thanks vnto God, hauing hee in the heauen.

21 Though I be sicke, yet I am mindful of your honour, and good will, for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the country of Persia, and fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safetie of all,

22 Not distrusting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sickness.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the hie countries, he appointed who should succeed him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tidings were brought that were grievous, they in the land might know to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Again, when I ponder how that the gouernours that are borderers, and neighbours vnto my kingdom, waite for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordeined that my sonne Antiochus shall be king, whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the high prouinces, and haue writen vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore I pray you, and require you to remember the benefits that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that euery man will be faithfull vnto me and to my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle and louing vnto you according vnto my mind.

28 ¶ Thus the murderer and blasphemers suffered most grievously, and as hee had intreated other men, so he died a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, caried away his bodie, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

1 Judas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the temple. 10 The assault of Eupator. 16 The Jews fight against the Idumeans. 24 Another man made: Iudaea, with whom Iudaea is yoked. 29 Phoenicians appear in the ayre to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus, a Iew.

Maccabeus now and his company, through the helpe of the Lord, wan the Temple and the citie againe.

2 And destroyed the altars, and chappels, that the heathen had builded in the open places.

3 And cleansed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense, two yeeres and fixe moneths after, and set forth the lampes and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, & besought the Lord that they might come no more into such troubles, but if they sinned any more against him, that hee himselfe would chasten them with mercie, and that they might not bee deliuered to the blasphemous and barbarous nations.

5 Now vpon the same day that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was cleansed againe, euen the five and twentie day of the same moneth which is || Chafleu.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembring that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and dens like beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang Psalms vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery yeere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus, called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Now will wee declare the actes of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdom, hee made one Lyfias, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phenice and Caelosyria, ruler over the affaires of the realme.

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Iewes, for the wrong that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause he was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitor, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that he was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poisoned himselfe, and died.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, hee entertained strangers, and made warre oftentimes against the Iewes.

15 Moreover, the Idumeans that helde the strong holds which were meet for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by receiving them that were driuen from Ierusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus, made prayers, and besought God that he would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans.

17 And assaulted them sore, that they wan the places, and slew all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and slew no lesse then twenty thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castles, hauing all manner of things conuenient to sustaine the siege, 19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Ioseph, and Zacharius also, and those that were with them, which were enow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessary.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnesse, were intreated for money (through certaine of those that were in the castle) and tooke seventy thousand^a drachmes, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, hee called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men that they had sold their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he slew them when they were consiſt of treason, and immediately wan the two castles.

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the wars that he tooke in hand, he slew in the two castles more then twenty thousand.

24 Now Timotheus, whom the Iewes had overcome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sorts, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to winne Iury by strength.

25 But when hee drew neere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth.

26 And fell downe at the foot of the altar, and besought the Lord to be mercifull vnto them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and to be an aduersarie to their aduersaries, * as the Law declareth.

27 So after the prayer, they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the citie, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke heed to themselves.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victory.

^a A drachme is the eighth part of an ounce, which is about threepence.

victorie, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre,

29 But when the battell waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen hue comely men vpon horses with bridles of gold, and two of them led the Iewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and couered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darts, and lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindness, and beaten downe and full of trouble,

31 There were slaine of foote men twenty thousand and five hundredth, and sixe hundredth horsemen, 32 As for Timotheus himselfe, he fledde vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong holde, wherein Chereas was capitaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his companie laid siege against the fortresses with courage for foure dayes,

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible wordes,

35 Neuerthelesse vpon the iiij fifth day in the morning, twentie yong men of Maccabeus companie, whose hearts were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wall, and with bolde stomacks smote downe those that they met,

36 Others also that climbed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, set fire vpon the towers, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and receiued the rest of the armie, and tooke the citie,

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Chereas his brother with Apollosanes.

38 When this was done, they praised the Lord with Psalmes and thanksgiving, which had done to great things for Israel, and giuen them the victorie,

CHAP. XI.

1 Lyfias goeth about to ouercome the Iewes. 8 Sercon is sent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lyfias vnto the Iewes. 20 The letter of King Antiochus vnto Lyfias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Iewes.

VERY shortly after this, Lyfias the kings steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke for displeasure for the things that were done,

2 And when hee had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the horsemen, became against the Iewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple would he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for he would sell the Priests office euery yeere.

4 And thus being pulled vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his fourescore elephants,

5 He came into Iudea, and drew neere to Bethsura, which was a castle of defence, five furlongs from Ierusalem, and laid fore siege vnto it,

6 But when Maccabeus, and his companie knewe that hee besieged the holds, they, and all the people made prayers with weeping, and tears before the Lord, that hee would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would isopord themselves together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a courageous minde.

8 And as they were there besides Ierusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white clothing, shaking his harnesse of golde.

9 Then they praised the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, insonmuch that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruel beastes: and to breake downe walles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was mercifull vnto them, 11 And running vpon their enemies like lions, they slew eleuent thousand footemen, and sixteene hundredth horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, and Lyfias himselfe fled away shamefully, and so escaped,

13 Who as hee was a man of vnderstanding, considered what losse he had, and knowing, that the Hebrewes could not be overcome, because the Almighty God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised that he would consent to all things which were reasonable, and perswade the king to be their friend, 15 Maccabeus agreed to Lyfias requests, hauing respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoever Maccabeus wrote vnto Lyfias, concerning the Iewes, the King granted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes from Lyfias, containing these wordes, Lyfias vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

17 Iohn and Abessalom, which were sent from you, deliuered mee the things that you demanded by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meete to be reported to the king himselfe, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if ye behaue your selues as friends towards his affaires, hereafter also I will endeavour myselfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue giuen commandment to these men, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare you well, the hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioscorithius.

22 ¶ Now the Kings letters contained these words, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lyfias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated to the gods, our will is, that they which are in our Realme, liue quietly, every man may apply his owne affaires.

24 We vnderstand also, that the Iewes would not consent to our lather, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne manner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to liue after their owne Lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is, that this nation shall be in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to send vnto them & grant them peace: that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort and cheerfully goe about their owne affaires.

27 All this was the Kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to the rest of the Iewes, sendeth greeting.

28 If yee fare well, we haue our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs, that your desire was to returne home, and to apply your owne businesse.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, we giue them free libertie vnto the thirtieth day of the moneth of Panthicus, 31 That the Iewes may vse their owne manner of liuing and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any manner of wayes to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare yee well: the hundredth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fiftenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romans also sent a letter containing these wordes, QVINTVS M. M. M. M. I. V. S., and Titus Manilius, ambassadours of the Romanes, vnto the people of the Iewes sent greeting.

35 The things that Lysias the kings kinsman hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which he shall report vnto the king, send hither some with speede, when ye haue considered the matter diligently, that we may consult thereupon as shal be best for you, for we must goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and send some men that we may know your minde.

38 Farewell: this hundredth and eight and fortie yeere, the fiftenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

2 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked deed of them of Ioppe against the Iewes. 4 Iudas is auenged of them. 5 Hee setteth fire in the haven of Iamnia. 6 The pursuit of the Iewes against Timotheus. 7 Timotheus is taken and let goe vniuert. 8 Iudas pursueth Gorgias.

When these covenants were made, Lysias went vnto the King, and the Iewes tilld their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus and Apollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Ieronimus, and also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wives and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduice of the citie, they obeyed them, and suffered nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then two hundredth of them.

5 Nowe when Iudas knewe of their crueltye, shewed against his nation, hee commanded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, he went forth against the murderers of his brethren, and set fire in the haven by night and burnt the shippes, and those that fled thence he slew.

7 And when the citie was shut vp, he departed as though he would come againe, and roote out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when hee perceived that the Iammites were minded to do in like manner vnto the Iewes, which dwelt among them,

9 He came vpon the Iammites by night, and set fire in the haven with the nauie, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundredth and fourtie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iourney toward Timotheus, about fise thousand men of foote and fise hundredth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas through the helpe of God: the Nomades of Arabia being overcome, besought Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certaine cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

12 And Iudas thinking that they should indeed be profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon they shooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas also assaulted a citie called Caspis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with wals and had diuers kinds of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it put such trust in the strenght of the walles, and in store of vittails, that they were the slacker in their doings, reuiling them that were with Iudas, and reproaching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such words as were no lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which without any instruments, or engins of warre, did cast down the walles of Iericho, in the time of Iesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles, 16 And tooke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, in so much that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flow with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seven hundredth and fiftie furlongs, & came to Characa, vnto the Iewes that are called Tubieni.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for hee was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garison in a very strong hold.

19 But Dositheus and Sosipater, which were capitaines with Maccabeus, went forth and slew those that Timotheus had left in the forefront, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, and ranged his armie by bands, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundredth and twenty thousand men of foote, and two thousand and fise hundredth horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas coming, hee sent the women and children, and the other baggage afore vnto a fortreffe called Carnion (for it was hard to besiege, and vncasie to come vnto because of the straites on all sides.)

22 But when Iudas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, and a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things, in so much that they fleeing one here, another there, were oftentimes hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne swords.

23 But Iudas was very earnest in pursuing, and few those wicked men: yea, he slew thirty thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fel into the hands of Dositheus and Sosipater, whom he besought with much craft to let him goe with his life, because he had many of the Iewes parents, and the brethren of some of them, which if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when hee had assured them with many words, and promised that he would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus toward Carnion, and Arragat, and slew five and twenty thousand persons.

27 And after that hee had chased away and slaine them, Iudas remoued the hoste toward Ephron a strong citie, wherein was Lyfias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong young men kept the wallis defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engines of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slew five and twenty thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth fixe hundred furlongs from Ierusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, refused, that the Scythopolitanes dealt louingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie, 31 They gaue them thanks, desiring them to bee friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Ierusalem, as the fast of the weekes approached.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foote, and foure hundred horsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a few of the Iewes were slaine, 35 And Dositheus, one of the Baccenors, which was on horsebacke & a mighty man, tooke Gorgias, and layd hold of his garment, and drew him by force, because he would haue taken the wicked man alive: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Marisa.

36 And when they that were with Eferin, had foughten long, and were weary, Iudas called vpon the Lord, that he would shew himselfe to be their helper, and captaine of the field.

37 And then hee began in his owne language, and sung Psalmes with a loude voyce, insonnch that straightwaies he made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his host, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the seventh day came, they cleaued themselves: (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessity required, Iudas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to burie them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Now vnder the coates of enery one, that was slaine, they found iewels that had bin consecrate to the idoles of the Iammites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Lawe. Then eury man sawe, that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

41 And to euery man gaue thanks vnto the Lord, the righteous iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And they gaue themselves to prayer, and besought him, that they should not vterly be destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that noble Iudas exhorted the people to keepe themselves from sinne, for so much as they saw before their eyes the things which caniet to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine.

43 And hauing made a gathering through the company, sent to Ierusalem about two thou and drachmes of siluer, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well, and honestly, that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if he had not hoped, that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had been superfluous and vaine, to pray for the dead.

45 And therefore he perceived, that there was great fauour layd vp for those that died godly. (It was an holy and a good thought.) So he made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might bee deliuered from sinne.

owne infirmity, desireth pardon, if he haue not attained to the he should. And it seemeth that this Iason the Cyrenian, out of whom hee tooke this adgement, is Ioseph Ben Gorion, who hath written in Hebrew five booke of these matters, and intreating this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib. 3. chap. 19. for it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes, even to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporah was to prove, that women might minister the Sacraments, Exod. 4. 25. or the example of Razis that one might kill himselfe, whom this author for much commendeth, Chap. 14. 4.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The coming of Eupator into Iudea. 2 The death of Menelaus. 3 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator, moueth his soldiers vnto prayer. 4 He killeth fourteen thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 5 He dooth the beueryge of the Iewes taken.

IN the hundred forty and nine yeere it was told Iudas, that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Iudea,

2 And Lyfias the steward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundred and ten thousand men of foote of the Grecians, and five thousand horsemen, and two and twenty Elephants, and three hundred charretts with hookes:

3 Menelaus also ioyned himselfe with them, and with great deceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the sale of the country, but because he thought to haue ben made the gouernour.

4 But the King of kingdome moued Antiochus mind against this wicked man, and Lyfias informed the king, that this man was the cause of all mischief, so that the king commanded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death, as the manner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a towne of effeminate cubites high, full of adhes, and it had an instrumente that turned round, and on euery side it rolled downe into the adhes:

6 And there whoeuer was condemned of sacriledge, or of any other grieuous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe, that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Menelaus should want buriall.

8 For because he had committed many sinnes by the altar, whose fire and ashes were holy: hee himselfe also died in the adhes.

9 ¶ Now the king raged in his minde, and came to shew him selfe more cruel vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, hee commaunded the people to call vpon the Lord night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, he would now helpe them, when they should be put from their Law, from their country, and from the holy Temple:

11 And that he would not suffer the people, which a little before began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this all together, & besought the Lord for mercie with weeping, and fasting, and falling downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themselves ready.

13 And he being apart with the Elders, tooke counsell to goe forth, afore the king brought his hoste into Iudea, and should take the citie, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, hee exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully euen vnto death, for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their country, and the common wealth, and camped by Modin.

15 And so giuing his souldiers for a watchword, The victory of God, hee picked out the manliest yong men, & went by night into the kings campe, and slew of the host foureteenthousand men, and the greatest elephant with all that sate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the king had tasted the manlinesse of the Iewes, hee went about to take the holds by policie, 19 And marched toward Beth-sura, which was a strong hold of the Iewes: but he was chased away, hurt, and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in such things as were necessary, 21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes hoste, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore hee was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the king commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and he tooke truce with them, departed, and ioyned battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.

23 But when he vnderstood that Philip (whom he had left to be ouerseer of his businesse at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so that hee yielded himselfe to the Iewes, and made them an oath to doe all things that were right, and was appeased toward them, and offered sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him capitaine and gouernor from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.

25 Neuertheless, when he came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieved, they would that he should breake the couenants.

26 Then went Lysias vp into the iudgement seate, and excused the fact as well as he could, and perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings journey, and his returne.

Demetrius wooed by Alcimus, sendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 8 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes, 29 which he yet breaketh through the warrant of the King. 37 Nicanor commaundet Regis to be taken, who slayeth him selfe.

AFTER three yeeres was Iudas enformed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and naue by the haueu of Tripolis,

2 When he had wonne the country, & slaine Antiochus and his lieutenant Lysias.

3 Now Alcimus which had bene the high Priest, and wilfully desiled himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes he could saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 He came to king Demetrius in the hundreth fiftie and one yere, presenting vnto him a crowne of gold, and a palme, and of the boughes, which were vsed solemnly in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what deuises or counsels the Iewes leane vnto.

6 To the which hee answered, The Iewes that be called Afideans, whose capitaine is Iudas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the Realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the high Priesthood) am now come hither,

8 Partly, because I was well affectioned vnto the kings affaires, and secondly, because I sought the profite of mine owne citizens: for all our people through their rashnes are not a litle troubled.

9 Wherefore, O King, seeing thou knowest all these things, make prouision for the country, and our nation which is abused, according to thine owne humanity, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When hee had spoken these words, other friends also hauing euill will at Iudas, set Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediately called for Nicanor the ruler of the Elephants, and made him capitaine ouer Iudea, 13 And sent him forth, commaunding him to slay Iudas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus hie Priest of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fled out of Iudea from Iudas, came to Nicanor by flocks, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Iewes heard of Nicanors coming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselves with earth, and prayed vnto him, which had appointed himselfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the capitaine, they remoued straightwayes from thence, and came to the towne of Dessan, 17 Where Simon Iudas brother had ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Neuertheless, Nicanor hearing the manlines of them that were with Iudas, & the bold stomacks that they had for their country, durst not proue prooue the matter with bloodshedding.

19 Wherefore he sent Pofidonius, ¶ Theodorus, and ¶ Matthias before to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long aduifement thereupon, and the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one mind, and consented to the covenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they let for euery man his tooles.

22 Neuerthelesse, Iudas commanded certaine men of armes to waite in conuenient places, lest there should suddenly arise any euill through the enemies: and so they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

24 Hee ¶ loved Iudas, and fauoured him in his heart.

25 Hee prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so he married, and they liued together.

26 But Aleimus perceiuing the loue that was betwene them, and vnderstanding the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius and told him that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hand, and ordeined Iudas, a traitour to the realme, to be his successeur.

27 Then the king was displeased, and by the reports of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, saying, that he was very angry for the covenants, commanding him that he should fend Maccabeus in all halfe prisoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When these things came to Nicanor, hee was astonished and fore grieved, that hee should breake the things wherein they had agreed, seeing that the man had committed no wickednesse.

29 But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the king, hee fought craftily to accomplish it.

30 Notwithstanding, when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor began to bee rough vnto him, and that hee intreated him more rudely than hee was wont, he perceiued that such a rigour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a few of his men, and withdrew himselfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that hee was preuented by Maccabeus worthy policie, came into the great and holy Temple and commanded the Priests, which were offering their vsuall sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they were that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought, 33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an oath in this manner, If ye will not deliuer mee Iudas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, and will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these wordes hee departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this manner, 35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stop all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis, one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a louer of the citie, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

38 For this man at sometimes, when the Iewes were minded to keepe themselves vndefiled and pure, being accused to bee of the religion of the Iewes, did offer to spend his body and life, with all constancie, for the religion of the Iewes.

39 So Nicanor, willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Iewes, sent about fure hundred men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him, so doe the Iewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his castle, and would haue broken the gates by violence, and commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was ready to be taken on euery side, he ¶ fell on his sword, 42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthy for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding, what time as hee missed of his stroke for halle, and the multitude rushed in violently betwene the doores, he ran boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude.

44 Which conueyed themselves lightly away, and gaue place, so that he fell vpon his belly.

45 Neuerthelesse, while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his mind, he rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very fore wounded, yet he rannt thorow the midst of the people,

46 And gare him to the top of an high rocke: so when his blood was utterly gone, he tooke out his owne bowels with both his hands, and threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lorde of life and spirit, that hee would restore them againe vnto him: and thus he died.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day. 2 The disciples of Nicanor 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the vision, encourage them. 21 The prayer of Maccabeus 30 Maccabeus commendeth Nicanors head and hands to be cut off, and his tongue to be giuen vnto the foules. 39 The author excuseth himselfe.

Now when Nicanor knew that Iudas and his company were in the countrie of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuerthelesse, the Iewes that were compelled to go with him, laid, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honor and sanctifie the day, that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demanded, Is there a Lord in the heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they said, There is a living Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seuenih day to be kept,

5 Then he said, And I am mighty vpon earth to command them for to arme themselves, and to performe the kings busines. Notwithstanding, he could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, purposed to set vp a memoriall of the victory obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had euer sure confidence and a perfect hope that the Lord would helpe him,

8 And exhorted his people not to be afraid at the coming of this heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to trust now also, that they should haue the victory by the Almighty.

9 Thus hee encouraged them by the Law and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing,

10 And stirred vp their hearts, & shewed them also the deceitfulness of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus he armed every one of them not with the assurance of shields and speares, but with wholesome words and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthy to be beleued, and reioiced them greatly.

12 And this was his vision. Hee thought that hee law Onias (which had bene the high Priest, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behaviour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of godlinesse from a childe) holding vp his hands towards heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie aboue him.

14 And Onias spake, and said, This is a loue of the brethren, who praie much for the people, and for the holy citie, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.

15 Hee thought also that Ieremias held out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a sword of gold: and as he gaue it, he spake thus, 16 Take this holy sword, a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wound the aduersaries.

17 And to being comforted by the words of Iudas, which were very sweet and able to stirre them vp to valiantnesse, and to encourage the hearts of the yong men they determined to pitch no camp, but courageously to set vpon them, and manfully to assaile them, & to try the matter hand to hand, because the citie and the Sanctuary and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues and children, and brethren, and kinsfolke, they set lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Again, they that were in the citie, were carefull for the army that was abroad.

20 Now while they all waited for the trial of the matter, and the enemies now met with them, and the host was set in aray, and the || beasts were separated into conuenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings:

21 Maccabeus considering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparation of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beasts, held vp his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victorie commeth not by the weapons, but that hee giueth the victory to them that are worthy as seemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer hee sayde after this manner, O Lord, *thou that didst send thine Angel in the time of Ezekias king of Iudea, who in the hoste of Sennacherib slewe an hundred fourescore and sixe thousand,

23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, O Lord of heauen, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let them bee discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these words he made an ende.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drew neere, with trumpets and shoutings for ioy.

26 But Iudas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountered with the enemies, 27 So that with their handes they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and slew no lesse then sixe and thirtie thousand men: for through the presence of God they were wonderfully comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with ioy, they vnderstood that Nicanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shout and a cry, praying the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and minde, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commanded to smite off Nicanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.

31 And when he came there, he called al them of his nation, and set the Priests by the Altar, and sent for them of the castle, 32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemor, which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almighty with proud brags.

33 He caused the tongue also of wicked Nicanor to be cut in litle pieces, and to be cast vnto the fowles, and that the rewards of his madnesse should be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euery man praised toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 Hee hanged also Nicanors head vpon the hie castle, for an euident and plaine token vnto al of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a common decree, that they should in no case tuffer this day, without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feast should be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus far as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the citie in possession. And here will I also make an end.

39 If I haue done well, and as the story required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, & then againe water: & as wine tempered with water is pleasant, and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter doth lighten the eyes of the that read the story. And here shall be the end.

THE PRINTER

to the diligent Reader.

DEARE Christian Reader, to the intent that thou mightest the better enjoy the benefit of these notes or expositions vpon the New Testament: I thought it not amisse to declare vnto thee the vse of the same. And first, forasmuch as the quotations or citing of places of the Scriptures in the margent which direct to other places, containing like phraze or sense, haue bene so placed, that none without great labour could finde out the texts alledged, I haue made this marke *, and haue set it aswel in the margent, as in the text, so that thou mayest easily finde that which thou desirest. For example, in the first worde of the first Chapter of Matthew is placed this marke *: looke out the like marke in the margent, and there thou shalt finde Luke 3 23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew: and so likewise thou shalt finde in the residue. But if many quotations belong to one place, word, or sentence, the first is onely marked, and those that follow vnmaked, appertaine to the same.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmeticke, as 1. 2. 3. 4. &c. thowc ut the Euangelists and Acts, declare the effect or summe of the doctrine contained betweene one of the sayd figures, and the next that followeth: as for example, from the figure 1. in the first line and first worde of Matthew vnto the figure 2. in the 18. verse of the same Chapter, the doctrine there gathered is set downe in the margent in this sort: 1 Iesus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the stocke of David as God promised. And in the Epistles in like sort they declare the methode and arte which the Apostles vse, and how euery argument or reason dependeth one vpon another: these figures are begunne againe at the beginning of euery Chapter.

Lastly, the Notes which goeby order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text, with the like answering vnto them in the margent, serue to expound and lighten the darke words and phrases immediarly following in them. As in the first line and second worde, the letter, a, being referred vnto a, directly against him in the margent, sheweth that this word, Booke, signifieth A rehearsal, as the Hebrewes vse to speake: as Genes. 5. 1. The booke of the generations. These letters beginne at the beginning of euery Chapter, continuing vnto z. and so beginning againe with a if there be so many Notes that they do exceede in number the letters of one Alphabet. This haue I faithfully done for thy commoditie, reape thou the fruit, and giue the prayse to God.

16 And Iacob begat Ioseph husband of Mary, of whom was borne Iesus, that is called Christ.

17 So all the generations from Abraham to Dauid are foureteene generations. And from Dauid vntill Christ, foureteene generations.

18 ¶ Now the birth of * Iesus Christ was thus. When as his mother Mary was * betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, shee was found with childe of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Ioseph her husband being a iust man and not willing to * make her a publicke example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But while he thought these things, behold the Angell of the Lord appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph, the sonne of Dauid, feare not to take Mary thy wife: for that which is conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And (hee shall bring forth a Sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iesus, for hee shall be called Iesus of God himselfe, by the Angell. * Luke. 1.31.

* I save his people from their finnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet saying, 23 ¶ Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.

24 ¶ Then Ioseph, being raised from sleepe, did as the Angell of the Lord had enioyned him, and tooke his wife.

CHAP. II.

1 The women, who beate the fruits of the Gentiles, worship Christ. 14 Joseph fleeth into Egypt with Iesus and his mother. 16 Herod killeth the children.

WHEN * Iesus then was borne at Bethlehem, in Iudea, there came b Wife men from the East to Hierusalem,

2 Saying, Where is the King of the Iewes that is borne? for we haue seene his starre in the East, and are come to worship him.

3 When King Herod heard this, he was troubled, and all Hierusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the d chiefe Priests and scribes of the people, hee asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 And they sayd vnto him, At Bethlehem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 * And thou Beth-leem in the Land of Iuda, art not the least among the Princes of Iuda: for out of thee shall come the gouernour that shall feed my people Israel.

7 Then Herod priuily called the Wife men, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared.

8 And sent them to Beth-leem, saying, Goe, and search diligently for the babe: and when ye haue found him, bring mee word againe, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the king, they departed: and loe, the starre which they had seen in the East, went before them, till it came and stood ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they saw the starre, they reioiced with an exceeding great ioy.

11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Mary his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, euen gold, and frankincense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were warned of God in a dreame, that they should not go againe to Herod, they returned into their countrey another way.

20 Of the eye, or that line in the eye: for in all tongues almost this word of Heures is taken for the eye. 1. The speech of care which is turned with thoughts of minute, and hath for see most part of itself broken with it. w. By labour.

Father knoweth whereof ye haue neede, before ye aske of him.

9 After this manner therefore pray ye, * Our Father which art in heauen, hallowed bee thy Name.

10 Thy kingdome come. Thy will bee done euen in earth, as it is in heauen.

11 Giue vs this day our daily bread.

12 And forgive vs our debts, as wee also forgiue our debtors.

13 And leade vs not into temptation, but deli-uer vs from euill: for thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glory for euer. Amen.

14 * For if ye doe forgive men their trespas-ses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

15 But if ye doe not forgive men their trespas-ses, no more will your heavenly Father forgive you your trespasses.

16 Moreover, when ye fast, looke not sowe as the hypocrites: for they disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Verely
I say vnto you, that they haue their reward.

17 But when thou fastest, annoynt thine head, and wash thy face,

18 That thou seeme vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.

19 ¶ Lay not vp treasures for your selues vp-on the earth, where the moth & canker corrupt, and where theues digge through and steale.

20 * But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the moth nor canker corrupteth, & where theues neither digge through nor steale.

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 ¶ The light of the body is the eye: if then thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be light.

23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy body shall be dark. Wherefore if the light that is in thee be darknesse, how great is that darknesse?

24 * No man can serue two masters: for either hee shall hate the one, and loue the other, or else he shall leaue to the one, and despise the other.
Ye cannot serue God and riches.

25 ¶ Therefore I say vnto you, be not care-full for your life, what ye shall eate, or what ye shall drinke: nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth than meate and the body then raiment?

26 Behold the fowles of the heauen: for they sow not, neither reape, nor carry into the barnes:
yet your heavenly Father feedeth them: are ye not much better than they?

27 Which of you by taking care is able to add one cubite vnto his stature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Learne how the Lillies of the field doe growe: they are not wearing, neither spinne:

29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Salomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

30 Wherefore if God do clothe the grasse of the field which is to day, & to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not doe much more vnto you, O ye of little faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eate? or what shall we drinke: or wherewith shall we be clothed?

32 (For after all these things seeketh the Gentiles) for your heavenly Father knoweth, that ye haue need of all these things.

33 But seeke ye first the kingdome of God, and his righteousnesse, and all these things shall be ministred vnto you.

34 Care not then for the morrow: for the morrow shall care for it selfe: the day hath enough with his owne griefe.

CHAP. VII.

1 We may not see iudgement of our neighbour, 6 Nor casteth which a holy word accesse. 12 The bread and first way. 15 False prophesie. 18 The true euill, 24 The bosome of sin a roote, 30 and on the iend.

Verge not, that ye be not iudged.

2 For with what iudgement ye iudge, ye shall be iudged, and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured vnto you againe.

3 And why seest thou the mote, that is in thy brothers eye, and perceivest not the beam that is in thine owne eye?

4 * Or how sayest thou to thy brother, Suffer me to cast out the mote out of thine eye, and behold, a beam is in thine owne eye?

5 Hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine owne eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brothers eye.

6 ¶ Giue ye not that which is holy to dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they tread them vnder their teete, and turning again, all to rent you.

7 ¶ Aske, and it shall be given you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

8 For whosoever asketh, receiveth: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

9 For what man is there among you, which if his son aske him bread, would giue him a stone?

10 Or if hee aske fish, will hee giue him a fer-pent?

11 If ye then are euill, can giue to your children good gifts, how much more shall your Father which is in heauen, giue good things to them that aske him?

12 * Therefore whatsoever ye would, that men should doe to you, euen so doe ye to them:
for this is the Law and the Prophets.

13 ¶ Enter in at the strait gate: for it is the wide gate, and broad way that leadeth to destruction: and many there be which goe in thereat.

14 Because the gate is strait, and the way narrow that leadeth vnto life, and fewe there bee that finde it.

15 ¶ Beware of false prophes, which come to you in sheeps clothing, but inwardly they are rauening wolves.

16 Ye shall know them by their fruites. * Doe men gather grapes of thornes? or figs of thistles?

17 So euery good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and a corrupt tree bringeth forth euill fruit.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth euill fruit:
neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 * Euery tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

20 Therefore by their fruites ye shall knowe them.

1 The Leper cleansed, 5 The Centurions faith, 12 The calling mauer in lawe healed, 19 A Scribe desireth to followe Christ, 23 The tempest on the sea, 26 Two possessed with deuils cured

23 The deuils goe into swine.

NOW when hee was come downe from the mountaine, great multitudes followed him.

2 ¶ And loe, there came a Leper and worshipped him, saying, Master, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

3 And Iesus putting forth his hand, touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane; and immediately his leprosie was cleansed.

4 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, See thou tell no man, but goe, and shew thy selfe vnto the Priest, and offer the gift that * Moses commaunded, for a witnesse to them.

5 ¶ * When Iesus was entred into Capernaum, there came vnto him, a Centurion, beseeching him.

6 And said, Master, my seruant lyeth sicke at home of the palseie, and is grievously pained.

7 And Iesus sayd vnto him, I will come and heale him.

8 But the Centurion answered, saying, Master,
I am not worthy that thou shouldst come vnder my roofo: but p'ke the word only, and my seruant shall be healed.

9 For I am a man also vnder the authoritie of another e haue souldiers vnder me: and I say to one, Goe, and hee goeth: and to another, Come, and hee cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this,
and hee doeth it.

10 When Iesus heard that, he marueiled, and said to them that followed him, Verely I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, eue in Israel.

11 But I say vnto you, that many shall come from the East, and West, and shall a sit down with Abraham and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdome of heauen.

12 And the children of the kingdome shall be cast out into v utter * darkenesse: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

13 Then Iesus said vnto the Centurion, Goe thy way, and as thou hast beleueed, so be it vnto thee. And his seruant was healed the same houre.

14 ¶ * And when Iesus came to Peters house, he saw his wifes mother laid downe, and sicke of a feuer,

15 And he touched her hand, and the feuer left her: so the arose, and ministered vnto them.

16 ¶ When the euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with deuils:
and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed e all that were sicke,

17 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by * Elias the Prophet, saying, He tooke our infirmities, and bare our sicknesse.

18 ¶ And when hee sawe great multitudes of people about him, he commanded them to goe ouer the water.

19 ¶ Then came there a certaine Scribe, and said vnto him, Master, I will follow thee whithersoeuer thou goest.

20 But Iesus saide vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen haue e nestes, but the Sonne of man hath not wheroun to rest his head.

21 ¶ And another of his disciples said vnto him, Master, suffer me first to goe, and burie my father.

22 But Iesus said vnto him, Follow mee, and let the dead burie their dead.

23 ¶ * And when he was entred into the ship, his disciples followed him.

24 And beholde there arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the ship was couered with waues:
but he was asleepe.

25 Then his disciples came, and awoke him, saying, Master, saue vs, we perish.

26 And he said vnto them, Why are ye fearefull, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the windes and the sea: and so there was a great calme.

27 And the men marueiled, saying, What man is this, that both the windes and the sea obey him?

28 ¶ * 7 And when he was come to the other side into the country of the Gergeenes, there met him two possessed with deuils, which came out of the graues very fierce, so that no man might go by that way.

29 And behold, they cryed out, saying, Iesus the Sonne of God, what haue wee to doe with thee? Art thou come hither to torment vs before the time?

30 Now there was f as farre off from them a great heard of swine feeding.

31 And the deuils besought him, saying, If thou cast vs out, suffer vs to goe into the herde of swine.

32 And he said vnto them, Goe. So they went out and departed into the herd of swine: and behold the whole herd of swine ran headlong into the sea, and died in the water.

33 Then the herd-men fled: and when they were come into the citie, they told all things, and what was become of them that were possessed with deuils.

34 And behold, all the citie came out to meet Iesus: and when they saw him, they besought him to depart out of their coasts.

4 There is no coll soode, and incur- able, which Christ cannot heale by and by, if he be touched with true faith but lightly as it were with the hand.

Then ^a he entred into a ship, and passed ouer, and came into his owne ci- tie.

2 And ^a 10c, they brought to him a man sicke of the palse layed on a bed, And Iesus ^b seeing their faith, sayd to the sicke of the palse, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy finnes are forgiven thee.

3 And beholde, certaine of the Scribes sayd with themselves, This man ^c blasphemeth.

4 But when Iesus saw their thoughts, he said, Wherefore thinke ye euill things in your hearts?

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy finnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that they may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgive finnes (then sayde he vnto the sicke of the palse,) Arise, take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

7 And he arose, and departed to his owne house.

8 So when the multitude saw it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giuen such authoritie to men.

9 ¶ ^a 2 And as Iesus passed forth from thence, he saw a man sitting at the ^d custome, named Mat- thew, and sayd to him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him.

10 And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at meate in his house, behold, many Publicanes & sin- ners that came thither, sate down at the table with Iesus and his disciples.

11 And when the Pharises saw that, they sayd to his disciples, Why eateth your Master with Publicanes and sinners?

12 Now when Iesus heard it, hee sayde vnto them, The whole need not a Physician, but they that are sicke.

13 But goe ye and learne what this is, * I will haue mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the * sinners to repen- tance.

14 ¶ ^a 3 Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why doe we and the Pharises fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

15 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Can the ^c chil- dren of the marriage chamber mourne as long as the bridegrome is with them? but the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast.

16 Moreouer, no man pieceth an old garment with a peece of new cloth: for that that should fill it vp, taketh away from the garment, and the breach is worse.

17 Neither doe they put newe wine into olde vessels: for then the vessels would breake, and the wine would be spilt, and the vessels should perish: but they put new wine into new vessels, and so are both preferred.

18 ¶ ^a 4 While hee thus spake vnto them, be- holde, there came a certaine ruler, and worshi- ped him, saying, My daughter is now diseased: but come and lay thine hand on her, and she shall liue.

19 And Iesus arose and followed him with his disciples.

20 (And behold, a woman which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeres, came behind him, and touched the hemme of his garment.

21 For she said in her selfe, If I may touch but his garment onely, I shall be whole.

22 Then Iesus turned him about, and seeing her, did say, Daughter, be of good of comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole at that same moment.)

23 5 Nowe when Iesus came into the Rulers house, and saw the ^b minstreis and the multitude making noyse, 24 He sayd vnto them, Get you hence: for the maid is not dead, but slepeeth. And they laughed him to scorne.

25 And when the multitude were put forth, hee went in and tooke her by the hand, and the mayd arose.

26 And this brute went throughout all that land.

27 ¶ And as Iesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O sonne of Dauid haue mercy vpon vs.

28 And when he was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Iesus sayd vnto them, Belceue yee that I am able to doe this? And they sayd vnto him, Yea Lord.

29 Then touched he their eyes, saying, Accord- ing to your faith be it vnto you.

30 And their eyes were opened, and Iesus gaue them great charge, saying, See that no man know it.

31 But when they were departed, they spread abroad his fame throughout all that land.

32 ¶ ^a 7 And as they went out, beholde, they brought to him a dumbe man possified with a deuill.

33 And when the deuill was cast out, the dumbe spake: then the multitude marueiled, saying, The like was neuer seene in Israel.

34 But the Pharises sayd, * He casteth out deu- ils, through the prince of deuils.

35 ¶ And * Iesus went about all cities and townes, teaching in their Synagogues, and preach- ing the Gospel of the Kingdome, and healing every sicknesse and every disease among the peo- ple.

36 ¶ But * when he saw the multitude, he had compassion vpon them because they were disper- sed and scattered abroad, as sheepe hauing no shepherd.

37 Then sayd he to his disciples, * Surely the haruest ^a is great, but the labourers are few.

38 Wherefore pray the Lord of the haruest, that he would ^b send forth labourers into his har- uest.

3 Philip and Bartlemew: Thomas, and Marthew that Publicane; Iames the sonne of Alphaeus, and Lebbeus whose surname was Thaddæus:

4 Simon the Cananite, and Iudas^b Ifcariot, who also betrayed him.

5 These twelue did Iesus send forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into the cities of the Samaritans enter ye not:

6 But goe rather * to the lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

7 * And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heauen is at hand, 8 Heale the sicke: cleanse the lepers: raise vp the dead: cast out the deuils. Freely yee haue receiued, freely giue.

9 * A Poffesse^c not golde, nor filuer, nor money in your girdles, 10 Nor a scrippe for the iourney, neither two coats, neither shooes, nor a staffe: * for the workman is worthy of his^d meate.

11 And into * whatsoever citie or towne yee shall come, enquire who is worthy in it, & there abide till ye go thence.

12 And when yee come into an house, salute the same.

13 And if the house be worthy, let your^e peace come vpon it: but if it be not worthy, let your peace returne to you.

14 * And whosoever shall not receiue you, nor heare your words, when ye depart out of that house, or that citie, * shake off the dust of your feete.

15 Truly I say vnto you, it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of iudgement, than for that citie.

16 ¶ * Behold, I send you as^f sheepe in the middes of the wolues: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and innocent as doves.

17 But beware of men, for they will deliuer you vp to the Councils, and will scourge you in their Synagogues.

18 And ye shall be brought to the gouernours and kings for my sake, in witnesse to them, and to the Gentiles.

19 * When they deliuer you vp, take not thought how or what ye shall speake: for it shall bee giuen you in that houre, what ye shall say.

20 For it is not ye that speake, but the spirit of your Father which speaketh in you.

21 And the * brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall caue them to die.

22 And yee shall bee hated of all men for my Name: * but he that endureth to the end, he shall be saved.

23 And when they persecute you in this citie, flee into another: for verely I say vnto you, yee shall not^g goe ouer all the cities of Israel, till the Sonne of man be come.

24 * The discipule is not about his Master, nor the seruant about his Lord.

25 It is enough for the discipule to bee as his Master^h, and the seruant as the Lord. * If they haue called the master of the houseⁱ Beelzebub, how much more then of his household?

26 ¶ Bring to an end, that is, you shall not haue gone borrow all the cities in Israel, and preached in them. * Luke 9.40, ioh 13.16, and 15.20. * Chap. 12.23.

26 ¶ Fear them not therefore: * for there is nothing couered that shall not bee disclosed, nor hid, that shall not be knowne.

27 What I tell you in darknes, that speake ye in light: & what ye heare in the eare, that preach ye on the^j houfes, 28 And^k feare ye not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soule: but rather feare him which is able to destroy both soule and body in hell.

29 Are not two sparrows sold for a^l farthing, & one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father?

30 * Yea, and all the haire of your head are numbered.

31 Feare ye not therefore, ye are of more value then many sparrows.

32 * Whosoever therefore shall confesse mee before men, him will I confesse also before my Father which is in heauen.

33 But whosoever shall denie me before men, him will I also denie before my Father which is in heauen.

34 * Think not that I am come to sende peace into the earth, I came not to send peace but the sword.

35 For I am come to set a man at variance against his father, & the daughter against her mother, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

36 * And a mans enemies shall be they of his owne household.

37 * Hee that loueth father or mother more then me, is not worthy of me. And he that loueth sonne or daughter more then me, is not worthy of me.

38 * And he that taketh not the crosse, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me.

39 * He that will^m finde his life, shall lose it, and he that loseth his life for my sake, shall finde it.

40 * He that receiueth you, receiueth me: and he that receiueth me, receiueth him that hath sent me.

41 * Hee that receiueth a Prophet in the name of a Prophet, shall receiue a prophets reward: & he that receiueth a righteous man in the name of a righteous man, shall receiue the reward of a righteous man.

42 * And whosoever shall giue vnto one of theseⁿ little ones to drink a cup of cold water only in the name of a discipule, verely I say vnto you, he shall not lose his reward.

17 And say, we haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not daunced, we haue mourned vnto you, and ye haue not lamented.

18 For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a deuill.

19 The Sonne of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold a glutton & a drinker of wine, a friend vnto Publicans and sinners: & but y^e wisdom is iustificd of her children.

20 ¶ ¶ Then began he to upbraid the cities, wherein most of his great workes were done, because they repented not.

21 Woe be to thee Chorazin: Woe be to thee Bethsaida: for if the great workes which were done in you, had bene done in Tyrus and Sidon, they had repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.

22 But I say to you, It shall be easier for Tyrus

23 And thou Capernaum, which art lifted vp vnto heauen, shalt be brought downe to hell: for if the great workes, which haue bene done in thee, had bene done among them of Sodom, they had remained vnto this day.

24 But I say vnto you, that it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodome in the day of iudge-ment, then for thee.

25 ¶ At that time Iesus answered, and said, I giue thee thanks, O Father, Lord of heauen and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and men of vnderstanding, and hast opened them vnto babes.

26 ¶ It is so, O Father, because thy i good

23 And all the people were amazed, and said, Is not this the sonne of David?

24 But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, * This man casteth the deuils no otherwise out but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

25 But Iesus knew their thoughts, and said to them, Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, is brought to nought, and euery citie or house diuided against it selfe, shall not stand.

26 So if Satan cast out Satan, hee is diuided against himselfe: how shall then his kingdome endure?

27 Alſo if I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore they shall be your iudges.

28 But if I cast out deuils by the spirit of God, then is the kingdome of God come vnto you.

29 Elſe how can a man enter into a strong mans house, and spoile his goods, except hee first bind the strong man, and then spoile his house?

30 Hee that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

31 * Wherefore I say vnto you, Euery sinne and blasphemie shall be forgiven vnto men: but the blasphemie against the holy Ghost shall not be forgiven vnto men.

32 And whoſoeuer shall speake a word against the sonne of man, it shall be forgiven him: * but whoſoeuer shall speake against the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come.

33 Either make the tree good, and his fruite good: or elſe make the tree euill, and his fruit euill: for the tree is knowne by the fruit.

34 * O generations of vipers, how can you speake good things, when ye are euill? For of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.

35 A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good things: & an euil man out of an euil treasure, bringeth forth euill things.

36 But I say vnto you, that of euery euil word that men shall speake, they shall giue account thereof at the day of iudgement.

37 For by thy words thou shalt bee iustified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.

38 ¶ * Then answered certaine of the Scribes and of the Pharisees, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee.

39 But he answered and said to them, An euill and adulterous generation seeketh a signe, but no signe shall be giuen vnto it, saue that signe of the Prophet Ionas.

40 * For as Ionas was three dayes and three nights in the whales belly: so shall the sonne of man be three dayes and three nights in the heart of the earth.

41 ¶ The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgment with this generation, and condemne it: for they repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

42 ¶ The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgment with this generation, and shall condemne it: for shee came from the vtmost partes of the earth to heare the wisdom of Salomon: and behold, a greater then Salomon is here.

43 ¶ Now when the vnclane spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh throughout dry places, seeking rest, and findeth none.

44 Then hee saith, I will returne into mine house from whence I came: & when he is come, hee findeth it empty, swept and garnished:

45 ¶ Then hee goeth and taketh vnto him seuen other spirits worse then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: * and the end of that man is worse then the beginning, Euen so shall it be with this wicked generation.

46 ¶ * While he yet spake to the multitude, he behold, his mother, and his brethren stood without, desiring to speake with him.

47 Then one sayd vnto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren stand without desiring to speake with thee.

48 But he answered, and sayd to him that told him, Who is my mother, & who are my brethren?

49 ¶ And he stretched forth his hand toward his disciples and said, Behold my mother, and my brethren.

50 For whoſoeuer shall doe my Fathers will which is in heauen, the same is my brother and sister and mother.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ The parable of the Sower, 1. and 34. Why Iesus spake in parables. 18. The signification of the parable. 29. The parable of the sower. 31. Of the four sorts of seed. 33. Of the seed that fall on the rock. 35. Of the seed that fall on the thorns. 37. Of the seed that fall on the good ground. 47. Of the seed that fall on the good ground.

¶ The same day went Iesus out of the house, and sat by the sea side.

2 ¶ And great multitudes resorted vnto him, so that he went into a ship, and sat downe: and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sow.

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the fowles came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stony ground, where they had not much earth, and anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne was vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprang vp, and choked them.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and brought forth fruit, one came an hundred folde, some sixtie folde, and another thirtie folde.

9 He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 ¶ Then the disciples came, and said to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables?

11 ¶ And he answered and sayd vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you to know the secrets of the kingdom of heauen, but to the it is not giuen.

12 ¶ For whoſoeuer hath, to him shall be giuen, & he shall haue abundance: but whoſoeuer hath not, from him shall be taken away euen y: he hath.

13 Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seeing doe not see: and hearing, they heare not, neither vnderstand.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophesie of Esaias, which prophesie sayeth, * By hearing ye shall heare, and shall not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceiue.

15 For this peoples heart is waxed fat, & their eares are dull: & hearing, and with their eyes they haue winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should vnderstand with their hearts, & should returne, that I might heale them.

16 ¶ But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare.

17 ¶ For verely I say vnto you, that many Prophets, and righteous men haue desired to see those things which ye see, & haue not seene them, and to heare those things which he heare, and haue not heard them.

Mat 13. 35.

18 ¶ Hear ye therefore the parable of the Sower.

19 Whensoever any man heareth the word of that Kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, that e will one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart: and this is hee which hath receiued the feed by the way side.

20 And hee that receiued feede in the stonie ground, is hee which heareth the word, and incontinently with ioy receiueth it.

21 Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And hee that receiued the feede among thornes, is he that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he is made vnfittfull.

23 But hee that receiued the feed in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundred fold, some sixtie fold, and some thirtie fold.

24 ¶ Another parable put hee forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good feed in his field.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemy and sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the householder, and sayd vnto him, Master, sowedst thou not good feed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And he said vnto them, Some enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants said vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe and gather them vp?

29 But he said, Nay, lest while ye goe about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheate.

30 Let both grow together vntill the haruest, and in time of haruest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, and bind them in sheaves to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barn.

31 ¶ Another parable put hee forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustard seed, which a man taketh and soweth in his field:

32 Which in deed is the least of all feedes: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

33 ¶ Another parable spake he to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three pecks of meale, till all be leauened.

34 ¶ All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not vnto them.

35 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, * I will open my mouth in parables, and will utter the things which haue bene kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of that field.

37 Then answered he, and said to them, Hee that soweth the good feed, is the Sonne of man.

38 And the field is the world, and the good seed are the children of the Kingdome, and the tares are the children of that wicked one.

39 And the enemy that soweth them, is the deuill, * and the haruest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shall it be in the end of this world.

41 The Sonne of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which doe iniquitie.

42 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire, There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

43 * Then shall the iust men shine as the sunne in the Kingdome of their Father. Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44 ¶ Again, the Kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treaure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, he hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth, and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

45 ¶ Again, the kingdome of heauen is like to a merchant man that seeketh good pearles.

46 Who hauing found a pearle of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it.

47 ¶ Again, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a draw net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kinds of thinges.

48 Which, when it is full, men draw to land, and sit and gather the good into vessels, and cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be at the end of the world. The Angels shall goe forth, and seuer the bad from among the iust.

50 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

51 ¶ Iesus said vnto them, Vnderstand ye all these things? They said vnto him, Yea, Lord.

52 Then said he vnto them, Therefore vnderstand ye which is taught vnto the kingdome of heauen, is like vnto an householder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things both new & old.

53 ¶ And it came to passe, that when Iesus had ended these parables, he departed thence.

54 * And came into his owne country, and taught them in their Synagogue, so that they were astonied, and said, Whence commeth this wisdomed and great workes vnto this man?

55 Is not this the carpenters sonne? Is not his mother called Marie, * and his brethren James and Ioseph, and Simon and Iudas?

56 And are not his sisters all with vs? Whence then hath he all these things?

57 And they were offended with him. Then Iesus said to them, * A Prophet is not without honour, save in his owne country, and in his owne house.

58 And he did not many great workes there, for their vnbeliefs sake.

hour, came and receiued every man a penie.

10 Now when the first came, they fuppofed that they fhould receive more, but they likewife receiued every man a penny.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured againſt the Maſter of the houſe, 12 Saying, Theſe Laſt haue wrought but one hour, and thou haſt made them equal vnto vs, which haue borne the burden & heat of the day.

13 And hee answered one of them, ſaying, Friend, I doe thee no wrong: didſt thou not agree with me for a penny?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and go thy way, I will giue vnto this laſt, as much as to thee. 15 It is not lawfull for mee to doe as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye cecill, becauſe I am good?

16 * So the laſt ſhall be firſt, and the firſt laſt: for many are called but few choſen.

7 * And Ieſus went vp to Ierufalem, and tooke the twelue Diſciples apart in the way, and ſaid vnto them,

18 3 Behold, we goe vp to Ierufalem, and the ſonne of man ſhall be deliuered vnto the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and they ſhall condemne him to death, 19 4 And * ſhall deliuer him to the Gentiles, to mocke, and to ſcourge, and to crucifie him, but the third day he ſhall riſe againe.

20 * 5 Then came to him the mother of Zebedeus children with her ſonnes, worſhipping him, and deſiring a certaine thing of him, 21 And he ſaid vnto her, What wouldeſt thou? She ſaid to him, Grant that theſe my two ſonnes may ſit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy Kingdome.

22 And Ieſus answered, and ſaid, Ye know not what ye aſke. Are ye able to drinke of the cup that I ſhall drinke of, and to be baptized with the baptime that I ſhall be baptized with? They ſaide to him, We are able.

23 And he ſaid vnto them, Ye ſhall drinke indeed of my cup, and ſhall be baptized with the baptime, that I am baptized with, but to ſit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is not mine to giue: but it ſhall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.

24 * And when the other ten heard this, they diddaine at the two brethren.

25 * Therefore Ieſus called them vnto him, and ſaid, Ye know that the lords of the Gentiles haue dominion ouer them, and they that are great, exerciſe authority ouer them.

26 But it ſhall not be ſo among you, but whoſoeuer will be great among you, let him be your ſeruant, 27 And whoſoeuer will be chiefe among you, let him be your ſeruant.

28 * Euen as the ſonne of man came not to be ſerued, but to ſerue, and to giue his life for the ranſome of many.

29 * 6 And as they departed from Iericho, a great multitude followed him.

30 And behold, two blind men, ſitting by the way ſide, when they heard that Ieſus paſſed by, cryed, ſaying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, becauſe they ſhould hold their peace: but they cried the more, ſaying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs, 32 Then Ieſus ſtood ſtill, and b called them, and ſaid, What wilt thou I doe to thee?

33 They ſaid to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 And Ieſus mooued with compaſſion, touched their eyes, and immediatly their eyes receiued light, and they followed him.

19 And seeing a figge tree in the way he came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaues only, and said to it, Neither fruit grow on thee henceforward. And anon the figtree withered.

20 And when his disciples saw it, they marvelled, saying, how soone is the figtree withered!

21 5 And Iesus answered and said vnto them, * Verily I say vnto you, if ye haue faith, & I doubt not, ye shall not onely doe that, which I haue done to the figtree, but also if ye say vnto this mountaine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, it shall be done.

22 * And whatsoever yee shall aske in prayer, if yee beleue, yee shall receiue it.

23 ¶ 6 And when he was come into the Temple, the chiefe Priests, and the Elders of the people came vnto him, as he was teaching, and said, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie?

24 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, I also will aske of you! a certaine thing, which if ye tell mee, I likewise will tell you by what authority I doe these things.

25 The me baptisme of Iohn, whence was it? from heauen, or of men? Then they reasoned among themselves, saying, If wee shall say, From heauen, he will say vnto vs, Why didst ye not then beleue him?

26 And if we say, Of men, we feare the multitude, * for all hold Iohn as a Prophet.

27 Then they answered Iesus, and said, Wee can not tell. And he said vnto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I doe these things.

28 ¶ 7 But what thinke yee? A certaine man had two sonnes, and came to the Elder, and said, Sonne, goe and worke to day in my vineyard.

29 But he answered, and said, I will not: yet afterward he repented himself, and went.

30 Then came he to the second, and said likewise, And he answered, and said, I will, Sir: yet went he not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the will of the Father? They said vnto him, The first. Iesus said vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, that the Publicanes and the harlots, go before you into the kingdom of God.

32 For Iohn came vnto you in the way of righteousness, and ye beleueed him not: but the Publicanes and the harlots beleueed him, and ye, though ye law it, were not moued with repentance afterward that ye might beleue him.

33 ¶ 8 Heare another parable. There was a certaine householder, * Which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, & made a winepresse therein, and * built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange country.

34 And when the time of the fruit drew neere, he sent his seruants to the husbandmen to receiue the fruits thereof.

35 And the husbandmen tooke his seruants, and beate one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Again hee sent other seruants, moe then the first: and they did the like vnto them.

37 But last of all hee sent vnto them his owne Sonne, saying, They will reuerence my Sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen saw the Sonne, they said among themselves, * This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, & let vs take his inheritance

39 So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and flew him.

40 When therefore the Lord of the vineyard shall come, what will he doe to those husbandmen?

41 They said vnto him, Hee will cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliver him their fruits in their seasons.

42 Iesus said vnto them, Read ye neuer in the Scriptures, * The stone which the builders refused, the same is * made the y head of the corner?

2 This was the Lords doing, and it is maruellous in our eyes.

43 Therefore say I vnto you, The kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and shall be giuen to a nation, which shall bring forth the fruits thereof.

44 * And whosoever shall fall on this stone, hee shall be broken: but on whomlouer it shall fall, it will b dash him in peeces.

Then * I Iesus answered, and spake vnto them againe in parables saying,

2 The Kingdom of heauen is like vnto a certaine King which married his sonne,

3 And bidden forth his seruants, to call them that were bidde to the wedding, but they would not come.

4 Again hee sent forth other seruants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I haue prepared my dinner: mine oxen and my fattings are * killed, and all things are ready: come vnto the marriage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their waies, one to his farme, and another about his merchandise.

6 And the remnant tooke his seruants, and intreated them sharply, and slew them.

7 2 But when the king heard it, he was wroth, and sent forth his warriours, and destroyed those murderers, and burnt vp their citie.

8 Then said hee to his seruants, Truly the wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

9. 3 Goe yee therefore out into the hie waies, and as many as ye find, bid them to the marriage.

10 So those seruants went out into the high waies, and gathered together all that euer they found, both good, & bad: so the wedding was furnished with guests.

15 ¶ Then went the Pharisees, & took counsell how they might tangle him in talke.

16 And they sent vnto him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, Master, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God truly, neither carest for any man: for thou confidest not the i person of men.

17 Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it lawful to giue tribute vnto Cesar, or not?

18 But Iesus perceived their wickednesse, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shew mee the tribute money. And they brought him a penny.

23 ¶ * The same day the Sadduces came to him, (which say that there is no resurrection,) and asked him, 24 Saying, Master, * Moses said, If a man die, hauing no children, his brother shall marry his wife by the right of alliance, and raise vp feede vnto his brother.

25 Now there were vii seuen brethren, and the first married a wife, and deceased: and hauing no issue, left his wife vnto his brother.

26 Likewise also the second and the third, vnto the seventh.

27 And last of all the woman died also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? for all had her.

29 Then Iesus answered and saide vnto them, Ye are deceived, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are married, but are as the Angels of God in heauen.

31 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not read what is spoken vnto you of God, saying, 32 * I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing.

33 And when the multitude heard it, they were astounded at his doctrine.

37 Iesus saide to him, * Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy Proule, and with all thy minde.

38 This is the first and the great commandment.

39 And the second is like vnto this, * Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

40 On these two commandments hangeth the whole Law and the Prophets.

41 ¶ * While the Pharisees were gathered together, Iesus asked them, 42 Saying, What thinke ye of Christ? whose sonne is he? They said vnto him, Dauid.

43 He said vnto them, How then doeth Dauid in spirit call him Lord, saying, 44 * The Lord saide to my Lord, Sit at my right hand till I make thine enemies thy footstool?

45 If then Dauid call him Lord, how is he his sonne?

46 And none could answere him a word, neither durst any from that day forth aske him any more questions.

* Luke 19. 12, 13.

a Christ witnesseth that there shall be a long time betweene his departure to his Father, and his coming againe to vs, but yet notwithstanding, he will at the day take an account not onely of the rebellious and obstinate how they have belloyed that which they receiued of him, but also of his household seruants which haue not through doltishnesse imployed those graces which he bestowed vpon them.
c According to the wisdom and skill in dealing which was giuen them, and how they receiue the fruit of my goateffusion the Lord's ioy doubled, Job 1. 5. 11. that my ioy remains in you, and your ioy be fulfilled.

d Tablemate which haue their shop bulkes, or tables yet abroad, where they leaue money to vantage.

3 The foolish tooke their lampes, but tooke no oyle with them.
4 But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.
5 Now while the bridegrome taried long, all bumbled and slept.
6 And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegrome commeth: goe out to meete him.
7 Then all those virgins arose and trimmed their lampes.
8 And the foolish said to the wise, Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.
9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so, lest there will not be enough for vs and you: but goe ye rather to them that sel, & buy for your selues.
10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrome came, and they that were ready, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.
11 Afterwardes came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.
12 But he answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, I know you not.
13 * Watch therefore: for ye know neither the day nor the houre, when the Son of man will come.
14 * 2 For the kingdom of heauen is as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his seruants, and deliuered to them his goods.
15 And vnto one he gaue five talents, and to another two, and to another one, to euery man after his owne abilitye, and straightway went from home.
16 Then he that had receiued the five talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other five talents.
17 Likewise also he that receiued two, hee also gained other two.
18 But he that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hid his masters money.
19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.
20 Then came hee that had receiued five talents, and brought other five talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me five talents: behold I haue gained with them other five talents.
21 Then his master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy.
22 Also hee that had receiued two talents, came, and said, Master thou deliueredst vnto mee two talents: behold, I haue gained two other talents more.
23 His master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy.
24 Then he which had receiued the one talent, came, and said, Master, I knew that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawdest nor:
25 I was therefore afraid, and went, & hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne.
26 And his master answered, and saide vnto him, Thou euill seruant, and slothfull, thou knewest that I reape where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.
27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the exchangers, & then at my coming, I should haue receiued mine owne with vantage.
28 Take therefore the talent from him, and giue it vnto him which hath ten talents.

29 * For vnto euery man that hath, it shall be giuen, and he shall haue abundance, and from him that hath not, euen that he hath shall be taken away.
30 Cast therefore that vnprofitable seruant into vtter * darkenesse: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.
31 ¶ And when the sonne of man commeth in clouds, and all the holy Angels with him, then shall he sit vpon the throne of his glory.
32 And before him shall be gathered all nations, and he shall separate them one from another as a shepherd separateth the sheepe from the goates.
33 And hee shall set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goates on the left.
34 Then shall the king say to them on his right hand, Come yee blessed of my Father: take the inheritance of the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.
35 * For I was an hungred, and ye gaue mee meate: I thirsted, and ye gaue mee drinke: I was a stranger, and ye tooke me into your house.
36 I was naked, and ye clothed mee: I was sicke, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came vnto mee.
37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or a thirst, and gaue thee drinke?
38 And when saw we thee a stranger, & tooke thee in vnto vs? or naked, and clothed thee?
39 Or when saw we thee sicke, or in prison, and came vnto thee?
40 And the King shall answer, and say vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, inasmuch as yee haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, yee haue done it to me.
41 Then shall he say to them on the left hand, * Depart from me ye cursed, into euertlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuil and his angels.
42 For I was an hungred, and ye gaue mee no meate: I thirsted, and ye gaue mee no drinke:
43 I was a stranger, and ye tooke mee not in vnto you: I was naked, and ye clothed mee not: sicke, and in prison, and ye visited me not.
44 Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or a thirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sicke, or in prison, and did not minister vnto thee?
45 Then shall he answer them, and say, Verely I say vnto you, inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me.
46 * And these shall goe into euertlasting paine, and the righteous into life eternall.

2 * Ye know that after two dayes is the Passouer, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered to be crucified.
3 * Then assembled together the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders of the people into the hall of the high Priest called Caiaphas: pointed the time that Christ should bee crucified in.

1 Christ witnesseth by his voluntery going to death, that he will make full satisfaction for the sinne of Adam by his obedience.
3 God himselfe and not men, pgs 47.

41 Watch and pray, that yee enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is ready, but the flesh is weak.

42 Again he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup cannot pass away from me, but that I must drinke it, thy will be done.

43 And hee came and found them asleepe againe, for their eyes were heauie.

44 So he left them, and went away againe, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45 Then came he to his disciples, and said vnto them, sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: behold, the houre is at hand, and the Sonne of man is giuen into the hands of sinners.

46 Rise, Let vs goe: beholde he is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 And while he yet spake, loe, Judas one of the twelue came, and with him a great multitude with swords and staves, from the hie Priests and Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kisse, that he be, lay hold on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Iesus, and sayd, God saue thee, Master, and kised him.

50 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Friend, where art thou come? Then came they, and layd hands on Iesus, and tooke him.

51 And behold, one of them, which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and strooke a seruant of the hie Priest, and smote of his eare.

52 Then sayd Iesus vnto him, Put vp thy sword into his place: for all that y take the sword, shall perish with the sword.

53 Either thinkest thou, that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he will giue me more then twelue legions of Angels?

54 How then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?

55 The same houre sayde Iesus to the multitude, Yee be come out as it were against a thiefe, with swords and staves to take mee: I sate daily teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled: Then all the disciples forsooke him, and fled.

57 And they tooke Iesus, and led him, to Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes & the Elders were assembled.

58 And Peter followed him afarre off vnto the hie Priests hall, and went in and sate with the seruants to see the end.

59 Now the chiefe Priests and the Elders, and all the whole Councill sought false witness against Iesus to put him to death.

60 But they found none, and though many false witnesses came, yet found they none: but at the last came two false witnesses, 61 And sayde, This man sayde, I can destroy the Temple of God, and build it in three dayes.

62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and sayde to him, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witness against thee?

63 But Iesus held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and sayd to him, I charge thee sweare vnto vs by the liuing God, to tell vs, if thou be that Christ the Sonne of God, or no.

64 Iesus sayd to him, Thou hast sayd it: nevertheless I say vnto you, Hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man sitting at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of the heauen.

65 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, saying, Hee hath blasphemed, What haue wee any more neede of witnesses? behold, now yee haue heard his blasphemy.

66 What thinke yee? They answered and said, He is guiltie of death.

67 Then spat they in his face, and buffeted him, and other smote him with rods.

68 Saying, Prophesie to vs, O Christ, Who is he that smote thee?

69 Peter b fate without in the hall and a maide came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galile:

70 But he denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.

71 And when hee went out into the porch, another mayds saw him, and sayd vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazareth.

72 And againe he denied with an othe, saying, I know not the man.

73 So after a while came vnto him they that stood by, and sayd vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speech bewrayeth thee.

74 Then began he to curse himselfe, and to sweare, saying, I know not the man. And immediately the cocke crew.

75 Then Peter remembered the words of Iesus, which had said vnto him, Before the cocke crow thou shalt denie me thrise. So hee went out, and wept bitterly.

WHen the morning was come, all the chiefe Priests, and the Elders of the people tooke counsell against Iesus, to put him to death.

2 And led him away bound, & deliuered him vnto Pontius Pilate, the gouernour.

3 Then when Iudas which betrayed him, saw that he was condemned, he repented himselfe and brought againe the thirtie pices of siluer to the chiefe Priests, and Elders,

4 Saying, I haue sinned, betraying the innocent blood. But they said, What is that to vs? see thou to it.

5 And when he had cast downe the siluer pices in the Temple, he departed, and went, and hanged himselfe.

6 And the chiefe Priests tooke the siluer pices, and sayde, It is not lawfull for vs to put them into the treasure, because it is the price of blood.

7 And they tooke counsell, and bought with them a potters field for the buriall of strangers.

8 Wherefore that field is called, The field of blood, vntill this day.

15 Christ is buried, not privately or by stealth, but by the open manner of the good men content by a famous man in a place not farre distant from a new sepulchre, that he cannot be doubted of his death.

16 The keeping of the sepulchre is committed to Christes owne murderers, that there might be no doubt of his resurrection.

17 The soldiers of the garrison which were appointed to keep the sepulchre, 18 The women goeth to the sepulchre, and the other Mary, came to see the sepulchre.

19 And behold there was a great earthquake for the Angel of the Lord descended from heauen and came & rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sat vpon it.

20 And the countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow.

21 And for feare of him, the keepers were as-

Marie the mother of Iames, and Iosef, and the mother of Zebedee sonnes.

57 ¶ And when the euen was come, there came a rich man of Arimathea, named Ioseph, who had also himselfe bene Iesus disciple.

58 He went to Pilate, & asked the body of Iesus, Then Pilate comanded the body to be deliuered.

59 So Ioseph tooke the body, and wrapped it in a cleane linnen cloth.

60 And put in his new tombe, which he had hewen out in a rocke, and rolled a great stone to the doore of the sepulchre, and departed.

61 And there was Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, sitting out against the sepulchre.

62 ¶ Now the next day that followed the Preparation of the Sabbath, the high Priestes and Pharisees assembled to Pilate, 63 And said, Sir, we remember that that deceiver sayd, while he was yet aliue, Within three dayes I will rise.

64 Command therefore that the sepulchre be made sure vntill the third day, lest his Disciples come by night, and steale him away, and say vnto the people, Hee is risen from the dead: so shall the last error be worse then the first.

65 Then Pilate said vnto them, Ye haue a watch: goe, and make it as sure, as ye know.

66 And they went and made the sepulchre sure with the watch and sealed the stone.

5 But the Angel answered, and said to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified.

6 Hee is not here, for hee is risen, as hee sayd: come, see the place where the Lord was layd.

7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples that hee is risen from the dead: and behold, he goeth before you into Galilee there ye shall see him: lo, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre with feare and great ioy, and did runne to bring his disciples word.

9 ¶ And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them saying, God saue you. And they came and tooke him by the feete, and worshipped him.

10 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, Be not afraid. Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galilee, and there shall they see mee.

11 ¶ Now when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the citie, and shewed vnto the hie Priests all the things that were done.

12 And they gathered them together with the Elders, and tooke counsell, and gaue large money vnto the fouldiers, 13 Saying, Say, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept.

14 And if this matter come before the gouernour to be heard, wee will perfwade him, and so will the matter that ye shall not need to care.

15 So they tooke the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is noised among the Iewes vnto this day.

And behold there was a great earthquake for the Angel of the Lord descended from heauen and came & rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sat vpon it. 4. And the countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow. 5. And for feare of him, the keepers were asremission of finnes.

5 And all the country of Iudea & they of Ierusalem went out vnto him, & were all baptized of him in the riuier Iordan, confessing their finnes.

6 ¶ Now Iohn was clothed with camels haire, and with a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: and he did eate locusts and wild hony.

7 ¶ And preached saying, A stronger then I cometh after me, whose shoes I latchet I am not worthy to stoupe downe and vnloose.

8 Truth it is, I haue baptized you with water: but he will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 ¶ And it came to passe in those dayes that Iesus came from Nazareth, a citie of Galilee and was baptized of Iohn in Iordan.

10 And as soon as he was come out of the water, Iohn saw the heauens clouen in twaine, and the holy Ghost descending vpon him like a dove.

11 ¶ Then

12 * 6 And immediatly the Spirit diueth him into the wilde nesse.

13 And hee was there in the wildernesse fourtie dayes, and was tempted of Satan: he was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministred vnto him.

14 * 7 Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching the Gospel of the Kingdome of God, 15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the Kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleue the Gospel.

16 * 8 And as he walked by the sea of Galile, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the Sea, (for they were fishers.)

17 Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you to be fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets and followed him.

19 And when hee had gone a little further thence, hee saw James the sonne of Zebedee, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedee in the ship with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 * 9 So they entred into Capernaum: and straightway on the Sabbath day hee entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonished at his doctrine, for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 * 10 And there was in the Synagogue a man in whom was an vnclane spirit, & he cried out, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue we to do with thee, O Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou art, men that holy One of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vnclane spirit tare him, and cried with a loud voyce, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, for that they demanded of one another, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for hee commanded them the foule spirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediatly his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile.

29 * 11 And alsoone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and Iohn.

30 And Simons wifes mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they told him of her.

31 And hee came and tooke her by the hand, and lifted her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and she ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, at what time the Sunne setteth, they brought to him all that were diseased, & them that were possessed with deuils.

33 And the whole city was gathered together at the doore.

34 And hee healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and hee cast out many deuils, and 35 And in the morning very early before day, Iesus arose, and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed carefully after him.

37 And when they had found him, they sayd vnto him, All men seeke for thee.

38 The he said vnto them, Let vs go into the next towines, that I may preach there also: for I came out for that purpose.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galile, and cast the deuils out.

40 * 12 And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeled downe vnto him, and sayde to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make mee cleane.

41 And Iesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I will be thou cleane.

42 And alsoone as he had spoken immediatly the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

43 And after he had given him a straight commandement, he sent him away forth with,

44 13 And sayd vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and shew thy selfe to the Priests, and offer for thy cleansing those things which Moyses commanded, for a testimoniall vnto them.

45 But when hee was departed, he began to tell many things, and to publish the matter: so that Iesus could no more openly enter into the cite, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from euery quarter.

3 And there came vnto him, that brought one sicke of the palfie, borne of foure men.

4 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncouered the roofof the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the sicke, where in the sicke of the palfie lay.

5 Now when Iesus saw their faith, he sayd to the sicke of the palfie, Sonne, thy finnes are forgiven thee.

6 And there were certaine of the Scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

7 Why doeth this man speake such blasphemies? who can forgive finnes, but God onely?

8 And immediatly, when Iesus perceived in his spirit, that thus they reasoned with themselves, he sayd vnto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

9 Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palfie, Thy finnes are forgiven thee? or to say, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and walke?

10 But that ye may know, that the Sonne of man hath authority in earth to forgive finnes, he sayd vnto the sicke of the palfie, 16 And when the Scribes & Pharises saw him eat with the Publicanes & sinners, they said vnto his disciples, How is it, that he eateth and drinketh with Publicanes and sinners?

17 Now when Iesus heard it, hee sayd vnto them, The whole haue no neede of the Physician, but the sicke. I came not to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

18 * And the disciples of Iohn, and the Pharises did fast, and came, and sayd vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn, and of the Pharises fast, and thy disciples fast not?

19 And Iesus said vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber fast, whiles the bridegrome is with them? as long as they haue the bridegrome with them, they cannot fast.

20 But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall bee taken from them: and then shall they fast in those dayes.

23 ¶ And it came to passe as hee went through the corne of the Sabbath day, that his disciples, as they went on their way, beganne to plucke the eares of corne.

24 And the Pharises sayd vnto him, Beholde, why doethy on the Sabbath day, that which is not lawfull?

The withered hand was healed. 6 The Pharisee conuicted with the Herodians. 10 Many are healed by touching Christ. 11 As he fight the devils: fall downe before him. 14 The twelve Apostles. 15 The Kingdome diuided against itselfe. 29 Blasphemy against the holy Ghost. 33 Christ proueth.

And he entered againe into the Synagogue, and there was a man which had a withered hand.

And there was but an appendage to the morall Law before the morall Law: whereas contrariwise, they should haue learned out of this the true vse of the ceremoniall Law. A Thau, unprofitable and dead.

2 And they watched him, whether he would heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse him.

3 Then hee sayd vnto the man which had the withered hand, Arise: and stand forth in the middes.

4 And hee sayd to them, Is it lawfull to doe a good deed on the Sabbath day, or to doe euill? to laue the life, or to kill? But they held their peace.

5 Then hee looked round about on them angrily, mourning also for the hardness of their hearts, and said to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored as whole as the other.

6 ¶ And the Pharises departed, and straightway gathered a council with the Herodians against him, that they might destroy him.

7 But Iesus auoided with his disciples to the sea: and a great multitude followed him from Galilee, and from Iudea.

8 And from Ierusalem, and from Idumea, and beyond Iordan: and they that dwelled about Tyrus and Sidon, when they had heard what great things hee did, came vnto him in great number.

9 And hee commanded his Disciples that a little ship should waite for him, because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.

10 For hee had healed many, in so much that they pressed vpon him to touch him, as many as had * plagues.

11 And when the vnclane spirits saw him, they fell downe before him, and cryed, saying, Thou art the Sonne of God.

12 And he sharply rebuked them, to the ende they should not vter him.

13 ¶ Then hee went vp into a mountaine, and called vnto him whom hee would, and they came vnto him.

14 3 And hee appointed twelue, that they should be with him, and that he might send them to preach, 15 And that they might haue power to heale sicknesse, and to cast out deuils.

16 And the first was Simon, and he named Simon, Peter.

17 Then Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, & Iohn Iames brother (and Iurnamed them Boanerges, which is, the sonnes of thunder)

18 And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartlemew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and Iames the sonne of Alphaeus, and Thaddeus, and Simon the Cananite, 19 And Iudas Iscariot, who also betrayed him, and they came w home.

20 And the multitude assembled againe, so that they could not so much as eate bread.

21 ¶ And when his kindnesse heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him: for they saide that he was beside himselfe.

22 ¶ And the Scribes which came downe from Iherusalem, said, Hee hath Beelzebub, and through the prince of the deuils hee casteth out deuils.

23 But hee called them vnto him, and said vnto them in parables, How can Satā diuine out Satan? 24 For if a kingdome bee diuided against itselfe, that kingdome cannot stand.

25 Or if a house be diuided against it selfe, that house cannot continue.

26 So if Satan make insurrection against himselfe, and be diuided, he cannot endure: but is at an end.

CHAP. IIII.

4 The parable of the sower, 14 And the meaning thereof, 18 Thomas, 21 The canie, 26 Of him that sowed, 28 The sowing of the seed, 30 Christ's sleep in the ship.

And he began againe to teach by the Sea-side, and there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that he entred into a ship, and fate in the Sea, and all the people was by the Sea side on the land.

2 And he taught them many things in parables, and said vnto them in his doctrine.

3 ¶ Harken : Behold, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the fowles of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp.

5 And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But as soone as the Sunne was vp, it was burnt vp, and because it had not root, it withered away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruit.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and did yeele fruit that sprung vp, and grew, and it brought forth, some thirtie fold, some fixtie fold, and some an hundred fold.

2 Then he sayd vnto them, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when hee was alone, they that were about him with the twelve, asked him of the parable.

11 And he said vnto them, To you it is giuen to know the mystery of the Kingdome of God: but vnto them that are without, all things bee done in parables.

12 ¶ That they seeing, may see, and not discern: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their finnes should be forgiven them.

13 Againe he said vnto them. Perceiue ye not this parable ? how then should ye vnderstand all other parables ?

14 The fowerth of the word.

15 And these are they that receive the seede by the wayes side : in whom the word is sowne ; but when they haue heard it, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the word that was sowne in their heares, 16 And likewise they that receiue the seede in stony ground, are they which when they haue heard the word, straightwayes receiued it with gladnesse.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themselves, and endure but a time, for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediately they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the seede among the thornes, are such as heare the word :

19 But the cares of this world, and the deceitfullnesse of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heere the word, and receiue it, and bring forth fruite : one cometh thirty, an other fixtie, and some an hundred.

21 ¶ Also hee sayd vnto them, ¶ Commeth the candle in, to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlesticke ?

22 ¶ For there is nothing hid that shall not be opened : neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 ¶ 3 And he sayd vnto them, Take heed what ye heare. ¶ With what measure you measure, it shall be measured vnto you : and vnto you that heare shall more be giuen.

25 ¶ For vnto him that hath, shall it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath.

26 ¶ Also hee sayd, So is the Kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seede on the ground.

27 And it should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the seede should spring and grow up, he knoweth how.

28 For the earth bringeth forth fruite of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full cometh in the eares.

29 And as soone as the fruite sheweth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.

30 ¶ * Hee sayd moreover, Whereunto shall wee liken the Kingdome of God ? with what comparison shall we compare it ?

31 It is like a graine of mustard seede, which when it is sowne in the earth, is the least of all seedes that bein the earth :

32 But after that it is sowne, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the fowles of the heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And with many such parables he preached the word vnto the, as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake hee nothing vnto them : but hee expounded all things to his Disciples apart.

35 ¶ * Now the same day when the euen was come, hee sayd vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, and tooke him as hee was in the shippe, and there were also with him other little ships.

37 ¶ And their arose a great storme of windes, and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And hee was in the sterne, sleepe on a pillow :

2 And when he was come out of the shippe, there met him incontinently out of the graues, a man b which had an vnclene spirit:

3 Who had h^s abiding among the graues, and no man could bind him, no not with chaines:

4 Because that when hee was often bound with fetters and chaines, hee plucked the chaines asunder, and brake the fetters in peeces, neither could any man tame him.

5 And alwayes both night and day he cryed in the mountaines, and in the graue, and strooke himselfe with stones.

6 And when he saw Iesus as hee ranne, and worshipped him,

7 And cryed with a loud voyce, and sayde, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the sonne of the most High God? It will that thou sweare to me by God, that thou torment me not.

8 (For hee sayde vnto him, Come out of the man, thou vnclene spirit)

9 And he asked him, What is thy name? and he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for wee are many.

10 And hee d^d prayed him instantly, that hee would not fend them away out of the country.

11 Now there was feeding in the 6 mountaines a great herd of swine feeding.

12 And all the devils besought him saying, Send vs into the Swine, that we may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Iesus gaue them leave. Then the vnclene spirits went out & entred into the swine, and the heard ranne headlong from the high banke into the Sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were choked vp in the Sea.

14 And the Swinherds fled, and told it in the citie, and in the country, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and saw him that had bene possed with the deuill, and had the Legion, sit both clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered together to him, and hee was nere vnto the Sea.

22 * And he beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Tairus, and when he law him, he fell downe at his feet, 23 And besought him instantly, saying, My little daughter lieth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine hands on her, that she may be healed and liue.

24 Then he went with him, and a great multitude followed him and thronged him.

25 (And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeeres,

26 And had suffered many things of many Physicians, and had spent all that she had, and it auailed her nothing, but she became much worse, 27 When shee had heard of Iesus, (hee came in the prease behind, and touched his garment.

28 For she said, If I may but touch his clothes, I shall be whole.

29 And straightway the course of her blood was dried vp, and shee felt in her body, that wee was healed of that plague.

30 And immediately when Iesus did know in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, hee turned him round about in the prease, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seeest the multitude throng thee, and sayest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And he looked round about to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for shee knew what was done in her, and shee came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole truth.

34 And hee sayd to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: go in peace, and be whole of thy plague.)

35 While hee yet spake, there came from the Synagogue ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which said, Thy daughter is dead: why diseatest thou the Master any further?

36 3 As soone as Iesus heard that word spoken, hee said vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid onely beleene.

37 And he suffered no man to follow him saue Peter and Iames, and Iohn the brother of Iames.

38 So hee came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and saw the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And he went in, and said vnto them, Why make ye this trouble, and weepe? the child is not dead, but sleepech.

40 And they laughed him to scorne: but hee put them all out, and tooke the Father, and the mother of the child, and them b that were with him, and entred in where the child lay, 41 And tooke the child by the hand and said vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Maide, I say vnto thee, arise.

42 And straightway the maide arose, and walked: for shee was of the age of twelue yeeeres, and they were astonied out of measure.

And he departed thence, and came into his owne country, and his disciples followed him.

2 And when the Sabbath was come, he began to teach in the Synagogue, and many that heard him, were astonished, and said, From whence hath this man these things? and what wisdom is this that is giuen vnto him, that euery such a great works are done by his hands?

3 Is not this that carpenter Maries sonne, the brother of Iames and Ioses, and of Iuda and Simon? and are not his b sisters here with vs? And they were offended in him.

4 Then Iesus said vnto them, A Prophet is not without honour, but in his owne country, and among his owne kinred, and in his owne house.

5 And hee could there doe no great works, saue that he laid his hands vpon a few sicke folke, and healed them.

6 And he marvelled at their vnbeliefe, * and went about by the townes on euery side, teaching.

7 ¶ 2 And hee called vnto him the twelue, and began to send them forth two and two, and gaue them power ouer vncleane spirits.

8 And commanded them that they should take nothing for their journey, saue a staffe onely: neither scrip, neither bread, neither monie in their girdles:

9 But that they should be shod with * sandals, and that they should not put on * two coats.

10 And he said vnto them, Whereoeuer yee shall enter into an house, there abide till yee depart thence.

11 ¶ 4 And whosoever shall not receiue you, nor heare you, when ye depart thence, * shake off the dust that is vnder your feet, for a witness vnto them. Verely I say vnto you, it shalbe easier for Sodome or Gomorrah, at the day of Iudgement, then for that city.

12 ¶ And they went out, and preached, that men should amend their liues.

13 And they cast out many devils: and they * h anointed many that were sicke, with oyle, and healed them.

16 ¶ So when Herod heard it, he said, It is Iohn whom I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.

17 For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philips wife, because he had married her.

18 For Iohn said vnto Herod, * It is not lawful for thee to haue thy brothers wife, 19 Therefore Herodias was laid against him, and would haue killed him, but she could not:

20 For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that hee was a iust man, and an holy, and reuerenced him, and when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him * gladly.

21 But the time being conuenient, when Herod on his birthday made a banquet to his princes and captains, and chiefe officers of Gallilee:

22 And the daughter * of the same Herodias came in, and danced, and pleased Herod, and them that late at table together, the King said vnto the maid, Aske of me what thou wilt, and I will giue it thee.

23 And hee sware vnto her, Whatsoeuer thou shalt aske of me, I will giue it thee, euen vnto the halfe of my kingdom.

24 ¶ So she went forth, and said to her mother, What shall I aske? And she said, Iohn Baptists head.

25 Then she came in straightway with haste vnto the king, and asked, saying, I would that thou shouldst giue me euen now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptist.

26 Then the king was very sorry: yet for his oaths sake, and for their sakes which late at table with him, he would not refuse her.

27 And immediately the king sent the 9 hangman, and gaue charge that his head should be brought in. So he went and beheaded him in the prison.

28 And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the mayd, and the mayd gaue it to her mother.

29 And when his disciples heard it, they came and tooke vp his body, and put it in a tombe.

30 ¶ 6 And the Apostles gathered themselves together to Iesus, and told him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

31 ¶ And hee said vnto them, Come yee apart into the wilderness, and rest a while: for there were many commers and goers, that they had not leisure to eat.

32 ¶ So they went by ship out of the way into a desert place.

33 But the people saw them when they departed, and many knew him, and ran afoot thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him.

34 ¶ Then Iesus went out, and saw a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like sheepe which had no shepherd: * and he began to teach them many things.

35 ¶ And when the day was now farre spent, his disciples came vnto him, saying, This is a desert place, and now the day is farre passed.

2 And when they saw some of his disciples eat meat with b common hands, (that is to say, vnwashed) they complained.

3 (For the Pharisees, and all the Tewes, except they wash their hands oft, eate not, c holding the tradition of the Elders)

4 And when they came from the d market, except they wash, they eate not: and many other things there be, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cups, and pots, and of brassen vessels, and of beds)

5 Then asked him the Pharisees and Scribes, Why f walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eate meate with vn-washed hands?

6 2 Then he answered, and said vnto them, Surely * Esay hath prophesied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth mee with lips, but their heart is faire away from mee.

7 3 But they worship mee in vaine, teaching for doctrines the commandements of men.

8 4 For ye lay the Commandement of God apart, & obserue the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and of cups, and many other such like things ye doe.

9 5 And he said vnto them, Well, ye reiect the Commandement of God, that yee may obserue your owne tradition.

10 For Moses said, * Honour thy father and thy mother: and, * Whosoever shall speake euill

14 * Then he called the whole multitude vnto him, and said vnto them, Hearken you all vnto me, and vnderstand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entrech into him: but the things which proceed out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when hee came into an houes, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he said vnto them, What are ye without understanding also? Doe ye not know that whatsoeuer thing from without entrech into a man, cannot defile him,

19 Because it entrech not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught which is the h purging of all meats?

20 Then he said, That which cometh out of 38 ¶ Then Iohn answered him, saying, Master, wee saw one casting out diuels by thy Name, which followeth vs, and wee forbade him, because he followeth vs not.

CHAP. X.

9 The wife, only for fornication, & to lepe away. 13 Little children, whoso bringeth Christ. 17 A rich man shall enter in how he may possesse eternal life. 18 The Apostles forsooke all things for Christ sake. 23 Christ foretelleth his death. 55 Zebedee his sonnes request. 46 Blind Bartimeus healed.

And he arose from thence, and went into the coates of Iudea by the farr side of Iordan, and the people resorted vnto him againe, and as he was wont, he taught them againe.

2 Then the Pharisees came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and templed him.

3 And he answered, & said vnto them, VVhat did ¶ Moses command you?

4 And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away.

5 ¶ Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, For the hardnesse of your heart hee wrote this precept vnto you.

¶ But rather made a good promise for the women against the first borne child of your husbands.

6 But at the beginning of the creation ¶ God made them male and female:

7 ¶ For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife.

8 And they twaine, shalbe one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

9 ¶ Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let no man separate.

10 And in the house his Disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And hee sayd vnto them, ¶ Whosoever shall put away his wife and marry another, committeth adulterie ¶ against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband and be married to another, she committeth adulterie.

13 ¶ ¶ Then they brought litle children to him, that he should touch them, and his Disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus saw it, hee was displeased, and layd vnto them, Suffer the litle children to come vnto me and forbid them not: for of such is the Kingdome of God.

15 Verely I say vnto you, Whosoever shall not receiue the kingdome of God as a litle child, he shall not enter therein.

16 And hee tooke them vp in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, and blessed them.

17 ¶ And when he was gone out on the way, there came one ¶ running, and kneled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I doe, that I may possesse eternal life?

18 Iesus said to him, Why callest thou mee good? there is none good, but one, euen God.

19 Thou knowest the commandments, ¶ Thou shalt not commit adulterie. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witness. Thou shalt not hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things I haue obserued from my youth.

21 And Iesus looked vpon him, and loued him, and sayd vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee: ¶ Goe and sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, and follow me, and take vp the crosse.

22 But hee was sad at that saying, and went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and said vnto his disciples How hardly doe they that haue riches enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his disciples were afraid at his words, But Iesus answered againe, and said vnto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God!

25 It is easier for a camel to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more astonished, saying with themselves, Who then can be saved?

27 But Iesus looked vpon them, and sayde, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 ¶ ¶ Then Peter began to say vnto him, Loe, we haue forsaken all, and haue followed thee.

29 Iesus answered and said, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake, and the Gospels,

30 But he shall receiue an hundred fold, now

32 ¶ And they were in the way going vp to Hierusalem, and Iesus went before them, and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Iesus tooke the twelve againe and began to tell them what things should come vnto him,

33 Saying, Behold, we goe vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered vnto the hie Priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemn him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles, 34 And they shall mocke him, and scourge him, and spit vpon him, & kill him: but the third day he shall rise againe.

35 ¶ Then Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedee came vnto him, saying, Master, wee would that thou shouldst doe for vs that wee desire.

36 And he sayd vnto them, What would ye I should doe for you?

37 And they sayd vnto him, Grant vnto vs, that we may sit, one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Iesus said vnto them, Yee know not what ye aske, Can ye drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme that I shall be baptized with?

39 And they sayd vnto him, We can. But Iesus sayd vnto them, Yee shall drinke in deede of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shall be baptized:

40 But to sit at my right hand and at my left, is not mine to giue, but is giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdaigne at Iames and Iohn.

42 * But Iesus called them vnto him, and said to them, * Yee know that he which are princes among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercise authoritie ouer them.

43 But it shall not be so among you but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your seruant.

44 And whosoever will be chiefe of you, shall be the seruant of all.

45 For euen the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ranome of many.

46 ¶ Then they came to Iericho: and as he went out of Iericho with his Disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimeus the sonne of Timeus, a blinde man sat by the way side begging.

47 And when hee heard that it was Iesus of Nazareth, he began to cry, and to say, Iesus the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because he should hold his peace: but he cried much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

49 Then Iesus stood still, and commanded him to be called: and they called the blinde, saying vnto him, Be of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his cloke, and rose, and came to Iesus.

51 And Iesus answered, & said vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And the blinde saide vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight.

52 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Goe thy way: thy faith hath saued thee. And by and by he receiued his sight, and followed Iesus in the way.

C H A P. XI.

1 Christ marcheth into Hierusalem riding on an asse. 12 The fruites of the figge tree cursed. 13 Sellers and buyers are cast out of the Temple. 23 The force of fado. 24 Faith in prayer. 25 The brother of Iesus must be pardoned. 37 The Priests are by whose authority hee wrought those things that hee did. 38 Whence Iohn baptizeth was.

And when they came neere to Hierusalem, to Bethphage and Bethania vnto the mount of Olues, he sent forth two of his disciples,

2 And said vnto them, Goe your wayes into that towne that is ouer against you: and asoone as ye shall enter into it, ye shall finde a colt tied, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him.

3 And if any man say vnto you, Why doe yee this? Say that the Lord hath neede of him, and straightway he will send him hither.

4 And they went their way, and found a colt tied by the doore without, in a place where two wayes met, and they loosed him.

5 Then certaine of them that stood there, said vnto them, What doe ye loosing the colt?

6 And they said vnto them, as Iesus had commanded them: So they let them goe.

7 ¶ And they brought the colt to Iesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sate vpon him.

8 And many spread their garments in the way: other cut downe branches of the trees, and strowed them in the way.

9 And they that went before, and they that followed, cryed, saying, Hosanna: a blessed bee hee that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

10 Blessed bee the kingdome that cometh in the Name of the Lord of our father Dauid: Hosanna, O thou which art in the highest heauens.

11 * So Iesus entred into Hierusalem, and into the Temple: and when hee had looked about on all things, and now it was euening, he went forth vnto Bethania with the twelve.

12 * And on the morrowe when they were come out from Bethania, he was hungry.

13 And seeing a figge tree a farr off, that had leaues, hee went to see if he might finde any thing thereon: but when hee came vnto it, hee found nothing but leaues: for the time of figges was not yet.

14 Then Iesus answered, and said to it, Neuer man eate fruit of thee hereafter while the world standeth: and his disciples heard it.

15 ¶ And they came to Hierusalem, and Iesus went into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the Tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that sold doves.

16 Neither would he suffer that any man should carry a vessel through the Temple.

17 And he taught, saying vnto them, Is it not written * Mine house shall be called the house of prayer vnto all nations? * but you haue made it a denne of theeves.

18 And the Scribes and the hie Priests heard it, and sought how to destroy him for they feared him, because the whole multitude was astonished at his doctrine.

19 But when euen was come, Iesus went out of the cite.

20 ¶ And in the morning as they journeyed together, they saw the figge tree dried vp from the rootes.

21 Then Peter remembered, and saide vnto him, Master, behold, the figge tree which thou cursedst is withered.

22 And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Haue ye the faith of God.

23 For verely I say vnto you, that whosoever shall say vnto this mountaine, Be thou taken away, and cast into the sea, & shall not wauer in his heart, but shall beleue that those things which he saith, shall come to passe, what ouer he saith, shall be done to him.

26 For if you will not forgive, your Father which is in heauen will not pardon you your trespasses.

27 ¶ Then they came againe to Ierusalem: and as he walked in the Temple, there came to him the hie Priest, and the Scribes, and the Elders

28 And saide vnto him, By what authoritie doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authoritie, that thou shouldst do these things?

30 The baptisme of Iohn was it from heauen, or of men? answer me.

31 And they thought with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, hee will saye, Why then did ye not beleue him?

32 ¶ But if we say, Of men, we feare the people: for all men counted Iohn that he was a Prophet indeed.

33 Then they answered, and saide vnto Iesus, We cannot tell. And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Neither will I tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

CHAP. XI.

1 Of the vineyard. 20 Christ the stone refused of the Iewes. 29 Of tribute to be giuen to Cesar. 38 The Sadduces denying the resurrection. 41 The goodnes drawing the reprob. 48 The first commandment. 51 To Iohn God as the neighbor is better then sacrifice. 56 Christ divided Iohns. 58 To beware of the Scribes and Pharisees. 62 The poore widow.

And he began to speake vnto them in Parables, ¶ A certaine man planted a vineyard, and compassed it with an hedge, and digged a pit for the winepresse, and built a tower in it, & let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange country.

2 ¶ And at the time, he sent to the husbandmen a seruant, that he might receiue of the husbandmen of the fruit of the vineyard.

3 But they tooke him, and beate him, and sent him away empty.

4 And againe he sent vnto them another seruant, and at him they cast stones: and brake his head, and sent him away shamefully handled.

5 And againe he sent another, & him they slew, and many other, beating some, and killing some.

6 Yet had he one sonne, his deare beloved: him also he sent the last vnto them, saying, They will reuerence my sonne,

7 But the husbandmen saide among themselues, This is the heire: come let vs kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

8 So they tooke him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.

9 What shall then the Lord of the vineyard doe? Hee will come and destroy these husbandmen, and gine the vineyard to others.

10 Haue ye not read so much as this Scripture? ¶ The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner.

11 This was done of the Lord, and it is maruelous in our eyes.

12 Then they went about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceived that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

13 ¶ And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharisees, & of the Herodians, that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they said vnto him, Master, we know that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly, Is it lawful to giue tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Should wee giue it, or should wee not giue it? but he knew their hypocrisie, and sayd vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a penie, that I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and he sayd vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription? and they sayd vnto him, Cefars.

17 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Giue to Cesar the things that are Cefars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they maruelled at him.

18 ¶ Then came the Sadduces vnto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, and leaue no children, that his brother should take his wife and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

20 There were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and when he died, left no issue.

21 Then the second tooke her, & he died, neither did he yet leaue issue, and the third likewise:

22 So those seuen had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall she be of them? for seuen had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered and said vnto them, Are ye not therefore decieued, because ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead neither men marry, nor wiuers are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue ye not read in the booke of Moses how in the bush God spake vnto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob?

27 God is not the God of the dead, but of God of the liuing. Ye are therefore greatly decieued.

28 ¶ Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them disputing together, and perceiving that he had answered them well, hee asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 Iesus answered him, the first of all the commandments is, ¶ Heare Israel, the Lord our God is the onely Lord.

48 This doubling of the word was used in the 109th, when Peter language was so much together: for this word, Abba, is a Syrian word, 11 An horrible example of the flagitiousness of men, even in the disciples whom Christ hath choiced.

36 And he sayd, * Abba, Father, all things are possible vnto thee: take away this cup from me: neuertheless, not that I will but that thou wilt be done.

37 11 Then he came and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldst not thou watch one hour?

38 ¶ Watch yet, and pray, that yee enter not into temptation: the spirit indeede is ready, but the flesh is weake.

39 And againe he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.

40 And hee returned and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heavy: neither knew they what they should answer him.

41 And he came the third time, and sayd vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: it is yonough: the houre is come: behold, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise vp: let vs goe: loe, he that betrayeth me, is at hand.

43 * 12 And immediately while hee yet spake, came Iudas that was one of the twelue, and with him a great multitude with swords & staves from the hie Priests, and Scribes, and Elders.

44 And he that betrayed him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kille, he it is: take him and leade him away I saie y.

45 And assoone as hee was come, hee went straightway to him, and said, Hail Master, and kissed him.

46 Then they layd their hands on him, and tooke him.

47 And k one of them that stood by, drew out a sword, and smote a seruant of the hie Priest, and cutt off his eare.

48 And Iesus answered and said to them, Yee be come out as against a thiefe, with swords and with staves, to take me.

49 I was daily with you, teaching in the Temple, and yee tooke me not: but thus is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

50 Then they 1 all forooke him, and fled.

51 13 And there followed him a certaine yong man, clothed in a linnen vpon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.

52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 * So they led Iesus away to the hie Priest, and to him came together all the hie Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him a farre off, euen into the hall of the hie Priest, and sat with the seruants, and warmed himself at the fire.

55 14 And the * hie Priests, and all the Councill sought for witness against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare false witness against him, but their witness agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certaine, and bare false witness against him, saying, 58 Wee heard him say, * I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three daies I will build another, made without hands.

59 But their witness yet agreed not together.

60 Then the hie Priest stood vp amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these beare witness against thee?

61 But hee held his peace, and answered nothing. Againe the hie Priest asked him and saide vnto him, Art thou that Christ the Sonne of the blessed?

62 And Iesus sayd, I am he: * and yee shall see the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the clouds of heauen.

63 Then the high Priest rent his clothes, and sayd, What haue we any more neede of witnesses?

64 Ye haue heard the blasphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to bee worthy of death.

65 15 And some began to spit at him, and to couer his face, and to beate him with fists, and to faynt vnto him, Prophecie. And the lergeants smote him with their rods.

66 16 And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maides of the hie Priest.

67 And when the saw Peter warming himselfe, she looked on him, and said, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth.

68 But hee denied it, saying, I know him not, neither wor I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cocke crew.

69 * 17 Then P a maide fay him againe, & began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 But hee denied it againe. And at onee after, they that stood by, said againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galilee, and thy speech is like.

71 And he began to curse and sweare, saying, I know not this man of whom ye speake.

72 * Then the second time the cocke crew, and Peter remembered the worde that Iesus had said vnto him, before the cocke crow twise, thou shalt denie me thrise, and weighing that with himselfe, he wept.

31 Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people.

32 A light to be breiued to the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel.

33 And Ioseph and his mother marueiled at those things which were spoken touching him.

34 And Simeon blessed them, and said vnto Mary his mother, Behold this child is appointed for the * fal and rising againe of many in Israel, and for a signe which shall be spoken against,

35 (Yea and a sword shall speare through thy soule) that the thoughts of many hearts may be opened.

36 And there was a Prophetesse, one Anna the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser, which was of a great age, after she had liued with an husband seuen yeeres from her virginitee.

37 And she was widow about fourecore and foure yeeres, and went not out of the Temple, but serued God with fastings & prayers night and day.

38 She then comming at the same instant vpon them, confessed likewise the Lord, and spake of him to all that looked for redemption in Hierusalem.

39 And when they had performed all things, according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galile to their owne citie Nazareth.

40 And the child grew and waxed strong in Spirit, and was filled with wisdome, and the grace of God was with him.

41 ¶ 7 Now his parents went to Hierusalem euery yeere, * at the feast of the Passouer.

42 And when he was twelue yeere old, and they were come vp to Hierusalem, after the custome of the feast,

43 And had finished the dayes thereof, as they returned, the child Iesus remained in Hierusalem, and Ioseph knew not, nor his mother, 44 But they supposing that he had been in the company, went a daies journey, and sought him among their kinsfolke, and acquaintance.

45 And when they found him not, they turned backe to Hierusalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to passe three dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the midst of the doctours, both hearing them, and asking them questions.

47 And all that heard him, were astonied at his vnderstanding and answeres.

48 So when they saw him, they were amazed, and his mother said vnto him, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? behold, thy Father and I haue sought thee with very heauy hearts.

49 Then said he vnto them, How is it that ye sought me? knew ye not that I must goe about my Fathers businesse?

50 But they vnderstood not the word that he spake vnto them, 51 When went he downe with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subiect to them: and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart.

52 And Iesus increased in wisdome, and stature, and in fauour with God and men.

¶ 1 To the shortest for repentance. 2 His testimony of Christ. 3 His preaching.

NOW in the fiftieth yeere of the reigne of Tiberius Cæsar, Pontius Pilate being gouernour, Iohn cometh at the time, told offe the Prophets, & layeth the foundation of the Gospel which is exhibited vnto vs, setting forth the true obsequing of the Law and free mercy in Christ which cometh after him, yfing also baptisme the effect of all nour of Iudea, and Herod being Tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip Tetrarch of Turea, and of the countrey of Trachonitis, and Lyfianias the Tetrarch of Abilene,

2 (* When * Annas and Caiaphas were the hie Priests) the word of God came vnto Iohn, the sonne of Zacharias in the wilderness.

3 And he came into all the coasts about Iordane, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of finnes.

4 As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Esaias the Prophet, which saith, * The voice of him that cryeth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

5 Euery valley shalbe filled, and euery mountaine and hill shall be brought low, and crooked things shalbe made straight, and the rough waies shalbe made smooth.

6 And all flesh shall see the saluation of God.

7 Then said hee to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, * O generation of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring forth therefore fruits worthy amendment of life, & begin not to say with your selues, Wee haue Abraham to our Father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

9 Now also is the axe laid vnto the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, shalbe hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

10 ¶ Then the people asked him, saying, What shall we do then?

11 And he answered, and said vnto them, * He that hath two coats, let him part with him that hath none: And hee that hath meate, let him doe likewise.

12 Then came there Publicanes also to be baptized, and said vnto him, Master, what shall we doe?

13 And he said vnto them, Require no more than that which is appointed vnto you.

14 The souldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we doe? And he said vnto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely, and be content with your wages.

15 ¶ As the people waited, and all men mulded in their hearts of Iohn, if hee were not that Christ, 16 Iohn answered, and said to themall, * I need baptize you with water, but one stronger then I, cometh, whose shoes Iatchet I am not worthy to vnloose: he will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

17 ¶ Whose fanne is in his hand, and hee will make cleane his floore, and will gather the wheat into his garner, but the chaffe will hee burne vp with fire that neuer shall be quenched.

18 Thus then exhorting with many other things hee preached vnto the people.

19 ¶ 4 But when Herod the Tetrarch was rebuked of him, for Herodias his brother Philips wife, and for all the euils which Herod had done, 20 He added yet this about all, that hee shut vp Iohn in prison.

21 ¶ 5 Now it came to passe, as all the people were baptized, and that Iesus was baptized, and did pray, that the heauen was opened:

22 And the holy Ghost came downe in a bodily shape like a doue vpon him, and there was a

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of Christ's temptation, and saying, 16 He teacheth in Nazareth the great admiration of it, 24 A Prophet that teacheth in his own country is contemned, 33 One possessed of the devill is cured, 38 Peters mother in law healed, 40 and divers like persons are restored to health, 41 The devils acknowledge Christ.

And Iesus full of the holy Ghost returned from Iordan, and was led by that Spirit into the wilderness,

2 * And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the devill, and in those daies he did eate nothing, but when they were ended, hee afterward was hungry.

3 2 Then the devill said vnto him, If thou be the sonne of God, command this stone, that it be made bread.

4 But Iesus answered him, saying, It is written, * That man shall not live by bread only, but by every word of God.

5 Then the devill tooke him vp into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, in the twinkling of an eye.

6 And the devill said vnto him, All this I power will I give thee, and the glorie of those kingdomes: for that is ^b delivered to mee: and to whomsoever I will, I give it.

7 If thou therefore wilt worship mee, they shall be all thine.

8 But Iesus answered him, and said, Hence from mee Satan: for it is written, * Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone shalt thou serve.

9 Then hee brought him to Hierusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple, and said vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence,

10 For it is written, * That hee will give his Angels charge over thee to keepe thee: 11 And with their hands they shall lift thee vp, least at any time thou shouldst dash thy foot against a stone.

12 And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, It is said, * Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the devill had ended all the temptation, he departed from him for a little season.

14 ¶ And Iesus returned by the power of the spirit into Galilee: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region round about.

15 For hee taught in their Synagogues, and was honored of all men.

16 * 3 And he came to Nazareth where hee had bene brought vp, and (as his custome was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood vp to reade.

17 And there was delivered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Esaias: and when hee had opened the booke, he found the place where it was written,

18 * The Spirit of the Lord is vpon me, because hee hath anointed mee, that I should preach the Gospel to the poore: hee hath sent mee, that I should heale the broken hearted, that I should preach deliverance to the captives, & recovering of sight to the blinde: that I should set at liberty them that are bruised:

19 And that I should preach the acceptable yeere of the Lord.

20 And hee closed the booke, and gave it againe to the minister, and fate downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him, 21 Then he began to say vnto them, This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 ¶ And all bare him witness, and wondered at the singular words which proceeded out of his mouth, and said, Is not this Iosephs sonne?

23 Then he said vnto them, Ye will surely say vnto me this proverbe, Phisition heale thy selfe: whatsoever we have heard done in Capernaum, doe it herelike in thine own country.

24 And he said, verily I say vnto you, * No Prophet is accepted in his owne country.

25 But I tell you of a truth, many widowes were in Israel in the daies of * Elias, when heaven was shut three yeeres and sixe moneths, when great famine was throughout all the land:

26 But vnto none of them was Elias sent save vnto Sarepta, a cite of Sidon, vnto a certaine widow.

27 Also many lepers were in Israel, in the daies of Elisha, and none of them was cleansed, save onely Naaman the Syrian.

28 And Iesus answered them, and said, Verily I say vnto you, Except there be signes and wonders done in you, ye shall not be converted.

29 ¶ And he departed thence, and came into his own country, and taught them in their Synagogues, and they were all amazed, saying, Whence hath this man all these things? and what wisdom is given unto him, that he doeth such miracles?

30 ¶ And they said, This man is the carpenter, whose father is named Ioseph, and whose brethren are named James, and Joseph, and Simon, and Judas.

31 ¶ And they said, His sister is called Mary, and his brethren are called Iames, and Ioseph, and Simon, and Judas.

32 ¶ And they were offended at him, because he was the carpenter, and they said, What can this man have? what wisdom can he have? what miracles can he do?

33 ¶ And they said, This man is the carpenter, whose father is named Ioseph, and whose brethren are named James, and Joseph, and Simon, and Judas.

62 ¶ And they were offended at him, because he was the carpenter, and they said, What can this man have? what wisdom can he have? what miracles can he do?

63 ¶ And they said, This man is the carpenter, whose father is named Ioseph, and whose brethren are named James, and Joseph, and Simon, and Judas.

24 But that yee may know that the Sonne of man hath authority to forgive sinnes in earth, (he said vnto the sicke of the palfie) I say to thee, Arise: take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

25 And immediately hee rose vp before them, and tooke vp his bed whereon he lay, and departed to his owne house, praising God.

26 And they were all amazed, and praised God, and were filled with feare, saying, Doubtlesse wee haue seene strange things to day.

27 ¶ 5 And after that he went forth and saw a Publicane named Leui, sitting at the receipt of custome, and said vnto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose vp, and followed him.

29 Then Leui made him a great feast in his owne house, where there was a great company of Publicanes, & of other that sat at the table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes and Pharises among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eate ye and drinke ye with Publicanes and sinners?

31 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, They that are whole, need not the Physician, but they that are sicke.

32 * I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ 6 Then they said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn fast often, and pray, and the disciples of the Pharises also, but thine eate and drinke?

34 7 And he said vnto them, Can yee make the children of the wedding chamber to fast as long as the bridegrome is with them?

35 But the dayes will come, euen when the bridegrome shalbe taken away from them: in that they fast in those dayes.

36 Again he spake vnto them also a parable, No man putteth a piece of a new garment into an olde vesture: for then the new renteth it, and the piece taken out of the new, agreeth not with the olde.

37 Also no man poweth new wine into olde vessels: for then the new wine will breake the vessels, and it will run out, and the vessels will perish.

38 But new wine must be powred into new vessels: for both are preferred.

39 Also no man that drinketh olde wine, straightway desireth new: for he is faine. The olde is more profitable.

CHAP. VI.

1 The disciples pull the eares of corne on the Sabbath. 6. Of him that had a withered hand. 12 The election of the Apostles: 13 The blessing, and curse. 17 Woe vnto him that receiueth the word of God to be heard.

¶ And * 1 it came to passe on a second solemne Sabbath, that he went through the corne fields, and his disciples * plucked the eares of corne, and did eate, and rub them in their hands.

2 And certain of the Pharises said vnto him, Why doe yee that which is not lawfull to doe on the Sabbath dayes?

3 Then Iesus answered them, and said, * Haue ye not read this, that Dauid did when he him selfe was an hungred, and they which were with him.

4 How he went into the house of God, and tooke, and ate the shewbread, and gaue also to them which were with him, which was not lawfull to eate, but for the * Priests only?

5 And he said vnto them, The Sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day.

6 ¶ 2 It came to passe also on another Sabbath day, that he entred into the Synagogue, and taught, and there was a man, whose right hand was dried vp.

7 And the Scribes and Pharises watched him, whether he would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might find an accusation against him.

8 But hee knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Arise, and stand vp in the middes. And he arose, and stood vp.

9 Then said Iesus vnto them, I will aske you a question, Whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to doe good, or to doe euill? to saue life, or to destroy?

10 And hee beheld them all in compasse, and said vnto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And hee did so, and his hand was restored againe, as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madnesse, and commended one with another, what they might doe to Iesus.

12 ¶ 3 And it came to passe in those dayes, that he went into a mountaine to pray, and spent the night in prayer to God.

13 And when it was day, * hee called his disciples, and of them hee chose twelue, which also hee called Apostles:

14 (Simon whom hee named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and Iohn, Philip and Bartlemew, 15 Matthew and Thomas: James the sonne of Alphens, and Simon called Zealours, 16 Iudas James brother, and Iudas Iscariot, which also was the traitour)

17 Then he came downe with them and stood in a plaine place with the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Iudea, and Hierusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyrus and Sidon, which came to heare him, and to be healed of their diseases:

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all.

20 ¶ 4 And hee lifted vp his eyes vpon his disciples, and said, Blessed be ye poore: for yours is the kingdome of God.

21 * Blessed are yee that hunger now: for yee shall be satisfied: * blessed are ye that weepe now: for ye shall laugh.

22 * Blessed are yee when men hate you, and when they separate you, and reuile you, and put out your name as euill for the Sonne of mans sake.

23 Reioyce yee in that day, and * be glad: for behold, your reward is great in heauen: for after this manner their fathers did to the Prophets.

24 * But woe be to you that are rich: for yee haue receiued your consolation.

25 * Woe be to you that are full: for yee shall hunger. Woe be to you that now laugh: for yee shall waile and weepe.

26 Woe be to you when all men speake well of you: for so did their fathers to the false prophets.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the Centurions seruant. 2 The Centurions faith. 11 The multitude of people raised from death at Nain. 19 Iohannes his disciples. 31 Christ his peculiar kind of healing. 37 The sinful woman wept on Iesus feet.

When * I hee had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entred into Capernaum.

2 And a certaine Centurions seruant was sick and ready to die, which was deare vnto him.

3 And when he heard of Iesus, hee sent vnto him the Elders of the Iewes, beseeching him that he would come, and heale his seruant.

4 So they came to Iesus, and besought him instantly, saying that hee was worthy that hee should doe this for him:

5 For he loueth, said they, our nation, and hee hath built vs a Synagogue.

6 Then Iesus went with them: but when hee was now not farre from the house, the Centurion sent friends to him, saying vnto him, Lord trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthy that thou shouldst enter vnder my roofo:

7 Wherefore I thought not my selfe worthy to come vnto thee: but lay the word, and my seruant shall be whole.

8 For I likewise am a man set vnder authority and haue vnder me souldiers, and I say vnto one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

9 When Iesus heard these things, hee marvelled at him, and turned him, and said to the people that followed him, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, nor in Israel.

10 And when they that were sent turned backe to the house, they found the seruant that was sicke, whole.

11 ¶ And it came to passe the day after, that he went into a citie called Nain, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.

12 Now when hee came nere to the gate of the citie, behold there was a dead man carried out, who was the onely begotten sonne of his mother, which was a widow, and much people of the citie was with her.

13 And when the Lord saw her hee had compassion on her, and said vnto her, Weepe not.

14 And hee went and touched the coffin (and they that bare him, stood still) and he said, Yong man, I say vnto thee, Arise.

15 And he that was dead sat vp, and began to speake, and hee deliuered him to his mother.

16 Then there came a feare on them all, and they glorified God saying, A great Prophet is ri-

9 Then his disciples asked him, demanding what parable that was.

10 And he said, Vnto you it is given to know the secrets of the kingdom of God, but to others in parables, that when they see, they should not see, and when they heare, they should not vnderstand.

11 * The parable is this, The seed is the word of God:

12 And they that are beside the way, are they that heare: after ward commeth the deuill, and taketh away the words out of their hearts, lest they should be enu, and beaiued.

13 But they that are on the stones, are they which when they haue heard, receiue the worde with ioy: but they haue no rootes: which for a while beleeue, but in the time of temptation goe away.

14 And that which fell among thornes, are they which haue heard, & after their departure are choked with cares and with riches, & voluptuous liuing, and bring forth no fruit.

15 But that which fell on good ground, are they which with an honest & good heart heare the worde, & keepe it, and bring forth fruit with patience.

16 ¶ * 2 No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it vnder a vessell, neither putteth it vnder the bed, but setteth it on a candlestick, that they that enter in may see the light.

17 * For nothing is secret, that shall not beee evident, neither any thing hid, that shall not beee known, and come to light.

18 3 Take heed therefore how ye heare: for * whosoever hath to him shall be giuen: & whosoener hath not, from him shall be taken, euen that which it seemeth that he hath.

19 ¶ * 4 Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come nere to him for the presse.

20 And it was told him by certaine which sayd, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, and would see thee.

21 But hee answered and sayd vnto them, My mother and my brethren are these which heare the word of God, and doe it.

22 ¶ * 5 And it came to passe on a certaine day, that he went into a ship with his disciples, and hee said vnto them, Let vs goe ouer vnto the other side of the lake, And they lanchd forth.

23 And as they sailed, hee fell a sleepe, and there came downe a storme of winde on the lake, and they were filled with water, and were in iopardie.

24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. And he arose, and rebuked the winde, and the waues of water: and they ceased, and it was calme.

25 Then hee said vnto them, Where is your faith? and they feared, & wondered among themselves, saying: Who is this that commandeth both the winds and water, and they obey him.

26 ¶ * So they sailed vnto the region of the Gadarenes, which is ouer against Galilee.

27 ¶ And as hee went out to lande, there met him a certaine man out of the citie, which had deuils long time, and hee wore no garment, neither abode in house, but in the graues.

28 And when he saw Iesus, he cryed out, and fell downe before him, and with a lowde voice, sayd, What haue I to do with thee, Iesus the sonne of God, the most High? I beseech thee, torment me not.

29 For hee commanded the foule spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times hee had caught him: therefore he was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but he brake the bands, and was caried of the deuill into wildeernes.)

30 Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and hee said, Legion, because many deuils were entered into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not command them to goe out into the deepe.

32 And there was there by an herd of many swine feeding on an hill: and the deuils besought him, that hee would suffer them to enter into them. So hee suffered them.

33 Then went the deuils out of the man, and entered into the swine: and the herd was caried with violence from a steepe downe place into the lake, and was choked.

34 When the herdsmen saw what was done, they fled: & when they were departed, they told it in the citie and in the country.

35 Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Iesus, and found the man, out of whom the deuils were departed, sitting at the feete of Iesus, clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

36 They also which saw it, told them by what meanes he that was possessed with the deuill, was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the country about the Gadarenes, brought him: that hee would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare: and he went into the ship, and returned.

38 Then the man out of whom the deuils were departed, besought him that he might bee with him: but Iesus let him away flying:

39 Returne into thine owne house, and shew what great things God hath done to thee. So he went his way, and preached thoroughout all the Citie, what great things Iesus had done vnto him.

40 ¶ And it came to passe, when Iesus was come againe that the people receiued him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ * 7 And beholde, there came a man named Iairus, and hee was the Ruler of the Synagogue, who fell downe at Iesus feet, and besought him that hee would come into his house.

42 For hee had but a daughter onely, about twelue yeeres of age, and she lay dying (and as he went the people thronged him).

43 And a woman hauing an issue of blood, twelue yeeres long, which had spent all her substance vpon Physicians, and could not be healed of any:

47 When the woman saw that she was not hid, she came trembling, and fell down before him, and told him before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and how he was healed immediately.

48 And he sayd vnto her, Daughter, bee of good comfort: thy faith hath saued thee: go in peace.)

49 While hee yet spake, there came one from the ruler of the Synagogues house, which said to him, Thy daughter is dead, disceane not the Master.

50 When Iesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Feare not: beleeue onely, and shee shall be saued.

51 And when hee went into the house, hee suffered no man to goe in with him, save Peter, and James and Iohn, and the father and mother of the maide.

52 And all wept and sorrowed for her: but he said, Weepe not: for she is not dead, but sleepe.

53 And they laugh't him to scorne, knowing that she was dead.

54 So he thrust them all out, and tooke her by the hand, and cried, saying, Maid, arise.

55 And her spirit came againe, and shee rose straightway: and he commanded to giue her meat.

56 Then her parents were astonied: but hee commanded them that they should tell no man what was done.

8 And Iohn said, that Elias had appeared, and I of one, that one of the old Prophets was risen againe.

9 Then Herod sayd, Iohn haue I beheaded: who then is this of whom I heare such things? and he desired to see him.

10 ¶ 3 And when the Apostles returned, they told him what great things they had done. * Then hee tooke them to him, and went aside into a solitary place, neere to the City called Bethsaida.

11 But when the people knew it, they followed: and heereceived them, and spake vnto them of the kingdome of God, and healed them that had need to be healed.

12 * And when the day began to waie away, the twelue came, and said vnto him, Send the people away, that they may goe into the townes and villages round about, and lodge, and get meate: for we are here in a desert place.

13 But he sayd vnto them, Giue yee them to eate. And they sayd, We haue no more but fise loaves and two fishes, except we should goe and buy meate for all these people.

14 For they were about fise thousand men: Then hee sayd to his disciples, Causeth me to sit downe by fishes in a company.

15 And they did so, and caus'd all to sit downe.

16 Then hee tooke the fise loaves, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, & blessed them, and brake, and gaue to the disciples, to sit before the people.

17 So they did all eate, and were satisfied: and there was taken vp of that remained to them, twelue baskets full of broken meate.

18 ¶ 4 And it came to passe, as hee was alone praying, his disciples were with him: and he asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and said, Iohn Baptist: and others say, Elias: and some say, that one of the old Prophets is risen againe.

20 And he said vnto them, But whom say yee that I am? Peter answered, and said, That Christ of God.

21 And he warned and commanded them that they should tell that to no man, 22 5 Saying, * The Sonne of man must suffer many things, and be repproued of the Elders, and of the hie Priests and Scribes, and bee slaine, and the third day rise againe.

23 ¶ 4 And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him denie himselfe, and take vp his crosse daily, and follow me.

24 * For whofoeuer will lose his life, shall lose it: and whofoeuer shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall saue it.

25 * For what aduantage geth it a man, if hee win the whole world, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe?

26 * For whofoeuer shall be ashamed of mee, and of my words, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed, when hee shall come in his glory, and in the glory of the Father, and of the holy Angels.

* Matt. 17. 2.

6 Least the disciples of Christ should be offended at the debating himselfe in his flesh, beateacheth them that it is voluntary, shewing the cheerful will, for a space the brightness of his glory. h. What death he should die in this way.

28 * And it came to passe about an eight dayes after those wordes, that he tooke Peter and Iohn, and James, and went vp into a mountaine to pray.

29 And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 And beholde, two men talked with him, which were Moises and Elias :

31 Which appeared in glory, and tolde of his departing, which he should accomplish at Hierusalem.

32 But Peter & they that were with him were heavy with sleepe, & when they awoke, they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to passe, as they departed from him, Peter said vnto Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here : let vs there ore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moises, and one for Elias, and wist not what he said.

34 Whiles he thus spake, there came a cloude and ouershadowed them, and they feared when they were entering into the cloude.

* 1. Pet. 1. 17.

35 * And there came a voice out of the cloude saying, This is that my beloued Sonne, heare him.

36 And when the voyce was past, Iesus was found alone : and they kept it close, and tolde no man in those dayes any of those things which they had seene.

37 ¶ And it came to passe on the next day, as they came downe from the mountaine, much people met him.

38 * And behold, a man of the company cryed out saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my sonne : for he is all that I haue.

39 And loe, a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he cryeth, and he croucheth him, that he someth, and hardly departeth from him, when he hath beuiled him.

40 Now I haue besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Iesus answered and said, O generation faithlesse, & crooked, how long now shall I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy sonne hither.

42 And whiles he was yet comming, the deuill rent him, and tare him, and Iesus rebuked the vn-cleane spirit, and healed the childe, and deliuered him to his father.

43 ¶ And they were all amazed at the mightie power of God : & while they all wondered at all things which Iesus did, he said vnto his disciples, 44 I Marke these wordes diligently : * for it shall come to passe, that the sonne of man shall be deliuered into the hands of men.

45 But they understood not that word : for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceiue it : & they feared to aske him of that word.

46 ¶ * Then there arose a dispute among them, which of them should be the greatest.

47 When Iesus sawe the thoughts of their hearts, he tooke a little childe, & set him by him.

48 And said vnto them, whosoever receiueth this little childe in my Name, receiue me : and whosoever shall receiue mee, receiue him that sent me : for he that is least among you all, he shall be great.

49 ¶ * And Iohn answered and said, Master, we saw one casting out deuils in thy Name, & wee forbade him, because he followeth thee not with vs

150 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Forbid ye him : for he that is not against vs, is with vs.

51 ¶ 11 And it came to passe, when the dayes were accomplished, that he should be receiued vp, he sent him selfe fully to goe to Hierusalem.

52 And sent messengers before him : and they went and entered into a towne of the Samaritans, to prepare him lodging.

53 But they would not receiue him, because his behauiour was as though he would go to Hierusalem.

54 ¶ 12 And when his disciples, James and Iohn sawe it, they said, Lord, wilt thou that wee command, that fire come downe from heauen, and consume them, euen as * Elias did?

55 But Iesus turned about, and rebuked them, and said, Ye know not of what spirit ye are.

56 For the Sonne of man is not come to destroy mens liues, but to saue them. Then they went to another towne.

57 ¶ 13 And it came to passe that as they went in the way, * A certain man said vnto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whither soeuer thou goest.

58 And Iesus sayd vnto him, The Foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen nests, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to lay his head.

59 ¶ 14 But hee said vnto another, Follow mee And the same said, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father.

60 And Iesus said vnto him, Let the dead bury their dead : but goe thou, and preach the kingdom of God.

61 ¶ 15 Then another said, I will follow thee, Lord : but let mee first goe bid them farewell, which are at mine house.

62 And Iesus said vnto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh backe, is apt to the kingdom of God.

14. The calling of God ought to be accepted, without any condition that we owe to men. * A Whom notwithstanding they lay in the frailty of man, yet are strangers to the true life, which is everlasting and beaueu you shal. haue a friend, and shall goe to him at midnight, and say vnto him, Friend, lend mee three loaves?

6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to me, and I haue nothing to set before him:

7 And hee within should answer, and say, Trouble mee not: the doore is now shut, and my children are with mee in bed: I cannot rise and giue thee to thee.

8 I say vnto you, Though hee would not rise and giue him, because he is his friend, yet doubtlesse because of his importunitie, hee would rise and giue him as many as he needed.

9 And I say vnto you, aske and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

10 For every one that asketh, receiveth: and he that seeketh, findeth: & to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

11 If a sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a father, will he giue him a stone? or if hee aske a fish, will hee for a fish giue him a serpent?

12 Or if hee aske an egge, will he giue him a scorpion?

13 If ye then which are euill, can giue good gifts vnto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them that desire him?

14 ¶ Then hee cast out a deuill which was dumbe, and when the deuill was gone out, the dumbe spake, and the people wondered.

15 But some of them sayd, ¶ He casteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of the deuils.

16 And others tempted him, seeking of him a signe from heauen.

17 But hee knew their thoughts, and said vnto them, ¶ Every kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be desolate, and an house diuised against an house, shall fall.

18 So if Satan also be diuided against himselfe how shall his kingdome stand, because ye say that I cast out deuils? through Beelzebub?

19 If I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your iudges.

20 But if I by the finger of God cast out deuils, doubtlesse the kingdome of God is come vnto you.

21 When a strong man armed keepeth his epalace, the things that hee possesseth, are in peace.

22 But when a stronger then hee, commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him: hee taketh from him all his armour wherein hee trusted, and diuiderh his spoiles.

23 Hee that is not with me, is against me: and hee that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

24 ¶ When the vncleane spirit is gone out of a man hee walketh through drie places, seeking rest: and when hee findeth none hee saith, I will returne vnto mine house whence I came out.

25 And when he commeth, hee findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then goeth hee, and taketh to him seven other spirits worse then himselfe: and they enter in, and dwell there: so the last state of that man is worse then the first.

27 ¶ And it came to passe as hee sayde these things, a certaine woman of the company lifted vp her voyce, and sayde vnto him, Blessed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But hee sayde, Yea, rather blessed are they that heare the word of God, and keepe it.

29 ¶ And when the people were gathered thicke together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: they seeke a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen them, but the signe of Ionas the Prophet.

30 For as Ionas was a signe to the Nineuites: so shall also the Sonne of man bee to this generation.

31 ¶ The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement, with the men of this generation, and shall condemne them: for shee came from the remott parts of the earth to heare the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, a greater then Solomon is here.

32 The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for they were repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

33 ¶ No man when hee hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a pynce place, neither vnder a bushell: but on a candlestick, that they which come in, may see the light.

34 ¶ The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be euill, then thy body is darke.

35 Take heede therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkened.

36 If therefore thy whole body shall bee light, hauing no part darke, then shall all be light, even as when a candle doth light thee with the brightness.

37 ¶ And as hee spake, a certaine Pharisee belought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sat downe at table.

38 And when the Pharisee saw it, hee marvelled that he had not first washed by the waye of dinner.

39 ¶ And the Lord sayd to him, I deede yee Pharisees make cleane the outside of the cup, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of rauening and wickednesse.

40 Ye fools, did not hee that made that which is without, make that which is within also?

41 Therefore, giue almes of those things which you haue, and behold, all things shall bee cleane to you.

42 ¶ But woe be to you, Pharisees for ye tithe the mynt and the rewe, and all manner herbes, and passe ouer iudgement and the loue of God: theſe ought ye to haue done, and not to haue left the other vndone.

43 ¶ Woe be to you, Pharisees: for ye loue the vppermost seate in the Synagogues, & greetings in the markets.

44 ¶ Woe be to you, Scribes and Pharisees hypocrites: for ye are as graues which appeare not, and the men that walke ouer them, perceive not.

45 ¶ Then answered one of the Lawyers, and sayd vnto him, Master, thus saying thou putteth vs to rebuke also.

46 And hee sayd, Woe be to you also, yee lawyers: for ye lade men with burthens grievous 47 ¹⁵ Wo be to you: * for you build the sepulchres of Prophets, & your fathers killed them.

48 Truly * ye beare winelle, and allow the deedes of your fathers: for they killed them, and ye build their sepulchres.

49 Therefore said the wisdome of God, I will send them Prophets and Apostles, and of them they shall slay, and ¹ persecute away.

50 That the blood of all the Prophets, mshed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation.

51 From the blood of * Abel, vnto the blood of * Zacharias which was slaine betwene the Altar and the Temple: verely I say vnto you, it shall be required of this generation.

52 ¹⁶ Wo be to you, Lawyers: for ye haue ¹ taken away the key of knowledge: ye entered not in your selues, and them that came in ye forbade.

53 ¹⁷ And as hee sayd these things vnto them, the Scribes and Pharisees began to vrge him fore, and to ¹ prouoke him to speake of many things, 54 Laying waite for him, and seeking to catch some thing of his mouth, whereby they might accuse him.

55 ¹⁸ And hee sayd vnto them, Man, who made mee a iudge, or a diuider ouer you?

56 Wherefore he sayd vnto them, Take heede, and beware of * couetousnesse: for though a man haue abundance, yet ¹ his life standeth not in his riches.

57 ¹⁹ And he put forth a parable vnto them, saying, The ¹ ground of a certaine rich man brought forth frutes plenteously.

58 Therefore he ¹ thought v. th himselfe, saying, What shall I doe, because I haue no ¹ room where I may lay vp my frutes?

59 And he laid, This will I doe, I will pul down my barnes, and build greater, and therein will I gather all my frutes, and my goods.

60 ²⁰ And he sayd vnto him, Thou haft much goods laid vp for many yeeres: liue at ease, eat, drinke, and ¹ take thy pastime.

61 But God sayd vnto him, O foole this night will they fetch away thy soule froe thee: the whose shall those things be which thou haft prouided?

62 So ¹ he that gathereth riches ¹ to himselfe, and is not rich in God.

63 ²¹ And he spake to his disciples, Therefore I say vnto you, * Take no thought for your life what ye shall eat: neither for your body, what ye shall put on.

64 ²² The life is more then meat: and the body more then raiment.

65 Consider the rauens: for they neither sowe nor reape: which neither haue storehouse nor baine, & yet God feedeth them: how much more are ye better then foules?

66 ²³ And which of you with taking thought, can add to his stature on cubit?

67 ²⁴ If ye then be not able to doe the least thing, why take ye thought for the remnant?

68 Consider the lillies how they grow, they labour not neither spinne they: yet I say vnto you that Salomon himselfe in all his royaltie was not clothed like one of these.

69 If then God so cloth the grassie which is to day in the field, & to morow is cast into the ouen, how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

70 Therefore aske not what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither hang you in suspence, for all such things the people of the world seeke for: and your Father knoweth that ye haue neede of these things.

71 ²⁵ And hee sayd vnto them, Take heede, and beware of * couetousnesse: for though a man haue abundance, yet ¹ his life standeth not in his riches.

31 ⁸ But rather seeke ye after the kingdome of God, and all these things shall be cast vpon you.

32 ⁹ Feare not, little flocke: for it is your Fathers pleasure to giue you the kingdome.

33 ¹⁰ Sell that ye haue, and giue ¹¹ almes: make you bagges which waxe not old, a treasure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no thiefe commeth, neither moth corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your hearts be also.

35 ¹² Let your loines bee girded about, and your lights burning.

36 And ye your selues like vnto men that wait for their master, when hee will returne from the wedding, that when he commeth and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediately.

37 Blessed are those seruants, whom the Lord when hee commeth shall find waking: verely, I say vnto you, hee will gird himselfe about, and make them to sit downe at table, and will come forth and serue them.

38 And if hee come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall find them so, blessed are those seruants.

39 ¹³ Now understand this, that if the good man of the house had knowne at what houre the thiefe would haue come, he would haue watched, and would not haue suffered his house to be digged thorow.

40 ¹² Be ye also prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when yee thinke not.

41 Then Peter said vnto him, Master, tellest thou this parable vnto vs, or vnto all?

42 And the Lord said, who is a faithful steward, and wise, whom the master shall make ruler over his household, to giue them their portion of meate in season?

43 Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when hee commeth shall find to doing.

44 O a truth, I say vnto you, that hee will make him ruler over all that he hath.

45 But if that seruant say in his heart, My master doth deferre his coming, and shall begin to smite the seruants, and maidens, and to eate and drinke and to be drunken.

46 The master of that seruant will come in a day when hee thinketh not, & at an houre when hee is not ware of, and will cut him off, and giue him his portion with the vnbelievers.

47 And that seruant that knew his masters will, and prepared not himselfe, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

48 But he that knew it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes: for vnto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required, and to whom men much commit, the more of him will they aske.

49 ¹⁴ I am come to put fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it be already kindled?

50 Notwithstanding I must be baptized with a baptism, and how am I grieved, till it be ended?

51 ¹⁵ Think ye that I am come to giue peace on earth I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

52 For from henceforth there shall bee fire in one house diuided, three against two, and two against three.

53 The father shall be diuided against the son, and the sonne against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother in law against her daughter in law, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

54 ¹⁶ Then said he to the people, When yee see a cloud rise out of the West, straightway ye say, A shewe commeth: and so it is.

55 And when yee see the South wind blow, ye say, that will be hote: and it commeth to passe.

56 Hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the earth, and of the skie: but why discern ye not this time?

57 ¹⁷ Yea, and why iudge ye not of your feltes what is right?

58 ¹⁸ While thou goest with thine aduersarie to the ruler, as thou art in the way, giue diligence in the way, that thou mayst be deliuered from him, lest he draw thee to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer thee to the iaylor, and the iaylor cast thee into prison.

Here were certain men present at the same season, that shewed him of the Galileans, whoe blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.

9 And if it beare fruit, well: if not, then after thou shalt cut it downe.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The parable of the steward as vsed to his master. 13 To the two Masters. 16 The Law and the Prophets. 19 Of Diues and Lazarus.

And he sayd also vnto his Disciples, 1 There was a certain rich man, which had a steward and he was accused vnto him, that he wasted his goods.

2 And he called him, and said vnto him, How is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an account of thy stewardship: for thou mayest bee no longer steward.

3 Then the steward saide within himselfe, What shall I doe? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship, I cannot digge, and to begge I am ashamed.

4 I know what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue me into their houses.

5 Then called hee vnto him euery one of his masters debtors, and said vnto the first, How much owest thou vnto my Master?

6 And he said, An hundred measures of oile, And hee said to him, Take thy writing, and sit downe quickly, and write fiftie.

7 Then said he to another, How much owest thou? And hee said, An hundred measures of wheate. Then he said to him, Take thy writing, and write fourecore.

8 And the Lorde commended 1 the vniust steward, because he had done wisely. Wherefore the children of this world are in their generation wiser then the children of light.

9 And I say vnto you, Make you friends with the riches of iniquitie, that when ye shall want, they may receiue you into euerylasting habitations.

10 2 He that is faithfull in the least, he is also faithfull in much: and he that is vniust in the least, is vniust also in much.

11 If then yee haue not bene faithfull in the wicked riches, who will trust you in the true treasure?

12 And if ye haue not bene faithfull in another mans goods, who shall giue you that which is yours?

13 3 No seruant can serue two Masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other: or els he shall loue to the one, and despise the other: he cannot serue God and riches.

14 All these things heard the Pharisees also, which were couetous, and they scoffed at him.

15 4 Then hee sayd vnto them, Yee are they, which iustifie your selues before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 5 The Law and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and since that time the Kingdome of God is preached, and euery man preacheeth in to it.

17 6 Now it is more easie that heauen and earth should passe away, then that one tithe of the Law should fall.

18 7 Who soeuer putteth away his wife, and marieth another, committeth adultery: and who soeuer marieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.

19 8 There was a certaine rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately euery day.

20 Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layed at his gate full of sores, 21 And desired to be refreshed with the crumbles that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogs came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the begger died, and was caried by the Angels into Abrahams bosome.

The rich man also died, and was buried.

23 9 And being in hell in tormentes, hee lift vp his eyes, and saw Abraham a farre off, & Lazarus in his bosome.

24 Then hee cryed, and said, Father Abraham, haue mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham sayd, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuest thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus paines: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Besides all this, betweene you as vs there is a great gulfe fixt, so that they which would goe from hence to you, cannot neither can they come from thence to vs.

27 10 Then hee sayd, I pray thee therefore Father, that thou wouldest send him to my fathers house.

28 (For I haue five brethren) that he may testifie vnto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham said vnto him, They haue Moyses and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And hee said, Nay father Abraham: but if one come vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues.

31 Then hee sayde vnto him, If they heare not Moyses and the Prophets, neither wil they be perswaded, though one rose from the dead againe.

Then said he to the Disciples, 1 I cannot be auoided, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.

2 It is better for him that a great millstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast into the Sea, then that he should offend one of these little ones.

13 And they lift vp their voyces, and said, Iesus, Master, haue mercy on vs.

14 And when he saw them, he said vnto them, * Goe, shew your selues vnto the Priests. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were clemenced.

15 Then one of them, when he saw that hee was healed, returned back, and with a loud voyce praised God, 16 And fell downe on his face at his feet, and gaue him thanks: and he was a Samaritan.

17 And Iesus answered, and saide, Are there notten clemenced? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to giue God praise, saue this stranger.

19 And hee said vnto him, Arise, goe thy way thy faith hath saued thee.

20 ¶ And when he was demaunded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them and said, The kingdom of God cometh not with observation.

21 Neither shall men say, Lo here, or lo there: for behold the kingdom of God is within you.

22 And he said vnto the disciples, the daies will come when ye shall desire to see one of the daies of the Sonne of man, and yee shall not see it.

23 * ¶ Then shall they say to you, Behold here, or behold there: but goe northither, neither follow them.

24 For as the lightning that lightneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day.

25 But first must he suffer many things, and be reprooued of this generation.

¶ We clemend men, and those things when they are present which we afterward desire when they are gone, but in vaine. ¶ The time will come that you shall see the Son of man with great power of heauen, and shall not see him. * Mat. 23. 32. Mar. 13. 29. Christ figureth in this that false Christs shall come, and that his glorie shall suddenly be spread farre and wide through the world, after that the ignominy of the crosse is put ouer and extinguished.

26 * ¶ And as it was in the daies of Noe, so shall it be in the daies of the Sonne of man.

27 They ate, they dranke, they married wives, and gaue in marriage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.

28 * Likewise also it was in the daies of Lot. They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all.

30 After these examples shall it bee in the day when the sonne of man is reuelled.

31 ¶ At that day hee that is vpon the house, and his stuffe in the house, let him not come downe to take it out: and he that is in the field likewise, let him not turne backe to that he left behind.

32 * Remember Lots wife.

33 * Whosoever will seeke to saue his soule, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose it, shall eue get it life.

34 * I tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be left.

35 Two women shall be grinding together, the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left.

36 Two shall be in the field: one shall be receiued, and the other shall be left.

37 ¶ And they answered, and said to him, Where, Lord? And he said vnto them, * Whosoever the body is, thither shall also the eagles bee gathered together.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 The parable of the vnrighteous iudge and the widow. 10 Of the Pharisee and the Publicane. 25 Children are of the kingdom of heauen. 32 To sell all and giue to the poore. 35 The possessor forsaile all. 36 Christ forsaile all hee had at birth. 37 The blinde man receiueth sight.

And hee spake also a parable vnto them, to this end, that they * ought alwaies to pray and not to waxe faint.

2 Saying, there was a iudge in a certaine city, which feared not God, neither reuerenced man.

3 And there was a widow in that city, which came vnto him, saying, Doe mee iustice against mine aduersary.

4 And he would not of a long time: but afterward he said with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man,

5 Yet because this widow troubleth mee, I will doe her right, lest at the last she come and make me weary.

6 And the Lord said, Heare what the vnrighteous iudge saith.

7 Now shall not God avenge his elect, which cry day and night vnto him: yea, though he suffer long for them?

8 ¶ I tell you he will avenge them quickly: but when the sonne of man cometh, shall he finde faith on the earth?

9 ¶ He spake also this parable vnto certaine which trusted in themselves that they were iust, and despised other:

10 Two men went vp into the Temple to pray:

and is a summary take of all preachers, who take their own titles as if they were of such: so do they that are mercenary like the Pharisee: so they cry out, vnto me with words. ¶ Thus he reuileth in warning them to be true. ¶ Two things especially make our prayers vaine and of none effect: confidence of our owne righteousness, and the contempt of other: and an humble heart is contrary to both these.

the one a Pharisee, and the other a Publican.

11 3 The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himselfe, O God, I thank thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, vnjust, adulterers, or euen as this Publican.

12 I fall twise in the weeke: I giue tithes of all that enter I possesse.

13 But the Publican standing e a farre off would not lift vp so much as his eyes to heauen but inote his brest, saying, O God, be mercifull vnto me a sinner.

14 I tell you, this man departed from his house, iustified rather then the other: * for euey man that exalteth himselfe shall be brought low, and he that humbleth himselfe shall be exalted.

15 ¶ 4 They brought vnto him also babes that he should touch them. 4 And when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them.

16 5 But Iesus s called them vnto him, & said, Suffer the babes to come vnto mee, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

17 6 Verily I say vnto you, Whoeuer receiueth not the kingdome of God as a babe, he shall not enter therein.

18 * Then a certaine ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what ought I to do, to inherite eternal life?

19 And Iesus said vnto him, Why callest thou me good? none is good, save one, euen God.

20 Thou knowest the commandments. * Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness: Honour thy Father and thy Mother.

21 7 And he said, All these haue I kept from my youth.

22 Now when Iesus heard that, hee said vnto him, yet lackest thou one thing, Sell all that euer thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come follow me.

23 But when he heard those things, he was very heauy: for he was marvellous rich.

24 8 And when Iesus saw him very sorrowfull, he said, With what difficulty shall they that haue riches, enter into the Kingdome of God!

25 Surely it is easier for a camel to go through a needles eye, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 Then said they that heard it, And who then can be saved?

27 And he said, The things that are vnpossible with men, are possible with God.

28 ¶ 9 Then Peter said, Loc, we haue left all, and haue followed thee.

29 9 And he said vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdome of Gods sake, 30 Which shall not receiue much more in this world, and in the world to come life everlasting.

31 ¶ 10 Then Iesus took vnto him the twelue, and said vnto them, Behold, we goe vp to Hierusalem, and all things shall be fulfilled to the Sonne of man, that are written by the Prophets.

32 For he shall be deliuered vnto the Gentiles, vnto them shall be mocked, and shall be spitefully intreated, and shall be spitte on.

33 And when they haue scourged him, they will put him to death: but the third day he shall rise againe.

34 But they vnderstood none of these things, and this saying was hid from them, neither perceived they the things which were spoken.

35 ¶ 11 And it came to passe, that as he was come neere vnto Iericho, a certaine blinde man sat by the way side, begging.

36 And when he heard the people passe by, he asked what it meant.

37 And they said vnto him, that Iesus of Nazareth passed by.

38 Then he cryed, saying, Iesus the Sonne of Dauid haue mercy on me.

39 12 And they which went before, rebuked him that he should hold his peace, but hee cryed much more, O Son of Dauid haue mercy on me.

40 And Iesus stood still, and commanded him to be brought vnto him. And when he was come neere, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receiue my sight.

42 And Iesus said vnto him, Receiue thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee.

43 Then immediately he receiued his sight, and followed him, praying God: and all the people, when they saw this, gaue praise to God.

N Ow 1 when Iesus entered and passed through Iericho.

2 Behold, there was a man named Zachheus which was the 2 chiefe receiuer of the tribute, and he was rich.

3 And he sought to see Iesus, who he should be, and could not for the prease, because he was of a low stature.

4 Wherefore he ranne before, and climed vp into a wilde figge tree, that he might see him: for he should come that way.

5 And when Iesus came to the place, he looked vp and saw him, and said vnto him, Zachheus come downe at once: for to day I must abide at thine house.

6 Then hee came downe hastily and receiued him ioyfully.

7 2 And when all they saw it, they murmured, saying, that he was gone in to lodge with a sinner and man.

8 3 And Zachheus stood forth, & said vnto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the halfe of my goods I giue to the poore: and if I haue taken from any man by b forged cauillation, I restore him fourefold.

9 Then Iesus said to him, This day is saluation come vnto this house, forasmuch as he is also become the e sonne of Abraham.

10 * For the sonne of man is come to seeke, and to saue that which was lost.

11 4 And while they heard these things, he continued and spake a parable, because he was neere to Ierusalem, and because also they thought that the kingdome of God should shortly appeare.

12 He said therefore, * A certaine noble man went vnto a far country, to receiue for himselfe a kingdome, and so to come againe.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an am- bassage after him, saying, Wee will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe, when he was come a- gaine, and had receiued his kingdome, that hee commaunded the seruants to be called to him, to whom he gaue his money, that hee might know what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, 4 thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And he said vnto him, Well, good seruant: because thou hast bene faithfull in a very litle thing, take thou authoritie ouer ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy pieces hath increased fise pieces.

19 And to the same he said, Bethou also ruler ouer fise cities.

20 So the other came, and said, Lord, Behold, thy piece which I haue layd vp in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straite man: thou takest vp that thou laydest not down, and reapest that thou diddest not sow.

22 Then hee sayd vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O euill seruant. Thou knewest that I am a strait man, taking vp that I layd not downe, and reaping that I did not sow.

23 Wherefore then gaudest not thou my money into the e banke, that at my comming I might haue required it with vantage?

24 And hee said to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces)

27 Moreover, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 ¶ And when he had thus spoken, he went forth before, ascending vp to Hierusalem.

29 * 7 And it came to passe, when he was come neere to Bethphage, and Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Oliues, hee sent two of his disciples, 30 Saying, Go ye to the towne which is be- fore you, wherein assoone as ye are come, yee shall finde a colt tied, whereon neuer man sat: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any man aske you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had sayd vnto them.

33 And as they were loosing the colt, the ow- ners thereof said vnto them, Why loose yee the colt?

34 And they said, The Lord hath need of him.

35 ¶ So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Iesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spread their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was now come neere to the going downe to the mount of Oliues, the whole multitude of the disciples began to reioyce, and to praise God with a loud voyce, for all the great works that they had seene,

38 Saying, Blessed be the King that cometh in the Name of the Lord: peace in heauen, and glory in the highest places

39 * Then some of the Pharisees of the compa- ny layd vnto him, Maltre, rebuke thy disciples.

42 saying, O if thou haddest euen known i at the least in this thy day those things, which belong vnto thy peace! but now are they hid from thine eyes.

46 Saying vnto them, It is written, * Mine house is the house of prayer, * but ye haue made it a denne of theues.

And * 1 it came to passe, that on one of those daies, as he taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Gospel, the high Priests and the Scribes came vpon him, with the Elders,

2 And spake vnto him, saying, Tel vs by what authoritie thou doest these things, or who is hee that hath giuen thee this authoritie?

3 And he answered, and said vnto them, I al- so will ask you one thing: tell me therefore,

4 The baptis me of Iohn, was it from heauen, or of men?

5 And they reasoned within themselves, say- ing, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say, Why then beleuest ye him not?

6 But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they bee perswaded that Iohn was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell wherein it was.

8 Then Iesus said vnto them, Neither tell I you, by what authoritie I doe these things.

9 ¶ 2 Then began he to speake to the people this parable, A certaine man planted a vineyard, and let it forth vnto husbandmen, and went into a strange cuntry for a great time.

10 And at the time conuenient hee sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they should giue him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husband-men did beat him, and sent him away empty.

11 Again hee sent yer another seruant: and they did beat him, and foule entreated him, and sent him away empty.

12 Moreouer hee sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then said the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I doe? I will send my beloued Sonne: It may be that they will doe reuerence when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with themselves, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore doe vnto them?

16 Hee will come and destroy these husband-men, and will giue out his vineyard to others.
But when they heard it, they said, God forbid.

17 ¶ And hee beheld them, and said, What meaneth this then that is written, * The stone

18 Whosoever shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will they feared the people) for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.

20 * 3 And they watched him and sent forth bysies, which should slay themselves iust men, to take him in his talke, and to deliuer him vnto the power and authoritie of the gouernour.

21 And they asked him, saying, Master, wee know that thou sayest and teachest right, neither doest thou accept of mans person, but teachest the way of God truly.

22 Is it lawfull for vs to giue Cesar tribute or no?

23 But he perceived their craftinesse, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Shew mee a penie: Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered, and said, Cesars.

25 Then he said vnto them, * Giue then vnto Cesar the things which are Cesars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not reprove his saying before the people, but they maruelled at his answer, and held their peace.

27 * 4 Then came to him certaine of the Sad-duces (which denie that there is any resurrection) and they asked him,

28 Saying, Master, * Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and hee die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed to his brother.

29 Now there were seven brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and he died childlesse.

31 Then the third tooke her: and so likewise the seven died, and left no children.

32 And last of all, the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seven had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them,
The children of this world marry wiues, and are married,

35 But they which shall be counted worthy to enioy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wiues, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equal vnto the Angels, and are the sonnes of God, since they are the children of the resurrection.

37 And that the dead shall rise againe, euen

The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.

38 For hee is not the God of the dead, but of them which live: for all liue vnto him.

39 Then certaine of the Scribes answered, and said, Master, thou hast well said.

40 And after that, durst they not aske him any thing at all.

41 ¶ * 5 Then said hee vnto them, How say they that Christ is Dauids sonne?

42 And David himselfe saith in the booke of the Psalmes, * The Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit at my right hand,

43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy foot-stool.

44 Seeing David calleth him Lord, How is he then his sonne?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people, he said vnto his disciples,

46 * Beware of the Scribes, which willingly goe in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets, and the highest feat in the assemblies, and the chiefe roumes at feasts:

47 Which deuoure widowes * houses, and in

And * 1 as he beheld, hee saw the rich men which cast their gifts into the treasure.

2 And hee saw also a certaine poore widow, which cast in thither two mites:

3 And hee said, Of a truth I say vnto you, that this poore widow hath cast in more then they all.

4 For they all haue of their superfluous cast into the offerings of God: but she of her penurie hath cast in all the liuing that she had.

5 * 2 Now as some spake of the Temple, how it was garnished with goodly stones, and with consecrated things, he said,

6 Are these the things that yee looke vpon?
the dayes will come wherein a stone shall not bee left vpon a stone, that shall not beethrown downe.

7 Then they asked him, saying, Master, but when shall these things bee? and what signe shall there be when these things shall come to passe?

8 * And hee said, Take heed that yee bee not deceiued: for many will come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and the time draweth neere: follow ye not them therefore.

11 * And great earthquakes shall be in diuers places, and hunger, and pestilence, and fearful things, and great signes shall there be from heauen.

12 But before all these, they shall lay their hands on you, and persecute you, delivering you vp to the assemblies, and into prisons, and bring you before kings and rulers for my Names sake.

13 And this shall turne to you, for ^a a testimony.

14 * Lay it vp therefore in your hearts, that ye cast not before hand what ye shall answer.

26 * And mens hearts shall faile them for feare and for looking after those things which shall come to the world: for the powers of heauen shall be shaken.

27 And then shall they see the Sonne of man come in a cloud, with power and great glory.

28 And when these things beginne to come to passe, then looke vp, and lift vp your heads: for your redemption draweth neere.

29 * And he spake to them a parable, Behold, the fig tree, and all trees,

30 When they now shooth forth, ye seeing them, know of your owne selues that summer is then neere, 31 So likewise ye, when ye see these things come to passe, know ye that the Kingdome of God is neere.

32 Verely, I say vnto you, This age shall not passe, till all these things be done:

33 Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my words shall not passe away.

34 * Take heede to your selues, lest at any time your hearts be oppressed with surfeiting, & drunkenkenesse, and cares of this life, and lest that day come on you at vnwares.

35 For as a snare shall it come ^h on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth, 36 Watch therefore, and pray continually that ye may bee counted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to passe, and that ye may stand before the Sonne of man.

37 ¶ Now in the day time hee taught in the Temple, and at night he went out, and abode in the mount that is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people came in the morning to him, to heare him in the Temple.

21 * 6 Yet behold, the hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me at the Table.

22 * 7 And truly the Sonne of man goeth as it is appointed: but wo be to that man by whom he is betrayed.

23 Then they began to enquire among themselves which of them it should be, that should doe that.

24 * 8 And there arose also a strife among them, which of them should seeme to be the greatest.

25 But he said vnto them, The Kings of the Gentiles reigne ouer them, and they that beare rule ouer them, are called kingly.

26 But yee shall not be so: but let the greatest among you be as the least: and the chiefeest as he that serueth.

27 For who is greater, he that sitteth at table, or he that serueth? Is not he that sitteth at table? And I am among you as he that serueth.

32 * 11 But I haue prayed for thee, that thy faith faile not: therefore when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren.

33 * 12 And he said vnto him, Lord, I am ready to goe with thee into prison, and to death.

34 But he said, I tell thee, Peter, the cocke shall not crow this day, before thou shalt thrise deny that thou knowest me.

35 * 13 And he said vnto them, * When I sent you without bag, and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye any thing? And they said, Nothing.

36 * 14 Then he sayd to them, But now see that hath a bagge, let him take it, and likewise a scrip: and he that hath none, let him sell his coate, and buy a sword.

37 For I say vnto you, that yet the same which is written, must be performed in me, * Euen which the wicked was he numbered for double the those things, which are written of me haue, an end.

38 And they said, Lord, behold, here are two swords. And he said vnto them, It is enough.

39 * 15 And he came out, and went (as he was went) to the mount of Oliues: and his disciples also followed him.

40 * 16 And when he came to the place, hee said to them, Pray lett ye enter into tentation.

41 * 17 And he was drawne aside from them about a stones cast, & knecled downe, and prayed, 42 Saying, Father, if thou wilt, take away this cuppe from mee: neuerthelesse, not my will but thine be done.

43 And there appeared an Angell vnto him from heauen, comforting him.

44 But being in an agony, hee praied more earnestly: & his sweat was like drops of blood, trickling downe to the ground.

45 * 18 And he rose vp from praier, and came to his disciples, & found them sleeping for heauinesse.

46 And he said vnto them, Why sleepe ye? rise and pray, lett ye enter into tentation.

47 * 19 And while he yet spake, behold, a company, and he that was called Iudas one of the twelue, went before them, and came neere vnto Iesus to kisse him.

48 And Iesus said vnto him, Iudas, betrayest thou the Sonne of man with a kisse?

49 * 20 Now when they which were about him, saw what would follow, they said vnto him, Lord shall we smite with sword?

50 And one of them smote a seruant of the hie Priest, and strooke off his right eare.

51 Then Iesus answered, and said, Suffer them thus farre: & he touched his eare, & healed him.

52 * 21 Then Iesus said vnto the hie Priests, and captains of the Temple, and the Elders which were come to him, Bee ye come out as vnto a thiefe with swords and staves?

53 When I was daily with you in the Temple, ye stretched not forth the hands against me: but this is your very houre, and the power of darkenesse.

54 * 22 Then tooke they him, and led him, and brought him to the hie Priests house. * 23 And Peter followed a farre off.

55 * 24 And when they had kindled a fire in the middes of the hall, and were set downe together, Peter also sat downe among them.

56 And a certaine maid beheld him as he sate by the fire, and hauing well looked on him, said, This man was also with him.

57 But he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

58 And a litle while, another man saw him, and said, Thou art also of them. But Peter said, Man, I am not.

59 And about the space of an houre after, a certaine other affirmed, saying, Verely, euen this man was with him: for he is also a Galilean.

60 And Peter said, Man, I know not what thou saiest. And immediately while hee yet spake, the cocke crew.

61 Then the Lord turned backe, and looked vpon Peter: and Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said to him, * Before the cocke crow, thou shalt denie me thrise.

62 And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

15 In agony spiritual Christ strove much, and was in great distress: for Christ should not only with the sorrow of death, as other men rise to doe, for many martyrs might have more comfort in the Christ but with the fearfull iudgement of his angry Father, which is the fiercest thing in the world, and the master was, for that hee tooke the burden of all our sinnes vpon himselfe.

- Mat. 17. 3.
2. pet. 1. 17.
¶ The glory which he speaketh of here, is that manifestation of Christ his maiestie, which was as it were layd open before our eyes when the Sonne of God appeared in fleshy. ¶ This word (as) doth not in our place denote a likeness, but the truth of the matter, for his meaning is this, that we may see a glory, as he desired and was merited for the best of Sonnes of God, who is Lord and King over all the world. ¶ Hee was not only a partaker of grace and truth, but was full of the very fullness of grace and truth. ¶ John is a faithfull witness of the excellencie of Christ. ¶ That is, hee before whom I am sent to prepare him the way. So that these wordes are referred to the time of his calling and not of this age, for John was fixer monethes older then he. ¶ The sentence bath in it a turning of the reason as we call it, as who would say, a seeing of that first which should bee last, and thus last which should bee first, for in plain speeche this is: He that cometh after me, is better then I am, for he was before me. The like of this turning the reason we finde in Luke 7. 47. many finnes are forgiven her, because shee loved much, which is shew much to say, shee loved much, because many finnes are forgiven her.
¶ Coloss. 1. 9 and 2. 9. ¶ Christ is the most plentiful fountaine of all goodnesse, but then he powred out his gifts most bountifullly, when as hee exhibited and threw himselfe to the world. ¶ That is, grace open gate, as a man would say, grace heard open gate to the world. ¶ The true knowledge of God proceedeth onely from Iesus Christ. ¶ 1 Tim. 6. 16. 2. John 4. 13. ¶ Who is wiser to his Father, not only in respect of his lowe stature, but by the hand of nature, and for that union or oneness that is betwene them, whereby the Father and the Sonne are one. ¶ Reminded him and shewed him vnto vs, whereas before he was hid vnder the shadowe of the Law, in that the quietnesse of the sight of our minde was not able to perceiue him:
for who seeth him, seeth the Father also. ¶ John is neither the Messias, nor like to any of the other Prophets, but is the herauld of Christ, who is now present.
¶ Hee did acknowledge him and spake of him plainly and openly. ¶ This relieving of one and the cleane thing though in diuers words, is used much of the Hebrews, and hath great force: for they use to speake one thing, yet set it out more certainly and plainly. ¶ Acts 13. 15. ¶ The Iewes thought that Elias should come againe before the comynge of Messias, and they take the ground of that their opinion out of Ma-lac. 4. 5, which place is to bee vnder stood of Iohn. Math. 11. 14. And yet Iohn de-veth that he is Elias, as for as touching his mode of coming according to the sayment. ¶ They enquire of some great Prophet, and not of Christ, for Iohn denied before that hee is Christ, for they thought that some great Prophet should bee sent like vnto Moses, Writing to that purpose a place of Deut. 18. 15, which is to be vnder stood of all the company of the Prophets and Ministers, which haue bene and shall bee to the ende, and especially of Christ, who is the head of all Prophets. ¶ Icy. 40. 3. mat. 2. 2. Luke 3. 4. ¶ Christ is the author of baptisme and not Iohn, and therefore the force thereof consisteth not in Iohn, who is the minister, but wholly in Christ the Lord. ¶ I heretofore may proue that the Iewes knew where should bee some coming in religion vnder Messias, as I shew all the world seeth, and is clear enough you.

14 ¶ 7 And that Worde was made in fleshy, and x dwelt among vs, (and wee sawe the glory thereof, as the glory of the onely begotten Sonne of the Father) a full of grace and truth.

15 ¶ 8 Iohn bare witnesse of him, and cryed faying, This was he of whom I said, He that commeth after me, is better before me: for he was better then I.

16 ¶ 9 And of his fullnesse haue all we receiued, and grace for grace.

17 For the Law was giuen by Moses, but grace and truth came by Iesus Christ.

18 ¶ 10 No man hath seene God at any time:
that onely begotten Sonne, which is in the bo-some of the Father, he hath declared him.

19 ¶ 11 Then this is the record of Iohn, when the Iewes sent Priests and Leuites from Hieru-salem to aske him, Who art thou?

20 And he confessed, and denied not, but said plainly, I am not that Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he said, I am not, Art thou that Prophet? And he answered No.

22 Then said they vnto him, Who art thou, that we may giue an answer vnto those that sent vs? What sayest thou of thyselfe?

23 He said, I am the voice of him that cryeth in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as saith the Prophet Elias.

24 ¶ 12 Now they which were sent, were of the Pharisees.

25 And they asked him, and sayde vnto him,
Why baptizest thou then, if thou bee not that Christ, neither Elias, nor that Prophet?

26 Iohn answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one among you, whom yee know not.

27 ¶ Hee it is that cometh after me, which was before me, whose foote I latchd I am not worthy to vnloose.

28 These things were done in Bethabara, beyond Iorden, where Iohn did baptize.

29 ¶ 13 The next day Iohn seeth Iesus coming vnto him, and saith, Beholde that Lambe of God, which taketh away the sinne of the world.

30 This is he of whom I said, After mee commeth a man which was before mee: for hee was better then I.

31 And I knew him not: but because hee should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.

32 ¶ 14 So Iohn bare record faying, I beheld that Spirit come downe from heauen like a dowe, and it abode vpon him,

33 And I knew him not: but he that sent mee to baptize with water, hee sayd vnto mee, Vpon whom thou shalt see the spirit come downe, and tary still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.

34 And I saw and bare record that this is that Sonne of God.

35 ¶ 15 The next day Iohn stood againe, and two of his disciples.

36 ¶ 16 And he beheld Iesus walking by, & said, Behold that Lambe of God.

37 ¶ 17 And the two disciples heard him speake, and followed Iesus.

38 Then Iesus turned about, and sawe them follow, and sayd vnto them, What seeke yee?
And they sayd vnto him, Rabbi (which is to say by interpretation, Master) where dwellest thou?

39 And hee sayd vnto them, Come and see.
They came and sawe where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the tenth houre.

40 Andrew, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard it of Iohn, and that followed him.

41 The same found his brother Simon first, and said vnto him, We haue found that Messias, which is by interpretation that Christ.

42 And he brought him to Iesus. And Iesus beheld him, & sayd, Thou art Simon the sonne of Iona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation a stone.

43 ¶ The day following, Iesus would go into Galilee, and found Philip, and said vnto him, Follow mee.

44 Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the citie of Andrew and Peter.

45 ¶ 18 Philip found Nathanael, and sayde vnto him, Wee haue founde him of whom Moses did write in the Lawe, and the Prophets, Iesus that Sonne of Ioseph, that was of Nazareth.

¹ And ^a the third day, was there a mariage in Cana ^a towne of Galile, and the Mother of Iesus was there.
² And Iesus was called also, and his Disciples vnto the marriage.
³ Now when the wine failed, the Mother of Iesus said vnto him, They have no wine.
⁴ Iesus sayd vnto her, Woman, what haue I to doe with thee? mine ^b houre is not yet come.
⁵ His mother sayd vnto the seruants, Whatsoeuer he saith vnto you, doe it.
⁶ And there were set there, fixe ^c waterpots of stone, after the manner of the purifying of the Iewes, containing two or three ^d firkins a peece.
⁷ And Iesus said vnto them, Fill the waterpots with water. Then they filled them vp to the brimme.
⁸ Then hee sayd vnto them, Draw out now, and beare vnto the gouernour of the feast. So they bare it.
⁹ Now when the gouernour of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for he knew not whence it was, but the seruants, which drew the water, knew) the gouernour of the feast called the bridegrome, ¹⁰ And said vnto him, All men at the beginning set forth good wine: and when men haue well drunke, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept backe the good wine vntill now.
¹¹ This beginning of miracles did Iesus in Cana, ^a a town of Galile, and shewed forth his glory: and his disciples beleued on him.
¹² After that, he went down into Capernaum, he and his mother, and his brethren, & his disciples: but they continued not many dayes there.
¹³ For the Iewes Pascheour was at hand. Therefore Iesus went vp to Hierusalem.
¹⁴ And hee found in the Temple those that sold oxen, and sheepe, and doves, and changers of money sitting there.

15 Then hee made a scourge of small cordes, and draue them ail out of the Temple with this sheepe and oxen, and powred out the changers money, and ouerthrew the tables, 16 And layd vnto them that sold dones, Take these things hence: make not my Fathers house, an house of merchandise.
17 And his Disciples remembered, that it was written, * The zeale of thine house hath eaten me vp.
18 So then answered the Iewes, and sayd vnto him, What signe shewest thou vnto vs, that thou doest these things?
19 Iesus answered and said vnto them, * Destroy this Temple, and in three dayes I will rayse it vp againe.
20 Then said the Iewes, Fourty and six yeres was this Temple a building, and wilt thou reare it vp in three dayes?
21 But he spake of the temple of his body.
22 As soone therefore as hee was risen from the dead, his Disciples remembered that hee thus said vnto them: and they beleueed the Scripture, and the word which Iesus had said.
23 Nowe when hee was at Hierusalem at the Passouer in the feast, many beleueed in his Name, when they saw his miracles which he did, 24 But Iesus did not commit himselfe vnto them, because he knew them all, 25 7 And had not need that any should testifie of man, for he knew what was in man.

Here was now a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jewes,
1 This man came to Iesus by night, and sayd vnto him, Rabbi, wee know that thou art a teacher come from God, for no man could doe these miracles that thou doest, ^a except God were with him.
2 Iesus answered and said vnto him, Verily, verily I say vnto thee, Except a man be borne againe, he cannot ^a see the kingdom of God.
3 Nicodemus said vnto him, how ^a can a man be borne which is olde? can he enter into his mothers wombe againe, and be borne?
4 Iesus answered, Verily, verily I say vnto thee, except that a man be borne of water and of the Spirit, hee cannot enter into the kingdom of God.
5 That which is borne of the flesh, is ^a flesh: and that that is borne of the Spirit, is spirit.

13 Iesus answered, and said vnto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water, shall thirst againe.

14 But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall giue him, shall neuer be more athirst: but the water that I shall giue him, shall be in him a well of water springing vp into euertlasting life.

15 The woman said vnto him, Sir, giue mee of that water, that I may not thirst, neither come hither to draw.

16 Iesus said vnto her, Go call thine husband, and come hither.

17 The woman answered, and said, I haue no husband. Iesus said vnto her, Thou halt well said, I haue no husband.

18 For thou hast had five husbands, and hee whom thou now hast, is not thine husband: that saydest thou truly.

19 The woman said vnto him, Sir, I see that thou art a Prophet.

20 Our fathers worshipped in this mountaine, and ye say, that in ^a Ierusalem is the place where men ought to worship.

21 Iesus said vnto her, Woman, beleeue mee, the house cometh when ye shall neither in this mountaine, nor at Hierusalem worship the Father.

22 Ye worship that which ye ^a know not: we worship that which we know: for saluation is of the Iewes.

23 But the house cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in ^a Spirit and Truth: for the father requireth euen such to worship him.

24 ^a God is ^a Spirit, and they that worship him, must worship him in Spirit and Truth.

25 The woman said vnto him, I knowe well that Messias shall come, which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell vs all things.

26 Iesus said vnto her, I am hee, that speake vnto thee.

27 ¶ And vpon that, came his disciples, and marvelled that hee talked with a woman: yet no man said vnto him, Why askest thou? or why talkest thou with her?

28 The woman then left her water pot, and went her way into the citie, and sayd to the men, 29 Come, see a man which hath tolde mee all things that euer I did: is not he that Christ?

30 Then they went out of the citie, and came vnto him.

31 ¶ In the meane while, the disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eate.

32 But hee said vnto them, I haue meate to eat, that ye know not of.

33 Then said the disciples between themselves, Hath any man brought him meate?

34 Iesus said vnto them, My meate is that I may doe the will of him that sent mee, and finish his worke.

35 ¶ Say not ye, there are yet foure moneths, and then cometh haruest? Beholde, I say vnto you, Lift vp your eyes, and looke on the regions: ^a for they are white already vnto haruest.

36 ¶ And hee that reapeth, receiueeth reward, and gathereth fruit vnto life eternal, that both he that soweth and hee that reapeth might reioyce together.

37 For herein is the saying true, that one sower sowed, and the doctrine of the Gospel, as the haruest, and there is an excellent agreement betweene them both, and the ministers of them both, ^a Thou shalt sow.

eth and another reapeth.

38 I sent you to reap that, whereon ye beleeued no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entered into their labours.

39 ¶ Now many of the Samaritanes of that citie beleeued in him, for the saying of the woman which testified, He hath tolde mee all things that euer I did.

40 Then when the Samaritanes were come vnto him, they beought him, that hee would tary with them: and he abode there two dayes.

41 And many more beleeued because of his owne word.

42 And they sayd vnto the woman, Now we beleeue, not because of thy saying: for wee haue heard him our selues, & know that this is indeed that Christ the Saviour of the world.

43 ¶ So two dayes after he departed thence, and went into ^a Galilee.

44 For Iesus himselfe had ^a testified, that a Prophet hath none honour in his owne countrey.

45 Then when he was come into Galilee, the Galileans receiued him, which had seene all the things that hee did at Hierusalem at the feast: for they went also to the feast.

46 ¶ And Iesus came againe into ^a Cana a towne of Galilee, where hee had made of water wine. And there was a certaine ^a ruler, whose sonne was sicke at Capernaum.

47 When he heard that Iesus was come out of Iudea into Galilee, hee went vnto him, and beought him that hee would goe downe, and heale his sonne: for he was euen ready to die.

48 Then Iesus said vnto him, Except ye see signes and wonders, ye will not beleeue.

49 The ruler said vnto him, Sir, Go downe before my sonne die.

50 Iesus said vnto him, Go thy way, thy sonne lieth: and the man beleeued the word that Iesus had spoken vnto him, and went his way.

51 And as hee was now going downe, his seruants met him, saying, Thy sonne lieth.

52 Then enquired he of them the houre when he began to amend. And they sayd vnto him, Yesterday the fourth houre the seruant left him.

53 Then the father knew that it was the same houre in the which Iesus had sayd vnto him, Thy sonne lieth. And he beleeued, and all his household.

54 This second miracle did Iesus againe, after he was come out of Iudea into Galilee.

43 Iesus then answered, and sayd vnto them, Murmure not among your selues.

44 No man can come to mee, except the Father, which hath sent me, draw him, and I will raise him vp at the last day.

45 It is written in the ¹⁰ Prophets, And they shall be all ^o taught of God. Euery man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh vnto me:

46 * Not that any man hath seene the Father, ^o Gue he which is of God, he hath seene ^o Father.

47 Verely, verely I say vnto you, Hee that beleeueth in me, hath euerglasting life.

50 ^o This is that bread, which cometh downe from heauen, that he which eateth of it, should not die.

51 ^o I am that ^o liuing bread, which came downe from heauen: if any man eate of this bread, he shall liue for euer: and the bread that I will giue is my flesh, which I will giue for the life of the world.

52 ^o Then the Iewes strove among themselves, saying, How can this man giue vs ^o flesh to eate?

63 ^o It is the * spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the wordes that I speake vnto you, are spirit and life.

65 And he said, Therefore said I vnto you, that no man can come vnto me, except it be giuen vnto him of my Father.

66 ^o From that time, many of his disciples went backe and walked no more with him.

67 Then said Iesus to the twelue, Will ye also goe away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Master, to whom shall we goe? thou hast the wordes of eternal life:

 * Math. 23. 16.

8 And againe he stouped downe, and wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard it, being accused by their owne conscience, they went out, one by one, beginning at the eldest euen to y^e last: Iesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the mids.

10 3 When Iesus had lift vp himselfe againe, and saw no man, but the woman, hee said vnto her, Woman where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She said, No man Lord. And Iesus said, Neither do I condemne thee: goe and sinne no more.

12 4 Then spake Iesus againe vnto them, saying, * I am that light of the world: hee that followeth me, shall not walke in darknes, but shall haue that light of life.

13 5 The Pharisees therefore said vnto him, thou bearest record of thy selfe: thy record is not true.

14 * Iesus answered, & said vnto the, b Though I beare record of my selfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go; but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go.

15 Ye iudge after the flesh: I iudge no man.

16 And if I also iudge, my iudgement is true, for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that sent me.

17 And it is also written in your Law, * that the testimonie of two men is true.

18 d I am one that beare witnesse of my selfe, & the Father that sent me beareth witness of me.

19 e Then said they vnto him, Where is that Father of thine? Iesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor that Father of mine. If ye had knowne me, ye should haue knowne that Father of mine also.

20 These words spake Iesus in the * temple, as he taught in the Temple, & no man laid hands on him: 7 for his houre was not yet come.

21 8 Then said Iesus againe vnto them: I go my way, and ye shall seeke me, and shall die in your sinnes. Whither I go, can ye not come.

22 Then said the Iewes, will he kill himselfe, because he saith, Whither I go, can ye not come?

23 And he said vnto them, Yee are not from beneath, I am from above: yee are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I said therefore vnto you, That ye shall die in your sinnes: for except ye beleue that I am he, ye shall die in your sinnes.

25 9 Then said they vnto him, Who art thou? And Iesus said vnto them, Euen^f the same thing that I said vnto you from the beginning.

26 10 I haue many things to say, and to iudge of you: but he that sent me, is true, and the things that I haue heard of him, those I speake I to the world.

27 11 They vnderstood not that hee spake to them of the Father.

28 Then said Iesus vnto them, When ye haue lift vp the Sonne of man, then shall ye know that I am hee, and that I doe nothing of my selfe, for the father hath sent me. 6 No man can know God but in Christ only. e This was the place appointed for the gathering of the offering. 7 Wee live and dye at the pleasure of God, and not of men: therefore this one thing remaineth, that we goe forward constantly in our vocation. 8 Because that men doe naturally abhorre heavenly things, no man can be a disciple of Christ, vntill the spirit of God frame him: in the meane (as I am not withstanding, the world must of necessity perish, because it refuseth the life that is offered vnto it. 9 Hee shall at length know who Christ is, which will diligently heare what he saith. f That is, I am Christ, and the Sonnes, for I told you from the beginning that I was. 10 God is the reuenger of Christs doings despised. 11 Euen the contempt of Christ maketh for his glory: which thing his enemies shall feel at length to their great shame.

but as the Father hath taught mee, so I speake these things.

29 For he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone, because I do alwaies those things that please him.

30 ¶ As he spake these things, many beleued in him.

31 12 Then said Iesus to the Iewes which beleued in him, If ye continue in my word, ye are verily my disciples, 32 And shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

33 13 They answered him, We be Abrahams seed, and were neuer bond to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shall be made free?

34 Iesus answered them, Verily, verily I say vnto you, that whosoever committeth sinne, is the * seruant of sinne.

35 And the seruant abideth not in the house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.

36 If that Sonne therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed.

37 13 I know that ye are Abrahams seed, but ye seeke to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and ye doe that which ye haue seene with your Father.

39 They answered and said vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus said vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would doe the workes of Abraham.

40 But now ye goe about to kill mee, a man that haue told you the truth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye dot the workes of your father. Then said they to him, Wee are not borne of fornication: we haue one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Iesus said vnto them, If God were your father, then would ye loue me: for I proceeded forth, and came from God, neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me.

43 Why doe ye not vnderstand my * talke? because ye cannot heare my word.

44 * Ye are of your father the deuil, and the lusts of your father ye will doe: he hath bene a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the * truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, then speaketh hee of his owne: for he is a liar, and the * father thereof.

45 And because I tell you the truth, ye beleeue me not.

46 14 Which of you can rebuke me offsinne? and if I say the truth, why do ye not beleeue me?

47 * He that is of God heareth Gods words: ye therefore heare them not, because ye are not of God.

48 15 Then answered the Iewes, and said vnto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a deuil?

49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuil, but I honour my Father, and ye haue dishonoured me. 50 And I seeke not mine own praise: but there is one that seeketh it, and iudgeth.

51 16 Verily, verily I say vnto you, If a man keep my word, he shall neuer see death.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ, to shew that he is the life and the resurrection, 14 cometh to Lazarus being dead, 17, 34. and cured. 43 and raised him vp. 47 As the Priests were consulting to gether, 49. Caiaphas vs prophesie that one must die for the people. 56 57. They came out to see his birth out, and to take him.

And ¶ a certaine man was sicke named Lazarus of Bethania, the 2 towne of Marie, and her sister Martha.

2 (And it was that 3 Marie which annointed the Lord with ointment, and wiped his feet with her haire, whose brother Lazarus was sicke.)

3 Therefore his sisters sent vnto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou louest is sicke.

4 When Iesus heard it, he said, This sicknesse is not vnto 5 death, but for the glory of God that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.

5 ¶ Now Iesus loued Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 2 And after he had heard that he was sicke yet abode hee two daies still in the same place where he was.

7 Then after that, said he to his Disciples, Let vs goe into Iudea againe.

8 The disciples said vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately sought to 9 stone thee, and doest thou goe thither againe?

9 Iesus answered, Are there not 10 twelue houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in the night, hee stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

11 These things spake hee, and after, hee said, vnto them, Our friend Lazarus 12 sleepeeth: but I goe to wake him vp.

12 Then said the Disciples, Lord, if he sleepe, hee shall be safe.

13 Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe.

14 Then said Iesus vnto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that yee may beleeue: but let vs goe vnto him.

16 Then said Thomas (which is called Didymus) vnto his fellow disciples, Let vs also goe, that we may die with him.

17 ¶ Then came Iesus, and found that he had lien in the graue foure daies already.

18 (Now Bethania was neere vnto Hierusalem, about fiftene furlongs off.)

19 And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

20 Then Martha, when shee heard that Iesus was coming, went to meet him: but Mary fate still in the house.

21 Then said Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

22 But now I know also, that whatsoever thou askest of God, God will giue it thee.

23 Iesus said vnto her, Thy brother shall 24 rise againe.

24 Martha said vnto him, I know that he shall rise againe 25 in the resurrection at the last day.

25 Iesus said vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: 26 he that beleeueth in mee, though he were dead yet shall hee liue.

26 And whosoever liueth, and beleeueth in me shall neuer die: beleeuest thou this?

27 She said vnto him, yea, Lord, I beleeue that thou art that Christ that sonne of God, which should come into the world.

28 ¶ And when she had so said, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when she heard it, she arose quickly, and came vnto him.

30 For Iesus was not yet come into the town, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with her in the house and comforted her, when they saw Marie, that she rose vp hastily, and went out, followed her, saying, Shee goeth vnto the graue to weepe there.

32 Then when Mary was come where Iesus was, and saw him, shee fell downe at his feet, saying vnto him, Lord if thou haddest bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

33 5 When Iesus therefore saw her weepe, and the Iewes also weepe which came with her, hee 6 groined in the spirit, & was troubled in himselfe.

34 And said, Where haue ye laid him? They said vnto him, Lord, come and see.

35 And Iesus wept.

36 Then said the Iewes, Behold, how hee loued him.

37 And some of them said, 8 Could not hee which opened the eyes of the blinde, haue made also that this man should not haue died?

38 Iesus therefore againe groined in himselfe and came to the graue. And it was a caue, and a stone was laid vpon it.

39 Iesus said, take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, said vnto him, Lord hee stinketh already: for he hath bene dead foure daies.

40 Iesus said vnto her, said I not vnto thee, that if thou diddest beleeue, thou shouldst see the glory of God?

41 Then they tooke away the stone from the place where the dead was laid. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and said, Father, I thanke thee, because thou hast heard me.

42 I know that thou hearest me alwaies, but because of the people that stand by, I said it, that they may beleeue, that thou hast sent me.

43 As he had spoken these things, hee cryed with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth.

44 Then he that was dead came forth bound hand and foot with bands, & his face was bound with a napkin. Iesus said vnto them, Loose him, and let him goe.

Mary, and had seene the things, which Iesus did, beleeued in him.

46 ¶ But some of them went their way to the Pharisees, and told them what things, Iesus had done.

47 Then gathered the hie Priests and the Pharisees a council, and said, What shall wee doe? For this man doth many miracles.

48 I fwe let him thus alone, all men will beleeue in him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place and the nation.

49 ¶ Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yere, said vnto them, Ye perceive nothing at all,

50 ¶ Nor yet doe you consider that it is expedient for vs, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.

51 ¶ This spake he not of himselfe: but being hie Priest that same yere, he prophesied that Iesus should die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation onely, but that he should gather together in one the children of God, which were scattered.

53 Then from that day forth they consulted together, to put him to death.

54 ¶ Iesus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but went thence vnto a countrey neere to the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.

55 ¶ And the Iewes Pascheour was at hand, and many went out of the countrey vp to Hierusalem before the Pascheour, to purifie themselves.

56 Then fought they for Iesus, & spake among themselves, as they stood in the Temple, What thinke ye, that he cometh not to the feast?

57 Now both the hie Priests and the Pharisees had given a commandem nt, that if any man knew where he were, he should shew it, that they might take him.

¶ Chap. xii. 1. 8 Christ doth sometime to turre the tongue, even of the wicked, that euen in cursing, they blesse. ¶ For they were not gathered together in one countrey, at the lewes mere, but so be gathered from all quarters, from the East to West. ¶ Wee may giue place to the rage of the wicked, woe it is expedient to doe, but yet in such sort, that wee waite not from Gods vocation.

CHAP. XII.

1 At Christ is at supper with Lazarus. 3 Mary anointeth his feet. 5 Iudas Iscariot saileth with him. 7 Christ defendeth her, to the Priests would put Lazarus to death. 12 At Christ cometh to Hierusalem. 18 The people meet him. 20 The Greekes desire to see him. 42 The chiefe rulers beleue in him, but for feare doe not confesse him. 44 hee exhorteth to faith.

¶ Then ¶ Iesus, sixe daies before the Pascheour, came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raised from the dead.

2 There they made him a supper, and Martha serued: but Lazarus was one of them that sat at the table with him.

3 Then tooke Marica pound of ointment of Spikenard very costly, and annointed Iesus feet, and wiped his feet with her haire, and the house was filled with the sauour of the ointment.

4 Then said one of his Disciples, euen Iudas Iscariot Simons sone, who should betray him.

5 ¶ Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and giuen to the poore?

6 Now hee said this, not that hee cared for the poore, but because he was a thiefe, and had the bagge, and a bare that which was giuen.

7 ¶ Then said Iesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burning she kept it.

8 For the poore ye haue alwaies with you, but me ye shall not haue alwaies.

9 ¶ Then much people of the Iewes knew that he was there: and they came, not for Iesus sake onely but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 The high Priests therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also, 11 Because that for his sake many of the Iewes went away, and beleued in Iesus.

12 ¶ On the morrow a great multitude that were come to the feast, when they heard that Iesus should come to Ierusalem.

13 Tooke branches of palme trees, and went forth to meet him, and cryed, Hosanna, Blessed is the king of Israel that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Iesus found a yong asse, and fate thereon, as it is written, 15 ¶ Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King cometh sitting on an asses colt.

16 But his disciples vnderstood not these things at the first: but when Iesus was glorified, then remembered they that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things vnto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witness that he called Lazarus out of the graue, and raised him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people also because they heard that he had done this miracle.

19 ¶ And the Pharisees said among themselves, Perceiue ye how ye preuaile nothing? Behold the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certaine Greekes among them that came vp to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, wee would see that Iesus.

22 Philip came and told Andrew: and againe Andrew and Philip told Iesus.

23 And Iesus answered them, saying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man must be glorified.

24 ¶ Verily, verily I say vnto you, Except the wheat come fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

25 ¶ Hee that loueth his life shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world shall keepe it vnto life eternall.

26 ¶ If any man serue mee, let him follow me: for where I am, there shall also my seruant be: and if any man serue me, him will my Father honour.

27 ¶ Now is my soule troubled: and what shall I say? Father, faine mee from this houre: but therefore came I vnto this houre.

28 Father, glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voice from heauen, saying, I haue both glorified it, and will glorifie it againe.

29 Then said the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: other said, An Angel spake to him.

30 ¶ Iesus answered and said, This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes.

31 Now is the iudgement of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

¶ Iudas Iscariot: yet notwithstanding hee preferred the will and glory of his Father before all things, whose obedience the Father alloweth euen from heauen. ¶ So wit of death, that is now at hand. ¶ So then the Fathers glory is shown in glory. ¶ Christ Ierusalem to the deafe, the manner of his death, the overcoming of the diuell and the world, and in conclusion his triumph.

3 When the light of the Gospel sheweth itselfe, some are found to be curious, and others (which least ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honour him, whom they will straightway fall from and very few doe so recently receive him as they ought: ¶ Nevertheless, Christ begeth his spiritual kingdom in the midst of his enemies.

32 * And I, if I were * lift vp from the earth, will draw¹ all men vnto mee, 33 Now this sayd he, signifying what death he should die.

34 The people answered him, Wee haue heard out of the Law, that that Christ bideth for euer: and how sayest thou, that that Sonne of man must be lift vp? Who is that Sonne of man?

35 * Then Iesus said vnto them, Yet a little while * the light with you: walke while yee haue that light, lest the darknesse come vpon you: for hee that walkeith in the darke, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 While yee haue that light, beleue in that light, that ye may be the * children of the light. These things spake Iesus, and departed, and hid himselfe from them.

37 ¶ And thow hee had done so many miracles before them, yet beleueed they not on him.

38 That the saying of Esaias the Prophet might be fulfilled, that he said, * Lord, who beleueed our report? and to whom is the * arme of the Lord reuealed?

39 Therefore could they not beleue, because that Esaias faith againe, 40 * He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart, that they should not see with their eyes, nor vnderstand with their heart, and should be conuerted, and I should heale them.

41 These things said Esaias when hee saw his glory, and spake of him.

42 * Neuertheless, euen among the chiefe rulers, many beleueed in him: but because of the Pharisees they did not confesse him, lest they should be cast out of the Synagogue.

34 * For they loued the praise of men, more then the praise of God.

44 * And Iesus cried, and said, He that beleueueth in me, beleueueth * not in me, but in him that sent me.

45 And he that seeth mee, seeth him that sent mee.

46 I * am come a light into the world, that whoso beleueueth in mee, should not abide in darkenesse.

47 * And if any man heare my wordes, and beleueueth not, I iudge him not: for I came not to iudge the world, but to saue the world.

48 He that refuseth me, and receiueueth not my wordes, hath one that iudgeth him: * the word that I haue spoken, it shall iudge him in the last day.

49 For I haue not spoken of my selfe: but the Father which sent mee, hee gaue mee a commandement what I should say, and what I should speake.

50 And I knowe that this commandement is life euerlasting: the things therefore that I speake, I speake them so as the Father said vnto mee.

1 This word Not, doth not take any meite of this from Christ which is here spoken of, but is in way of correction rather, as if he said, Hee that receiueueth in me, doth not so much beleue in me, as in him that sent me. So is it in Marke 9. 37.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Christ rising from the toppe, is to conuince humillity to his Apostles, waietheth their feet. 21 Hee noted the traitor Iudas as he waietheth their feet. 34 Hee commendeth charity. 37. 39. Hee telleth Peter of his denial.

Now * before the feast of the Pascheour, when Iesus knew that his howre was come, that hee should depart out of this world vnto the Father, forasmuch as hee loued his * owne which were in the world, vnto the end hee loued them.

2 And when Iudas was done, (and that the deuill had now put in the heart of Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne to betray him)

3 Iesus knowing that the Father had giuen all things into his * hands, and that hee was come forth from God, and went to God,

4 Hee rised from Supper, and laith aside his upper garments, and tooke a towell, and girded himselfe.

5 After that, hee powred water into a bason, and beganne to wash the Disciples feet, and to wipe them with the towell, wherewith hee was girded.

6 Then came he to Simon Peter, who said to him, Lord, dost thou wash my feet?

7 Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, What I doe thou knowest not now: but thou shalt know it heereafter.

8 Peter said vnto him, Thou shalt neuer wash my feet. Iesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou shalt haue * no part with me.

9 Simon Peter said vnto him, I ord, not my feet only, but also the hands and the head.

10 Iesus said to him, Hee that is washed, needeth not saue to wash his feet, but is cleane every whit: and ye are * cleane, but not all.

11 For hee knew who should betray him: therefore said he, Ye are not all cleane.

12 ¶ So after hee had washed their feete, and had taken his garments, & was set downe againe, he said vnto them, Know ye what I haue done to you?

13 Ye call mee Master, and Lord, and yee say well: for so am I.

14 If I then your Lord and Master, haue washed your feete, yee also ought to wash one anothers feet.

15 For I haue giuen you an example, that yee should doe, euen as I haue done to you.

16 Verely, verely I say vnto you, * The seruant is not greater then his Master, neither the ¶ ambassador greater then he that sent him.

17 If yee know these things, blessed are yee if ye doe them.

18 ¶ I speake not of you all: I know whom I haue chosen: but it is that the Scripture might be fulfilled, * He that eateth bread with me, hath lift vp his heele against mee.

19 From henceforth tell I you before it come, that when it is come to passe, yee might beleue that I am he.

20 * Verely, verely I say vnto you, If I send any, hee that receiueueth him, receiueueth mee, and hee that receiueueth me, receiueueth him that sent me.

21 When Iesus had said these things, hee was troubled in the Spirit and * testified, and said, Verily, verily I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray mee.

22 * Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.

23 Now there was one of his Disciples, which I leamed on Iesus bofome, whom Iesus loued,

3 The spirit of God worketh so mightily by the preaching of the word, that he constraineth the world, will it, or will it not, to confesse it. owne enrichtment, and Christes righteousnes and almightines. a He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

8 And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sinne, and of righteounesse, and of iudgement. b He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

9 Of sinne, because they beleueed not in me: c He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

10 Of righteounesse, because I goe to my Father, and ye shall see me no more. d He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

11 Of iudgement, because the price of this world is iudged. e He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

12 I haue yet many things to say vnto you, but ye cannot beare them now. f He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the spirit of truth, he will lead you into all truth: for he shall not speake of himselfe, but whatsoever he shall heare shall he speake, and he will shew you the things to come. g He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

14 Hee shall glorifie me: for hee shall receiue of mine, and shall shew it vnto you. h He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore said I, that hee shall take of mine, and shew it vnto you. i He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

16 A little while, and yee shall not see mee: and againe a little while, and ye shall see mee: for I goe to the Father. j He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

17 Then said some of his disciples among themselves, What is this that he saith vnto vs, A little while, and ye shall not see mee, and againe, a little while, and ye shall see mee, and, For, I goe to the Father. k He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

18 They said therefore, What is this that hee saith, A little while? we know not what he saith. l He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

19 Now Iesus knew that they would aske him, and said vnto them, Doe ye enquire among your selues, of that I said, A little while, and yee shall not see mee: and againe, a little while, and yee shall see mee? m He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

20 Verely, verely I say vnto you, that yee shall weepe and lament, and the world shall reioyce, and ye shall sorrow, but your sorrow shall be turned to ioy. n He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

21 A woman when she traualleth hath sorrow because her hour is come: but as soone as she is deliuered of the child, she remembereth no more the anguish, for ioy that a man is borne into the world. o He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

22 And ye now therefore are in sorrow: but I will see you againe, and your hearts shall reioyce, and your ioy shall no man take from you. p He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

23 And in that day shall ye aske mee nothing, Verely, verely I say vnto you, whatsoever ye shall aske the Father in my Name, he will giue it you. q He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

24 Hitherto haue ye asked nothing in my Name: aske, and yee shall receiue, that your ioy may be full. r He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

25 These things haue I spoken vnto you in parables: but the time will come, when I shall no more speake to you in parables: but I shall shew you plainly of the Father. s He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

26 At that day shall ye aske in my Name, t He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

and I say not vnto you, that I will pray vnto the Father for you: u He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

27 For the Father himselfe loueth you, because ye haue loued me, and haue beleueed that I came out from God. v He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

28 I am come out from the Father, and came into the world: againe I leaue the world, and goe to the Father. w He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

29 His disciples said vnto him, Lo, now speakest thou plainly, and thou speakest no parable. x He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

30 Now know wee that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should aske thee. By this wee beleuee that thou art come out from God. y He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

31 Iesus answered them, Do you beleue now? z He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

32 Behold, the houre cometh, and is already come, that ye shall be scattered euery man into his owne, and shall leaue me alone: But I am not alone: for the Father is with me. aa He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

33 These things haue I spoken vnto you that in me ye might haue peace: in the world ye shall haue affliction, but bee of good comfort: I haue overcome the world. ab He will reprove the world, that the worldings shall be able to pretend no excuse.

CHAP. XVII.

a Christ saith that his glory together with his Father may be made manifest, b He saith for his Apostles, 20 and for all believers.

These things spake Iesus, and lift vp his eyes to heauen, and said, 2 Father, that houre is come: glorifiethy Sonne, that thy Sonne also may glorifie thee.

2 As thou hast giuen him power ouer all flesh, that he should giue eternal life to all them that thou hast giuen him.

3 And this is life eternal, that they know thee to be the only very God, and whom thou hast sent, Iesus Christ.

4 I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finished the worke which thou gauest me to doe. And now glorifie mee, thou Father, with thine owne selfe, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.

5 I haue declared thy Name vnto the men which thou gauest mee out of the world: & chine they were, and thou d gauest them mee, and they haue kept thy word.

6 Now they know that all things whatsoever thou hast giuen me, are of thee.

7 For I haue giuen vnto them the wordes which thou gauest mee, and they haue receiued them: & haue knowne surely that I came out from thee, and haue beleueed that thou hast sent me.

8 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast giuen me: for they are chine.

 Mark. 12.18. a Once all men, b He calleth the Father, the only very God, to let him amongst all false gods, and not to trust on himselfe, for the body Christ, for straightways hee is to be glorified, and the knowledge of himselfe together, and according to his accustomed manner, lettest forth the whole Court in the person of the Father: So is the Father alone said to be King, immortal, and dwelling in light, which no man can attain vnto, himselfe, Rom. 16.19, 1 Tim. 3.16. c First of all be prayeth for those his disciples, by whom hee would haue the world to be gathered together, and commendeth them vnto the Father, hauing once called the whole company of the reprobautes, because hee receiued them of him into his custodie, and for that they imbracing his doctrine, shall haue for many and so mightie enemies, that there is no way for them to be in fauour, but by his help only. e He sheweth hereby that euerting election and choice, which was hidde in the good will and aduantage of God, which is the ground-work of our saluation. f He sheweth how that euerting and hidden purpose of God is declared in Christ, by whom mee art iustified and sanctified, if we lay hold of him by faith, that as Angels were way come to the glory of the election. * Chap. 16.27.*

1 Iesus Christ the euerting high Priest being truly straightways to offer vp himselfe doth by tolemaic prayers consecrate himselfe to the Father as a sacrificer, and together with himselfe. Therefore this prayer was from the beginning, and shall be to the end of the world, the foundation and ground of the Church of God. a He first declareth, that as he came into the world to the end that hee might shew in him being apprehended by faith, his glory in saving his people: hee is to be glorified himselfe to that only: and therefore deserveth of the Father, that he would bleesse the worke which he had finished.

 7 That is, meane them only; and that is sayd to be holy, which is dedicated and made proper to God.*
5 Hee addeth moreover, that the Apostles haue a vocation common with him, & therefore that they must be holden vp by the selfe same vertue to giue vp themselves wholly to God, whereby he being first, did consecrate himselfe to the Father.
 7 The true and substantiall sanctification of Christ, is set against the outward purifying.*
6 Secondly hee offereth to God the Father all his, that is how manyfoeuer shall be one in him by the doctrine of the Apostles: that as hee cleaueth vnto the Father receiuing from him all holiness, so they being ioyned with him, may receiue life from him, and at length being together becloud in him may also with him enioy everlasting glory.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee, Holy Father, keepe them in thy Name, even them whom thou hast giuen me, that they may be one, as we are.

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gauest mee, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but the childe of perdition, that the * Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and these things speake I in the world, that they might haue my joy fulfilled in themselves.

14 I haue giuen them my word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keepest them from euill.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 Sanctifie them with thy truth, thy word is truth.

18 As thou diddest send me into the world, so haue I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may be sanctified through thee: thy truth.

20 I pray not for these alone, but for the al'o which shall beleeue in me, through thy word.

21 That they all may be one, as thou O Father, art in me, and I in thee: men that they may be also one in vs, that the world may beleeue that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory that thou gauest me, I haue giuen them, that they may be one, as we are one.

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, & hast loued them as thou hast loued me.

24 * Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen me, be with me euen where I am, that they may behold that my glory, which thou hast giuen me: for thou louedst me before the foundation of the world.

25 O Righteous Father, the world also hath not known thee, but I haue known thee, and these haue known thee, that thou hast sent me.

26 And I haue declared vnto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the loue wherewith thou hast loued me, may be in them, and I in them.

C H A P. XVIII.

1 By Christ's power, whom Iudas betrayeth, 6 the souldiers are cast downe to the ground. 23 Christ is set to shame, and from him to Caiaphas. 23 His answer to the officers that smote him with a rod. 28 Being delivered to Pilate, 36 hee declareth his Kingdom.

When Iesus had spoken these things, hee went forth with his disciples ouer the brooke * Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entered, and his disciples.

2 And Iudas which betrayed him, knew also the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his Disciples.

3 * Iudas then, after he had receiued a band of men and officers of the high Priests, and of the Pharisees, came thither with lanterns & torches, and weapons.

4 Then Iesus, knowing all things that should come vnto him, went forth and said vnto them, Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus said vnto them, I am he. Now Iudas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 As soone then as he had said vnto them, I am hee, they went away backwards, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them againe, Whom seeke ye? And they said, Iesus of Nazareth.

8 Iesus answered, I said vnto you, that I am hee: therefore if yee seeke me, let these goe their way.

9 This was that the word might bee fulfilled which hee spake, * O them which thou gauest me, haue I lost none.

10 So then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drew it, and smote the hie Priests seruant, and cut off his right eare. Now the seruants name was Malchus.

11 Then sayde Ie vs vnto Peter, Put vp thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cup which my Father hath giuen me?

12 Then the band and the captaine, and the officers of the Iewes tooke Iesus and bound him.

13 And led him away to * Annas first (for he was father in law to Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere.)

14 * And Caiaphas was he, that gaue counsell to the Iewes, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

15 ¶ Now Simon Peter followed Iesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was known of the hie Priest: therefore he went in with Iesus into the hall of the hie Priest:

16 But Peter stood at the doore without: Then went out the other disciple, which was known vnto the hie Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

17 Then said the maid that kept the doore, vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not.

18 And the seruants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coales: for it was colde, and they warmed themselves. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himselfe.

19 ¶ The hie Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

20 Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the world, I euer taught in the Synagogue, and in the Temple, whither the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I said nothing.

21 Why askest thou me? aske them which heard me what I said vnto them: behold, they know what I said.

22 When hee had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Iesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the hie Priest so?

23 Iesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare witness of the euill: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me?

24 ¶ Now Annas had sent him bound vnto Caiaphas the hie Priest.)

25 ¶ And Simon Peter stood and warmed himselfe, and they sayd vnto him, Art not thou also of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not.

9 After that men haue once fallen, they cannot onely not lift vp themselves by their owne strength, but also they fall more and more into euill, vntill they be raised vp by grace by a new vertue of God.

26 One of the seruants of the high Priest, his cousin whose eare Peter smote off, sayd, Did not I see thee in the garden with him?

27 Peter then denied againe, and immediately the cocke crew.

28 ¶ * 10 Then led they Iesus from a Caiaphas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselves went not into the common hall, lest they should be * defiled, but that they might eate the Pasche.

29 Pilate then went out vnto them, and sayd, What accusation bring you against this man?

30 They answered & said vnto him, If he were not an euill doer, wee would not haue deliuered him vnto thee.

31 Then sayd Pilate vnto them, Take ye him, and iudge him after your owne Law. Then the Iewes layd vnto him, It is not lawfull for vs to put any man to death.

32 It was that the word of Iesus * might bee fulfilled which he spake, * signifying, what death he should die.

33 * So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Iesus, and sayd vnto him, Art thou the King of the Iewes?

34 Iesus answered him, Sayest thou that of thy selfe, or did other tell it thee of me?

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Iew? Thine owne nation, an the hie Priests haue deliuered thee vnto me, What hast thou done?

36 ¶ Iesus answered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, my seruants would fiersly fight, that I should not bee deliuered to the Iewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate then said vnto him, Thou art a King then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause am I borne, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witness vnto the trueth: euery one that is of the trueth, heareth my voyce.

38 ¶ Pilate said vnto him, What is trueth? And when he had sayd that, he went out againe vnto the Iewes, and sayd vnto them, I find in him no cause at all.

39 * But you haue a custome that I should deliuer you one loose at the Pasche: will ye then that I loose vnto you the King of the Iewes?

40 * Then c cryed they all againe, saying, Not him but Barabbas: now this Barabbas was a murderher.

CHAP. XIX.

¶ Pilate, when Christ was scourged, 2 and crowned with thorne, 3 was desirous to let him loose. 8 but being overcome with the courage of the Iewes, 16 hee deliuereth him to be crucified. 20 Iesus committeth his Mother to the Disciple. 30 Heing tasted vineger, he dieth: 34 and being laid, his side pierced with a spear. 40 He is buried.

¶ Then Pilate tooke Iesus, and 1 scourged him.

2 And the souldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment.

3 And said, Haile King of the Iewes. And they smote him with their rods.

4 ¶ Then Pilate went fourth againe, and said vnto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know, that I find no fault in him at all,

5 ¶ Then came Iesus fourth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate said vnto them, Behold the man.

6 ¶ Then when the hie Priests and officers saw him, they cried, saying, * Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate layd vnto them, Take ye him, and crucifie him: for I finde no fault in him.

7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a Law and by our law he ought to die, because he made himselfe the Sonne of God.

8 ¶ When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid.

9 And went againe into the common hall, and said vnto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answer.

10 Then said Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto me? knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loose thee?

11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against me, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore hee that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thenceforth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Iewes cryed, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cæsars friend: for whoseouer maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cæsar.

13 ¶ When Pilate heard this worde, hee brought Iesus forth, and sate downe in the iudgement seate in a place called the pavement, and in Hebrew, Gabbatha.

14 And it was the Preparation of the Pasche, and about the sixth houre: and hee sayd vnto the Iewes, Behold your King.

15 But they cryed, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him, Pilate layd vnto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The hie Priest answered, We haue no King but Cæsar.

16 ¶ Then deliuered he him vnto them, to be crucified. * And they tooke Iesus, and led him away.

17 And he bare his owne crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens skulles, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Iesus in the mids.

19 ¶ And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, and it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was neere to the cite: and it was written in Hebrew, Greeke, and Latine.

21 Then said the hie Priests of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not the King of the Iewes, but that he said, I am King of the Iewes.

22 Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written.

23 ¶ Then the * souldiers, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to euery souldier a part) and his coat: and the coat was without seame wouen from the top thorowout.

24 ¶ Therefore they sayd one to another, Let vs not diuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which saith, * They parted my garments among them, and on my coat did cast lots. So the Souldiers did these things in deede.

25 ¶ Then stood by the crosse of Iesus, his mother, a They will haue him crucified, whom hee had chosen of them, they should haue sate downe and haanged by account of blasphemy: but they desire to haue him crucified after the manner of the Romanes.

3 Pilates confidence fighteth for Christ, but straight way it yieldeth, because it is not upholden with the singular vertue of God.

*Matth.28.18.

4 The publishing of the Gospels of the finnes of faith in Christ, and the setting forth and denouncing the wrath of God in retaining the sins of the unbelievers, is the summe of the preaching of the Gospel.
7 Christ draweth out of the beliefe of Thomas, a certaine and true testimonie of his resurrection.

8 True faith dependeth vpon the mouth of God, and not vpon fleshly eyes.
9 To beleue in Christ the Sonne of God, and our onely Sanioue, is the end of the doctrine of the Gospel, and especially of the historie of the resurrection.

11 In that, that Christ here is not onely present, but also exeth with his disciples, he giueth a most full assurance of his resurrection.

12 It was thus that Peter, who was with Iohn, and the other disciples, came to the sea.

21 * Then said Iesus to them againe, Peace be vnto you: as my Father sent me, so send I you.

22 And when he had said that, he breathed on them, and said vnto them, Receiue the holy Ghost.

23 ¶ Who soeuer sinnes yee remit, they are remitted vnto them: And who soeuer sinnes yee retaine, they are retained.

24 ¶ 7 But Thomas one of the twelue, called Didymus, was not with them when Iesus came.

25 The other disciples therefore sayd vnto him, We haue seene the Lord: but hee said vnto them, Except I see in his hands the print of the nayles, and put my finger into the print of the nayles, and put mine hand into his side, I wil not beleue it.

26 ¶ And eight dayes after, againe his Disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Iesus, when the doores were shut, and stood in the mids, and said, Peace be vnto you.

27 After said hee to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and see mine hands, & put forth thine hand, and put it into my side, and be not faithlesse, but faithfull.

28 Then Thomas answered and said vnto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.

29 ¶ Iesus said vnto him, Thomas, because thou hast seene me, thou beleuest, blessed are they that haue not seene, and haue beleened.

30 ¶ 9 And many other signes also did Iesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this booke.

31 But the things are written that yee might beleue, that Iesus is that Christ that Sonne of God, and that in beleueing yee might haue life through his Name.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iesus appeareth to his disciples at they were a fishing, & 7. whom they know by a miracle: he caught of fishes. 12 Hee committeth the charge of the sheepe to Peter, 18 and foretelleth him of the manner of his death.

After these things, Iesus shewed himselfe againe to his Disciples at the sea of Tiberias: and thus shewed he himselfe:

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his Disciples.

3 Simon Peter said vnto them, I goe a fishing. They said vnto him, Wee also will goe with thee. They went their way and entred into a ship straightway, & that night caught they nothing.

4 But when the morning was now come, Iesus stood on the shore: neuertheless the disciples knew not that it was Iesus.

5 Iesus then said vnto them, Sirs, haue ye any meate? They answered him, No.

6 Then he said vnto them, Call out the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find so. They call out, and they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fishes.

7 Therefore said the disciple whom Iesus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his coat to him (for he was naked) and cast himselfe into the sea.

8 But the other disciples came by ship, (for they were not farre from land, but about two hundred cubites) and they drew the net with fishes.

9 As soone then as they were come to land, they saw hote coales, and fish layd thereon, and bread.

10 Iesus sayd vnto them, Bring of the fishes, which ye haue now caught.

11 Simon Peter lepped forth and drowe the net to land, full of great fishes, an hundred, fifty and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Iesus sayd vnto them, Come, and dine. And none of the disciples durst aske him, Who art thou, seeing they knewe that hee was the Lord.

13 Iesus then came and toke bread and gaue them, and fish likewise.

14 This is now the third time that Iesus shewed himselfe to his disciples, after that he was risen againe from the dead.

15 ¶ 2 So when they had dined, Iesus sayd to Simon Peter, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me more then these? He sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord thou knowest that I loue thee. He sayd vnto him Feede my lambes.

16 He said to him againe the second time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou mee? Hee said vnto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He sayd vnto him, Feede my sheepe.

17 He sayd vnto him the third time, Simon, the sonne of Iona, louest thou mee? Peter was sorrie because he said to him the third time, Louest thou mee? and he sayd vnto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: so thou knowest that I loue thee. Iesus said vnto him, Feede my sheepe.

18 ¶ 3 Verily, verily I say vnto thee, When thou wast yong, thou girdedst thy selfe, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be olde, thou shalt stretch forth thine hands, and another shall gird thee and leade thee whither thou wouldest &c.

19 And this spake hee signifying by what death he should glorifie God. And when he had sayd this, he said to him, Follow me.

20 4 Then Peter turned about, and saw the disciple whom Iesus loued, following, which had also leane on his brest, at supper, and had sayd, Lord, which is hee that betrayeth thee?

21 When Peter therefore saw him, he sayd to Iesus, Lord, what shall this man doe?

22 Iesus said vnto him, If I will that hee tarry till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou mee.

23 Then went this word abroad among the brethren, that this Disciple should not die. Yet Iesus sayd not to him, Hee shall not die: but If I will that hee tarry till I come, what is it to thee?

24 5 This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and wee know that his testimony is true.

25 ¶ Now there are also many other things which Iesus did, the which if they should be written euery one, I suppose the world could not containe the bookes that should be written. Amen.

2 Peter by his triple confession is exalted into his former degree from whence hee fell by his triple deniall: and there-withall is adorned, that he is indeed a Pastour which sheweth his loue to Christ in feeding his sheepe. ¶ It was meere that he that had denied him should confesse him thre that Peter might master doct of the forgiveness of sinne grievous sinne near of sin referring to the office of the Apostle. ¶ The violent death of Peter is foretold. ¶ They that take farre iourneys, especially in the East country, and in those places where the people are of lawlessness, had need to be guarded and trusted. ¶ It is meane that kind of guarding which is often to be captives, when they are bound with cardes and chains, as who would say, Now thou girdest thy selfe as thou shalt left left to me whether thou wilt but the stone will be when thou shalt mourne thee with a girale, but another shall lead thee with chains, and carry thee whither thou wouldest not. ¶ Not that I ever suggested ought for the stretch of Gods rage: his will for weede that hee came with joy and gladness, which he returned from the Council where he was whippd, because his will cometh not from above, therefore keepe these things in remembrance, which also in us, in all our sufferances, as touching the flesh. ¶ Therefore, that Peter should die by a violent death, & we would that hee, that whiles we call our eyes vpon other we neglect not that which is signified vs. ¶ Chap. xija. 5. C H A P. II.

The Apollis: 4 spoke with divers tongues: 13 They are thought to be divine, 15 but Peter saith otherwise. 34 He saith that Christ is the Mediator: 37 And eating the breawes a tonica, 38 hee exhorts them to repentance.

And when the day of Pentecost was come, they were all with one accord in one place.

And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a rushing and mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were.

And there appeared vnto them cloven tongues like fire, and it sat vpon each of them,

And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues as if of Spirit gaue them vnderstanding.

And there were dwelling at Hierusalem Iewes, men that feared God, of every nation vnder heaven.

Now when this was noised, the multitude came together, and were aſtonied, because that euery man heard them speake his owne language.

And they wondered all, and marueled, saying among themselves, Behold, are not all these which speake of Galilee?

How then heare we euery man our owne language, wherein we were borne?

Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Iudea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia, and of Phrygia and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Lybia, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, and Iewes, and Proselytes, Creetes, & Arabians: we heard them speake in our owne tongues the wonderful works of God.

They were all then amazed, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this be?

And other mocked, and said, They are full of new wine.

But Peter standing with the eleuen, lift vp his voice, and said vnto them, Ye men of Iudea, and ye all that inhabit Hierusalem, be this known vnto you, and hearken vnto my words.

For these are not drunken, as ye suppose, since it is but the third houre of the day:

But this is that, which was spoken by the Prophet Joel,

And it shall be in the last dayes, faith God, I will poure out of my Spirit vpon all flesh, and your sonnes, and your daughters shall prophesie, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dreame dreames.

And on mine handmaides I will poure out of my Spirit in those dayes, and they shall prophesie.

And I will shew wonders in heaven aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapour of smoke.

The Sunne shall be turned into darknesse, and the moone into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.

And it shall be, that whosoever shall call on the Name of the Lord, shall be saved.

Ye men of Israel, heare these wordes, Iesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you with great workes, & wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the mids of you, as ye your selues also know:

Him, I say, being deliuered by the determinate counsell and foreknowledge of God, after you had taken, with wicked hands, you haue crucified and slaine.

Whom God hath raised vp, and loosed the sorowes of death, because it was vnpossible that he should be holden of it.

For David sayth concerning him, * I beheld the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.

Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreouer also my flesh shall rest in hope,

Because thou wilt not leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.

Thou hast shewed mee the wayes of life, and shalt make mee full of ioy with thine countenance.

Men and brethren, I may boldly speake vnto you of the Patriarche David, * that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth vnto this day.

Therefore, seeing hee was a Prophet, and knew that God had sworn with an othe to him, that of the fruit of his loines he would raise vp Christ concerning the flesh, to set him vpon his throne,

He knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that * his soule should not be left in graue, neither his flesh should see corruption.

This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we all are witnesses.

Since then that hee by the right hand of God hath been exalted, and hath receiued of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, hee hath shed forth this which ye now see and heare.

For David is not ascended into heaven, but he faith, * The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, Vntill I make thine enemies thy foote-stool.

Therefore, let all the house of Israel knowe for a surety, that God hath made him both Lord and Christ, this Iesus, whom ye haue crucified.

Thou hast opened mee a way to the true life. * I King 2. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100. 101. 102. 103. 104. 105. 106. 107. 108. 109. 110. 111. 112. 113. 114. 115. 116. 117. 118. 119. 120. 121. 122. 123. 124. 125. 126. 127. 128. 129. 130. 131. 132. 133. 134. 135. 136. 137. 138. 139. 140. 141. 142. 143. 144. 145. 146. 147. 148. 149. 150. 151. 152. 153. 154. 155. 156. 157. 158. 159. 160. 161. 162. 163. 164. 165. 166. 167. 168. 169. 170. 171. 172. 173. 174. 175. 176. 177. 178. 179. 180. 181. 182. 183. 184. 185. 186. 187. 188. 189. 190. 191. 192. 193. 194. 195. 196. 197. 198. 199. 200. 201. 202. 203. 204. 205. 206. 207. 208. 209. 210. 211. 212. 213. 214. 215. 216. 217. 218. 219. 220. 221. 222. 223. 224. 225. 226. 227. 228. 229. 230. 231. 232. 233. 234. 235. 236. 237. 238. 239. 240. 241. 242. 243. 244. 245. 246. 247. 248. 249. 250. 251. 252. 253. 254. 255. 256. 257. 258. 259. 260. 261. 262. 263. 264. 265. 266. 267. 268. 269. 270. 271. 272. 273. 274. 275. 276. 277. 278. 279. 280. 281. 282. 283. 284. 285. 286. 287. 288. 289. 290. 291. 292. 293. 294. 295. 296. 297. 298. 299. 300. 301. 302. 303. 304. 305. 306. 307. 308. 309. 310. 311. 312. 313. 314. 315. 316. 317. 318. 319. 320. 321. 322. 323. 324. 325. 326. 327. 328. 329. 330. 331. 332. 333. 334. 335. 336. 337. 338. 339. 340. 341. 342. 343. 344. 345. 346. 347. 348. 349. 350. 351. 352. 353. 354. 355. 356. 357. 358. 359. 360. 361. 362. 363. 364. 365. 366. 367. 368. 369. 370. 371. 372. 373. 374. 375. 376. 377. 378. 379. 380. 381. 382. 383. 384. 385. 386. 387. 388. 389. 390. 391. 392. 393. 394. 395. 396. 397. 398. 399. 400. 401. 402. 403. 404. 405. 406. 407. 408. 409. 410. 411. 412. 413. 414. 415. 416. 417. 418. 419. 420. 421. 422. 423. 424. 425. 426. 427. 428. 429. 430. 431. 432. 433. 434. 435. 436. 437. 438. 439. 440. 441. 442. 443. 444. 445. 446. 447. 448. 449. 450. 451. 452. 453. 454. 455. 456. 457. 458. 459. 460. 461. 462. 463. 464. 465. 466. 467. 468. 469. 470. 471. 472. 473. 474. 475. 476. 477. 478. 479. 480. 481. 482. 483. 484. 485. 486. 487. 488. 489. 490. 491. 492. 493. 494. 495. 496. 497. 498. 499. 500. 501. 502. 503. 504. 505. 506. 507. 508. 509. 510. 511. 512. 513. 514. 515. 516. 517. 518. 519. 520. 521. 522. 523. 524. 525. 526. 527. 528. 529. 530. 531. 532. 533. 534. 535. 536. 537. 538. 539. 540. 541. 542. 543. 544. 545. 546. 547. 548. 549. 550. 551. 552. 553. 554. 555. 556. 557. 558. 559. 560. 561. 562. 563. 564. 565. 566. 567. 568. 569. 570. 571. 572. 573. 574. 575. 576. 577. 578. 579. 580. 581. 582. 583. 584. 585. 586. 587. 588. 589. 590. 591. 592. 593. 594. 595. 596. 597. 598. 599. 600. 601. 602. 603. 604. 605. 606. 607. 608. 609. 610. 611. 612. 613. 614. 615. 616. 617. 618. 619. 620. 621. 622. 623. 624. 625. 626. 627. 628. 629. 630. 631. 632. 633. 634. 635. 636. 637. 638. 639. 640. 641. 642. 643. 644. 645. 646. 647. 648. 649. 650. 651. 652. 653. 654. 655. 656. 657. 658. 659. 660. 661. 662. 663. 664. 665. 666. 667. 668. 669. 670. 671. 672. 673. 674. 675. 676. 677. 678. 679. 680. 681. 682. 683. 684. 685. 686. 687. 688. 689. 690. 691. 692. 693. 694. 695. 696. 697. 698. 699. 700. 701. 702. 703. 704. 705. 706. 707. 708. 709. 710. 711. 712. 713. 714. 715. 716. 717. 718. 719. 720. 721. 722. 723. 724. 725. 726. 727. 728. 729. 730. 731. 732. 733. 734. 735. 736. 737. 738. 739. 740. 741. 742. 743. 744. 745. 746. 747. 748. 749. 750. 751. 752. 753. 754. 755. 756. 757. 758. 759. 760. 761. 762. 763. 764. 765. 766. 767. 768. 769. 770. 771. 772. 773. 774. 775. 776. 777. 778. 779. 780. 781. 782. 783. 784. 785. 786. 787. 788. 789. 790. 791. 792. 793. 794. 795. 796. 797. 798. 799. 800. 801. 802. 803. 804. 805. 806. 807. 808. 809. 810. 811. 812. 813. 814. 815. 816. 817. 818. 819. 820. 821. 822. 823. 824. 825. 826. 827. 828. 829. 830. 831. 832. 833. 834. 835. 836. 837. 838. 839. 840. 841. 842. 843. 844. 845. 846. 847. 848. 849. 850. 851. 852. 853. 854. 855. 856. 857. 858. 859. 860. 861. 862. 863. 864. 865. 866. 867. 868. 869. 870. 871. 872. 873. 874. 875. 876. 877. 878. 879. 880. 881. 882. 883. 884. 885. 886. 887. 888. 889. 890. 891. 892. 893. 894. 895. 896. 897. 898. 899. 900. 901. 902. 903. 904. 905. 906. 907. 908. 909. 910. 911. 912. 913. 914. 915. 916. 917. 918. 919. 920. 921. 922. 923. 924. 925. 926. 927. 928. 929. 930. 931. 932. 933. 934. 935. 936. 937. 938. 939. 940. 941. 942. 943. 944. 945. 946. 947. 948. 949. 950. 951. 952. 953. 954. 955. 956. 957. 958. 959. 960. 961. 962. 963. 964. 965. 966. 967. 968. 969. 970. 971. 972. 973. 974. 975. 976. 977. 978. 979. 980. 981. 982. 983. 984. 985. 986. 987. 988. 989. 990. 991. 992. 993. 994. 995. 996. 997. 998. 999. 1000.

and the Sadducees came vpon them,

2 Taking it grievouſly that they taught the people and preached in Ieſus Name the reſurre-ction from the dead.

3 And they laid hands on them, & put them in hold vntill the next day: for it was now euentide.

4 Howbeit many of them which heard the word, beleued, and the number of the men was about five thouland.

5 ¶ And it came to paſſe on the morrow, that their rulers, and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Hieruſalem.

6 And Annas the chiefe Prielt, and Caiaphas, and Iohn and Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the hie Prielt.

7 ¶ And when they had ſet them before them, they aſked, By what power, or in what Name haue ye done this?

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghoſt, ſaid vnto them, Ye rulers of the people, & Elders of Iſrael,

9 For as much as we this day are examined of the good deepe done to the impotent man, ſo wit, by what means he is made whole,

10 ¶ Be it knowne vnto you all, and to all the people of Iſrael, that by the Name of Ieſus Chriſt of Nazareth, whom ye haue crucified, whom God rai'd againe from the dead, even by him doth this man ſtand here before you, whole,

11 ¶ This is the ſtone cut aſide of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there ſaluation in any other: for among men there is giuen none other Name vnder heauen, whereby we muſt be ſaued.

13 ¶ Now when they ſaw the boldneſſe of Peter, and Iohn, and vnderſtood that they were vn-learned men and without knowledge, they mar-velled and knew them, that they had bene with Ieſus:

14 And beholding alſo the man which was healed ſtanding with them, they had nothing to ſay againſt it.

15 Then they commaunded them to goe aſide out of the Councill, and conferred among themſelues,

16 ¶ Saying, What ſhall we doe to theſe men?
for ſurely a manifeſt ſigne is done by them, and it is openly knowne to all them that dwell in Hieruſalem: and we cannot deny it.

17 But that it be noised no farther among the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they ſpeake henceforth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commanded them that in no wiſe they ſhould ſpeake or teach in the Name of Ieſus.

19 ¶ But Peter and Iohn answered vnto them, and ſaid, Whether it be right in the ſight of God, to obey you rather then God, iudge ye.

20 For we cannot but ſpeake the things which we haue ſeene and heard,

21 ¶ So they threatened them, and let them go, and ſound nothing how to puniſh them, becauſe of the people: for all men praized God for that which was done.

22 For the man was about forty yeeres old, on whom this miracle of healing was ſhewed.

23 ¶ Then aſſeone as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and ſhewed all that the hie Priests and Elders had ſaid vnto them.

24 ¶ And when they heard it, they liſt vp their voices to God with one accord, and ſaid, O Lord, thou art the God which haſt made the heauen, &
the earth, the ſea, and all things that are therein.

25 Which by the mouth of thy ſeruant Dauid haſt ſaid, ¶ Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?

26 The Kings of the earth aſſembled, and the rulers came together againſt the Lord, and a-gainſt his Chriſt.

27 For doubtleſſe, againſt thine holy Sonne Ieſus, whom thou haſt ſent anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate with the Gentiles & the people of Iſrael gathered themſelues together,

28 To do whatſoeuer thine hand, and thy counſell had determined before to be done.

29 And now, O Lord, behold their threatenings, and grant vnto thy ſeruants with all boldneſſe to ſpeake thy word,

30 So that thou ſtretch forth thine hand that healing, and ſignes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Sonne Ieſus.

31 ¶ And when as they had prayed, the place was ſhaken where they were aſſembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghoſt, and they ſpake the word of God boldly.

32 ¶ And the multitude of them that beleued, were of one heart, and of one ſoule: neither any of them ſaid, that any thing of that which he poſ-ſeſſed, was his owne, but they had all things common.

33 And with great power gaue the Apoſtles witneſſe of the reſurrexion of the Lord Ieſus, and great grace was vpon them all.

34 ¶ Neither was there any among them, that lacke'd: for as many as were poſſeſſors of lands or houſes, ſold them, and brought the price of the things that were ſold,

35 And laid it downe at the Apoſtles feet, and it was diſtributed vnto euery man, according as he had need.

36 Alſo Iofeſ which was called of the Apoſtles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation, the ſon of conſolation) being a Leuit, and of the country of Cyprus,

37 Where as he had land, ſold it, and brought the mony, and laid it downe at the Apoſtles feete.

ſincerely and conſtantly. ¶ They agreed both in counſell, will, and all purpoſes. ¶ Chap.

¶ Pſal. 3. 1.

The Apostles 3 appoint the office of Deaconship 12 Steuen taken min. 18 Of whom Steuen is first named 12 His choice 13 and accused as a transgressor of Moses Law.

And in those dayes, as the number of the disciples grew, there arose a murmuring of the Grecians towards the Hebrews, because their widows were neglected in the daily ministring.

Then the twelve called the multitude of the disciples together, and said, It is not meete that we should leaue the word of God, to serue the tables.

Wherefore brethren, looke you out among you seven men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisdom, which we may appoint to this businesse.

And we will giue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministring of the word.

And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Steuen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas; and Nicolas a Proselyte of Antiochia.

Which they set before the Apostles: and they prayed, and layd their hands on them.

And the word of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great company of the Priests were obedient to the faith.

Now Steuen full of faith & power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

Then there arose certaine of the Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Steuen.

But they were not able to resist the wisdom, and the Spirit by the which he spake.

Then they suborned men, which said, We haue heard him speake blasphemous wordes against Moses, and God.

Thus they moued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Council.

And for forth false witness, which laid, This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous wordes against this holy place, and the Law.

For wee haue heard him say, that this Iesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the ordinances which Moses gaue vs.

And as all that sate in the Council looked stedfastly on him, they saw his face, as it had bene the face of an Angel.

This ceremony of laying on of hands, came from the Iewes, who vnder stood both in publick offering, and in private prayers and blessings as appereth, Chap. 28. and the Church doth obserue this ceremony, 1 Thimoth. 5. 22. After 8. 17. but here is no mention made either of crime, or sinning, or rebuking, or forgiving.

An happy deed of temptation. F. This is the figure of Antiochia, meaning by faith, the doctrine of the Gospel, which engendereth faith. 6. God excelleth his Church first with euill wordes and slanders, then with imprisonment, afterward with scourginges, and by these meanes prepareth it to such fruit, that at length he causeth it to encounter with Satan and the world, euen to blood, head and death, and that with good successe. 8. Excellent and singular gifts. 7. Schooles and Vniuersities were of oldtime ad idled to false pastors, and were the instruments of Satan to blowe abroad and defende false doctrines.

Of the company and Cateche at Hierusalem. 8. False teachers, because they will not bee overcome, flee from disputations to manifest and open Vandering and false accusations. 9. The first bloud persecution of the Church of Christ begun and sprung from a Council of Priests by the suggestion of the Vniuersitie Doctors.

An example of carnall men of false accusers, which gather false conclusions of things that are well vndered and spoken. 1. Herely it appeared that Steuen had an excellent and goodly countenance, having a quiet and settled minde, a good conscience, and sure perswasion that his cause was iust: for seeing he was to speake before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the end that with the very beholding of him, the Iewes might be perswaded and amended.

Steuen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the Fathers, 20 before Moses was borne, 47 and before the Temple was built. 44 And if at all outward ceremonies were ordained according to the heavenly Pattern. 14 The Iewes gushing their selues, 59 Iheroslim.

Then said the chiefe Priest, Are these things so?

And he said, Ye men, brethren, and fathers, hearken. That God of a glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran.

And said vnto him, Come out of thy country, and from thy kinned, and come into the land which I shall shew thee.

Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein ye now dwell.

And he gaue him none inheritance in it, no not the breadth of a foot: yet he promised that hee would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no child.

But God spake thus, that his seed should be a sojourner in a strange land: and that they should keepe it in bondage; and entreat it euill foure hundred yeeres.

But the nation to whom they shalbe in bondage, will I iudge, saith God: and after that, they shall come forth, and serue me in this place.

He gaue him also the covenant of circumcision: and so Abraham begate Isaac, and Isaac circumcised him the eight day: and Isaac begate Jacob, and Jacob the twelve Patriarkes.

And the Patriarkes moued with enuie, sold Joseph into Egypt: but God was with him, and deliuered him out of all his afflictions, and gaue him 2 sauiour and wisdom in the sight of Pharaoh king of Egypt, who made him gouernour ouer Egypt, and ouer his whole house.

Then came there a famine ouer all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance.

But when Jacob heard that there was come in Egypt, he sent our fathers first:

And at the second time Joseph was known of his brethren, and Josephs kinned was made known vnto Pharaoh.

Then sent Joseph and caused his father to bee brought, and all his kinned, euen thre score and fifteene soules.

So Jacob went downe into Egypt, and he died, and our fathers,

And were remoued into Sychem, and were put in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought for money of the sonnes of Emor, sonne of Sychem.

But when the time of the promise drew neere, which God had sworn to Abraham, the people grew and multiplied in Egypt.

Steuen is admitted to plead his cause, but to this end and purpose, that vnder a cloke and colour of law he might bee condemned. 1. Steuen wherewith vnto the Iewes, that hee acknowledged the true Father, and the onely true God: and sheweth moreover, that they are more ancient then the Temple, with all that theretoe appointed by the Law, and theretoe they ought to be by another consideration of time, lineage, that is to say, the free conscience, that God made with the Fathers.

Gen. 12. 4. That mightie God full of glory appeared to him in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran, which was a bordering place, as it is written in Thimoth. 1. 3. 2. Joseph was sold into Egypt, and was there 400 yeeres, as it is written in Gen. 15. 13. 3. Jacob went downe into Egypt, and he died, and our fathers, and were remoued into Sychem, and were put in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought for money of the sonnes of Emor, sonne of Sychem.

17. But when the time of the promise drew neere, which God had sworn to Abraham, the people grew and multiplied in Egypt. 18. Till 18 Till another King arose, which knew not Ioseph.

19 The same I dealt subtilly with our kindred, and euil entreated our Fathers, and made them to cast out their yong children, that they should not remaine aliue.

20 The same time was Mo'es borne, and was acceptable to God, which was nourished vp in his Fathers house three moneths.

21 And when hee was cast out, Pharaohs daughter tooke him vp, and nourished him for her owne sonne.

22 And Mo'es was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

23 Now when hee was full fortie yeere old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren, the children of Israel.

24 * And when he saw one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, & auenged his quarrel that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egyptian.

25 For he supposed his brethren would haue vnderstood, that God by his hand should giue them deliuerance: but they vnderstood it not.

26 * And the next day, he slew himselfe vnto them as they stroue, and would haue set them at one againe, saying, Sirs, ye are brethren: why doe ye wrong one another?

27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a Prince, and a Iudge ouer vs?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didst the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then fled Mo'es at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Madian, where he begate two sonnes.

30 And when forty yeeres were expired, there appeared to him in the wilderness of mount Sina, an Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire in a bush.

31 And when Mo'es saw it, he wondred at the sight: and as hee drew neere to consider it, the voice of the Lord came vnto him, saying, 32 I am the God of thy Fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God Isaac, and the God of Iacob. Then Mo'es trembled, & durst not behold it.

33 Then the Lord said vnto him, Put off thy shoes from thy feet: for the place where thou standest, is holy ground.

34 I haue seene, I haue seene the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, and I haue heard their groining, and am come downe to deliuer them: and now come, and I will find thee into Egypt.

35 This Mo'es whom they forsooke, saying, Who made thee a Prince and a Iudge? the same God sent for a prince, & a deliuerer by the hand of the Angell which appeared to him in the bush.

36 Hee brought them out, doing wonders and miracles in the Land of Egypt, and in the red sea, and in the wilderness: forty yeeres.

37 4 This is that Mo'es, which laid vnto the children of Israel, * A Prophet shall the Lord vnto you God raise vp vnto you, even of your brethren, like vnto me: him shall ye heare.

38 * This is he that was in the Congregation in the wilderness with the Angell, which spake to him in mount Sina, and with our Fathers, who receiued the liuely oracles to giue vnto vs.

39 To whom our fathers would not obey, but refused, and in their hearts turned backe againe into Egypt:

40 Saying vnto Aaron, * Make vs gods that may goe before vs: for we know not what is become of this Mo'es that brought vs out of the land of Egypt.

41 And they made a calf in those daies, and offered sacrifice vnto the Idole, and reioyced in the workes of their owne hands.

42 Then God turned himselfe away, & gaue them vp to seue the y helth of heauen, as it is written in the booke of the Prophetes, * O house of Israel, haue ye offered to mee flaine beaulls and sacrifices by the space of fortie yeeres in the wilderness?

43 And ye tooke vp the Tabernacle of Moloch, and the star of your god Remphan, figures which ye made to worship them: therefore I will cary you away beyond Babylon.

44 * Our fathers had the tabernacle of wilderness in the wilderness, as he had appointed, speaking vnto * Mo'es, that he should make it according to the fashion that he had seene.

45 * Which tabernacle also our fathers receiued, and brought in with Iesus into the possession of the Gentiles, which God draue out before our fathers, vnto the daies of Dauid:

46 * Who found fauour before God, and desired that he might finde a tabernacle for the God of Iacob.

47 * But Salomon built him an house.

48 Howbeit the most High dwelleth not in temples made with hands, as saith the Prophet, 49 * Heauen is my throne, & earth is my footstool: what house wilt ye build for me, saith the Lord? or what place is it that I should reſide in?

50 Hath not my hand made all these things? 51 * Ye stiffnecked and of x vncircumcised hearts and eares, ye haue alwaies resisted the holy Ghost: as your Fathers did to doe you.

52 Which of the Prophetes haue not your fathers persecuted? & they haue slaine them, which shewed before of the coming of that Iust, of whom ye are now the betrayars and murderers, 53 * Which haue receiued the law by the ordinance of Angels, and haue not kept it.

54 * But when they heard these things, their hearts brast for anger and they gnashed at him with their teeth.

55 * But he being full of the holy Ghost, looked stedfastly into heauen, and saw the glorie of God, and Iesus standing at the right hand of God, 56 And said, Behold, I see the heauens open, and the sonne of man standing at the right hand of God.

57 10 Then they gaue a shout with a loude voice, and Ropped their eares, and ranne vpon him violently all at once, 58 And cast him out of the citie, and stoned him: and the witnesses laid down their clothes at a yong mans feet, named Saul.

59 And they stoned Steuen, who called on nature, and saide seſſion them: for otherwise all the lawe was circumciſed as touching the flesh, and therefore there were two kinde of circumciſion. Rom. 2. 28. 8 And the more Satan is expelled, the more he brasteth out into an open rage. 9 The reuerſe is that the Martyrs approach to death, the nearer they beholding Christ, doe rise vp even into heauen, & Ready to conforme him in the conſtitution of the truth, and to receive him to him. 10 The zeale of hypocrites and superſtitious people, breaketh out at length into most open madneſſe. 11 Thus as dauid in a rage and furie for at that time the Iewes could not put him to death by law, they conſeſſed before Pilate, saying, that it was not lawfull for them to put any man to death, and therefore it is reported. 12 Ioh. 8. lib. 20. that Agrippa a Iew, ſtern Iames the brother of the Lord, and for ſo doing, was arrested before Aſennus the Prefect of the country. 6 And was aduocated by the Law, that the witnesses should cast the first stone. C H A P. IX.

8 Saul going toward Damascus, was stricken downe to the ground of the Way: so Ananias went in to him by the way. The laying on of the hands. 25 hee receiued sight againe through the waie. 33 Peter on the Mount of the pal-sic, 36 saw by him Tabitha a leprose, and was referred to life.

ANd ¹ Saul yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went vnto the high Priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that way, (whether men or women) hee might bring them bound vnto Hierusalem.

3 Now as hee journeyed, it came to passe that as hee was comen nere to Damascus, a suddene light shined round about him: a light from heauen.

4 And he fell to the ground, and heard a voice saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou mee?

5 And he said, Who art thou Lord? And the Lord said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest: it is e hard for thee to kicke against prickes.

6 He then both trembling and astonished, said, Lord, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lord said vnto him, Arise, and goe into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou shalt doe.

7 The men also which journeyed with him, stood amazed, hearing his voice, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but saw no man, Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

9 Where hee was three dayes without sight, and neither ate nor dranke.

10 And there was a certaine discipale at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And hee sayd, Behold, I am here, Lord.

11 Then the Lord sayd vnto him, Arise, and goe into the street which is called straight, and keeke in the house of Iudas after one called Saul of Tarsus: for behold, hee praieih.

12 (And hee saw in a vision a man named Ananias coming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receiue his sight)

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I haue heard by many of this man, how much euill hee hath done to thy Saints at Hierusalem.

14 Moreover heere hee hath authority of the high Priests, to binde all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord sayd vnto him, Goe thy way: for he is a chosen vessel vnto me, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Israel.

16 For I will shew him how many things he must suffer for my Names sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entered into that house, and put his hands on him, and said, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent mee (Iesus Iesus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou camst) that thou mightest receiue thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Ghost.

18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had bene scales, and suddenly hee receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized.

19 And receiued meat, and was strengthened,

So was Saul certaine dayes with the Disciples which were at Damascus.

20 And straightway he preached Christ in the Synagogues, at the which was that Sonne of God, 21 So that all that heard him were amazed, and said, Is not this hee, that made hauocke of them which called on this Name in Hierusalem, and came hither for that intent, that he should bring them bound vnto the high Priests?

22 But Saul increased the more in strength, and confounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damascus, continuing that that was Christ.

23 And after that many daies were fulfilled, the Iewes tooke counsell together to kill him.

24 But thei laying await was knowne of Saul: now thei watched the gates day and night that they might kill him.

25 Then the Disciples tooke him by night, and put him through the wal, and let him downe by a rope in a basket.

26 And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, hee assayed to ioyne him selfe with the Disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and belieued not that he was a Disciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them how he had seene the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken vnto him, and how he had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus.

28 And hee was conuerent with them at Hierusalem.

29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Jesus, and spake and disputed against the Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 But when the brethren knew it, they brought him to Cefarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

31 Then had the Churches rest through all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were edified, and walked in the feare of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came also to the Iaints that dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeres, and was sicke of the palsey.

34 Then said Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and trusse thy couch together, And arose immediately.

35 And all that dwelt at Lydda and Saron saw him and turned to the Lord.

36 There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman, a Disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) she was full of good workes and almes which shee did.

37 And it came to passe in those daies, that shee was sicke and died: and when they had washed her, they laid her in an vpper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was nere to Ioppa, and the Disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come vnto them.

39 Peters Apostleship is confirmed by healing the man that was sicke of the palsey. 40 Lydda was a city of Palestine, and Saron a chamber containing, and a place of good passage betweene Ioppa of Palestine and the mount of Iudaea, and the strait of Cestrebe, which extendeth into the great length of a furlong. 41 Peter preached evidently by raising up a dead body through the Name of Christ, at the which hee preached the glad tidings of life.

35 But in every nation hee that * feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him.
36 Ye know the word which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Ie-sus Christ, which is Lord of all :
37 Even the word which came through all Iudea, * beginning in Galilee, after the Baptisme which Iohn preached :
38 To wit, how God anointed Iesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, & with power : who went about doing good, & healing all that were oppressed of the devil : for God was with him.
39 And wee are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Iewes, and in Hieru-salem, whom they slew, hanging him on a tree.
40 Him God raised vp the third day, and cauted that he was shewed openly :
41 Not to all the people, but vnto the witnesses chosen before of God, even to vs which did eat & drinke with him, after he arose from the dead.
42 And he commanded vs to preach vnto the people, & to testifie, that it is hee that is ordained of God a iudge of quick and dead.
43 To him al to giue all the * Prophets wit-nesse, that through his Name all that beleue in him, shall receive remission of finnes.
44 While Peter yet spake these wordes, the holy Ghost fel on al them which heard the word.
45 So they of the circumcision, which beleeued, were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was powred out the gift of the holy Ghost.
46 For they heard them speake with tongues, and manifest God. Then answered Peter, 47 Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which haue received the holy Ghost as well as we ?
48 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tary certaine dayes.

is taken from the old custome of the Iewes, who vnto a countie their King and Priests, whereunto they came to call them anointed, upon whom God bestowed gifts and vncorrupt. r This choosing of the Apostles is properly given to God: for though God be president in the laying on of hands, yet there is in vs place of secret approbation and testing of Gods calling, and many voyces thence against the will, for the Apostles are immediately appointed of God and the Church Ministers by meanes. * Iren. 3. 34. mie.

peareth by the effects. 9 Baptisme doth not falsifie or make them holy which receiue it, but sealeth vp and confirmeth their sanctification.

CHAP. XI.

1 Peter being accented for going to the Gentiles, 5 defendeth him selfe. 22 Barnabas is sent to Antiochia, 26 where the disciples are called Christians: 28 and there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

NOW the Apostles and the brethren that were in Iudea, heard, that the Gentiles had also received the word of God.
2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him,
3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.
4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying, 5 I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, and in a trance I saw visions. A certaine vessel com-ming downe as it had bene a great sheete, & became downe from heauen by the foure corners, and let downe to me,

6 Toward the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, & saw foure footed beasts of the earth, and wild beafts, and creeping things, and foules of the heauen.

7 Also I heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Arise,
Peter: I say and eate.
8 And I said, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or vncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth.

9 But the voice answered me the second time from heauen, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three times, and al were taken vp againe into heauen.

11 Then behold, immediately there were three men already come vnto the house where I was, sent from Cesarea vnto me.

12 And the Spirit sayd vnto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreouer, these fixe brethren came with me, and wee entred into the mans house.

13 And he shewed vs, how he had seen an Angel in his house, which stood & said to him, Send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

14 Hee shall speake words vnto thee, whereby both thou and all thine house shalt be saved.

15 And as I beganne to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, euen as vpon vs at the beginning.

16 Then I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, Iohn baptized with water, but yee shall be baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 For as much then as God gaue them a like gift, as hee did vnto vs, when wee beleued in the Lord Iesus Christ, who was I, that I could let God ?

18 When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance vnto life.

19 ¶ And they which were * scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Steuens, went throughout til they came vnto Phenice, and Cyprus, and Antiochia preaching the word to no man, but vnto the Iewes only.

20 ¶ Now some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, spake vnto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Iesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number beleued and turned vnto
the Lord.

22 ¶ Then tidings of those things came vnto the eares of the Church, which was in Hierusalem, & they sent forth Barnabas, that hee should goe vnto Antiochia.

23 Who when he was come and had seene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith, & much people ioyned themselves vnto the Lord.

25 ¶ Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seeke Saul :

26 And when he had found him, he brought him vnto Antiochia and came to passe that a whole yere they were conuerant with the Church, and taught much people, in so much that the disciples were first called Christians in Antiochia.

CHAP. XII.

2 Herod killed James with the sword, 4 and imprisoned Peter 8 where he lay in the night, 20 Herod being offended with them of Tyre, 21 surprised: 22 Asking the summe due to God, he is taken with worms, and so diech.

Now about that time, 2 Herode the King stretched forth his hands to vex certain of the Church,

2 And he killed James the brother of Iohn with the sword.

3 And when hee saw that it pleased the Iewes he proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the dayes of vⁿleavened bread)

4 And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to foure quaternions of souldiers to be kept, intending after the Passouer to bring him forth to the people.

5 So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of y Church vnto God for him.

6 And when Herod would have brought him out vnto the people, the same night slept Peter betweene two souldiers, bound with two chains, and the keepers before the doore, kept the prison.

7 And behold, the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and a light shined in e the house, and hee smote Peter on the side, and rayed him vp saying, Arise quickly. And his chaines fell off from his hands.

8 And the Angel sayd vnto him, Gird thy selfe, and binde on thy sandales. And so hee did. Then he said vnto him, Cast thy garment about thee and follow me.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knew not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seene a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came vnto the yron gate that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened vnto them by it owne accord, and they went out, and passed through one streete, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said, Now I knowe for a trueth, that the Lord, hath sent his Angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Iewes.

12 And as hee considered the thing, hee came to the house of Mary, the mother of Iohn, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together and prayed.

13 And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maide came forth to hearken, named Rhode.

14 But when he knew Peters voice he opened not the entrie doore, for gladnesse, but ranne in, and told how Peter stood before the entrie.

15 But they sayd vnto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and saw him, they were astonied.

17 7 And he beckned vnto them with the hand to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he sayd, God hee these things vnto James and to the brethren: and hee departed and went into another place.

18 ¶ Now as it was day, there was no small trouble among the souldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, & commanded them to be led to be punished. And he went downe from Iudaea to Cesarea, and there abode.

20 ¶ Then Herode was angry with them Tyrus and Sidon, but they came all with one accord vnto him, & perswaded Blastus the kings Chamberlaine, and they desired peace, because their countrey was nourished by the kings land.

21 And vpon a day appointed, Herod arrayed himselfe in royall apparel, and sat on the iudgement seate, and made an oration vnto them.

22 And the people gaue a shout, saying, The voyce of God, and not of man.

23 But immediately the Angel of the Lord smote him because hee gaue not glory vnto God, so that he was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghost.

24 And the f word of God grew and multiplied.

25 So Barnabas and Saul returned from Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and took with them Iohn, whose surname was Marke.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The holy Ghost commanded that Paul and Barnabas be separated vnto him. 6 At Paphos, 8 Elymas the soothsayer, 11 is broken blind: 14 From whence being come to Antiochia, 17 they preach the Gospel, 43 the Iewes vehemently withstanding.

There was also in the Church that was at Antiochia, certaine Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Nger, and Lucius of Cyrene, & Manahen (which had bene brought vp with Herod the Tetrach) and Saul.

2 Now, as they bministrd to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost sayd, Separate mee Barnabas and Saul, for the worke whereunto I have called them.

3 Then fasted they and prayed, & laid their hands on them, and let them goe.

4 And they after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came downe vnto Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Iewes: and they had al o Iohn to their minister.

6 So when they had gone throughout the yle vnto Paphos, they found a certaine soothsayer, whom they call Iudaeus, which is in the Church, when hee saith that hee, whether y^e sufferest to the matter is false, or to an qualitie of thing, that he saith, and y^e knowest it false, because when they begin to see, they say, these things were as Gods mightie power is also delivered to them, who make the word, and things were made. 2 Fals, and toleme prayers were vied before the saying on of hands. 3 Paul and his companions doe at the first bring Cyprus to the iudication and obedience of Christ. 4 Seleucia was a cite of Cilicia so called. 5 Seleucia one of Alexander's successeurs.

7 We may sometimes glue place to the rage of the wicked, but yet so, that our diligence which ought to be vied in Gods businesse be not a while slackened.
8 Euill counsell falleth out in the end to the hurt of the deuilers of it.

9 A notable and famous example of the end of the enemies of the Church.
10 The flattery of the people, maketh looles false.

13 Tyrants build vp the Church, by plucking it down.

14 They that heare the word of God.

1 Paul with Barnabas is against the second time appointed Apostle of the Gentiles not of man neither by man, but by an extraordinary commandment of the holy Ghost.

2 The same was Iudaeus, which pag 16 is Baptized in death.

3 Iudas they were listening their o'ce, that is, as Christ's ex-emptioneth it, while they were preaching.

4 The Lord is said to call wherof this word (calling) is used.

44 And the next Sabbath day came almost the whole cite together to heare the word of God.

45 But when the Iewes saw the people, they were full of offense, and spake against those things, which were spoken of Paul, contrarying them and rayling on them.

46 Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and said, It was necessary that the word of God should first haue bene spoken vnto you: but seeing yee put it from you, and iudge your selues vnworthy of euerslasting life, loe we turne to the Gentiles.

47 For so hath the Lord commanded vs, saying, I haue made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the saluation vnto the end of the world.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were ordained vnto eternall life, beleued.

49 Thus the word of the Lord was published throughout the whole country.

50 But the Iewes stirred certaine vnder-denour and honourable women, and the chiefe men of the cite, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coasts.

51 But they shook off the dust of their feete against them, and came vnto Iconium.

52 And the disciples were filled with ioy, and with the holy Ghost.

53 And the disciples were filled with ioy, and with the holy Ghost.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Paul and Barnabas 5 are persecuted from Iconium: 6 At Lystra Paul is healed: a cripple: 13 They are about to doe sacrifice vnto them, 15 but they forbid it: 19 Paul by the perswasion of certaine Iewes, is stoned: 23 From thence passing throug diuers Churches, 26 they retorne to Antiochia.

And it came to passe in Antiochia, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Iewes, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes and of the Grecians beleued.

2 And the vnbelcuing Iewes stirred vp, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles against the brethren.

3 So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lord, which gaue testimony vnto the word of his grace, & caused signes and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the city was diuided: and some were with the Iewes, and some with the Apostles.

5 And when their was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Iewes with the rulers, to doe them violence, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, and fled vnto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region round about,

7 And there preached the Gospell.

8 ¶ Now there sate a certaine man at Lystra, impotent in his feete, which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, who had neuer walked.

9 He heard Paul speake: who beholding him and perceiuing that he had faith to be healed, 10 He cried with a voyce, saying, My Lord, have mercy vnto mee.

11 And he looked vnto him, and said, Stand vp: for thy faith hath made thee whole.

12 And he tooke him by the right hand, and lifted him vp, and when he had so done, he said, Stand vp: for thy faith hath made thee whole.

13 And when he had so done, he said, Stand up: for thy faith hath made thee whole.

10 Said with a loud voyce, Stand vp: for thy faith hath made thee whole.

11 Then when the people saw what Paul had done, they lift vp their voyces, saying in the speech of Lycaonia, Gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Iupiter: & Paul Mercurius, because he was the chiefe speaker.

13 Then Iupiters Priest, which was before their cite, brought buls with garlands vnto the gates, and would haue sacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, & ran in among the people, crying,

15 And saying, O men, why doe yee the things? We are euen men subiect to the like passions that yee be, and preach vnto you, that yee should turne from these vaine things vnto the liuing God, which made heauen and earth, and the sea, and all things that in them are:

16 Who in times past sinned all the Gentiles to walke in their owne wayes.

17 Neuertheless, he left not himselfe without witness, in that he did good and gaue vs rain from heauen, & fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food, and gladnesse.

18 And speaking these things, scarce appeard they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed vnto them.

19 Then there came certaine Iewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had perswaded the people, stoned Paul, and drew him out of the cite, supposing he had bene dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stood round about him, he arose vp, and came into the cite, and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospell to that cite, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia.

22 Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that we must through many afflictions enter into the kingdome of God.

23 And whē they had ordained them Elders by election in euery Church, and prayed, and fasted, they commended them to the Lord in whom they beleued.

24 Thus they went throughout Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they came downe to Attalia.

26 And thence sailed to Antiochia, from whence they had bin commended vnto the grace of God, to the worke, which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done by them, and how he had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentiles.

28 So there they abode a long time with the Disciples.

29 And being returned to Antiochia, do render an account of their iourney to the Congregation or Church.

30 And when they had so done, the Disciples increased in number at Antiochia.

31 ¶ There stood up certain of the Antiochia, men, which were of the sect of the Hereticks, and said, We haue heard that some of you came to be circumcised.

32 And they said, We haue heard that some of you came to be circumcised.

33 And they said, We haue heard that some of you came to be circumcised.

34 And they said, We haue heard that some of you came to be circumcised.

35 And they said, We haue heard that some of you came to be circumcised.

d Of the house where Paul and Barnabas were.

That is also called Antiochia, which is a great city, because they were wont to hold it excellent: that which is proper to the only one God, that is, Inuocation or calling vpon, or Men as ye are, and parakers of the selfe same nature of man as you, the chiefest idols, namings after the manner of the Hereticks.

CHAPTER XX.

1 Paul appointed to go to Macedonia. 2 In Treas preaching vnto midnight. 3 Eutychus fell downe dead out of a window. 4 he raysheth him to life. 5 At Miletum, he hauing called the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 he declareth what things shall come vpon himselfe, 28 and others.

Now after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples vnto him, and embraced them, and departed to go into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone through those parts, and had exhorted them with many words, hee came into Grecia.

3 And hauing taried there three months, because the Iewes had wait for him, as he was about to faile into Syria, hee purposed to returne through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea, and of them of Thessalonica, Arrharchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.

5 The 6 went before, and taried vs at Troas. 6 And we sailed forth from Philippi, after the daies of vnleavened bread, and came vnto them to Troas in fīue dayes, where we abode fīue dayes.

7 3 And the first day of the weeke, the disciples beinge come together to breake bread, Paul preached vnto them, ready to depart on the morrow, & continued the preaching vnto midnight.

8 4 And there were many lights in an vpper chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there late in a window a certaine young man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleepe: and as Paul was long preaching, hee overcame with sleepe, fell downe from the third loft, and was taken vp dead.

10 But Paul went downe, and laide himselfe vpon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not your felmes: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come vp againe, and had broken bread, & eaten hauing spoken a long while till the dawning of the day hee so departed.

12 And they brought the boy aliue, and they were not a little comforted.

13 ¶ Then we went before to shippe, and sailed vnto the citie Assos, that wee might receiue Paul there: for so he had appointed, & would himselfe goe afores.

14 Now when he was come vnto vs to Assos, and we had receiued him, we came to Mytelene.

15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day ouer against Chios, and the next day we arrived at Samos, and taried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.

16 5 For Paul had determined to faile by Ephesus, because hee would not spend the time in Asia: for hee had to be, if he could possibly, at Hierusalem, at the day of Pentecost.

17 ¶ Wherefore from Miletum, hee sent to

*1 Paul departed from Ephesus, by the content of the Church, not to be idle, or at rest, but to take paines in another place.
2 As after so great trouble there was neede of a long exhortation.
3 A forward zeale is the guide and inducement to martyrdom, and we are not deboured by the wilddome of God to prevent the endmēt of wicked men.
4 Afflictions in the night time cannot be iustly condemned, neither ought, when the cause is good.
5 Mark for word, the first day of the Sabbath, that is, upon the first place, and by 1 Cor. 16. 2. it is no mistake, as it is in the text, that the Christians were wont to assemble themselves solemnly together upon that day.
6 The diuill minding to trouble the Church with a great offence, giue Paul a singular occasion to confirme the Gospel.
7 Paul an earnest and diligent follower of Christ, making halt to his bonds without a vncyeling or flopping in his race, doeth first of all, as it were make his encampment, wherein hee giueth an account of his former life, defendeth the doctrine which he taught, and exhorteth the Pastours of the Church to perseuerance and goe forward with confidence in their office.
8 According as the celebration of these places is set forth, at a distance between Ephesus and Miletum was about foure hundred fūrlongs, which make aboost fifty Dutch miles.*

Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 6 Who when they were come to him, hee said vnto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I haue bene with you at all seasons,

19 Seruing the Lord with all modesty, and with many teares, and tentations, which came vnto me by the layings await of the Iewes,

20 And how I kept d backe nothing that was profitable, but haue shewed you, and taught you openly and throughout euery house, 21 Witnessing both to the Iewes, and to the Grecians, the repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Iesus Christ.

22 7 And now behold, I goe bound in the Spirit, vnto Hierusalem, & know not what things shall come vnto me there:

23 Saue that the holy Ghost witnesseth in euery citie, saying, that bonds and afflictions abide me.

24 But I passe not at all, neither is my life deare vnto my selfe, so that I may fulfill my course with ioy, and the ministratiō which I haue receiued of the Lord Iesus, to testifie the Gospel of the grace of God.

25 And now behold, I know that henceforth ye all, through whom I haue gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men.

27 8 For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God.

28 Take heede therefore vnto your selues, and to all the flocke, whereof the holy Ghost hath made you Ouerscers, to feed the Church of God which hee hath purchased with his owne blood.

29 9 For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolues enter in among you, not sparing the flocke.

30 Moreouer of your owne selues shall men arise speaking peruerse things, to draw disciples after them.

31 Therefore watch, and remember that by the space of three yeares I ceased not to warne euery one, both night and day with teares.

32 10 And now bretheren, I commend you to God, & to the word of his grace, which is able to build further, and to giue you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified.

33 11 I haue counted no mans siluer, nor gold, nor apparell.

34 Yea, ye know, that these hands haue ministered vnto my necessities, and to them that were with me.

35 I haue shewed you all things, how that so labouring, ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Iesus, how that he said, It is a blessed thing to giue, rather than to receiue.

36 And when he had thus spoken, hee kneeled downe, and prayed with them all.

37 12 Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Pauls necke, and kissed him, 38 Being chieflly fory for the words which he spake, that they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him vnto the shippe.

11 Pastours must before all things beware of couetousnesse. 2. 1 Cor. 4. 12. 1. hee. 2. about 150. m. As it were by reaching out the hand to them, which otherwise are about to fly and fall away, and so to strengthen. 12 The Gospel naturally afflictious, but ruleth and brideth them in good order.

1 A lively image of a true Pastour. 2 I refused not to be idle, neither I assembled in any respect what manner, either for feare or laues sake. 7 He testifieth, that hee goeth to his bonds by the commandement of God. 8 He calleth, that motion of the holy Ghost, which enforced him to his journey to Hierusalem, the bond of the Spirit which he bestowed with a conscience. f If you do persevere, there shall be no change. 8. 6. The doctrine of the Apostles is most perfect and absolute. 9 To keep it, to feed it, and govern it. 10 A notable sentence for Churches to heed, which belongeth plainly to the person, how that by reason of the staying together of the two naturas in his owne person, that which is proper to one is spoken of the other, being taken in the derivative, and not in the prepositional: which in old time the goodly fishers seemed a communicating or fellowship of properties, that is to say, a walking common of what is two, which belongeth but to one. 11 This word that, sheweth the excellence of his blood. 12 A prophecy of Pastors that should straightway degenerate into wolues against such as preach and bragge only of a succession of petitions. 13 This is great mirerie, to want the presence of such a Shepherd, but greater to haue wolues enter. 14 The power of God, and his free promises recorded in his word, are the props and pillars of the ministry of the Gospel. 15 Children, and therefore of free love and good will. 16 Cor. 4. 12. 1. hee. 2. about 150. m. As it were by reaching out the hand to them, which otherwise are about to fly and fall away, and so to strengthen. 12 The Gospel naturally afflictious, but ruleth and brideth them in good order.

C H A P. XXI.

Paul goeth downe to Hierusalem. 8 At Cefarea he talketh with Philip the Evangelist: 10 Agabus for other time of his bonds. 17 After he came to Hierusalem, 26 and into the Temple. 27 The Jews layd hands on him: 32 Lyfias the captain saith him from them.

And as we lanched forth, and were departed from them, we came with a straight courſe vnto Coos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And we found a ship that went ouer vnto Phenice, and went aboard, and ſet forth.

3 And when we had diſcouered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, & ſailed toward Syria, and arrived at Tyruſ: for there the ſhip vſailed the burden.

4 And when we had found diſciples, we taried there ſeven dayes. And they told Paul through the ſpirit, that hee ſhould not goe vp to Hieruſalem.

5 But when the dayes were ended, we departed and went our way, and they all accompanied vs with their wives and children, euen out of the city: and we kneeling down on the ſhore, prayed.

6 Then when we had embraced one another, we tooke ſhip, and they returned home.

7 And when we had ended the courſe from Tyruſ, we arrived at Ptolemais, and ſaluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and wee that were with him, departed, and came vnto Cefarea: and we entred into the houſe of Philip the Evangelist, which was one of the ſeven Deacons, and abode with him.

9 Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did propheteſie.

10 And as we taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudca, named Agabus.

11 And when he came vnto vs, he tooke Pauls girdle, and bound his owne hands and feet, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the holy Ghoſt, So ſhall the Iewes at Hieruſalem binde the man that oweth this girdle, and ſhall deliuer him into the hands of the Gentiles.

12 And when we had heard theſe things, both we and other of the ſame place brought him that he would not goe vp to Hieruſalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and ſaid, What doe ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not to be bound onely, but alſo to die at Hieruſalem for the Name of the Lord Jeſus.

14 So when he would not be perſwaded, we ceaſed, ſaying, The will of the Lord be done.

15 And after thoſe dayes we truſted vp our ſardles, and went vp to Hieruſalem.

16 There went with vs alſo certaine of the diſciples of Cefarea, and brought with them one Mnæion of Cyprus, an old diſciple, with whom we ſhould lodge.

17 And when we were come to Hieruſalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with vs vnto Iames: and all the Elders were there aſſembled.

19 3 And when he had embraced them, he told by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his miniſtration.

20 4 So when they heard it, they glorified God, and ſaid vnto him, Thou ſeſt brother, how many thouſand Iewes there are which beleuee, and they are all zealous of the Law:

21 Now they are enformed of thee, that thou teacheſt all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles, to forſake Moſes, and ſayeſt that they ought not to circumciſe their ſonnes, neither to lue after the cuſtomes.

22 What is then to be done? the multitude muſt needs come together: for they ſhall heare that thou art come.

23 Doe therefore this that we ſay to thee. We haue foure men which haue made a vow, 24 Them take, and puriſe thy ſelfe with them, & contribute with them, that they may ſhaue their heads: and all ſhall know that thoſe things, whereof they haue bene enformed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy ſelfe alſo walkeſt and keepeſt the Law.

25 For as touching the Gentiles which beleuee, we haue written & determined, that they obſerue no ſuch thing, but that they keep themſelues from things offered to idoles, and from blood, and from that that is ſtrangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was puriſed with them, and entred into the Temple, declaring the accompliſhment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering ſhould be offered for every one of them.

27 5 And when the ſeven dayes were almoſt ended, the Iewes which were of Aſia (when they ſaw him in the Temple) moued all the people, and layd hands on him, 28 Crying, Men of Iſrael, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where againſt the people, and the Law, and this place: moreover, hee hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 For they had ſcene before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the city, whom they ſuppoſed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the citie was moued, and the people ran together: and they tooke Paul, and drew him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doores were ſhut.

31 6 But as they went about to kill him, tidings came vnto the chiefe captain of the band, that all Hieruſalem was on a vproare.

32 Who immediately tooke ſouldiers and Centurions, and ranne downe vnto them: and when they ſaw the chief captain and the ſouldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe Captain came neere and tooke him, and commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the caſtle.

35 And when he came vnto the grices, it was ſo that he was borne of the ſouldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul ſhould haue bene led into the caſtle, hee ſaid vnto the chiefe Captain, May I ſpeake vnto thee? Who ſaid, Canſt thou ſpeake Greeke?

38 Art not thou the Egyptian whom before theſe dayes raiſed a ſedition, and led out into the wildeerneſſe thouſand men that were murderers?

39 Then Paul ſaid, Doubtleſſe, I am a man which am a Iew, and citizen of Tarys, a famous Pharises, yee cried in the Councill, Men and brethren, * I am a Pharese, the sonne of a Pharese: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.

7 And when hee had said this, there was a diffension betwene the Pharises and Sadduces, so that the multitude was diuided.

8 * For the Sadduces say that there is no resurrection, neither ^{an} Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharesees confesse both.

9 Then there was a great cry: and the scribes of the Pharises part rose vp, and stroue, saying, We finde none euill in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not fight against God.

10 And when there was a great diffension, the chiefe captaine, fearing lest Paul should haue bene pulled in peeces of them, commanded the souldiers to goe downe, and to take him from among them, and to bring him into the castle.

11 Now the night following, the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good courage, Paul: for as thou hast testified of mee in Hierusalem, so must thou beare witness also at Rome.

12 And when the day was come, certaine of the Iewes made an assembly, and bound themselves with a curse, saying that they would neither eate nor drinke till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were more then fourtie, which had made this conspiracy.

14 And they came to the chiefe Priests and Elders, and said, We haue bound our selues with a solemne curse, that we will eat nothing, vntill we haue slaine Paul.

15 Now therefore, ye and the C Council, signifie vnto the chiefe Captaine, that hee bring him forth vnto you to morow, as though you would know something more perfectly of him, and wee, or euer he come neere, will be ready to kill him.

16 But when Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying await, he went, and entred into the Castle, and told Paul.

17 And Paul called one of the Centurions vnto him, and said, Take this yong man hence vnto the chiefe Captaine: for hee hath a certaine thing to shew him.

18 So he tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe Captaine, and said, Paul the Prisoner called me vnto him, and prayed mee to bring this yong man vnto thee, which hath something to say vnto thee.

19 Then the chiefe captaine tooke him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to shew me?

20 And he said, The Iewes haue conspired to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring forth Paul to morrow into the Councill, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not perswade thee: for there lie in waite for him of them, more then fourty men, which haue bound themselves with a curse, that they will neither eate nor drinke, till they haue killed him: and now they are ready and wait for thy promise.

22 The chiefe Captaine then let the yong man depart, after hee had charged him to viter it to no man, that hee had shewed him these things.

23 And he called vnto him two certaine Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred souldiers, that they may go to Cesaria, and horsemen threecore and ten, and two hundred with darts, at the third hour of the night:

24 And let them make ready an horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe vnto Felix the gouernour.

25 And he wrote an Epistle in this manner.

26 ¹³ Claudius Lyfias vnto the most noble gouernour Felix sendeth greeting.

27 As this man was taken of the Iewes, and should haue bene killed of them, I came vpon them with the garrison, and rescued him perceiving that he was a Romane.

28 And when I would haue knowne the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Councill.

29 There I perceived that hee was accused of queitions of their Law, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And, when it was shewed me, how that the Iewes laid wait for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commanded his accusers to speake before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the souldiers as it was commanded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to goe with him, and returned vnto the Castle.

33 Now when they came to Cesarea, they deliuered the Epistle to the gouernour, and presented Paul also vnto him.

34 So when the Gouernour had read it, hee asked of what prouince hee was: and when hee vnderstood that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will heare thee, said he, when thine accusers also are come, and commanded him to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Tertullus accuseth Paul. 10 Hee answereth for himselfe: 22 Hee prayeth Christ to the gouernour and his wife: 27 Felix hopefull he may want, to receive a bribe, 28 who going from his office leaues Paul in prison.

Now after siue daies, Ananias the hie Priest came downe with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certaine oratour which appeared before the gouernour against Paul.

2 And when he was called fourth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that we haue obtained great quietnesse through thee, and that many worthy things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence,

3 We acknowledge thee wholly, and in all places, most noble Felix with all thanks.

4 But that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy curtesie a few words.

5 Certainly we haue found this man a pestilent fellow, and a moouer of sedition among all the Iewes throughout the world, and a chiefe maintainer of the sect of the Nazaries:

6 And hath gone about to pollure the Temple: therefore we tooke him, and would haue iudged him according to our law:

7 But the chiefe Captaine Lyfias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him out of our hands,

8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee: of whom thou maist (if thou wilt inquire) know all these things whereof we accuse him.

9 And the Iewes likewise affirmed, saying that it was so.

10 Then Paul, after that the gouernour had beckoned vnto him that hee should speake, answered, I doe the more gladly answer for my selfe, forasmuch as I know that thou hast bene of many yeres a iudge vnto this nation, 11 Seeing that thou mightest know, that there are but twelue daies since I came vp to worship in Hierusalem.

12 And they neither found me in the Temple, disputing with any man, neither making vproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the Cite.

13 Neither can they be proue the things whereof they now accuse me.

14 But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way (which they call heresie) so worship I the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets,

15 And haue hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselves looke for also, shalbe both of iust the and vniust.

16 And herein I endeauour my selfe to haue alway a cleare conscience toward God, and toward men.

17 Now after many yeres, I came & brought almes to my nation, and offerings.

18 At what time, certaine Iewes of Asia found me purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.

19 Who ought to haue bene present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.

20 Or let these themselves say, if they haue found any vniust thing in mee, while I stood in the Council, 21 Except it be for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.

22 Now when Felix heard these things, hee deferred them, and said, when I shall more perfectly know the things which concerne this party by the comming of Lysias the chiefe captaine, I will decide your matter.

23 Then hee commanded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he should haue ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.

24 And after certaine daies, came Felix with his wife Drusilla, which was a Iewesse, and hee called forth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.

25 And as hee disputed of righteousness and temperance, and of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Goe thy way for this time and when I haue conuenient time, I will call for thee.

26 Hee hoped also that money should haue bene giuen him of Paul, that hee might loose him: wherefore hee sent for him the ofter, and communed with him.

27 When two yeres were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felixs room: and Felix willing to pgeet fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

Festus came into Felixs room: and Felix willing to pgeet fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

in the province had it not bene for fauour of his brother Paul, it, he should I haue said for it so that me may gather hereby why he would haue left the Iewes.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Festus succeeding Felix, 6 commended Paul to his brother Paul, 14 Festus appealeth Pauls matter to King Agrippa, 23 addressing him before him, 27 that he may wnderstand his cause.

WHEN Festus was then come into the province, after three daies hee went vp from Cesarea vnto Hierusalem.

2 Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him against Paul: and they brought him.

3 And desired fauour against him, that hee would send for him to Hierusalem: and they laid wait to kill him by the way.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Cesarea, and that hee himselfe would shortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore say hee, which among you are able, come downe with vs: and if there be any wickednes in the man, let them accuse him.

6 ¶ Now when he had tarried among them no more then ten daies, hee went downe to Cesarea, and the next day late in the iudgement seate, and commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when hee was come, the Iewes which were come from Hierusalem, stood about him, and laid many and grieuous complaints against Paul, wherof they could make no plaine prooffe.

8 Forasmuch as hee answered that he had neither offended any thing against the lawe of the Iewes, neither against the Temple, nor against Cesar.
